Failure to Implement a Litigation Hold. Walker County filed its original complaint on January 29, 2018. See Marion County, Alabama et al. v. Purdue Pharma LP et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45171-DAP, ECF No. 1. Despite filing its case years ago, Walker County never implemented a litigation hold, in violation of this Court's orders (ECF Nos. 232; 5455). See ECF No. 5687-1 (Date Litigation Hold Implemented: Never). Litigating Walker County's case would force the parties and the Court to waste time and resources ascertaining the extent of Walker County's document destruction and the appropriate sanctions—just as the parties were forced to do in the three PBM bellwethers that failed to implement litigation holds until 2024. The PBMs are prejudiced by Walker County's disregard for its most basic discovery obligations as a litigant, compounded by the delay in seeking leave to amend, and Walker County therefore lacks good cause for leave to amend its complaint. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28 (denying leave to amend in part because the passage of time resulted in significant prejudice due to the loss of documents or records); see also Section III.A.4, above.

Failure to Prosecute. In its Plaintiff Fact Sheet, Walker County failed to provide complete answers to Questions I.B.8 and I.B.9, relating to Walker County’s health plans, carriers, third party administrators, and pharmacy benefit managers throughout the relevant time period. The PBMs notified Walker County of this deficiency on September 16, 2024 (see Exhibit B), but Walker County refused to amend or supplement its Fact Sheet. Under this Court’s orders, Walker County’s case is therefore subject to “dismiss[al] with prejudice” for failure to prosecute. ECF No. 4985 at 1 (emphasis in original); see Section III.A.5, above. Walker County’s refusal to provide basic information related to its health care plans prejudices the PBMs’ ability to defend against Walker County’s potential claims against them. Walker County’s failure to diligently prosecute its case, coupled with the prejudice against the PBMs, negates any finding of good cause and leave to amend should be denied. See Final Amendment Order, ECF No. 5455 at 2 (directing counsel to dismiss, not seek leave to amend, in any case that “plaintiffs’ counsel does not intend to zealously pursue in litigation”); Range, 2017 WL 9477693, at *4 n.6 (denying motion for leave to amend as moot because claims were dismissed for failure to prosecute).

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Alabama law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Walker County’s delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs’ ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Alabama law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Walker County, a municipality in Alabama, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Walker County’s proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Walker County filed its original complaint on January 29, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See Marion County, Alabama et al. v. Purdue Pharma LP et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45171-DAP, ECF No. 1. It is therefore indisputable that Walker County knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend. Walker County’s RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO’s four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by “discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim” (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Walker County’s request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Public Nuisance Statute of Limitations. In Alabama, public-nuisance claims are subject to a two-year limitations period. Walker County’s public-nuisance claim against the PBMs is therefore time-barred because Walker County sought leave to amend its complaint on July 29, 2024—more than six years after filing its original complaint on January 29, 2018—and the proposed amendment does not relate back to the original filing for purposes of the applicable statute of limitations. See Zakora, 44 F.4th at 480 (“This court has repeatedly held that an amendment which adds a new party creates a new cause of action and there is no relation back to the original filing for purposes of limitations.” (cleaned up)).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Walker County lacks statutory standing to assert a public nuisance claim under Alabama law because it “is clearly not an individual, nor a city, nor the [s]tate,” and thus amendment is futile. Lee County, 2022 WL 450810, at *4 (concluding an Alabama county lacked standing to bring a Ala. Code § 6-5-121 claim); see Section III.B.3, above.

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Walker County, a municipality in Alabama, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester’s complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

243. Skagit County et al. v. Purdue Pharma, LP et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45173-DAP: Plaintiff Burlington City, Washington

Burlington City’s untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Burlington City failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Burlington City also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, failure to submit a complete plaintiff fact sheet, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Burlington City’s motion should be denied due to futility, as Burlington City does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its proposed public nuisance claim is barred by the statute of limitations, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Burlington City was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Burlington City first amended its complaint on May 25, 2018. See Skagit County et al. v. Purdue Pharma, LP et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45173-DAP, ECF No. 14. Burlington City amended its complaint again on March 15, 2019, as well as on May 28, 2019. See Skagit County et al. v. Purdue

Pharma, LP et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45173-DAP, ECF Nos. 24, 26. Burlington City amended its complaint a fourth time on March 19, 2021. See Skagit County et al. v. Purdue Pharma, LP et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45173-DAP, ECF No. 27. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Burlington City declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaints. See Section II.A.1, above. Burlington City's deadline to amend was in 2019. Burlington City waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Burlington City's lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order's deadline because plaintiff "had all the information [she] needed" to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a "wait-and-see approach" instead of timely moving to amend).

OptumRx's Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to Burlington City's geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson Decl. (0.13% market share for Burlington City). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Burlington City to add dispensing claims against OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Express Scripts' Mail Order Pharmacy a Negligible Market Share. Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of prescription opioid units shipped to Burlington City's geographic jurisdiction during 2009 to 2019. See DeCarlo Decl., Exhibit C (0.13% market share). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Burlington City to add dispensing claims against Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy entities. See Section III.A.2, above.

Failure to Prosecute. In its Plaintiff Fact Sheet, Burlington City failed to provide complete answers to Questions I.B.8 and I.B.9, relating to Burlington City's health plans, carriers, third party administrators, and pharmacy benefit managers throughout the relevant time period. The PBMs notified Burlington City of this deficiency on September 16, 2024 (see Exhibit B), but Burlington City refused to amend or supplement its Fact Sheet. Under this Court's orders, Burlington City's case is therefore subject to "dismiss[al] with prejudice" for failure to prosecute. ECF No. 4985 at 1 (emphasis in original); see Section III.A.5, above. Burlington City's refusal to provide basic information related to its health care plans prejudices the PBMs' ability to defend against Burlington City's potential claims against them. Burlington City's failure to diligently prosecute its case, coupled with the prejudice against the PBMs, negates any finding of good cause and leave to amend should be denied. See Final Amendment Order, ECF No. 5455 at 2 (directing counsel to dismiss, not seek leave to amend, in any case that "plaintiffs' counsel does not intend to zealously pursue in litigation"); Range, 2017 WL 9477693, at *4 n.6 (denying motion for leave to amend as moot because claims were dismissed for failure to prosecute).

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Washington law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Burlington City's delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs' ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Washington law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Burlington City, a municipality in Washington, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Burlington City’s proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Burlington City filed its original complaint on January 25, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See Skagit County et al. v. Purdue Pharma, LP et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45173-DAP, ECF No. 1. It is therefore indisputable that Burlington City knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend. Burlington City’s RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO’s four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by “discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim” (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Burlington City’s request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Public Nuisance Statute of Limitations. In Washington, public-nuisance claims are subject to a two-year limitations period. Burlington City’s public-nuisance claim against the PBMs is therefore time-barred because Burlington City sought leave to amend its complaint on July 29, 2024—more than six years after filing its original complaint on January 25, 2018—and the proposed amendment does not relate back to the original filing for purposes of the applicable statute of limitations. See Zakora, 44 F.4th at 480 (“This court has repeatedly held that an amendment which adds a new party creates a new cause of action and there is no relation back to the original filing for purposes of limitations.” (cleaned up)).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Burlington City, a municipality in Washington, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester’s complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

244. Skagit County et al. v. Purdue Pharma, LP et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45173-DAP: Plaintiff Mount Vernon City, Washington

Mount Vernon City’s untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Mount Vernon City failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Mount Vernon City also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Mount Vernon City’s motion should be denied due to futility, as Mount Vernon City does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its proposed public nuisance claim is barred by the statute of limitations, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Mount Vernon City was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Mount Vernon City first amended its complaint on May 25, 2018. See Skagit County et al. v. Purdue Pharma, LP et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45173-DAP, ECF No. 14. Mount Vernon City amended its complaint again on March 15, 2019, as well as on May 28, 2019. See Skagit County et al. v. Purdue Pharma, LP et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45173-DAP, ECF Nos. 24, 26. Mount Vernon City amended its complaint a fourth time on March 19, 2021. See Skagit County et al. v. Purdue Pharma, LP et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45173-DAP, ECF No. 27. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Mount Vernon City declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaints. See Section II.A.1, above. Mount Vernon City’s deadline to amend was in 2019. Mount Vernon City waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Mount Vernon City’s lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order’s deadline because plaintiff “had all the information [she] needed” to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a “wait-and-see approach” instead of timely moving to amend).

OptumRx’s Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to Mount Vernon City’s geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson Decl. (0.06% market share for Mount Vernon City). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Mount Vernon City to add dispensing claims against OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Express Scripts’ Mail Order Pharmacy a Negligible Market Share. Express Scripts’ mail order pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of prescription opioid units shipped to Mount Vernon City’s geographic jurisdiction during 2009 to 2019. See DeCarlo Decl., Exhibit C (0.16% market share). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Mount Vernon City to add dispensing claims against Express Scripts’ mail order pharmacy entities. See Section III.A.2, above.

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Washington law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Mount Vernon City’s delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs’ ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Washington law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Mount Vernon City, a municipality in Washington, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Mount Vernon City's proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Mount Vernon City filed its original complaint on January 25, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See Skagit County et al. v. Purdue Pharma, LP et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45173-DAP, ECF No. 1. It is therefore indisputable that Mount Vernon City knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend. Mount Vernon City's RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO's four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by "discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim" (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Mount Vernon City's request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Public Nuisance Statute of Limitations. In Washington, public-nuisance claims are subject to a two-year limitations period. Mount Vernon City's public-nuisance claim against the PBMs is therefore time-barred because Mount Vernon City sought leave to amend its complaint on July 29, 2024—more than six years after filing its original complaint on January 25, 2018—and the proposed amendment does not relate back to the original filing for purposes of the applicable statute of limitations. See Zakora, 44 F.4th at 480 (“This court has repeatedly held that an amendment which adds a new party creates a new cause of action and there is no relation back to the original filing for purposes of limitations.” (cleaned up)).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Mount Vernon City, a municipality in Washington, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester’s complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

245. Skagit County et al. v. Purdue Pharma, LP et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45173-DAP: Plaintiff Sedro-Woolley City, Washington

Sedro-Woolley City’s untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Sedro-Woolley City failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Sedro-Woolley City also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, failure to implement a litigation hold, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Sedro-Woolley City’s motion should be denied due to futility, as Sedro-Woolley City does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its proposed public nuisance claim is barred by the statute of limitations, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Sedro-Woolley City was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Sedro-Woolley City first amended its complaint on May 25, 2018. See Skagit County et al. v. Purdue Pharma, LP et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45173-DAP, ECF No. 14. Sedro-Woolley City amended its complaint again on March 15, 2019, as well as on May 28, 2019. See Skagit County et al. v. Purdue Pharma, LP et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45173-DAP, ECF Nos. 24, 26. Sedro-Woolley City amended its complaint a fourth time on March 19, 2021. See Skagit County et al. v.

Purdue Pharma, LP et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45173-DAP, ECF No. 27. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Sedro-Woolley City declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaints. See Section II.A.1, above. Sedro-Woolley City's deadline to amend was in 2019. Sedro-Woolley City waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Sedro-Woolley City's lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order's deadline because plaintiff "had all the information [she] needed" to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a "wait-and-see approach" instead of timely moving to amend).

OptumRx's Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to Sedro-Woolley City's geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson Decl. (0.03% market share for Sedro-Woolley City). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Sedro-Woolley City to add dispensing claims against OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Express Scripts' Mail Order Pharmacy a Negligible Market Share. Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of prescription opioid units shipped to Sedro-Woolley City's geographic jurisdiction during 2009 to 2019. See DeCarlo Decl., Exhibit C (0.27% market share). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Sedro-Woolley City to add dispensing claims against Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy entities. See Section III.A.2, above.

Failure to Implement a Litigation Hold. Sedro-Woolley City filed its original complaint on January 25, 2018. See Skagit County et al. v. Purdue Pharma, LP et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45173-DAP, ECF No. 1. Despite filing its case years ago, Sedro-Woolley City never implemented a litigation hold and is instead purporting to rely on non-specific and unidentified document retention laws. See ECF No. 5687-1 (Date Litigation Hold Implemented: *(Never)). This is a plain violation of this Court's orders. ECF Nos. 232; 5455. Litigating Sedro-Woolley City's case would force the parties and the Court to waste time and resources ascertaining the extent of Sedro-Woolley City's document destruction and the appropriate sanctions—just as the parties were forced to do in the three PBM bellwethers that failed to implement litigation holds until 2024. The PBMs are prejudiced by Sedro-Woolley City's disregard for its most basic discovery obligations as a litigant, compounded by the delay in seeking leave to amend, and Sedro-Woolley City therefore lacks good cause for leave to amend its complaint. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28 (denying leave to amend in part because the passage of time resulted in significant prejudice due to the loss of documents or records); see also Section III.A.4, above.

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Washington law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Sedro-Woolley City's delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs' ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Washington law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Sedro-Woolley City, a municipality in Washington, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Sedro-Woolley City’s proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Sedro-Woolley City filed its original complaint on January 25, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See Skagit County et al. v. Purdue Pharma, LP et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45173-DAP, ECF No. 1. It is therefore indisputable that Sedro-Woolley City knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend. Sedro-Woolley City’s RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO’s four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by “discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim” (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Sedro-Woolley City’s request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Public Nuisance Statute of Limitations. In Washington, public-nuisance claims are subject to a two-year limitations period. Sedro-Woolley City’s public-nuisance claim against the PBMs is therefore time-barred because Sedro-Woolley City sought leave to amend its complaint on July 29, 2024—more than six years after filing its original complaint on January 25, 2018—and the proposed amendment does not relate back to the original filing for purposes of the applicable statute of limitations. See Zakora, 44 F.4th at 480 (“This court has repeatedly held that an amendment which adds a new party creates a new cause of action and there is no relation back to the original filing for purposes of limitations.” (cleaned up)).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Sedro-Woolley City, a municipality in Washington, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester's complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

246. Skagit County et al. v. Purdue Pharma, LP et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45173-DAP: Plaintiff Skagit County, Washington

Skagit County's untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Skagit County failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Skagit County also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Skagit County's motion should be denied due to futility, as Skagit County does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its proposed public nuisance claim is barred by the statute of limitations, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Skagit County was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Skagit County first amended its complaint on May 25, 2018. See Skagit County et al. v. Purdue Pharma, LP et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45173-DAP, ECF No. 14. Skagit County amended its complaint again on March 15, 2019, as well as on May 28, 2019. See Skagit County et al. v. Purdue Pharma, LP et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45173-DAP, ECF Nos. 24, 26. Skagit County amended its complaint a fourth time on March 19, 2021. See Skagit County et al. v. Purdue Pharma, LP et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45173-DAP, ECF No. 27. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Skagit County declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaints. See Section II.A.1, above. Skagit County's deadline to amend was in 2019. Skagit County waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Skagit County's lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order’s deadline because plaintiff “had all the information [she] needed” to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a “wait-and-see approach” instead of timely moving to amend).

OptumRx’s Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to Skagit County’s geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson Decl. (0.08% market share for Skagit County). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Skagit County to add dispensing claims against OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Express Scripts’ Mail Order Pharmacy a Negligible Market Share. Express Scripts’ mail order pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of prescription opioid units shipped to Skagit County’s geographic jurisdiction during 2009 to 2019. See DeCarlo Decl., Exhibit C (0.25% market share). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Skagit County to add dispensing claims against Express Scripts’ mail order pharmacy entities. See Section III.A.2, above.

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Washington law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Skagit County’s delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs’ ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Washington law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Skagit County, a municipality in Washington, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Skagit County’s proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Skagit County filed its original complaint on January 25, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See Skagit County et al. v. Purdue Pharma, LP et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45173-DAP, ECF No. 1. It is therefore indisputable that Skagit County knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend. Skagit County’s RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO’s four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by “discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim” (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Skagit County’s request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Public Nuisance Statute of Limitations. In Washington, public-nuisance claims are subject to a two-year limitations period. Skagit County’s public-nuisance claim against the PBMs is therefore time-barred because Skagit County sought leave to amend its complaint on July 29, 2024—more than six years after filing its original complaint on January 25, 2018—and the proposed amendment does not relate back to the original filing for purposes of the applicable statute of limitations. See Zakora, 44 F.4th at 480 (“This court has repeatedly held that an amendment which adds a new party creates a new cause of action and there is no relation back to the original filing for purposes of limitations.” (cleaned up)).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Skagit County, a municipality in Washington, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester’s complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

247. Municipality of Guayanilla v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45176-DAP: Plaintiff Municipality of Guayanilla, Puerto Rico

Municipality of Guayanilla’s untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Municipality of Guayanilla failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Municipality of Guayanilla also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, failure to implement a litigation hold, failure to submit a complete plaintiff fact sheet, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Municipality of Guayanilla’s motion should be denied due to futility, as Municipality of Guayanilla does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Municipality of Guayanilla was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Municipality of Guayanilla amended its complaint on March 15, 2019, after transfer to the MDL on February 15, 2018. See Municipality of Guayanilla v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45176-DAP, ECF No. 16. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Municipality of Guayanilla declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaint. See Section II.A.1, above. Municipality of Guayanilla’s deadline to amend was in 2019. Municipality of Guayanilla waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Municipality of Guayanilla's lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order's deadline because plaintiff "had all the information [she] needed" to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a "wait-and-see approach" instead of timely moving to amend).

OptumRx's Home-Delivery Pharmacy Had Zero Dispenses. OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy did not dispense a single opioid prescription to Municipality of Guayanilla's geographic jurisdiction over the period for which OptumRx has data (2010 to 2019). See Gustafson Decl. Because OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy "ha[s] no market share, they shouldn't be in the case, period." ECF No. 3685 at 6:9–14; see Section III.A.2, above. Thus, Municipality of Guayanilla cannot show good cause to add claims against OptumRx in its capacity as a home delivery pharmacy.

Express Scripts' Mail Order Pharmacy a Negligible Market Share. Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of prescription opioid units shipped to Municipality of Guayanilla's geographic jurisdiction during 2009 to 2019. See DeCarlo Decl., Exhibit C (0.28% market share). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Municipality of Guayanilla to add dispensing claims against Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy entities. See Section III.A.2, above.

Failure to Implement a Litigation Hold. Municipality of Guayanilla filed its original complaint on December 18, 2017. See Municipality of Guayanilla v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45176-DAP, ECF No. 1. Despite filing its case years ago, Municipality of Guayanilla never implemented a litigation hold, in violation of this Court's orders (ECF Nos. 232; 5455). See ECF No. 5687-1 (Date Litigation Hold Implemented: Never). Litigating Municipality of Guayanilla’s case would force the parties and the Court to waste time and resources ascertaining the extent of Municipality of Guayanilla’s document destruction and the appropriate sanctions—just as the parties were forced to do in the three PBM bellwethers that failed to implement litigation holds until 2024. The PBMs are prejudiced by Municipality of Guayanilla’s disregard for its most basic discovery obligations as a litigant, compounded by the delay in seeking leave to amend, and Municipality of Guayanilla therefore lacks good cause for leave to amend its complaint. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28 (denying leave to amend in part because the passage of time resulted in significant prejudice due to the loss of documents or records); see also Section III.A.4, above.

Failure to Prosecute. In its Plaintiff Fact Sheet, Municipality of Guayanilla failed to provide complete answers to Questions I.B.8 and I.B.9, relating to Municipality of Guayanilla’s health plans, carriers, third party administrators, and pharmacy benefit managers throughout the relevant time period. The PBMs notified Municipality of Guayanilla of this deficiency on September 16, 2024 (see Exhibit B), but Municipality of Guayanilla refused to amend or supplement its Fact Sheet. Under this Court’s orders, Municipality of Guayanilla’s case is therefore subject to “dismiss[al] with prejudice” for failure to prosecute. ECF No. 4985 at 1 (emphasis in original); see Section III.A.5, above. Municipality of Guayanilla’s refusal to provide basic information related to its health care plans prejudices the PBMs’ ability to defend against Municipality of Guayanilla’s potential claims against them. Municipality of Guayanilla’s failure to diligently prosecute its case, coupled with the prejudice against the PBMs, negates any finding of good cause and leave to amend should be denied. See Final Amendment Order, ECF No. 5455 at 2 (directing counsel to dismiss, not seek leave to amend, in any case that “plaintiffs’ counsel does not intend to zealously pursue in litigation”); Range, 2017 WL 9477693, at *4 n.6 (denying motion for leave to amend as moot because claims were dismissed for failure to prosecute).

Failure to State a Claim. Municipality of Guayanilla, a municipality in Puerto Rico, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Municipality of Guayanilla’s proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Municipality of Guayanilla filed its original complaint on December 18, 2017, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See Municipality of Guayanilla v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45176-DAP, ECF No. 1. It is therefore indisputable that Municipality of Guayanilla knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six and a half years before seeking leave to amend. Municipality of Guayanilla’s RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO’s four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by “discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim” (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Municipality of Guayanilla’s request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Municipality of Guayanilla, a municipality in Puerto Rico, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester’s complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

248. Municipality of Loiza, Puerto Rico v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45177-DAP: Plaintiff Municipality of Loiza, Puerto Rico

Municipality of Loiza's untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Municipality of Loiza failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Municipality of Loiza also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, failure to implement a litigation hold, failure to submit a complete plaintiff fact sheet, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Municipality of Loiza's motion should be denied due to futility, as Municipality of Loiza does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Municipality of Loiza was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Municipality of Loiza amended its complaint on March 15, 2019, after transfer to the MDL on February 15, 2018. See Municipality of Loiza, Puerto Rico v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45177-DAP, ECF No. 15. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Municipality of Loiza declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaint. See Section II.A.1, above. Municipality of Loiza's deadline to amend was in 2019. Municipality of Loiza waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Municipality of Loiza's lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order's deadline because plaintiff "had all the information [she] needed" to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a "wait-and-see approach" instead of timely moving to amend).

OptumRx's Home-Delivery Pharmacy Had Zero Dispenses. OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy did not dispense a single opioid prescription to Municipality of Loiza's geographic jurisdiction over the period for which OptumRx has data (2010 to 2019). See Gustafson Decl.. Because OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy "ha[s] no market share, they shouldn't be in the case, period." ECF No. 3685 at 6:9–14; see Section III.A.2, above. Thus, Municipality of Loiza cannot show good cause to add claims against OptumRx in its capacity as a home delivery pharmacy.

Express Scripts' Mail Order Pharmacy Has No Market Share. Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy shipped zero opioid prescriptions to Municipality of Loiza's geographic jurisdiction during 2009 to 2019. See DeCarlo Decl., Exhibit B. Because Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy "ha[s] no market share, they shouldn't be in the case, period." ECF No. 3685 at 6:9–14; see Section III.A.2, above.

Failure to Implement a Litigation Hold. Municipality of Loiza filed its original complaint on December 20, 2017. See Municipality of Loiza, Puerto Rico v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45177-DAP, ECF No. 1. Despite filing its case years ago, Municipality of Loiza never implemented a litigation hold, in violation of this Court's orders (ECF Nos. 232; 5455). See ECF No. 5687-1 (Date Litigation Hold Implemented: Never). Litigating Municipality of Loiza's case would force the parties and the Court to waste time and resources ascertaining the extent of Municipality of Loiza's document destruction and the appropriate sanctions—just as the parties were forced to do in the three PBM bellwethers that failed to implement litigation holds until 2024. The PBMs are prejudiced by Municipality of Loiza's disregard for its most basic discovery obligations as a litigant, compounded by the delay in seeking leave to amend, and Municipality of Loiza therefore lacks good cause for leave to amend its complaint. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28 (denying leave to amend in part because the passage of time resulted in significant prejudice due to the loss of documents or records); see also Section III.A.4, above.

Failure to Prosecute. In its Plaintiff Fact Sheet, Municipality of Loiza failed to provide complete answers to Questions I.B.8 and I.B.9, relating to Municipality of Loiza’s health plans, carriers, third party administrators, and pharmacy benefit managers throughout the relevant time period. The PBMs notified Municipality of Loiza of this deficiency on September 16, 2024 (see Exhibit B), but Municipality of Loiza refused to amend or supplement its Fact Sheet. Under this Court’s orders, Municipality of Loiza’s case is therefore subject to “dismiss[al] with prejudice” for failure to prosecute. ECF No. 4985 at 1 (emphasis in original); see Section III.A.5, above. Municipality of Loiza’s refusal to provide basic information related to its health care plans prejudices the PBMs’ ability to defend against Municipality of Loiza’s potential claims against them. Municipality of Loiza’s failure to diligently prosecute its case, coupled with the prejudice against the PBMs, negates any finding of good cause and leave to amend should be denied. See Final Amendment Order, ECF No. 5455 at 2 (directing counsel to dismiss, not seek leave to amend, in any case that “plaintiffs’ counsel does not intend to zealously pursue in litigation”); Range, 2017 WL 9477693, at *4 n.6 (denying motion for leave to amend as moot because claims were dismissed for failure to prosecute).

Failure to State a Claim. Municipality of Loiza, a municipality in Puerto Rico, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Municipality of Loiza’s proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Municipality of Loiza filed its original complaint on December 20, 2017, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See Municipality of Loiza, Puerto Rico v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45177-DAP, ECF No. 1. It is therefore indisputable that Municipality of Loiza knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six and a half years before seeking leave to amend. Municipality of Loiza's RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO's four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by "discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim" (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Municipality of Loiza's request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Municipality of Loiza, a municipality in Puerto Rico, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester's complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

249. Phenix City, Alabama v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45179-DAP: Plaintiff Phenix City, Alabama

Phenix City's untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Phenix City failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Phenix City also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, failure to implement a litigation hold, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Phenix City's motion should be denied due to futility, as Phenix City does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its proposed public nuisance claim is barred by the statute of limitations, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Phenix City was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Phenix City amended its complaint on March 15, 2019, after transfer to the MDL on April 2, 2018. See Phenix City, Alabama v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45179-DAP, ECF No. 21. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Phenix City declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaint. See Section II.A.1, above. Phenix City’s deadline to amend was in 2019. Phenix City waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Phenix City’s lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order’s deadline because plaintiff “had all the information [she] needed” to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a “wait-and-see approach” instead of timely moving to amend).

Prior Notice Through Counsel. Phenix City cannot meet the Rule 16 good cause standard because it is represented by the same counsel—Greene, Ketchum, Farrell, Bailey & Tweel, LLP; Powell & Majestro; Baron & Budd, P.C.; Levin, Papantonio, Thomas, Mitchell, Rafferty & Proctor, P.A.; and McHugh Fuller Law Group, PLLC—that filed claims against the PBMs in 2019. See MDL ECF No. 2582. Phenix City, through its counsel, was on notice of potential claims against the PBMs and could readily have amended its complaint to add the PBMs much earlier. Phenix City fails to explain why it was unable to assert claims against the PBMs in 2019 when its own attorneys were already asserting those claims on behalf of other clients. See, e.g., Duggins, 195 F.3d at 834 (affirming denial of leave to amend after the close of discovery when the “plaintiff was obviously aware of the basis of the claim for many months, especially since some underlying facts were made a part of the complaint”); Thurmond, 649 F. App’x at 1006 (affirming denial of leave to amend for undue delay in part because plaintiff's counsel had access to discovery in related cases and was previously aware of the proposed new defendants' conduct).

OptumRx's Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to Phenix City's geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson Decl. (0.05% market share for Phenix City). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Phenix City to add dispensing claims against OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Express Scripts' Mail Order Pharmacy a Negligible Market Share. Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of prescription opioid units shipped to Phenix City's geographic jurisdiction during 2009 to 2019. See DeCarlo Decl., Exhibit C (0.24% market share). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Phenix City to add dispensing claims against Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy entities. See Section III.A.2, above.

Failure to Implement a Litigation Hold. Phenix City filed its original complaint on February 1, 2018. See Phenix City, Alabama v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45179-DAP, ECF No. 1. Despite filing its case years ago, Phenix City never implemented a litigation hold and is instead purporting to rely on non-specific and unidentified document retention laws. See ECF No. 5687-1 (Date Litigation Hold Implemented: *(Never)). This is a plain violation of this Court's orders. ECF Nos. 232; 5455. Litigating Phenix City's case would force the parties and the Court to waste time and resources ascertaining the extent of Phenix City's document destruction and the appropriate sanctions—just as the parties were forced to do in the three PBM bellwethers that failed to implement litigation holds until 2024. The PBMs are prejudiced by Phenix City's disregard for its most basic discovery obligations as a litigant, compounded by the delay in seeking leave to amend, and Phenix City therefore lacks good cause for leave to amend its complaint. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28 (denying leave to amend in part because the passage of time resulted in significant prejudice due to the loss of documents or records); see also Section III.A.4, above.

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Alabama law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Phenix City's delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs' ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Alabama law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Phenix City, a municipality in Alabama, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Phenix City's proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Phenix City filed its original complaint on February 1, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See Phenix City, Alabama v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45179-DAP, ECF No. 1. It is therefore indisputable that Phenix City knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend. Phenix City's RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO's four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by "discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim" (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Phenix City’s request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Public Nuisance Statute of Limitations. In Alabama, public-nuisance claims are subject to a two-year limitations period. Phenix City’s public-nuisance claim against the PBMs is therefore time-barred because Phenix City sought leave to amend its complaint on July 29, 2024—more than six years after filing its original complaint on February 1, 2018—and the proposed amendment does not relate back to the original filing for purposes of the applicable statute of limitations. See Zakora, 44 F.4th at 480 (“This court has repeatedly held that an amendment which adds a new party creates a new cause of action and there is no relation back to the original filing for purposes of limitations.” (cleaned up)).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Phenix City, a municipality in Alabama, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester’s complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

250. Washington County, Alabama v. Actavis, LLC et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45180-DAP: Plaintiff Washington County, Alabama

Washington County’s untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Washington County failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Washington County also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, failure to implement a litigation hold, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Washington County’s motion should be denied due to futility, as Washington County does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its proposed public nuisance claim is barred by the statute of limitations, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Washington County was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Washington County amended its complaint on March 8, 2019, after transfer to the MDL on February 16, 2018. See Washington County, Alabama v. Actavis, LLC et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45180-DAP, ECF No. 19. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Washington County declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaint. See Section II.A.1, above. Washington County’s deadline to amend was in 2019. Washington County waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Washington County’s lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order’s deadline because plaintiff “had all the information [she] needed” to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a “wait-and-see approach” instead of timely moving to amend).

Prior Notice Through Counsel. Washington County cannot meet the Rule 16 good cause standard because it is represented by the same counsel—Levin, Papantonio, Thomas, Mitchell, Rafferty & Proctor, P.A.—that filed claims against the PBMs in 2019. See MDL ECF No. 2582. Washington County, through its counsel, was on notice of potential claims against the PBMs and could readily have amended its complaint to add the PBMs much earlier. Washington County fails to explain why it was unable to assert claims against the PBMs in 2019 when its own attorneys were already asserting those claims on behalf of other clients. See, e.g., Duggins, 195 F.3d at 834 (affirming denial of leave to amend after the close of discovery when the “plaintiff was obviously aware of the basis of the claim for many months, especially since some underlying facts were made a part of the complaint”); Thurmond, 649 F. App’x at 1006 (affirming denial of leave to amend for undue delay in part because plaintiff's counsel had access to discovery in related cases and was previously aware of the proposed new defendants' conduct).

OptumRx's Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to Washington County's geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson Decl. (0.02% market share for Washington County). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Washington County to add dispensing claims against OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Express Scripts' Mail Order Pharmacy a Negligible Market Share. Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of prescription opioid units shipped to Washington County's geographic jurisdiction during 2009 to 2019. See DeCarlo Decl., Exhibit C (0.48% market share). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Washington County to add dispensing claims against Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy entities. See Section III.A.2, above.

Failure to Implement a Litigation Hold. Washington County filed its original complaint on February 1, 2018. See Washington County, Alabama v. Actavis, LLC et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45180-DAP, ECF No. 1. Despite filing its case years ago, Washington County never implemented a litigation hold and is instead purporting to rely on non-specific and unidentified document retention laws. See ECF No. 5687-1 (Date Litigation Hold Implemented: *(Never)). This is a plain violation of this Court's orders. ECF Nos. 232; 5455. Litigating Washington County's case would force the parties and the Court to waste time and resources ascertaining the extent of Washington County's document destruction and the appropriate sanctions—just as the parties were forced to do in the three PBM bellwethers that failed to implement litigation holds until 2024. The PBMs are prejudiced by Washington County's disregard for its most basic discovery obligations as a litigant, compounded by the delay in seeking leave to amend, and Washington County therefore lacks good cause for leave to amend its complaint. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28 (denying leave to amend in part because the passage of time resulted in significant prejudice due to the loss of documents or records); see also Section III.A.4, above.

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Alabama law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Washington County's delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs' ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Alabama law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Washington County, a municipality in Alabama, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Washington County's proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Washington County filed its original complaint on February 1, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See Washington County, Alabama v. Actavis, LLC et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45180-DAP, ECF No. 1. It is therefore indisputable that Washington County knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend. Washington County's RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO's four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by “discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim” (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Washington County’s request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Public Nuisance Statute of Limitations. In Alabama, public-nuisance claims are subject to a two-year limitations period. Washington County’s public-nuisance claim against the PBMs is therefore time-barred because Washington County sought leave to amend its complaint on July 29, 2024—more than six years after filing its original complaint on February 1, 2018—and the proposed amendment does not relate back to the original filing for purposes of the applicable statute of limitations. See Zakora, 44 F.4th at 480 (“This court has repeatedly held that an amendment which adds a new party creates a new cause of action and there is no relation back to the original filing for purposes of limitations.” (cleaned up)).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Washington County lacks statutory standing to assert a public nuisance claim under Alabama law because it “is clearly not an individual, nor a city, nor the [s]tate,” and thus amendment is futile. Lee County, 2022 WL 450810, at *4 (concluding an Alabama county lacked standing to bring a Ala. Code § 6-5-121 claim); see Section III.B.3, above.

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Washington County, a municipality in Alabama, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester’s complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

251. Wilcox County, Alabama v. Actavis, LLC et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45181-DAP: Plaintiff Wilcox County, Alabama

Wilcox County’s untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reason. Wilcox County failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint.

Wilcox County also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, failure to implement a litigation hold, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Wilcox County's motion should be denied due to futility, as Wilcox County does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its proposed public nuisance claim is barred by the statute of limitations, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Wilcox County was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Wilcox County amended its complaint on March 8, 2019, after transfer to the MDL on February 16, 2018. See Wilcox County, Alabama v. Actavis, LLC et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45181-DAP, ECF No. 19. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Wilcox County declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaint. See Section II.A.1, above. Wilcox County's deadline to amend was in 2019. Wilcox County waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Wilcox County's lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order's deadline because plaintiff "had all the information [she] needed" to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a "wait-and-see approach" instead of timely moving to amend).

Prior Notice Through Counsel. Wilcox County cannot meet the Rule 16 good cause standard because it is represented by the same counsel—Levin, Papantonio, Thomas, Mitchell, Rafferty & Proctor, P.A.—that filed claims against the PBMs in 2019. See MDL ECF No. 2582. Wilcox County, through its counsel, was on notice of potential claims against the PBMs and could readily have amended its complaint to add the PBMs much earlier. Wilcox County fails to explain why it was unable to assert claims against the PBMs in 2019 when its own attorneys were already asserting those claims on behalf of other clients. See, e.g., Duggins, 195 F.3d at 834 (affirming denial of leave to amend after the close of discovery when the “plaintiff was obviously aware of the basis of the claim for many months, especially since some underlying facts were made a part of the complaint”); Thurmond, 649 F. App’x at 1006 (affirming denial of leave to amend for undue delay in part because plaintiff’s counsel had access to discovery in related cases and was previously aware of the proposed new defendants’ conduct).

OptumRx’s Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to Wilcox County’s geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson Decl. (0.008% market share for Wilcox County). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Wilcox County to add dispensing claims against OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Failure to Implement a Litigation Hold. Wilcox County filed its original complaint on February 1, 2018. See Wilcox County, Alabama v. Actavis, LLC et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45181-DAP, ECF No. 1. Despite filing its case years ago, Wilcox County never implemented a litigation hold, in violation of this Court’s orders (ECF Nos. 232; 5455). See ECF No. 5687-1 (Date Litigation Hold Implemented: Never). Litigating Wilcox County’s case would force the parties and the Court to waste time and resources ascertaining the extent of Wilcox County’s document destruction and the appropriate sanctions—just as the parties were forced to do in the three PBM bellwethers that failed to implement litigation holds until 2024. The PBMs are prejudiced by Wilcox County’s disregard for its most basic discovery obligations as a litigant, compounded by the delay in seeking leave to amend, and Wilcox County therefore lacks good cause for leave to amend its complaint. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28 (denying leave to amend in part because the passage of time resulted in significant prejudice due to the loss of documents or records); see also Section III.A.4, above.

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Alabama law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Wilcox County's delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs' ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Alabama law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Wilcox County, a municipality in Alabama, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Wilcox County's proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Wilcox County filed its original complaint on February 1, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See Wilcox County, Alabama v. Actavis, LLC et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45181-DAP, ECF No. 1. It is therefore indisputable that Wilcox County knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend. Wilcox County's RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO's four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by "discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim" (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Wilcox County's request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Public Nuisance Statute of Limitations. In Alabama, public-nuisance claims are subject to a two-year limitations period. Wilcox County’s public-nuisance claim against the PBMs is therefore time-barred because Wilcox County sought leave to amend its complaint on July 29, 2024—more than six years after filing its original complaint on February 1, 2018—and the proposed amendment does not relate back to the original filing for purposes of the applicable statute of limitations. See Zakora, 44 F.4th at 480 (“This court has repeatedly held that an amendment which adds a new party creates a new cause of action and there is no relation back to the original filing for purposes of limitations.” (cleaned up)).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Wilcox County lacks statutory standing to assert a public nuisance claim under Alabama law because it “is clearly not an individual, nor a city, nor the [s]tate,” and thus amendment is futile. Lee County, 2022 WL 450810, at *4 (concluding an Alabama county lacked standing to bring a Ala. Code § 6-5-121 claim); see Section III.B.3, above.

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Wilcox County, a municipality in Alabama, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester’s complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

252. Coffee County, Alabama v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45182-DAP: Plaintiff Coffee County, Alabama

Coffee County’s untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reason. Coffee County failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Coffee County also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, failure to submit a complete plaintiff fact sheet, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Coffee County’s motion should be denied due to futility, as Coffee County does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its proposed public nuisance claim is barred by the statute of limitations, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Coffee County was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Coffee County amended its complaint on March 7, 2019, after transfer to the MDL on February 16, 2018. See Coffee County, Alabama v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45182-DAP, ECF No. 21. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Coffee County declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaint. See Section II.A.1, above. Coffee County’s deadline to amend was in 2019. Coffee County waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Coffee County’s lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order’s deadline because plaintiff “had all the information [she] needed” to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a “wait-and-see approach” instead of timely moving to amend).

Prior Notice Through Counsel. Coffee County cannot meet the Rule 16 good cause standard because it is represented by the same counsel—Greene, Ketchum, Farrell, Bailey & Tweel, LLP; Powell & Majestro; Baron & Budd, P.C.; Levin, Papantonio, Thomas, Mitchell, Rafferty & Proctor, P.A.; and McHugh Fuller Law Group, PLLC—that filed claims against the PBMs in 2019. See MDL ECF No. 2582. Coffee County, through its counsel, was on notice of potential claims against the PBMs and could readily have amended its complaint to add the PBMs much earlier. Coffee County fails to explain why it was unable to assert claims against the PBMs in 2019 when its own attorneys were already asserting those claims on behalf of other clients. See, e.g., Duggins, 195 F.3d at 834 (affirming denial of leave to amend after the close of discovery when the “plaintiff was obviously aware of the basis of the claim for many months, especially since some underlying facts were made a part of the complaint”); Thurmond, 649 F. App’x at 1006 (affirming denial of leave to amend for undue delay in part because plaintiff’s counsel had access to discovery in related cases and was previously aware of the proposed new defendants’ conduct).

OptumRx’s Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to Coffee County’s geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson Decl. (0.02% market share for Coffee County). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Coffee County to add dispensing claims against OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Express Scripts’ Mail Order Pharmacy a Negligible Market Share. Express Scripts’ mail order pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of prescription opioid units shipped to Coffee County’s geographic jurisdiction during 2009 to 2019. See DeCarlo Decl., Exhibit C (0.13% market share). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Coffee County to add dispensing claims against Express Scripts’ mail order pharmacy entities. See Section III.A.2, above.

Failure to Prosecute. In its Plaintiff Fact Sheet, Coffee County failed to provide complete answers to Questions I.B.8 and I.B.9, relating to Coffee County’s health plans, carriers, third party administrators, and pharmacy benefit managers throughout the relevant time period. The PBMs notified Coffee County of this deficiency on September 16, 2024 (see Exhibit B), but Coffee

County refused to amend or supplement its Fact Sheet. Under this Court's orders, Coffee County's case is therefore subject to "dismiss[al] with prejudice" for failure to prosecute. ECF No. 4985 at 1 (emphasis in original); see Section III.A.5, above. Coffee County's refusal to provide basic information related to its health care plans prejudices the PBMs' ability to defend against Coffee County's potential claims against them. Coffee County's failure to diligently prosecute its case, coupled with the prejudice against the PBMs, negates any finding of good cause and leave to amend should be denied. See Final Amendment Order, ECF No. 5455 at 2 (directing counsel to dismiss, not seek leave to amend, in any case that "plaintiffs' counsel does not intend to zealously pursue in litigation"); Range, 2017 WL 9477693, at *4 n.6 (denying motion for leave to amend as moot because claims were dismissed for failure to prosecute).

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Alabama law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Coffee County's delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs' ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Alabama law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Coffee County, a municipality in Alabama, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Coffee County's proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Coffee County filed its original complaint on February 1, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See Coffee County, Alabama v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45182-DAP, ECF No. 1. It is therefore indisputable that Coffee County knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend. Coffee County's RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO's four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by "discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim" (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Coffee County's request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Public Nuisance Statute of Limitations. In Alabama, public-nuisance claims are subject to a two-year limitations period. Coffee County's public-nuisance claim against the PBMs is therefore time-barred because Coffee County sought leave to amend its complaint on July 29, 2024—more than six years after filing its original complaint on February 1, 2018—and the proposed amendment does not relate back to the original filing for purposes of the applicable statute of limitations. See Zakora, 44 F.4th at 480 ("This court has repeatedly held that an amendment which adds a new party creates a new cause of action and there is no relation back to the original filing for purposes of limitations." (cleaned up)).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Coffee County lacks statutory standing to assert a public nuisance claim under Alabama law because it "is clearly not an individual, nor a city, nor the [s]tate," and thus amendment is futile. Lee County, 2022 WL 450810, at *4 (concluding an Alabama county lacked standing to bring a Ala. Code § 6-5-121 claim); see Section III.B.3, above.

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Coffee County, a municipality in Alabama, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester's complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

253. City of Demopolis, Alabama v. Actavis, LLC et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45183-DAP: Plaintiff Demopolis City, Alabama

Demopolis City's untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reason. Demopolis City failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Demopolis City also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, failure to timely implement a litigation hold, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Demopolis City's motion should be denied due to futility, as Demopolis City does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its proposed public nuisance claim is barred by the statute of limitations, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Demopolis City was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Demopolis City amended its complaint on March 7, 2019, after transfer to the MDL on February 16, 2018. See City of Demopolis, Alabama v. Actavis, LLC et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45183-DAP, ECF No. 19. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Demopolis City declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaint. See Section II.A.1, above. Demopolis City's deadline to amend was in 2019. Demopolis City waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Demopolis City's lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order's deadline because plaintiff "had all the information [she] needed" to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a "wait-and-see approach" instead of timely moving to amend).

Prior Notice Through Counsel. Demopolis City cannot meet the Rule 16 good cause standard because it is represented by the same counsel—Levin, Papantonio, Thomas, Mitchell, Rafferty & Proctor, P.A.—that filed claims against the PBMs in 2019. See MDL ECF No. 2582. Demopolis City, through its counsel, was on notice of potential claims against the PBMs and could readily have amended its complaint to add the PBMs much earlier. Demopolis City fails to explain why it was unable to assert claims against the PBMs in 2019 when its own attorneys were already asserting those claims on behalf of other clients. See, e.g., Duggins, 195 F.3d at 834 (affirming denial of leave to amend after the close of discovery when the “plaintiff was obviously aware of the basis of the claim for many months, especially since some underlying facts were made a part of the complaint”); Thurmond, 649 F. App’x at 1006 (affirming denial of leave to amend for undue delay in part because plaintiff’s counsel had access to discovery in related cases and was previously aware of the proposed new defendants’ conduct).

OptumRx’s Home-Delivery Pharmacy Had Zero Dispenses. OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy did not dispense a single opioid prescription to Demopolis City’s geographic jurisdiction over the period for which OptumRx has data (2010 to 2019). See Gustafson Decl.. Because OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy “ha[s] no market share, they shouldn’t be in the case, period.” ECF No. 3685 at 6:9–14; see Section III.A.2, above. Thus, Demopolis City cannot show good cause to add claims against OptumRx in its capacity as a home delivery pharmacy.

Failure to Timely Implement a Litigation Hold. Demopolis City violated its basic duty to implement a timely litigation hold. Demopolis City filed its original complaint on February 1, 2018, but waited until September 20, 2024 to implement a litigation hold—six and a half years later. See City of Demopolis, Alabama v. Actavis, LLC et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45183-DAP, ECF No. 1; see also ECF No. 5687-1 (Date Litigation Hold Implemented: September 20, 2024). This is a plain violation of this Court’s orders. ECF Nos. 232; 5455. Litigating Demopolis City’s case would force the parties and the Court to waste time and resources ascertaining the extent of Demopolis City's document destruction and the appropriate sanctions—just as the parties were forced to do in the three PBM bellwethers that failed to implement litigation holds until 2024. The PBMs are prejudiced by Demopolis City's disregard for its most basic discovery obligations as a litigant, compounded by the delay in seeking leave to amend, and Demopolis City therefore lacks good cause for leave to amend its complaint. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28 (denying leave to amend in part because the passage of time resulted in significant prejudice due to the loss of documents or records); see also Section III.A.4, above.

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Alabama law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Demopolis City's delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs' ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Alabama law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Demopolis City, a municipality in Alabama, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Demopolis City's proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Demopolis City filed its original complaint on February 1, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See City of Demopolis, Alabama v. Actavis, LLC et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45183-DAP, ECF No. 1. It is therefore indisputable that Demopolis City knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend. Demopolis City's RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO's four-year limitations period.

ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by “discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim” (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Demopolis City’s request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Public Nuisance Statute of Limitations. In Alabama, public-nuisance claims are subject to a two-year limitations period. Demopolis City’s public-nuisance claim against the PBMs is therefore time-barred because Demopolis City sought leave to amend its complaint on July 29, 2024—more than six years after filing its original complaint on February 1, 2018—and the proposed amendment does not relate back to the original filing for purposes of the applicable statute of limitations. See Zakora, 44 F.4th at 480 (“This court has repeatedly held that an amendment which adds a new party creates a new cause of action and there is no relation back to the original filing for purposes of limitations.” (cleaned up)).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Demopolis City, a municipality in Alabama, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester’s complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

254. Burke County v. AmerisourceBergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45184-DAP: Plaintiff Burke County, North Carolina

Burke County’s untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reason. Burke County failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Burke County also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, failure to implement a litigation hold, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Burke County’s motion should be denied due to futility, as Burke County does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its proposed public nuisance claim is barred by the statute of limitations, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Burke County was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Burke County amended its complaint on March 11, 2019, after transfer to the MDL on February 16, 2018. See Burke County v. AmerisourceBergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45184-DAP, ECF No. 6. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Burke County declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaint. See Section II.A.1, above. Burke County’s deadline to amend was in 2019. Burke County waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Burke County’s lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order’s deadline because plaintiff “had all the information [she] needed” to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a “wait-and-see approach” instead of timely moving to amend).

Prior Notice Through Counsel. Burke County cannot meet the Rule 16 good cause standard because it is represented by the same counsel—Greene, Ketchum, Farrell, Bailey & Tweel, LLP; Powell & Majestro; Baron & Budd, P.C.; Levin, Papantonio, Thomas, Mitchell, Rafferty & Proctor, P.A.; and McHugh Fuller Law Group, PLLC—that filed claims against the PBMs in 2019. See MDL ECF No. 2582. Burke County, through its counsel, was on notice of potential claims against the PBMs and could readily have amended its complaint to add the PBMs much earlier. Burke County fails to explain why it was unable to assert claims against the PBMs in 2019 when its own attorneys were already asserting those claims on behalf of other clients. See, e.g., Duggins, 195 F.3d at 834 (affirming denial of leave to amend after the close of discovery when the “plaintiff was obviously aware of the basis of the claim for many months, especially since some underlying facts were made a part of the complaint”); Thurmond, 649 F. App’x at 1006 (affirming denial of leave to amend for undue delay in part because plaintiff’s counsel had access to discovery in related cases and was previously aware of the proposed new defendants’ conduct).

OptumRx’s Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to Burke County’s geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson Decl. (0.06% market share for Burke County). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Burke County to add dispensing claims against OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Express Scripts’ Mail Order Pharmacy a Negligible Market Share. Express Scripts’ mail order pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of prescription opioid units shipped to Burke County’s geographic jurisdiction during 2009 to 2019. See DeCarlo Decl., Exhibit C (0.21% market share). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Burke County to add dispensing claims against Express Scripts’ mail order pharmacy entities. See Section III.A.2, above.

Failure to Implement a Litigation Hold. Burke County filed its original complaint on January 31, 2018. See Burke County v. AmerisourceBergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45184-DAP, ECF No. 1. Despite filing its case years ago, Burke County never implemented a litigation hold, in violation of this Court’s orders (ECF Nos. 232; 5455). See ECF No. 5687-1 (Date Litigation Hold Implemented: Never). Litigating Burke County’s case would force the parties and the Court to waste time and resources ascertaining the extent of Burke

County's document destruction and the appropriate sanctions—just as the parties were forced to do in the three PBM bellwethers that failed to implement litigation holds until 2024. The PBMs are prejudiced by Burke County's disregard for its most basic discovery obligations as a litigant, compounded by the delay in seeking leave to amend, and Burke County therefore lacks good cause for leave to amend its complaint. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28 (denying leave to amend in part because the passage of time resulted in significant prejudice due to the loss of documents or records); see also Section III.A.4, above.

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under North Carolina law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Burke County's delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs' ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under North Carolina law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Burke County, a municipality in North Carolina, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Burke County's proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Burke County filed its original complaint on January 31, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See Burke County v. AmerisourceBergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45184-DAP, ECF No. 1. It is therefore indisputable that Burke County knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend.

Burke County's RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO's four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by "discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim" (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Burke County's request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Burke County, a municipality in North Carolina, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester's complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

255. Stokes County v. AmerisourceBergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45185-DAP: Plaintiff Stokes County, North Carolina

Stokes County's untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Stokes County failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Stokes County also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Stokes County's motion should be denied due to futility, as Stokes County does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its proposed public nuisance claim is barred by the statute of limitations, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Stokes County was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Stokes County amended its complaint on March 12, 2019, after transfer to the MDL on February 16, 2018. See Stokes County v. AmerisourceBergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45185-DAP, ECF No. 7. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Stokes County declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaint. See Section II.A.1, above. Stokes County’s deadline to amend was in 2019. Stokes County waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Stokes County’s lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order’s deadline because plaintiff “had all the information [she] needed” to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a “wait-and-see approach” instead of timely moving to amend).

Prior Notice Through Counsel. Stokes County cannot meet the Rule 16 good cause standard because it is represented by the same counsel—Greene, Ketchum, Farrell, Bailey & Tweel, LLP; Powell & Majestro; Baron & Budd, P.C.; Levin, Papantonio, Thomas, Mitchell, Rafferty & Proctor, P.A.; and McHugh Fuller Law Group, PLLC—that filed claims against the PBMs in 2019. See MDL ECF No. 2582. Stokes County, through its counsel, was on notice of potential claims against the PBMs and could readily have amended its complaint to add the PBMs much earlier. Stokes County fails to explain why it was unable to assert claims against the PBMs in 2019 when its own attorneys were already asserting those claims on behalf of other clients. See, e.g., Duggins, 195 F.3d at 834 (affirming denial of leave to amend after the close of discovery when the “plaintiff was obviously aware of the basis of the claim for many months, especially since some underlying facts were made a part of the complaint”); Thurmond, 649 F. App’x at 1006 (affirming denial of leave to amend for undue delay in part because plaintiff’s counsel had access to discovery in related cases and was previously aware of the proposed new defendants’ conduct).

OptumRx’s Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to Stokes County’s geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson

Decl. (0.15% market share for Stokes County). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Stokes County to add dispensing claims against OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under North Carolina law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Stokes County's delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs' ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under North Carolina law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Stokes County, a municipality in North Carolina, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Stokes County's proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Stokes County filed its original complaint on February 1, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See Stokes County v. AmerisourceBergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45185-DAP, ECF No. 1. It is therefore indisputable that Stokes County knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend. Stokes County's RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO's four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by "discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim" (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Stokes County's request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Stokes County, a municipality in North Carolina, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester's complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

256. Mobile County, Alabama v. Actavis, LLC et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45186-DAP: Plaintiff Mobile County, Alabama

Mobile County's untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Mobile County failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Mobile County also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, failure to implement a litigation hold, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Mobile County's motion should be denied due to futility, as Mobile County does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its proposed public nuisance claim is barred by the statute of limitations, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Mobile County was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Mobile County amended its complaint on March 8, 2019, after transfer to the MDL on February 16, 2018. See Mobile County, Alabama v. Actavis, LLC et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45186-DAP, ECF No. 19. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Mobile County declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaint. See Section II.A.1, above. Mobile County's deadline to amend was in 2019. Mobile County waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Mobile County's lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order’s deadline because plaintiff “had all the information [she] needed” to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a “wait-and-see approach” instead of timely moving to amend).

Prior Notice Through Counsel. Mobile County cannot meet the Rule 16 good cause standard because it is represented by the same counsel—Levin, Papantonio, Thomas, Mitchell, Rafferty & Proctor, P.A.—that filed claims against the PBMs in 2019. See MDL ECF No. 2582. Mobile County, through its counsel, was on notice of potential claims against the PBMs and could readily have amended its complaint to add the PBMs much earlier. Mobile County fails to explain why it was unable to assert claims against the PBMs in 2019 when its own attorneys were already asserting those claims on behalf of other clients. See, e.g., Duggins, 195 F.3d at 834 (affirming denial of leave to amend after the close of discovery when the “plaintiff was obviously aware of the basis of the claim for many months, especially since some underlying facts were made a part of the complaint”); Thurmond, 649 F. App’x at 1006 (affirming denial of leave to amend for undue delay in part because plaintiff’s counsel had access to discovery in related cases and was previously aware of the proposed new defendants’ conduct).

OptumRx’s Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to Mobile County’s geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson Decl. (0.03% market share for Mobile County). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Mobile County to add dispensing claims against OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Express Scripts' Mail Order Pharmacy a Negligible Market Share. Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of prescription opioid units shipped to Mobile County's geographic jurisdiction during 2009 to 2019. See DeCarlo Decl., Exhibit C (0.15% market share). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Mobile County to add dispensing claims against Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy entities. See Section III.A.2, above.

Failure to Implement a Litigation Hold. Mobile County filed its original complaint on February 1, 2018. See Mobile County, Alabama v. Actavis, LLC et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45186-DAP, ECF No. 1. Despite filing its case years ago, Mobile County never implemented a litigation hold and is instead purporting to rely on non-specific and unidentified document retention laws. See ECF No. 5687-1 (Date Litigation Hold Implemented: *(Never)). This is a plain violation of this Court's orders. ECF Nos. 232; 5455. Litigating Mobile County's case would force the parties and the Court to waste time and resources ascertaining the extent of Mobile County's document destruction and the appropriate sanctions—just as the parties were forced to do in the three PBM bellwethers that failed to implement litigation holds until 2024. The PBMs are prejudiced by Mobile County's disregard for its most basic discovery obligations as a litigant, compounded by the delay in seeking leave to amend, and Mobile County therefore lacks good cause for leave to amend its complaint. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28 (denying leave to amend in part because the passage of time resulted in significant prejudice due to the loss of documents or records); see also Section III.A.4, above.

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Alabama law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Mobile County's delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs' ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Alabama law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Mobile County, a municipality in Alabama, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Mobile County’s proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Mobile County filed its original complaint on February 1, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See Mobile County, Alabama v. Actavis, LLC et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45186-DAP, ECF No. 1. It is therefore indisputable that Mobile County knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend. Mobile County’s RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO’s four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by “discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim” (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Mobile County’s request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Public Nuisance Statute of Limitations. In Alabama, public-nuisance claims are subject to a two-year limitations period. Mobile County’s public-nuisance claim against the PBMs is therefore time-barred because Mobile County sought leave to amend its complaint on July 29, 2024—more than six years after filing its original complaint on February 1, 2018—and the proposed amendment does not relate back to the original filing for purposes of the applicable statute of limitations. See Zakora, 44 F.4th at 480 (“This court has repeatedly held that an amendment which adds a new party creates a new cause of action and there is no relation back to the original filing for purposes of limitations.” (cleaned up)).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Mobile County lacks statutory standing to assert a public nuisance claim under Alabama law because it “is clearly not an individual, nor a city, nor the [s]tate,” and thus amendment is futile. Lee County, 2022 WL 450810, at *4 (concluding an Alabama county lacked standing to bring a Ala. Code § 6-5-121 claim); see Section III.B.3, above.

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Mobile County, a municipality in Alabama, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester’s complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

257. Marengo County, Alabama v. Actavis, LLC et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45188-DAP: Plaintiff Marengo County, Alabama

Marengo County’s untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reason. Marengo County failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Marengo County also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Marengo County’s motion should be denied due to futility, as Marengo County does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its proposed public nuisance claim is barred by the statute of limitations, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Marengo County was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Marengo County amended its complaint on March 15, 2019, after transfer to the MDL on February 16, 2018. See Marengo County, Alabama v. Actavis, LLC et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45188-DAP, ECF No. 20. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Marengo County declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaint. See Section II.A.1, above. Marengo County’s deadline to amend was in 2019. Marengo County waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Marengo County’s lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order’s deadline because plaintiff “had all the information [she] needed” to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a “wait-and-see approach” instead of timely moving to amend).

Prior Notice Through Counsel. Marengo County cannot meet the Rule 16 good cause standard because it is represented by the same counsel—Levin, Papantonio, Thomas, Mitchell, Rafferty & Proctor, P.A.—that filed claims against the PBMs in 2019. See MDL ECF No. 2582. Marengo County, through its counsel, was on notice of potential claims against the PBMs and could readily have amended its complaint to add the PBMs much earlier. Marengo County fails to explain why it was unable to assert claims against the PBMs in 2019 when its own attorneys were already asserting those claims on behalf of other clients. See, e.g., Duggins, 195 F.3d at 834 (affirming denial of leave to amend after the close of discovery when the “plaintiff was obviously aware of the basis of the claim for many months, especially since some underlying facts were made a part of the complaint”); Thurmond, 649 F. App’x at 1006 (affirming denial of leave to amend for undue delay in part because plaintiff’s counsel had access to discovery in related cases and was previously aware of the proposed new defendants’ conduct).

OptumRx’s Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to Marengo County’s geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson

Decl. (0.02% market share for Marengo County). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Marengo County to add dispensing claims against OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Express Scripts' Mail Order Pharmacy a Negligible Market Share. Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of prescription opioid units shipped to Marengo County's geographic jurisdiction during 2009 to 2019. See DeCarlo Decl., Exhibit C (0.20% market share). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Marengo County to add dispensing claims against Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy entities. See Section III.A.2, above.

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Alabama law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Marengo County's delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs' ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Alabama law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Marengo County, a municipality in Alabama, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Marengo County's proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Marengo County filed its original complaint on February 1, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See Marengo County, Alabama v. Actavis, LLC et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45188-DAP, ECF No. 1. It is therefore indisputable that Marengo County knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend. Marengo County's RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO's four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by "discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim" (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Marengo County's request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Public Nuisance Statute of Limitations. In Alabama, public-nuisance claims are subject to a two-year limitations period. Marengo County's public-nuisance claim against the PBMs is therefore time-barred because Marengo County sought leave to amend its complaint on July 29, 2024—more than six years after filing its original complaint on February 1, 2018—and the proposed amendment does not relate back to the original filing for purposes of the applicable statute of limitations. See Zakora, 44 F.4th at 480 ("This court has repeatedly held that an amendment which adds a new party creates a new cause of action and there is no relation back to the original filing for purposes of limitations." (cleaned up)).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Marengo County lacks statutory standing to assert a public nuisance claim under Alabama law because it "is clearly not an individual, nor a city, nor the [s]tate," and thus amendment is futile. Lee County, 2022 WL 450810, at *4 (concluding an Alabama county lacked standing to bring a Ala. Code § 6-5-121 claim); see Section III.B.3, above.

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Marengo County, a municipality in Alabama, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester's complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

258. Talladega County, Alabama et al. v. Cardinal Health Inc et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45190-DAP: Plaintiff Talladega City, Alabama

Talladega City's untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reason. Talladega City failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Talladega City also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, failure to implement a litigation hold, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Talladega City's motion should be denied due to futility, as Talladega City does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its proposed public nuisance claim is barred by the statute of limitations, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Talladega City was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Talladega City amended its complaint on March 15, 2019, after transfer to the MDL on February 16, 2018. See Talladega County, Alabama et al. v. Cardinal Health Inc et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45190-DAP, ECF No. 25. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Talladega City declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaint. See Section II.A.1, above. Talladega City's deadline to amend was in 2019. Talladega City waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Talladega City's lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order's deadline because plaintiff "had all the information [she] needed" to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a "wait-and-see approach" instead of timely moving to amend).

OptumRx's Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to Talladega City's geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson Decl. (0.01% market share for Talladega City). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Talladega City to add dispensing claims against OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Express Scripts' Mail Order Pharmacy a Negligible Market Share. Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of prescription opioid units shipped to Talladega City's geographic jurisdiction during 2009 to 2019. See DeCarlo Decl., Exhibit C (0.16% market share). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Talladega City to add dispensing claims against Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy entities. See Section III.A.2, above.

Failure to Implement a Litigation Hold. Talladega City filed its original complaint on January 31, 2018. See Talladega County, Alabama et al. v. Cardinal Health Inc et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45190-DAP, ECF No. 1. Despite filing its case years ago, Talladega City never implemented a litigation hold, in violation of this Court's orders (ECF Nos. 232; 5455). See ECF No. 5687-1 (Date Litigation Hold Implemented: Never). Litigating Talladega City's case would force the parties and the Court to waste time and resources ascertaining the extent of Talladega City's document destruction and the appropriate sanctions—just as the parties were forced to do in the three PBM bellwethers that failed to implement litigation holds until 2024. The PBMs are prejudiced by Talladega City's disregard for its most basic discovery obligations as a litigant, compounded by the delay in seeking leave to amend, and Talladega City therefore lacks good cause for leave to amend its complaint. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28 (denying leave to amend in part because the passage of time resulted in significant prejudice due to the loss of documents or records); see also Section III.A.4, above.

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Alabama law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Talladega City’s delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs’ ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Alabama law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Talladega City, a municipality in Alabama, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Talladega City’s proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Talladega City filed its original complaint on January 31, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See Talladega County, Alabama et al. v. Cardinal Health Inc et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45190-DAP, ECF No. 1. It is therefore indisputable that Talladega City knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend. Talladega City’s RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO’s four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by “discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim” (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Talladega City’s request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Public Nuisance Statute of Limitations. In Alabama, public-nuisance claims are subject to a two-year limitations period. Talladega City’s public-nuisance claim against the PBMs is therefore time-barred because Talladega City sought leave to amend its complaint on July 29, 2024—more than six years after filing its original complaint on January 31, 2018—and the proposed amendment does not relate back to the original filing for purposes of the applicable statute of limitations. See Zakora, 44 F.4th at 480 (“This court has repeatedly held that an amendment which adds a new party creates a new cause of action and there is no relation back to the original filing for purposes of limitations.” (cleaned up)).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Talladega City, a municipality in Alabama, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester’s complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

259. Talladega County, Alabama et al. v. Cardinal Health Inc et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45190-DAP: Plaintiff Talladega County, Alabama

Talladega County’s untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reason. Talladega County failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Talladega County also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, failure to implement a litigation hold, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Talladega County’s motion should be denied due to futility, as Talladega County does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its proposed public nuisance claim is barred by the statute of limitations, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Talladega County was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Talladega County amended its complaint on March 15, 2019, after transfer to the MDL on February 16, 2018. See Talladega County, Alabama et al. v. Cardinal Health Inc et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45190-DAP, ECF No. 25. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Talladega County declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaint. See Section II.A.1, above. Talladega County's deadline to amend was in 2019. Talladega County waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Talladega County's lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order's deadline because plaintiff "had all the information [she] needed" to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a "wait-and-see approach" instead of timely moving to amend).

OptumRx's Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to Talladega County's geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson Decl. (0.03% market share for Talladega County). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Talladega County to add dispensing claims against OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Express Scripts' Mail Order Pharmacy a Negligible Market Share. Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of prescription opioid units shipped to Talladega County's geographic jurisdiction during 2009 to 2019. See DeCarlo Decl., Exhibit C (0.21% market share). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Talladega County to add dispensing claims against Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy entities. See Section III.A.2, above.

Failure to Implement a Litigation Hold. Talladega County filed its original complaint on January 31, 2018. See Talladega County, Alabama et al. v. Cardinal Health Inc et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45190-DAP, ECF No. 1. Despite filing its case years ago, Talladega County never implemented a litigation hold, in violation of this Court’s orders (ECF Nos. 232; 5455). See ECF No. 5687-1 (Date Litigation Hold Implemented: Never). Litigating Talladega County’s case would force the parties and the Court to waste time and resources ascertaining the extent of Talladega County’s document destruction and the appropriate sanctions—just as the parties were forced to do in the three PBM bellwethers that failed to implement litigation holds until 2024. The PBMs are prejudiced by Talladega County’s disregard for its most basic discovery obligations as a litigant, compounded by the delay in seeking leave to amend, and Talladega County therefore lacks good cause for leave to amend its complaint. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28 (denying leave to amend in part because the passage of time resulted in significant prejudice due to the loss of documents or records); see also Section III.A.4, above.

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Alabama law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Talladega County’s delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs’ ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Alabama law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Talladega County, a municipality in Alabama, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Talladega County’s proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Talladega County filed its original complaint on January 31, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See Talladega County, Alabama et al. v. Cardinal Health Inc et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45190-DAP, ECF No. 1. It is therefore indisputable that Talladega County knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend. Talladega County’s RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO’s four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by “discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim” (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Talladega County’s request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Public Nuisance Statute of Limitations. In Alabama, public-nuisance claims are subject to a two-year limitations period. Talladega County’s public-nuisance claim against the PBMs is therefore time-barred because Talladega County sought leave to amend its complaint on July 29, 2024—more than six years after filing its original complaint on January 31, 2018—and the proposed amendment does not relate back to the original filing for purposes of the applicable statute of limitations. See Zakora, 44 F.4th at 480 (“This court has repeatedly held that an amendment which adds a new party creates a new cause of action and there is no relation back to the original filing for purposes of limitations.” (cleaned up)).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Talladega County lacks statutory standing to assert a public nuisance claim under Alabama law because it “is clearly not an individual, nor a city, nor the [s]tate,” and thus amendment is futile. Lee County, 2022 WL 450810, at *4 (concluding an Alabama county lacked standing to bring a Ala. Code § 6-5-121 claim); see Section III.B.3, above.

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Talladega County, a municipality in Alabama, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester’s complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

260. Calhoun County, Alabama v. Cardinal Health Inc et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45191-DAP: Plaintiff Calhoun County, Alabama

Calhoun County’s untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reason. Calhoun County failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Calhoun County also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, failure to implement a litigation hold, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Calhoun County’s motion should be denied due to futility, as Calhoun County does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its proposed public nuisance claim is barred by the statute of limitations, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Calhoun County was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Calhoun County amended its complaint on March 15, 2019, after transfer to the MDL on February 16, 2018. See Calhoun County, Alabama v. Cardinal Health Inc et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45191-DAP, ECF No. 25. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Calhoun County declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaint. See Section II.A.1, above. Calhoun County’s deadline to amend was in 2019. Calhoun County waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Calhoun County’s lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order's deadline because plaintiff "had all the information [she] needed" to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a "wait-and-see approach" instead of timely moving to amend).

OptumRx's Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to Calhoun County's geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson Decl. (0.03% market share for Calhoun County). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Calhoun County to add dispensing claims against OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Express Scripts' Mail Order Pharmacy a Negligible Market Share. Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of prescription opioid units shipped to Calhoun County's geographic jurisdiction during 2009 to 2019. See DeCarlo Decl., Exhibit C (0.32% market share). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Calhoun County to add dispensing claims against Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy entities. See Section III.A.2, above.

Failure to Implement a Litigation Hold. Calhoun County filed its original complaint on January 31, 2018. See Calhoun County, Alabama v. Cardinal Health Inc et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45191-DAP, ECF No. 1. Despite filing its case years ago, Calhoun County never implemented a litigation hold, in violation of this Court's orders (ECF Nos. 232; 5455). See ECF No. 5687-1 (Date Litigation Hold Implemented: Never). Litigating Calhoun County's case would force the parties and the Court to waste time and resources ascertaining the extent of Calhoun County's document destruction and the appropriate sanctions—just as the parties were forced to do in the three PBM bellwethers that failed to implement litigation holds until 2024. The PBMs are prejudiced by Calhoun County's disregard for its most basic discovery obligations as a litigant, compounded by the delay in seeking leave to amend, and Calhoun County therefore lacks good cause for leave to amend its complaint. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28 (denying leave to amend in part because the passage of time resulted in significant prejudice due to the loss of documents or records); see also Section III.A.4, above.

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Alabama law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Calhoun County's delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs' ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Alabama law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Calhoun County, a municipality in Alabama, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Calhoun County's proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Calhoun County filed its original complaint on January 31, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See Calhoun County, Alabama v. Cardinal Health Inc et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45191-DAP, ECF No. 1. It is therefore indisputable that Calhoun County knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend. Calhoun County's RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO's four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by "discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim” (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Calhoun County’s request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Public Nuisance Statute of Limitations. In Alabama, public-nuisance claims are subject to a two-year limitations period. Calhoun County’s public-nuisance claim against the PBMs is therefore time-barred because Calhoun County sought leave to amend its complaint on July 29, 2024—more than six years after filing its original complaint on January 31, 2018—and the proposed amendment does not relate back to the original filing for purposes of the applicable statute of limitations. See Zakora, 44 F.4th at 480 (“This court has repeatedly held that an amendment which adds a new party creates a new cause of action and there is no relation back to the original filing for purposes of limitations.” (cleaned up)).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Calhoun County lacks statutory standing to assert a public nuisance claim under Alabama law because it “is clearly not an individual, nor a city, nor the [s]tate,” and thus amendment is futile. Lee County, 2022 WL 450810, at *4 (concluding an Alabama county lacked standing to bring a Ala. Code § 6-5-121 claim); see Section III.B.3, above.

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Calhoun County, a municipality in Alabama, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester’s complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

261. Trussville, City of v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45192-DAP: Plaintiff Trussville City, Alabama

Trussville City’s untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reason. Trussville City failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Trussville City also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, failure to implement a litigation hold, failure to submit a complete plaintiff fact sheet, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Trussville City's motion should be denied due to futility, as Trussville City does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its proposed public nuisance claim is barred by the statute of limitations, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Trussville City was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Trussville City first amended its complaint on May 24, 2018. See Trussville, City of v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45192-DAP, ECF No. 5. Trussville City amended its complaint again on March 15, 2019. See Trussville, City of v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45192-DAP, ECF No. 6. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Trussville City declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaints. See Section II.A.1, above. Trussville City's deadline to amend was in 2019. Trussville City waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Trussville City's lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order's deadline because plaintiff "had all the information [she] needed" to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a "wait-and-see approach" instead of timely moving to amend).

OptumRx's Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to Trussville City's geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson

Decl. (0.004% market share for Trussville City). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Trussville City to add dispensing claims against OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Express Scripts' Mail Order Pharmacy a Negligible Market Share. Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of prescription opioid units shipped to Trussville City's geographic jurisdiction during 2009 to 2019. See DeCarlo Decl., Exhibit C (0.20% market share). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Trussville City to add dispensing claims against Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy entities. See Section III.A.2, above.

Failure to Implement a Litigation Hold. Trussville City filed its original complaint on January 27, 2018. See Trussville, City of v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45192-DAP, ECF No. 1. Despite filing its case years ago, Trussville City never implemented a litigation hold, in violation of this Court's orders (ECF Nos. 232; 5455). See ECF No. 5687-1 (Date Litigation Hold Implemented: Never). Litigating Trussville City's case would force the parties and the Court to waste time and resources ascertaining the extent of Trussville City's document destruction and the appropriate sanctions—just as the parties were forced to do in the three PBM bellwethers that failed to implement litigation holds until 2024. The PBMs are prejudiced by Trussville City's disregard for its most basic discovery obligations as a litigant, compounded by the delay in seeking leave to amend, and Trussville City therefore lacks good cause for leave to amend its complaint. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28 (denying leave to amend in part because the passage of time resulted in significant prejudice due to the loss of documents or records); see also Section III.A.4, above.

Failure to Prosecute. In its Plaintiff Fact Sheet, Trussville City failed to provide complete answers to Questions I.B.8 and I.B.9, relating to Trussville City’s health plans, carriers, third party administrators, and pharmacy benefit managers throughout the relevant time period. The PBMs notified Trussville City of this deficiency on September 16, 2024 (see Exhibit B), but Trussville City refused to amend or supplement its Fact Sheet. Under this Court’s orders, Trussville City’s case is therefore subject to “dismiss[al] with prejudice” for failure to prosecute. ECF No. 4985 at 1 (emphasis in original); see Section III.A.5, above. Trussville City’s refusal to provide basic information related to its health care plans prejudices the PBMs’ ability to defend against Trussville City’s potential claims against them. Trussville City’s failure to diligently prosecute its case, coupled with the prejudice against the PBMs, negates any finding of good cause and leave to amend should be denied. See Final Amendment Order, ECF No. 5455 at 2 (directing counsel to dismiss, not seek leave to amend, in any case that “plaintiffs’ counsel does not intend to zealously pursue in litigation”); Range, 2017 WL 9477693, at *4 n.6 (denying motion for leave to amend as moot because claims were dismissed for failure to prosecute).

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Alabama law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Trussville City’s delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs’ ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Alabama law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Trussville City, a municipality in Alabama, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Trussville City’s proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Trussville City filed its original complaint on January 27, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See Trussville, City of v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45192-DAP, ECF No. 1. It is therefore indisputable that Trussville City knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend. Trussville City’s RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO’s four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by “discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim” (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Trussville City’s request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Public Nuisance Statute of Limitations. In Alabama, public-nuisance claims are subject to a two-year limitations period. Trussville City’s public-nuisance claim against the PBMs is therefore time-barred because Trussville City sought leave to amend its complaint on July 29, 2024—more than six years after filing its original complaint on January 27, 2018—and the proposed amendment does not relate back to the original filing for purposes of the applicable statute of limitations. See Zakora, 44 F.4th at 480 (“This court has repeatedly held that an amendment which adds a new party creates a new cause of action and there is no relation back to the original filing for purposes of limitations.” (cleaned up)).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Trussville City, a municipality in Alabama, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester’s complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

262. Winston Medical Center v. Purdue Pharma, L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45193-DAP: Plaintiff Winston Medical Center, Mississippi

Winston Medical Center's untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reason. Winston Medical Center failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Winston Medical Center also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, failure to implement a litigation hold, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Winston Medical Center's motion should be denied due to futility, as Winston Medical Center does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Winston Medical Center was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Winston Medical Center filed its original complaint on February 1, 2018 and the case was transferred to the MDL on February 16, 2018. See Winston Medical Center v. Purdue Pharma, L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45193-DAP, ECF No. 24. Winston Medical Center could have amended its complaint, without leave, to add claims against the PBMs in 2019. See Section II.A.1, above. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Winston Medical Center elected not to do so. Instead, Winston Medical Center waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Winston Medical Center's lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order's deadline because plaintiff "had all the information [she] needed" to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a "wait-and-see approach" instead of timely moving to amend).

Failure to Implement a Litigation Hold. Winston Medical Center filed its original complaint on February 1, 2018. See Winston Medical Center v. Purdue Pharma, L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45193-DAP, ECF No. 1. Despite filing its case years ago, Winston Medical Center never implemented a litigation hold, in violation of this Court's orders (ECF Nos. 232; 5455). See ECF No. 5687-1 (Date Litigation Hold Implemented: Never). Litigating Winston Medical Center's case would force the parties and the Court to waste time and resources ascertaining the extent of Winston Medical Center's document destruction and the appropriate sanctions—just as the parties were forced to do in the three PBM bellwethers that failed to implement litigation holds until 2024. The PBMs are prejudiced by Winston Medical Center's disregard for its most basic discovery obligations as a litigant, compounded by the delay in seeking leave to amend, and Winston Medical Center therefore lacks good cause for leave to amend its complaint. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28 (denying leave to amend in part because the passage of time resulted in significant prejudice due to the loss of documents or records); see also Section III.A.4, above.

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Mississippi law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Winston Medical Center's delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs' ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Mississippi law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Winston Medical Center, a hospital in Mississippi, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Winston Medical Center's proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Winston Medical Center filed its original complaint on February 1, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See Winston Medical Center v. Purdue Pharma, L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45193-DAP, ECF No. 1. It is therefore indisputable that Winston Medical Center knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend. Winston Medical Center's RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO's four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by "discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim" (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Winston Medical Center's request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Winston Medical Center, a hospital in Mississippi, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester's complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

263. Sumter County, Alabama v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45194-DAP: Plaintiff Sumter County, Alabama

Sumter County's untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reason. Sumter County failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Sumter County also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, failure to implement a litigation hold, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Sumter County's motion should be denied due to futility, as Sumter County does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its proposed public nuisance claim is barred by the statute of limitations, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Sumter County was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Sumter County amended its complaint on March 11, 2019, after transfer to the MDL on February 16, 2018. See Sumter County, Alabama v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45194-DAP, ECF No. 21. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Sumter County declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaint. See Section II.A.1, above. Sumter County’s deadline to amend was in 2019. Sumter County waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Sumter County’s lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order’s deadline because plaintiff “had all the information [she] needed” to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a “wait-and-see approach” instead of timely moving to amend).

Prior Notice Through Counsel. Sumter County cannot meet the Rule 16 good cause standard because it is represented by the same counsel—Greene, Ketchum, Farrell, Bailey & Tweel, LLP; Powell & Majestro; Baron & Budd, P.C.; Levin, Papantonio, Thomas, Mitchell, Rafferty & Proctor, P.A.; and McHugh Fuller Law Group, PLLC—that filed claims against the PBMs in 2019. See MDL ECF No. 2582. Sumter County, through its counsel, was on notice of potential claims against the PBMs and could readily have amended its complaint to add the PBMs much earlier. Sumter County fails to explain why it was unable to assert claims against the PBMs in 2019 when its own attorneys were already asserting those claims on behalf of other clients. See,

e.g., Duggins, 195 F.3d at 834 (affirming denial of leave to amend after the close of discovery when the “plaintiff was obviously aware of the basis of the claim for many months, especially since some underlying facts were made a part of the complaint”); Thurmond, 649 F. App’x at 1006 (affirming denial of leave to amend for undue delay in part because plaintiff’s counsel had access to discovery in related cases and was previously aware of the proposed new defendants’ conduct).

OptumRx’s Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to Sumter County’s geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson Decl. (0.0003% market share for Sumter County). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Sumter County to add dispensing claims against OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Express Scripts’ Mail Order Pharmacy a Negligible Market Share. Express Scripts’ mail order pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of prescription opioid units shipped to Sumter County’s geographic jurisdiction during 2009 to 2019. See DeCarlo Decl., Exhibit C (0.36% market share). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Sumter County to add dispensing claims against Express Scripts’ mail order pharmacy entities. See Section III.A.2, above.

Failure to Implement a Litigation Hold. Sumter County filed its original complaint on February 1, 2018. See Sumter County, Alabama v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45194-DAP, ECF No. 1. Despite filing its case years ago, Sumter County never implemented a litigation hold and is instead purporting to rely on non-specific and unidentified document retention laws. See ECF No. 5687-1 (Date Litigation Hold Implemented: *(Never)).

This is a plain violation of this Court's orders. ECF Nos. 232; 5455. Litigating Sumter County's case would force the parties and the Court to waste time and resources ascertaining the extent of Sumter County's document destruction and the appropriate sanctions—just as the parties were forced to do in the three PBM bellwethers that failed to implement litigation holds until 2024. The PBMs are prejudiced by Sumter County's disregard for its most basic discovery obligations as a litigant, compounded by the delay in seeking leave to amend, and Sumter County therefore lacks good cause for leave to amend its complaint. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28 (denying leave to amend in part because the passage of time resulted in significant prejudice due to the loss of documents or records); see also Section III.A.4, above.

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Alabama law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Sumter County's delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs' ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Alabama law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Sumter County, a municipality in Alabama, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Sumter County's proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Sumter County filed its original complaint on February 1, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See Sumter County, Alabama v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45194-DAP, ECF No. 1. It is therefore indisputable that Sumter County knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend. Sumter County's RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO's four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by "discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim" (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Sumter County's request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Public Nuisance Statute of Limitations. In Alabama, public-nuisance claims are subject to a two-year limitations period. Sumter County's public-nuisance claim against the PBMs is therefore time-barred because Sumter County sought leave to amend its complaint on July 29, 2024—more than six years after filing its original complaint on February 1, 2018—and the proposed amendment does not relate back to the original filing for purposes of the applicable statute of limitations. See Zakora, 44 F.4th at 480 ("This court has repeatedly held that an amendment which adds a new party creates a new cause of action and there is no relation back to the original filing for purposes of limitations." (cleaned up)).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Sumter County lacks statutory standing to assert a public nuisance claim under Alabama law because it "is clearly not an individual, nor a city, nor the [s]tate," and thus amendment is futile. Lee County, 2022 WL 450810, at *4 (concluding an Alabama county lacked standing to bring a Ala. Code § 6-5-121 claim); see Section III.B.3, above.

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Sumter County, a municipality in Alabama, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester's complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

264. Tuscaloosa County, Alabama v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45196-DAP: Plaintiff Tuscaloosa County, Alabama

Tuscaloosa County's untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reason. Tuscaloosa County failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Tuscaloosa County also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, failure to implement a litigation hold, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Tuscaloosa County's motion should be denied due to futility, as Tuscaloosa County does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its proposed public nuisance claim is barred by the statute of limitations, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Tuscaloosa County was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Tuscaloosa County amended its complaint on March 8, 2019, after transfer to the MDL on February 16, 2018. See Tuscaloosa County, Alabama v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45196-DAP, ECF No. 10. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Tuscaloosa County declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaint. See Section II.A.1, above. Tuscaloosa County's deadline to amend was in 2019. Tuscaloosa County waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Tuscaloosa County's lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order's deadline because plaintiff "had all the information [she] needed" to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a "wait-and-see approach" instead of timely moving to amend).

Prior Notice Through Counsel. Tuscaloosa County cannot meet the Rule 16 good cause standard because it is represented by the same counsel—Greene, Ketchum, Farrell, Bailey & Tweel, LLP; Powell & Majestro; Baron & Budd, P.C.; Levin, Papantonio, Thomas, Mitchell, Rafferty & Proctor, P.A.; and McHugh Fuller Law Group, PLLC—that filed claims against the PBMs in 2019. See MDL ECF No. 2582. Tuscaloosa County, through its counsel, was on notice of potential claims against the PBMs and could readily have amended its complaint to add the PBMs much earlier. Tuscaloosa County fails to explain why it was unable to assert claims against the PBMs in 2019 when its own attorneys were already asserting those claims on behalf of other clients. See, e.g., Duggins, 195 F.3d at 834 (affirming denial of leave to amend after the close of discovery when the “plaintiff was obviously aware of the basis of the claim for many months, especially since some underlying facts were made a part of the complaint”); Thurmond, 649 F. App’x at 1006 (affirming denial of leave to amend for undue delay in part because plaintiff’s counsel had access to discovery in related cases and was previously aware of the proposed new defendants’ conduct).

OptumRx’s Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to Tuscaloosa County’s geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson Decl. (0.02% market share for Tuscaloosa County). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Tuscaloosa County to add dispensing claims against OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Failure to Implement a Litigation Hold. Tuscaloosa County filed its original complaint on February 1, 2018. See Tuscaloosa County, Alabama v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45196-DAP, ECF No. 1. Despite filing its case years ago, Tuscaloosa County never implemented a litigation hold and is instead purporting to rely on non-specific and unidentified document retention laws. See ECF No. 5687-1 (Date Litigation Hold Implemented: *(Never)). This is a plain violation of this Court's orders. ECF Nos. 232; 5455. Litigating Tuscaloosa County's case would force the parties and the Court to waste time and resources ascertaining the extent of Tuscaloosa County's document destruction and the appropriate sanctions—just as the parties were forced to do in the three PBM bellwethers that failed to implement litigation holds until 2024. The PBMs are prejudiced by Tuscaloosa County's disregard for its most basic discovery obligations as a litigant, compounded by the delay in seeking leave to amend, and Tuscaloosa County therefore lacks good cause for leave to amend its complaint. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28 (denying leave to amend in part because the passage of time resulted in significant prejudice due to the loss of documents or records); see also Section III.A.4, above.

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Alabama law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Tuscaloosa County's delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs' ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Alabama law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Tuscaloosa County, a municipality in Alabama, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Tuscaloosa County’s proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Tuscaloosa County filed its original complaint on February 1, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See Tuscaloosa County, Alabama v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45196-DAP, ECF No. 1. It is therefore indisputable that Tuscaloosa County knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend. Tuscaloosa County’s RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO’s four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by “discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim” (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Tuscaloosa County’s request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Public Nuisance Statute of Limitations. In Alabama, public-nuisance claims are subject to a two-year limitations period. Tuscaloosa County’s public-nuisance claim against the PBMs is therefore time-barred because Tuscaloosa County sought leave to amend its complaint on July 29, 2024—more than six years after filing its original complaint on February 1, 2018—and the proposed amendment does not relate back to the original filing for purposes of the applicable statute of limitations. See Zakora, 44 F.4th at 480 (“This court has repeatedly held that an amendment which adds a new party creates a new cause of action and there is no relation back to the original filing for purposes of limitations.” (cleaned up)).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Tuscaloosa County lacks statutory standing to assert a public nuisance claim under Alabama law because it “is clearly not an individual, nor a city, nor the [s]tate,” and thus amendment is futile. Lee County, 2022 WL 450810, at *4 (concluding an Alabama county lacked standing to bring a Ala. Code § 6-5-121 claim); see Section III.B.3, above.

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Tuscaloosa County, a municipality in Alabama, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester’s complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

265. Municipality of Sabana Grande et al. v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45197-DAP: Plaintiff Municipality of Cayey, Puerto Rico

Municipality of Cayey’s untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reason. Municipality of Cayey failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Municipality of Cayey also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, failure to implement a litigation hold, failure to submit a complete plaintiff fact sheet, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Municipality of Cayey’s motion should be denied due to futility, as Municipality of Cayey does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Municipality of Cayey was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Municipality of Cayey amended its complaint on March 15, 2019, after transfer to the MDL on February 20, 2018. See Municipality of Sabana Grande et al. v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45197-DAP, ECF No. 17. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Municipality of Cayey declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaint. See Section II.A.1, above. Municipality of Cayey’s deadline to amend was in 2019. Municipality of Cayey waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Municipality of Cayey’s lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972

F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order’s deadline because plaintiff “had all the information [she] needed” to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a “wait-and-see approach” instead of timely moving to amend).

OptumRx’s Home-Delivery Pharmacy Had Zero Dispenses. OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy did not dispense a single opioid prescription to Municipality of Cayey’s geographic jurisdiction over the period for which OptumRx has data (2010 to 2019). See Gustafson Decl.. Because OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy “ha[s] no market share, they shouldn’t be in the case, period.” ECF No. 3685 at 6:9–14; see Section III.A.2, above. Thus, Municipality of Cayey cannot show good cause to add claims against OptumRx in its capacity as a home delivery pharmacy.

Express Scripts’ Mail Order Pharmacy Has No Market Share. Express Scripts’ mail order pharmacy shipped zero opioid prescriptions to Municipality of Cayey’s geographic jurisdiction during 2009 to 2019. See DeCarlo Decl., Exhibit B. Because Express Scripts’ mail order pharmacy “ha[s] no market share, they shouldn’t be in the case, period.” ECF No. 3685 at 6:9–14; see Section III.A.2, above.

Failure to Implement a Litigation Hold. Municipality of Cayey filed its original complaint on December 27, 2017. See Municipality of Sabana Grande et al. v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45197-DAP, ECF No. 1. Despite filing its case years ago, Municipality of Cayey never implemented a litigation hold, in violation of this Court’s orders (ECF Nos. 232; 5455). See ECF No. 5687-1 (Date Litigation Hold Implemented: Never). Litigating Municipality of Cayey’s case would force the parties and the Court to waste time and resources ascertaining the extent of Municipality of Cayey’s document destruction and the appropriate sanctions—just as the parties were forced to do in the three PBM bellwethers that failed to implement litigation holds until 2024. The PBMs are prejudiced by Municipality of Cayey’s disregard for its most basic discovery obligations as a litigant, compounded by the delay in seeking leave to amend, and Municipality of Cayey therefore lacks good cause for leave to amend its complaint. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28 (denying leave to amend in part because the passage of time resulted in significant prejudice due to the loss of documents or records); see also Section III.A.4, above.

Failure to Prosecute. In its Plaintiff Fact Sheet, Municipality of Cayey failed to provide complete answers to Questions I.B.8 and I.B.9, relating to Municipality of Cayey’s health plans, carriers, third party administrators, and pharmacy benefit managers throughout the relevant time period. The PBMs notified Municipality of Cayey of this deficiency on September 16, 2024 (see Exhibit B), but Municipality of Cayey refused to amend or supplement its Fact Sheet. Under this Court’s orders, Municipality of Cayey’s case is therefore subject to “dismiss[al] with prejudice” for failure to prosecute. ECF No. 4985 at 1 (emphasis in original); see Section III.A.5, above. Municipality of Cayey’s refusal to provide basic information related to its health care plans prejudices the PBMs’ ability to defend against Municipality of Cayey’s potential claims against them. Municipality of Cayey’s failure to diligently prosecute its case, coupled with the prejudice against the PBMs, negates any finding of good cause and leave to amend should be denied. See Final Amendment Order, ECF No. 5455 at 2 (directing counsel to dismiss, not seek leave to amend, in any case that “plaintiffs’ counsel does not intend to zealously pursue in litigation”); Range, 2017 WL 9477693, at *4 n.6 (denying motion for leave to amend as moot because claims were dismissed for failure to prosecute).

Failure to State a Claim. Municipality of Cayey, a municipality in Puerto Rico, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Municipality of Cayey's proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Municipality of Cayey filed its original complaint on December 27, 2017, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See Municipality of Sabana Grande et al. v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45197-DAP, ECF No. 1. It is therefore indisputable that Municipality of Cayey knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six and a half years before seeking leave to amend. Municipality of Cayey's RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO's four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by "discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim" (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Municipality of Cayey's request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Municipality of Cayey, a municipality in Puerto Rico, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester's complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

266. City of Selma, Alabama v. Actavis, LLC et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45198-DAP: Plaintiff Selma City, Alabama

Selma City's untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reason. Selma City failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Selma City also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, failure to implement a litigation hold, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Selma City's motion should be denied due to futility, as Selma City does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its proposed public nuisance claim is barred by the statute of limitations, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Selma City was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Selma City amended its complaint on March 15, 2019, after transfer to the MDL on February 20, 2018. See City of Selma, Alabama v. Actavis, LLC et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45198-DAP, ECF No. 19. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Selma City declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaint. See Section II.A.1, above. Selma City's deadline to amend was in 2019. Selma City waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Selma City's lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order's deadline because plaintiff "had all the information [she] needed" to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a "wait-and-see approach" instead of timely moving to amend).

Prior Notice Through Counsel. Selma City cannot meet the Rule 16 good cause standard because it is represented by the same counsel—Levin, Papantonio, Thomas, Mitchell, Rafferty & Proctor, P.A.—that filed claims against the PBMs in 2019. See MDL ECF No. 2582. Selma City, through its counsel, was on notice of potential claims against the PBMs and could readily have amended its complaint to add the PBMs much earlier. Selma City fails to explain why it was unable to assert claims against the PBMs in 2019 when its own attorneys were already asserting those claims on behalf of other clients. See, e.g., Duggins, 195 F.3d at 834 (affirming denial of leave to amend after the close of discovery when the “plaintiff was obviously aware of the basis of the claim for many months, especially since some underlying facts were made a part of the complaint”); Thurmond, 649 F. App’x at 1006 (affirming denial of leave to amend for undue delay in part because plaintiff’s counsel had access to discovery in related cases and was previously aware of the proposed new defendants’ conduct).

OptumRx’s Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to Selma City’s geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson Decl. (0.02% market share for Selma City). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Selma City to add dispensing claims against OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Express Scripts’ Mail Order Pharmacy a Negligible Market Share. Express Scripts’ mail order pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of prescription opioid units shipped to Selma City’s geographic jurisdiction during 2009 to 2019. See DeCarlo Decl., Exhibit C (0.25% market share). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Selma City to add dispensing claims against Express Scripts’ mail order pharmacy entities. See Section III.A.2, above.

Failure to Implement a Litigation Hold. Selma City filed its original complaint on February 1, 2018. See City of Selma, Alabama v. Actavis, LLC et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45198-DAP, ECF No. 1. Despite filing its case years ago, Selma City never implemented a litigation hold and is instead purporting to rely on non-specific and unidentified document retention laws. See ECF No. 5687-1 (Date Litigation Hold Implemented: *(Never)). This is a plain violation of this Court's orders. ECF Nos. 232; 5455. Litigating Selma City's case would force the parties and the Court to waste time and resources ascertaining the extent of Selma City's document destruction and the appropriate sanctions—just as the parties were forced to do in the three PBM bellwethers that failed to implement litigation holds until 2024. The PBMs are prejudiced by Selma City's disregard for its most basic discovery obligations as a litigant, compounded by the delay in seeking leave to amend, and Selma City therefore lacks good cause for leave to amend its complaint. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28 (denying leave to amend in part because the passage of time resulted in significant prejudice due to the loss of documents or records); see also Section III.A.4, above.

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Alabama law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Selma City's delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs' ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Alabama law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Selma City, a municipality in Alabama, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Selma City's proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Selma City filed its original complaint on February 1, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See City of Selma, Alabama v. Actavis, LLC et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45198-DAP, ECF No. 1. It is therefore indisputable that Selma City knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend. Selma City’s RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO’s four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by “discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim” (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Selma City’s request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Public Nuisance Statute of Limitations. In Alabama, public-nuisance claims are subject to a two-year limitations period. Selma City’s public-nuisance claim against the PBMs is therefore time-barred because Selma City sought leave to amend its complaint on July 29, 2024—more than six years after filing its original complaint on February 1, 2018—and the proposed amendment does not relate back to the original filing for purposes of the applicable statute of limitations. See Zakora, 44 F.4th at 480 (“This court has repeatedly held that an amendment which adds a new party creates a new cause of action and there is no relation back to the original filing for purposes of limitations.” (cleaned up)).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Selma City, a municipality in Alabama, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester’s complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

267. Morgan County, Alabama v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45200-DAP: Plaintiff Morgan County, Alabama

Morgan County’s untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reason. Morgan County failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Morgan County also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, failure to submit a complete plaintiff fact sheet, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Morgan County’s motion should be denied due to futility, as Morgan County does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its proposed public nuisance claim is barred by the statute of limitations, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Morgan County was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Morgan County amended its complaint on March 15, 2019, after transfer to the MDL on February 22, 2018. See Morgan County, Alabama v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45200-DAP, ECF No. 21. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Morgan County declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaint. See Section II.A.1, above. Morgan County's deadline to amend was in 2019. Morgan County waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Morgan County's lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order's deadline because plaintiff "had all the information [she] needed" to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a "wait-and-see approach" instead of timely moving to amend).

Prior Notice Through Counsel. Morgan County cannot meet the Rule 16 good cause standard because it is represented by the same counsel—Greene, Ketchum, Farrell, Bailey & Tweel, LLP; Powell & Majestro; Baron & Budd, P.C.; Levin, Papantonio, Thomas, Mitchell, Rafferty & Proctor, P.A.; and McHugh Fuller Law Group, PLLC—that filed claims against the PBMs in 2019. See MDL ECF No. 2582. Morgan County, through its counsel, was on notice of potential claims against the PBMs and could readily have amended its complaint to add the PBMs much earlier. Morgan County fails to explain why it was unable to assert claims against the PBMs

in 2019 when its own attorneys were already asserting those claims on behalf of other clients. See, e.g., Duggins, 195 F.3d at 834 (affirming denial of leave to amend after the close of discovery when the “plaintiff was obviously aware of the basis of the claim for many months, especially since some underlying facts were made a part of the complaint”); Thurmond, 649 F. App’x at 1006 (affirming denial of leave to amend for undue delay in part because plaintiff’s counsel had access to discovery in related cases and was previously aware of the proposed new defendants’ conduct).

OptumRx's Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to Morgan County's geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson Decl. (0.03% market share for Morgan County). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Morgan County to add dispensing claims against OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Failure to Prosecute. In its Plaintiff Fact Sheet, Morgan County failed to provide complete answers to Questions I.B.8 and I.B.9, relating to Morgan County's health plans, carriers, third party administrators, and pharmacy benefit managers throughout the relevant time period. The PBMs notified Morgan County of this deficiency on September 16, 2024 (see Exhibit B), but Morgan County refused to amend or supplement its Fact Sheet. Under this Court's orders, Morgan County's case is therefore subject to "dismiss[al] with prejudice" for failure to prosecute. ECF No. 4985 at 1 (emphasis in original); see Section III.A.5, above. Morgan County's refusal to provide basic information related to its health care plans prejudices the PBMs' ability to defend against Morgan County's potential claims against them. Morgan County's failure to diligently prosecute its case, coupled with the prejudice against the PBMs, negates any finding of good cause and leave to amend should be denied. See Final Amendment Order, ECF No. 5455 at 2 (directing counsel to dismiss, not seek leave to amend, in any case that "plaintiffs' counsel does not intend to zealously pursue in litigation"); Range, 2017 WL 9477693, at *4 n.6 (denying motion for leave to amend as moot because claims were dismissed for failure to prosecute).

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Alabama law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Morgan County’s delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs’ ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Alabama law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Morgan County, a municipality in Alabama, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Morgan County’s proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Morgan County filed its original complaint on February 1, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See Morgan County, Alabama v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45200-DAP, ECF No. 1. It is therefore indisputable that Morgan County knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend. Morgan County’s RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO’s four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by “discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim” (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Morgan County’s request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Public Nuisance Statute of Limitations. In Alabama, public-nuisance claims are subject to a two-year limitations period. Morgan County’s public-nuisance claim against the PBMs is therefore time-barred because Morgan County sought leave to amend its complaint on July 29, 2024—more than six years after filing its original complaint on February 1, 2018—and the proposed amendment does not relate back to the original filing for purposes of the applicable statute of limitations. See Zakora, 44 F.4th at 480 (“This court has repeatedly held that an amendment which adds a new party creates a new cause of action and there is no relation back to the original filing for purposes of limitations.” (cleaned up)).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Morgan County lacks statutory standing to assert a public nuisance claim under Alabama law because it “is clearly not an individual, nor a city, nor the [s]tate,” and thus amendment is futile. Lee County, 2022 WL 450810, at *4 (concluding an Alabama county lacked standing to bring a Ala. Code § 6-5-121 claim); see Section III.B.3, above.

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Morgan County, a municipality in Alabama, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester’s complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

268. City of Decatur, Alabama v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45201-DAP: Plaintiff Decatur City, Alabama

Decatur City’s untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reason. Decatur City failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Decatur City also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Decatur City’s motion should be denied due to futility, as Decatur City does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its proposed public nuisance claim is barred by the statute of limitations, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Decatur City was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Decatur City amended its complaint on March 7, 2019, after transfer to the MDL on February 22, 2018. See City of Decatur, Alabama v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45201-DAP, ECF No. 20. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Decatur City declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaint. See Section II.A.1, above. Decatur City’s deadline to amend was in 2019. Decatur City waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Decatur City’s lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order’s deadline because plaintiff “had all the information [she] needed” to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a “wait-and-see approach” instead of timely moving to amend).

Prior Notice Through Counsel. Decatur City cannot meet the Rule 16 good cause standard because it is represented by the same counsel—Greene, Ketchum, Farrell, Bailey & Tweel, LLP; Powell & Majestro; Baron & Budd, P.C.; Levin, Papantonio, Thomas, Mitchell, Rafferty & Proctor, P.A.; and McHugh Fuller Law Group, PLLC—that filed claims against the PBMs in 2019. See MDL ECF No. 2582. Decatur City, through its counsel, was on notice of potential claims against the PBMs and could readily have amended its complaint to add the PBMs much earlier. Decatur City fails to explain why it was unable to assert claims against the PBMs in 2019 when its own attorneys were already asserting those claims on behalf of other clients. See, e.g., Duggins, 195 F.3d at 834 (affirming denial of leave to amend after the close of discovery when the “plaintiff was obviously aware of the basis of the claim for many months, especially since some underlying facts were made a part of the complaint”); Thurmond, 649 F. App’x at 1006 (affirming denial of leave to amend for undue delay in part because plaintiff’s counsel had access to discovery in related cases and was previously aware of the proposed new defendants’ conduct).

OptumRx’s Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to Decatur City’s geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson Decl. (0.01% market share for Decatur City). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Decatur City to add dispensing claims against OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Express Scripts’ Mail Order Pharmacy a Negligible Market Share. Express Scripts’ mail order pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of prescription opioid units shipped to Decatur City’s geographic jurisdiction during 2009 to 2019. See DeCarlo Decl., Exhibit C (0.40% market share). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Decatur City to add dispensing claims against Express Scripts’ mail order pharmacy entities. See Section III.A.2, above.

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Alabama law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Decatur City’s delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs’ ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Alabama law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Decatur City, a municipality in Alabama, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Decatur City’s proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Decatur City filed its original complaint on February 1, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See City of Decatur, Alabama v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45201-DAP, ECF No. 1. It is therefore indisputable that Decatur City knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend. Decatur City’s RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO’s four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by “discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim” (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Decatur City’s request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Public Nuisance Statute of Limitations. In Alabama, public-nuisance claims are subject to a two-year limitations period. Decatur City’s public-nuisance claim against the PBMs is therefore time-barred because Decatur City sought leave to amend its complaint on July 29, 2024—more than six years after filing its original complaint on February 1, 2018—and the proposed amendment does not relate back to the original filing for purposes of the applicable statute of limitations. See Zakora, 44 F.4th at 480 (“This court has repeatedly held that an amendment which adds a new party creates a new cause of action and there is no relation back to the original filing for purposes of limitations.” (cleaned up)).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Decatur City, a municipality in Alabama, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester’s complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

269. City of Moulton, Alabama v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45202-DAP: Plaintiff Moulton City, Alabama

Moulton City’s untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reason. Moulton City failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Moulton City also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, failure to implement a litigation hold, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Moulton City’s motion should be denied due to futility, as Moulton City does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its proposed public nuisance claim is barred by the statute of limitations, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Moulton City was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Moulton City amended its complaint on March 11, 2019, after transfer to the MDL on February 22, 2018. See City of Moulton, Alabama v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45202-DAP, ECF No. 21. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Moulton City declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaint. See Section II.A.1, above. Moulton City’s deadline to amend was in 2019. Moulton City waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Moulton City’s lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order’s deadline because plaintiff “had all the information [she] needed” to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a “wait-and-see approach” instead of timely moving to amend).

Prior Notice Through Counsel. Moulton City cannot meet the Rule 16 good cause standard because it is represented by the same counsel—Greene, Ketchum, Farrell, Bailey & Tweel, LLP; Powell & Majestro; Baron & Budd, P.C.; Levin, Papantonio, Thomas, Mitchell, Rafferty & Proctor, P.A.; and McHugh Fuller Law Group, PLLC—that filed claims against the PBMs in 2019. See MDL ECF No. 2582. Moulton City, through its counsel, was on notice of potential claims against the PBMs and could readily have amended its complaint to add the PBMs much earlier. Moulton City fails to explain why it was unable to assert claims against the PBMs in 2019 when its own attorneys were already asserting those claims on behalf of other clients. See, e.g., Duggins, 195 F.3d at 834 (affirming denial of leave to amend after the close of discovery when the “plaintiff was obviously aware of the basis of the claim for many months, especially since some underlying facts were made a part of the complaint”); Thurmond, 649 F. App’x at 1006 (affirming denial of leave to amend for undue delay in part because plaintiff’s counsel had access to discovery in related cases and was previously aware of the proposed new defendants’ conduct).

OptumRx’s Home-Delivery Pharmacy Had Zero Dispenses. OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy did not dispense a single opioid prescription to Moulton City’s geographic jurisdiction over the period for which OptumRx has data (2010 to 2019). See Gustafson Decl.. Because OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy “ha[s] no market share, they shouldn’t be in the case, period.” ECF No. 3685 at 6:9–14; see Section III.A.2, above. Thus, Moulton City cannot show good cause to add claims against OptumRx in its capacity as a home delivery pharmacy.

Failure to Implement a Litigation Hold. Moulton City filed its original complaint on February 1, 2018. See City of Moulton, Alabama v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45202-DAP, ECF No. 1. Despite filing its case years ago, Moulton City never implemented a litigation hold, in violation of this Court’s orders (ECF Nos. 232; 5455). See ECF No. 5687-1 (Date Litigation Hold Implemented: Never). Litigating Moulton City’s case would force the parties and the Court to waste time and resources ascertaining the extent of Moulton City’s document destruction and the appropriate sanctions—just as the parties were forced to do in the three PBM bellwethers that failed to implement litigation holds until 2024. The PBMs are prejudiced by Moulton City’s disregard for its most basic discovery obligations as a litigant, compounded by the delay in seeking leave to amend, and Moulton City therefore lacks good cause for leave to amend its complaint. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28 (denying leave to amend in part because the passage of time resulted in significant prejudice due to the loss of documents or records); see also Section III.A.4, above.

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Alabama law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Moulton City’s delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs’ ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Alabama law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Moulton City, a municipality in Alabama, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Moulton City’s proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Moulton City filed its original complaint on February 1, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants.

See City of Moulton, Alabama v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45202-DAP, ECF No. 1. It is therefore indisputable that Moulton City knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend. Moulton City's RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO's four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by "discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim" (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Moulton City's request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Public Nuisance Statute of Limitations. In Alabama, public-nuisance claims are subject to a two-year limitations period. Moulton City's public-nuisance claim against the PBMs is therefore time-barred because Moulton City sought leave to amend its complaint on July 29, 2024—more than six years after filing its original complaint on February 1, 2018—and the proposed amendment does not relate back to the original filing for purposes of the applicable statute of limitations. See Zakora, 44 F.4th at 480 ("This court has repeatedly held that an amendment which adds a new party creates a new cause of action and there is no relation back to the original filing for purposes of limitations." (cleaned up)).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Moulton City, a municipality in Alabama, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester's complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

270. Lowndes County, Alabama v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45203-DAP: Plaintiff Lowndes County, Alabama

Lowndes County's untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reason. Lowndes County failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Lowndes County also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, failure to implement a litigation hold, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Lowndes County's motion should be denied due to futility, as Lowndes County does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its proposed public nuisance claim is barred by the statute of limitations, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Lowndes County was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Lowndes County amended its complaint on March 8, 2019, after transfer to the MDL on February 22, 2018. See Lowndes County, Alabama v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45203-DAP, ECF No. 20. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Lowndes County declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaint. See Section II.A.1, above. Lowndes County's deadline to amend was in 2019. Lowndes County waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Lowndes County's lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order's deadline because plaintiff "had all the information [she] needed" to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a "wait-and-see approach" instead of timely moving to amend).

Prior Notice Through Counsel. Lowndes County cannot meet the Rule 16 good cause standard because it is represented by the same counsel—Greene, Ketchum, Farrell, Bailey & Tweel, LLP; Powell & Majestro; Baron & Budd, P.C.; Levin, Papantonio, Thomas, Mitchell, Rafferty & Proctor, P.A.; and McHugh Fuller Law Group, PLLC—that filed claims against the PBMs in 2019. See MDL ECF No. 2582. Lowndes County, through its counsel, was on notice of potential claims against the PBMs and could readily have amended its complaint to add the PBMs much earlier. Lowndes County fails to explain why it was unable to assert claims against the PBMs in 2019 when its own attorneys were already asserting those claims on behalf of other clients. See, e.g., Duggins, 195 F.3d at 834 (affirming denial of leave to amend after the close of discovery when the “plaintiff was obviously aware of the basis of the claim for many months, especially since some underlying facts were made a part of the complaint”); Thurmond, 649 F. App’x at 1006 (affirming denial of leave to amend for undue delay in part because plaintiff’s counsel had access to discovery in related cases and was previously aware of the proposed new defendants’ conduct).

OptumRx’s Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to Lowndes County’s geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson Decl. (0.12% market share for Lowndes County). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Lowndes County to add dispensing claims against OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Express Scripts’ Mail Order Pharmacy a Negligible Market Share. Express Scripts’ mail order pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of prescription opioid units shipped to Lowndes County’s geographic jurisdiction during 2009 to 2019. See DeCarlo Decl., Exhibit C (0.18% market share). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Lowndes County to add dispensing claims against Express Scripts’ mail order pharmacy entities. See Section III.A.2, above.

Failure to Implement a Litigation Hold. Lowndes County filed its original complaint on February 1, 2018. See Lowndes County, Alabama v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45203-DAP, ECF No. 1. Despite filing its case years ago, Lowndes County never implemented a litigation hold, in violation of this Court’s orders (ECF Nos. 232; 5455). See ECF No. 5687-1 (Date Litigation Hold Implemented: Never). Litigating Lowndes County’s case would force the parties and the Court to waste time and resources ascertaining the extent of Lowndes County’s document destruction and the appropriate sanctions—just as the parties were forced to do in the three PBM bellwethers that failed to implement litigation holds until 2024. The PBMs are prejudiced by Lowndes County’s disregard for its most basic discovery obligations as a litigant, compounded by the delay in seeking leave to amend, and Lowndes County therefore lacks good cause for leave to amend its complaint. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28 (denying leave to amend in part because the passage of time resulted in significant prejudice due to the loss of documents or records); see also Section III.A.4, above.

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Alabama law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Lowndes County’s delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs’ ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Alabama law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Lowndes County, a municipality in Alabama, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Lowndes County’s proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Lowndes County filed its original complaint on February 1, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See Lowndes County, Alabama v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45203-DAP, ECF No. 1. It is therefore indisputable that Lowndes County knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend. Lowndes County’s RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO’s four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by “discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim” (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Lowndes County’s request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Public Nuisance Statute of Limitations. In Alabama, public-nuisance claims are subject to a two-year limitations period. Lowndes County’s public-nuisance claim against the PBMs is therefore time-barred because Lowndes County sought leave to amend its complaint on July 29, 2024—more than six years after filing its original complaint on February 1, 2018—and the proposed amendment does not relate back to the original filing for purposes of the applicable statute of limitations. See Zakora, 44 F.4th at 480 (“This court has repeatedly held that an amendment which adds a new party creates a new cause of action and there is no relation back to the original filing for purposes of limitations.” (cleaned up)).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Lowndes County lacks statutory standing to assert a public nuisance claim under Alabama law because it “is clearly not an individual, nor a city, nor the [s]tate,” and thus amendment is futile. Lee County, 2022 WL 450810, at *4 (concluding an Alabama county lacked standing to bring a Ala. Code § 6-5-121 claim); see Section III.B.3, above.

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Lowndes County, a municipality in Alabama, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester’s complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

271. City of Union Springs, Alabama v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45204-DAP: Plaintiff Union Springs City, Alabama

Union Springs City’s untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reason. Union Springs City failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Union Springs City also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, failure to timely implement a litigation hold, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Union Springs City’s motion should be denied due to futility, as Union Springs City does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its proposed public nuisance claim is barred by the statute of limitations, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Union Springs City was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Union Springs City amended its complaint on March 7, 2019, after transfer to the MDL on February 22, 2018. See City of Union Springs, Alabama v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45204-DAP, ECF No. 21. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Union Springs City declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaint. See Section II.A.1, above. Union Springs City’s deadline to amend was in 2019. Union Springs City waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Union Springs City’s lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order’s deadline because plaintiff “had all the information [she] needed” to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a “wait-and-see approach” instead of timely moving to amend).

Prior Notice Through Counsel. Union Springs City cannot meet the Rule 16 good cause standard because it is represented by the same counsel—Greene, Ketchum, Farrell, Bailey & Tweel, LLP; Powell & Majestro; Baron & Budd, P.C.; Levin, Papantonio, Thomas, Mitchell, Rafferty & Proctor, P.A.; and McHugh Fuller Law Group, PLLC—that filed claims against the PBMs in 2019. See MDL ECF No. 2582. Union Springs City, through its counsel, was on notice of potential claims against the PBMs and could readily have amended its complaint to add the PBMs much earlier. Union Springs City fails to explain why it was unable to assert claims against the PBMs in 2019 when its own attorneys were already asserting those claims on behalf of other clients. See, e.g., Duggins, 195 F.3d at 834 (affirming denial of leave to amend after the close of discovery when the “plaintiff was obviously aware of the basis of the claim for many months, especially since some underlying facts were made a part of the complaint”); Thurmond, 649 F. App’x at 1006 (affirming denial of leave to amend for undue delay in part because plaintiff’s counsel had access to discovery in related cases and was previously aware of the proposed new defendants’ conduct).

OptumRx’s Home-Delivery Pharmacy Had Zero Dispenses. OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy did not dispense a single opioid prescription to Union Springs City’s geographic jurisdiction over the period for which OptumRx has data (2010 to 2019). See Gustafson Decl.. Because OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy “ha[s] no market share, they shouldn’t be in the case, period.” ECF No. 3685 at 6:9–14; see Section III.A.2, above. Thus, Union Springs City cannot show good cause to add claims against OptumRx in its capacity as a home delivery pharmacy.

Express Scripts’ Mail Order Pharmacy a Negligible Market Share. Express Scripts’ mail order pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of prescription opioid units shipped to Union Springs City’s geographic jurisdiction during 2009 to 2019. See DeCarlo Decl., Exhibit C (0.37% market share). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Union Springs City to add dispensing claims against Express Scripts’ mail order pharmacy entities. See Section III.A.2, above.

Failure to Timely Implement a Litigation Hold. Union Springs City violated its basic duty to implement a timely litigation hold. Union Springs City filed its original complaint on February 1, 2018, but waited until December 20, 2021 to implement a litigation hold—three years and nine months later. See City of Union Springs, Alabama v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45204-DAP, ECF No. 1; see also ECF No. 5687-1 (Date Litigation Hold Implemented: December 20, 2021). This is a plain violation of this Court’s orders. ECF Nos. 232; 5455. Litigating Union Springs City’s case would force the parties and the Court to waste time and resources ascertaining the extent of Union Springs City’s document destruction and the appropriate sanctions—just as the parties were forced to do in the three PBM bellwethers that failed to implement litigation holds until 2024. The PBMs are prejudiced by Union Springs City’s disregard for its most basic discovery obligations as a litigant, compounded by the delay in seeking leave to amend, and Union Springs City therefore lacks good cause for leave to amend its complaint. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28 (denying leave to amend in part because the passage of time resulted in significant prejudice due to the loss of documents or records); see also Section III.A.4, above.

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Alabama law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Union Springs City's delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs' ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Alabama law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Union Springs City, a municipality in Alabama, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Union Springs City's proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Union Springs City filed its original complaint on February 1, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See City of Union Springs, Alabama v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45204-DAP, ECF No. 1. It is therefore indisputable that Union Springs City knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend. Union Springs City's RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO's four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by "discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim" (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Union Springs City's request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Public Nuisance Statute of Limitations. In Alabama, public-nuisance claims are subject to a two-year limitations period. Union Springs City's public-nuisance claim against the PBMs is therefore time-barred because Union Springs City sought leave to amend its complaint on July 29, 2024—more than six years after filing its original complaint on February 1, 2018—and the proposed amendment does not relate back to the original filing for purposes of the applicable statute of limitations. See Zakora, 44 F.4th at 480 (“This court has repeatedly held that an amendment which adds a new party creates a new cause of action and there is no relation back to the original filing for purposes of limitations.” (cleaned up)).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Union Springs City, a municipality in Alabama, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester's complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

272. Cherokee County, Alabama v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45207-DAP: Plaintiff Cherokee County, Alabama

Cherokee County's untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reason. Cherokee County failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Cherokee County also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, failure to implement a litigation hold, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Cherokee County's motion should be denied due to futility, as Cherokee County does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its proposed public nuisance claim is barred by the statute of limitations, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Cherokee County was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Cherokee County amended its complaint on March 14, 2019, after transfer to the MDL on February 22, 2018. See Cherokee County, Alabama v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45207-DAP, ECF No. 21. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Cherokee County declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaint. See Section II.A.1, above. Cherokee County’s deadline to amend was in 2019. Cherokee County waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Cherokee County’s lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order’s deadline because plaintiff “had all the information [she] needed” to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a “wait-and-see approach” instead of timely moving to amend).

Prior Notice Through Counsel. Cherokee County cannot meet the Rule 16 good cause standard because it is represented by the same counsel—Greene, Ketchum, Farrell, Bailey & Tweel, LLP; Powell & Majestro; Baron & Budd, P.C.; Levin, Papantonio, Thomas, Mitchell, Rafferty & Proctor, P.A.; and McHugh Fuller Law Group, PLLC—that filed claims against the PBMs in 2019. See MDL ECF No. 2582. Cherokee County, through its counsel, was on notice of potential claims against the PBMs and could readily have amended its complaint to add the PBMs much earlier. Cherokee County fails to explain why it was unable to assert claims against the PBMs in 2019 when its own attorneys were already asserting those claims on behalf of other clients. See, e.g., Duggins, 195 F.3d at 834 (affirming denial of leave to amend after the close of discovery when the “plaintiff was obviously aware of the basis of the claim for many months, especially since some underlying facts were made a part of the complaint”); Thurmond, 649 F. App’x at 1006 (affirming denial of leave to amend for undue delay in part because plaintiff’s counsel had access to discovery in related cases and was previously aware of the proposed new defendants’ conduct).

OptumRx’s Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to Cherokee County’s geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson Decl. (0.08% market share for Cherokee County). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Cherokee County to add dispensing claims against OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Express Scripts’ Mail Order Pharmacy a Negligible Market Share. Express Scripts’ mail order pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of prescription opioid units shipped to Cherokee County’s geographic jurisdiction during 2009 to 2019. See DeCarlo Decl., Exhibit C (0.43% market share). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Cherokee County to add dispensing claims against Express Scripts’ mail order pharmacy entities. See Section III.A.2, above.

Failure to Implement a Litigation Hold. Cherokee County filed its original complaint on February 1, 2018. See Cherokee County, Alabama v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45207-DAP, ECF No. 1. Despite filing its case years ago, Cherokee County never implemented a litigation hold and is instead purporting to rely on non-specific and unidentified document retention laws. See ECF No. 5687-1 (Date Litigation Hold Implemented: *(Never)). This is a plain violation of this Court’s orders. ECF Nos. 232; 5455. Litigating Cherokee County's case would force the parties and the Court to waste time and resources ascertaining the extent of Cherokee County's document destruction and the appropriate sanctions—just as the parties were forced to do in the three PBM bellwethers that failed to implement litigation holds until 2024. The PBMs are prejudiced by Cherokee County's disregard for its most basic discovery obligations as a litigant, compounded by the delay in seeking leave to amend, and Cherokee County therefore lacks good cause for leave to amend its complaint. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28 (denying leave to amend in part because the passage of time resulted in significant prejudice due to the loss of documents or records); see also Section III.A.4, above.

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Alabama law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Cherokee County's delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs' ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Alabama law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Cherokee County, a municipality in Alabama, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Cherokee County's proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Cherokee County filed its original complaint on February 1, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See Cherokee County, Alabama v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45207-DAP, ECF No. 1. It is therefore indisputable that Cherokee County knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend. Cherokee County's RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO's four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by "discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim" (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Cherokee County's request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Public Nuisance Statute of Limitations. In Alabama, public-nuisance claims are subject to a two-year limitations period. Cherokee County's public-nuisance claim against the PBMs is therefore time-barred because Cherokee County sought leave to amend its complaint on July 29, 2024—more than six years after filing its original complaint on February 1, 2018—and the proposed amendment does not relate back to the original filing for purposes of the applicable statute of limitations. See Zakora, 44 F.4th at 480 ("This court has repeatedly held that an amendment which adds a new party creates a new cause of action and there is no relation back to the original filing for purposes of limitations." (cleaned up)).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Cherokee County lacks statutory standing to assert a public nuisance claim under Alabama law because it "is clearly not an individual, nor a city, nor the [s]tate," and thus amendment is futile. Lee County, 2022 WL 450810, at *4 (concluding an Alabama county lacked standing to bring a Ala. Code § 6-5-121 claim); see Section III.B.3, above.

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Cherokee County, a municipality in Alabama, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester's complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

273. Pitt County v. AmerisourceBergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45208-DAP: Plaintiff Pitt County, North Carolina

Pitt County's untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reason. Pitt County failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Pitt County also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Pitt County's motion should be denied due to futility, as Pitt County does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Pitt County was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Pitt County amended its complaint on March 12, 2019, after transfer to the MDL on February 22, 2018. See Pitt County v. AmerisourceBergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45208-DAP, ECF No. 6. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Pitt County declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaint. See Section II.A.1, above. Pitt County's deadline to amend was in 2019. Pitt County waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Pitt County's lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order's deadline because plaintiff "had all the information [she] needed" to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a "wait-and-see approach" instead of timely moving to amend).

Prior Notice Through Counsel. Pitt County cannot meet the Rule 16 good cause standard because it is represented by the same counsel—Greene, Ketchum, Farrell, Bailey & Tweel, LLP; Powell & Majestro; Baron & Budd, P.C.; Levin, Papantonio, Thomas, Mitchell, Rafferty &

Proctor, P.A.; and McHugh Fuller Law Group, PLLC—that filed claims against the PBMs in 2019. See MDL ECF No. 2582. Pitt County, through its counsel, was on notice of potential claims against the PBMs and could readily have amended its complaint to add the PBMs much earlier. Pitt County fails to explain why it was unable to assert claims against the PBMs in 2019 when its own attorneys were already asserting those claims on behalf of other clients. See, e.g., Duggins, 195 F.3d at 834 (affirming denial of leave to amend after the close of discovery when the “plaintiff was obviously aware of the basis of the claim for many months, especially since some underlying facts were made a part of the complaint”); Thurmond, 649 F. App’x at 1006 (affirming denial of leave to amend for undue delay in part because plaintiff’s counsel had access to discovery in related cases and was previously aware of the proposed new defendants’ conduct).

OptumRx’s Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to Pitt County’s geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson Decl. (0.05% market share for Pitt County). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Pitt County to add dispensing claims against OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Express Scripts’ Mail Order Pharmacy a Negligible Market Share. Express Scripts’ mail order pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of prescription opioid units shipped to Pitt County’s geographic jurisdiction during 2009 to 2019. See DeCarlo Decl., Exhibit C (0.19% market share). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Pitt County to add dispensing claims against Express Scripts’ mail order pharmacy entities. See Section III.A.2, above.

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under North Carolina law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Pitt County’s delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs’ ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under North Carolina law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Pitt County, a municipality in North Carolina, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Pitt County’s proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Pitt County filed its original complaint on February 2, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See Pitt County v. AmerisourceBergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45208-DAP, ECF No. 1. It is therefore indisputable that Pitt County knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend. Pitt County’s RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO’s four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by “discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim” (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Pitt County’s request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Pitt County, a municipality in North Carolina, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester’s complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

274. Greene County, Alabama v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45209-DAP: Plaintiff Greene County, Alabama

Greene County’s untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reason. Greene County failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Greene County also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, failure to submit a complete plaintiff fact sheet, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Greene County’s motion should be denied due to futility, as Greene County does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its proposed public nuisance claim is barred by the statute of limitations, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Greene County was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Greene County amended its complaint on March 8, 2019, after transfer to the MDL on February 22, 2018. See Greene County, Alabama v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45209-DAP, ECF No. 20. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Greene County declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaint. See Section II.A.1, above. Greene County’s deadline to amend was in 2019. Greene County waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Greene County’s lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order’s deadline because plaintiff “had all the information [she] needed” to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a “wait-and-see approach” instead of timely moving to amend).

Prior Notice Through Counsel. Greene County cannot meet the Rule 16 good cause standard because it is represented by the same counsel—Greene, Ketchum, Farrell, Bailey & Tweel, LLP; Powell & Majestro; Baron & Budd, P.C.; Levin, Papantonio, Thomas, Mitchell, Rafferty & Proctor, P.A.; and McHugh Fuller Law Group, PLLC—that filed claims against the PBMs in 2019. See MDL ECF No. 2582. Greene County, through its counsel, was on notice of potential claims against the PBMs and could readily have amended its complaint to add the PBMs much earlier. Greene County fails to explain why it was unable to assert claims against the PBMs in 2019 when its own attorneys were already asserting those claims on behalf of other clients. See, e.g., Duggins, 195 F.3d at 834 (affirming denial of leave to amend after the close of discovery when the “plaintiff was obviously aware of the basis of the claim for many months, especially since some underlying facts were made a part of the complaint”); Thurmond, 649 F. App’x at 1006 (affirming denial of leave to amend for undue delay in part because plaintiff’s counsel had access to discovery in related cases and was previously aware of the proposed new defendants’ conduct).

OptumRx’s Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to Greene County’s geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson Decl. (0.25% market share for Greene County). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Greene County to add dispensing claims against OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Failure to Prosecute. In its Plaintiff Fact Sheet, Greene County failed to provide complete answers to Questions I.B.8 and I.B.9, relating to Greene County’s health plans, carriers, third party administrators, and pharmacy benefit managers throughout the relevant time period. The PBMs notified Greene County of this deficiency on September 16, 2024 (see Exhibit B), but Greene County refused to amend or supplement its Fact Sheet. Under this Court’s orders, Greene County’s case is therefore subject to “dismiss[al] with prejudice” for failure to prosecute. ECF No. 4985 at 1 (emphasis in original); see Section III.A.5, above. Greene County’s refusal to provide basic information related to its health care plans prejudices the PBMs’ ability to defend against Greene County’s potential claims against them. Greene County’s failure to diligently prosecute its case, coupled with the prejudice against the PBMs, negates any finding of good cause and leave to amend should be denied. See Final Amendment Order, ECF No. 5455 at 2 (directing counsel to dismiss, not seek leave to amend, in any case that “plaintiffs’ counsel does not intend to zealously pursue in litigation”); Range, 2017 WL 9477693, at *4 n.6 (denying motion for leave to amend as moot because claims were dismissed for failure to prosecute).

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Alabama law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Greene County’s delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs’ ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Alabama law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Greene County, a municipality in Alabama, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Greene County’s proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Greene County filed its original complaint on February 1, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See Greene County, Alabama v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45209-DAP, ECF No. 1. It is therefore indisputable that Greene County knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend. Greene County’s RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO’s four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by “discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim” (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Greene County’s request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Public Nuisance Statute of Limitations. In Alabama, public-nuisance claims are subject to a two-year limitations period. Greene County’s public-nuisance claim against the PBMs is therefore time-barred because Greene County sought leave to amend its complaint on July 29, 2024—more than six years after filing its original complaint on February 1, 2018—and the proposed amendment does not relate back to the original filing for purposes of the applicable statute of limitations. See Zakora, 44 F.4th at 480 (“This court has repeatedly held that an amendment which adds a new party creates a new cause of action and there is no relation back to the original filing for purposes of limitations.” (cleaned up)).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Greene County lacks statutory standing to assert a public nuisance claim under Alabama law because it “is clearly not an individual, nor a city, nor the [s]tate,” and thus amendment is futile. Lee County, 2022 WL 450810, at *4 (concluding an Alabama county lacked standing to bring a Ala. Code § 6-5-121 claim); see Section III.B.3, above.

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Greene County, a municipality in Alabama, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester’s complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

275. City of Enterprise, Alabama v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45213-DAP: Plaintiff Enterprise City, Alabama

Enterprise City’s untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reason. Enterprise City failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Enterprise City also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Enterprise City’s motion should be denied due to futility, as Enterprise City does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its proposed public nuisance claim is barred by the statute of limitations, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Enterprise City was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Enterprise City amended its complaint on March 15, 2019, after transfer to the MDL on February 23, 2018. See City of Enterprise, Alabama v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45213-DAP, ECF No. 20. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Enterprise City declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaint. See Section II.A.1, above. Enterprise City’s deadline to amend was in 2019. Enterprise City waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Enterprise City’s lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order’s deadline because plaintiff “had all the information [she] needed” to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a “wait-and-see approach” instead of timely moving to amend).

Prior Notice Through Counsel. Enterprise City cannot meet the Rule 16 good cause standard because it is represented by the same counsel—Greene, Ketchum, Farrell, Bailey & Tweel, LLP; Powell & Majestro; Baron & Budd, P.C.; Levin, Papantonio, Thomas, Mitchell, Rafferty & Proctor, P.A.; and McHugh Fuller Law Group, PLLC—that filed claims against the PBMs in 2019. See MDL ECF No. 2582. Enterprise City, through its counsel, was on notice of potential claims against the PBMs and could readily have amended its complaint to add the PBMs much earlier. Enterprise City fails to explain why it was unable to assert claims against the PBMs in 2019 when its own attorneys were already asserting those claims on behalf of other clients. See, e.g., Duggins, 195 F.3d at 834 (affirming denial of leave to amend after the close of discovery when the “plaintiff was obviously aware of the basis of the claim for many months, especially since some underlying facts were made a part of the complaint”); Thurmond, 649 F. App’x at 1006 (affirming denial of leave to amend for undue delay in part because plaintiff’s counsel had access to discovery in related cases and was previously aware of the proposed new defendants’ conduct).

OptumRx’s Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to Enterprise City’s geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson Decl. (0.004% market share for Enterprise City). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Enterprise City to add dispensing claims against

OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Express Scripts' Mail Order Pharmacy a Negligible Market Share. Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of prescription opioid units shipped to Enterprise City's geographic jurisdiction during 2009 to 2019. See DeCarlo Decl., Exhibit C (0.10% market share). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Enterprise City to add dispensing claims against Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy entities. See Section III.A.2, above.

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Alabama law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Enterprise City's delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs' ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Alabama law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Enterprise City, a municipality in Alabama, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Enterprise City's proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Enterprise City filed its original complaint on February 1, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See City of Enterprise, Alabama v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45213-DAP, ECF No. 1. It is therefore indisputable that Enterprise City knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend. Enterprise City’s RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO’s four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by “discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim” (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Enterprise City’s request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Public Nuisance Statute of Limitations. In Alabama, public-nuisance claims are subject to a two-year limitations period. Enterprise City’s public-nuisance claim against the PBMs is therefore time-barred because Enterprise City sought leave to amend its complaint on July 29, 2024—more than six years after filing its original complaint on February 1, 2018—and the proposed amendment does not relate back to the original filing for purposes of the applicable statute of limitations. See Zakora, 44 F.4th at 480 (“This court has repeatedly held that an amendment which adds a new party creates a new cause of action and there is no relation back to the original filing for purposes of limitations.” (cleaned up)).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Enterprise City, a municipality in Alabama, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester’s complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

276. City of Ozark, Alabama v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45214-DAP: Plaintiff Ozark City, Alabama

Ozark City’s untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Ozark City failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Ozark City also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, failure to timely implement a litigation hold, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Ozark City’s motion should be denied due to futility, as Ozark City does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its proposed public nuisance claim is barred by the statute of limitations, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Ozark City was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Ozark City amended its complaint on March 7, 2019, after transfer to the MDL on February 23, 2018. See City of Ozark, Alabama v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45214-DAP, ECF No. 21. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Ozark City declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaint. See Section II.A.1, above. Ozark City’s deadline to amend was in 2019. Ozark City waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Ozark City’s lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order’s deadline because plaintiff “had all the information [she] needed” to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a “wait-and-see approach” instead of timely moving to amend).

Prior Notice Through Counsel. Ozark City cannot meet the Rule 16 good cause standard because it is represented by the same counsel—Greene, Ketchum, Farrell, Bailey & Tweel, LLP; Powell & Majestro; Baron & Budd, P.C.; Levin, Papantonio, Thomas, Mitchell, Rafferty & Proctor, P.A.; and McHugh Fuller Law Group, PLLC—that filed claims against the PBMs in 2019. See MDL ECF No. 2582. Ozark City, through its counsel, was on notice of potential claims against the PBMs and could readily have amended its complaint to add the PBMs much earlier. Ozark City fails to explain why it was unable to assert claims against the PBMs in 2019 when its own attorneys were already asserting those claims on behalf of other clients. See, e.g., Duggins, 195

F.3d at 834 (affirming denial of leave to amend after the close of discovery when the “plaintiff was obviously aware of the basis of the claim for many months, especially since some underlying facts were made a part of the complaint”); Thurmond, 649 F. App’x at 1006 (affirming denial of leave to amend for undue delay in part because plaintiff’s counsel had access to discovery in related cases and was previously aware of the proposed new defendants’ conduct).

OptumRx’s Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to Ozark City’s geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson Decl. (0.01% market share for Ozark City). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Ozark City to add dispensing claims against OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Express Scripts’ Mail Order Pharmacy a Negligible Market Share. Express Scripts’ mail order pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of prescription opioid units shipped to Ozark City’s geographic jurisdiction during 2009 to 2019. See DeCarlo Decl., Exhibit C (0.18% market share). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Ozark City to add dispensing claims against Express Scripts’ mail order pharmacy entities. See Section III.A.2, above.

Failure to Timely Implement a Litigation Hold. Ozark City violated its basic duty to implement a timely litigation hold. Ozark City filed its original complaint on February 1, 2018, but waited until September 24, 2024 to implement a litigation hold—six and a half years later. See City of Ozark, Alabama v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45214-DAP, ECF No. 1; see also ECF No. 5687-1 (Date Litigation Hold Implemented: September 24, 2024). This is a plain violation of this Court’s orders. ECF Nos. 232; 5455. Litigating Ozark City’s case would force the parties and the Court to waste time and resources ascertaining the extent of Ozark City's document destruction and the appropriate sanctions—just as the parties were forced to do in the three PBM bellwethers that failed to implement litigation holds until 2024. The PBMs are prejudiced by Ozark City's disregard for its most basic discovery obligations as a litigant, compounded by the delay in seeking leave to amend, and Ozark City therefore lacks good cause for leave to amend its complaint. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28 (denying leave to amend in part because the passage of time resulted in significant prejudice due to the loss of documents or records); see also Section III.A.4, above.

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Alabama law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Ozark City's delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs' ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Alabama law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Ozark City, a municipality in Alabama, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Ozark City's proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Ozark City filed its original complaint on February 1, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See City of Ozark, Alabama v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45214-DAP, ECF No. 1. It is therefore indisputable that Ozark City knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend. Ozark City's RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO's four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by "discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim" (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Ozark City's request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Public Nuisance Statute of Limitations. In Alabama, public-nuisance claims are subject to a two-year limitations period. Ozark City's public-nuisance claim against the PBMs is therefore time-barred because Ozark City sought leave to amend its complaint on July 29, 2024—more than six years after filing its original complaint on February 1, 2018—and the proposed amendment does not relate back to the original filing for purposes of the applicable statute of limitations. See Zakora, 44 F.4th at 480 ("This court has repeatedly held that an amendment which adds a new party creates a new cause of action and there is no relation back to the original filing for purposes of limitations." (cleaned up)).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Ozark City, a municipality in Alabama, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester's complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

277. Crockett County, TN v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45215-DAP: Plaintiff Crockett County, Tennessee

Crockett County's untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Crockett County failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Crockett County also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, failure to timely implement a litigation hold, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Crockett County's motion should be denied due to futility, as Crockett County does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Crockett County was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Crockett County amended its complaint on March 8, 2019, after transfer to the MDL on February 23, 2018. See Crockett County, TN v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45215-DAP, ECF No. 11. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Crockett County declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaint. See Section II.A.1, above. Crockett County’s deadline to amend was in 2019. Crockett County waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Crockett County’s lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order’s deadline because plaintiff “had all the information [she] needed” to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a “wait-and-see approach” instead of timely moving to amend).

Prior Notice Through Counsel. Crockett County cannot meet the Rule 16 good cause standard because it is represented by the same counsel—Greene, Ketchum, Farrell, Bailey & Tweel, LLP; Powell & Majestro; Baron & Budd, P.C.; Levin, Papantonio, Thomas, Mitchell, Rafferty & Proctor, P.A.; and McHugh Fuller Law Group, PLLC—that filed claims against the PBMs in 2019. See MDL ECF No. 2582. Crockett County, through its counsel, was on notice of potential claims against the PBMs and could readily have amended its complaint to add the PBMs much earlier. Crockett County fails to explain why it was unable to assert claims against the PBMs

in 2019 when its own attorneys were already asserting those claims on behalf of other clients. See, e.g., Duggins, 195 F.3d at 834 (affirming denial of leave to amend after the close of discovery when the “plaintiff was obviously aware of the basis of the claim for many months, especially since some underlying facts were made a part of the complaint”); Thurmond, 649 F. App’x at 1006 (affirming denial of leave to amend for undue delay in part because plaintiff’s counsel had access to discovery in related cases and was previously aware of the proposed new defendants’ conduct).

OptumRx’s Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to Crockett County’s geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson Decl. (0.03% market share for Crockett County). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Crockett County to add dispensing claims against OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Express Scripts’ Mail Order Pharmacy a Negligible Market Share. Express Scripts’ mail order pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of prescription opioid units shipped to Crockett County’s geographic jurisdiction during 2009 to 2019. See DeCarlo Decl., Exhibit C (0.11% market share). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Crockett County to add dispensing claims against Express Scripts’ mail order pharmacy entities. See Section III.A.2, above.

Failure to Timely Implement a Litigation Hold. Crockett County violated its basic duty to implement a timely litigation hold. Crockett County filed its original complaint on February 2, 2018, but waited until December 13, 2019 to implement a litigation hold—one year and ten months later. See Crockett County, TN v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45215-DAP, ECF No. 1; see also ECF No. 5687-1 (Date Litigation Hold Implemented: December 13, 2019). This is a plain violation of this Court's orders. ECF Nos. 232; 5455. Litigating Crockett County's case would force the parties and the Court to waste time and resources ascertaining the extent of Crockett County's document destruction and the appropriate sanctions—just as the parties were forced to do in the three PBM bellwethers that failed to implement litigation holds until 2024. The PBMs are prejudiced by Crockett County's disregard for its most basic discovery obligations as a litigant, compounded by the delay in seeking leave to amend, and Crockett County therefore lacks good cause for leave to amend its complaint. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28 (denying leave to amend in part because the passage of time resulted in significant prejudice due to the loss of documents or records); see also Section III.A.4, above.

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Tennessee law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Crockett County's delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs' ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Tennessee law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Crockett County, a municipality in Tennessee, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Crockett County's proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Crockett County filed its original complaint on February 2, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See Crockett County, TN v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45215-DAP, ECF No. 1. It is therefore indisputable that Crockett County knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend. Crockett County's RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO's four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by "discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim" (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Crockett County's request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Crockett County, a municipality in Tennessee, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester's complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

278. City of Marion, Alabama v. Actavis, LLC et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45217-DAP: Plaintiff Marion City, Alabama

Marion City's untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Marion City failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Marion City also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, failure to implement a litigation hold, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Marion City's motion should be denied due to futility, as Marion City does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its proposed public nuisance claim is barred by the statute of limitations, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Marion City was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Marion City amended its complaint on March 13, 2019, after transfer to the MDL on February 26, 2018. See City of Marion, Alabama v. Actavis, LLC et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45217-DAP, ECF No. 21. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Marion City declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaint. See Section II.A.1, above. Marion City’s deadline to amend was in 2019. Marion City waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Marion City’s lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order’s deadline because plaintiff “had all the information [she] needed” to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a “wait-and-see approach” instead of timely moving to amend).

Prior Notice Through Counsel. Marion City cannot meet the Rule 16 good cause standard because it is represented by the same counsel—Greene, Ketchum, Farrell, Bailey & Tweel, LLP; Powell & Majestro; Baron & Budd, P.C.; Levin, Papantonio, Thomas, Mitchell, Rafferty & Proctor, P.A.; and McHugh Fuller Law Group, PLLC—that filed claims against the PBMs in 2019. See MDL ECF No. 2582. Marion City, through its counsel, was on notice of potential claims against the PBMs and could readily have amended its complaint to add the PBMs much earlier. Marion City fails to explain why it was unable to assert claims against the PBMs in 2019 when its own attorneys were already asserting those claims on behalf of other clients. See, e.g., Duggins, 195 F.3d at 834 (affirming denial of leave to amend after the close of discovery when the “plaintiff was obviously aware of the basis of the claim for many months, especially since some underlying facts were made a part of the complaint”); Thurmond, 649 F. App’x at 1006 (affirming denial of leave to amend for undue delay in part because plaintiff’s counsel had access to discovery in related cases and was previously aware of the proposed new defendants’ conduct).

OptumRx’s Home-Delivery Pharmacy Had Zero Dispenses. OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy did not dispense a single opioid prescription to Marion City’s geographic jurisdiction over the period for which OptumRx has data (2010 to 2019). See Gustafson Decl.. Because OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy “ha[s] no market share, they shouldn’t be in the case, period.” ECF No. 3685 at 6:9–14; see Section III.A.2, above. Thus, Marion City cannot show good cause to add claims against OptumRx in its capacity as a home delivery pharmacy.

Express Scripts’ Mail Order Pharmacy a Negligible Market Share. Express Scripts’ mail order pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of prescription opioid units shipped to Marion City’s geographic jurisdiction during 2009 to 2019. See DeCarlo Decl., Exhibit C (0.35% market share). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Marion City to add dispensing claims against Express Scripts’ mail order pharmacy entities. See Section III.A.2, above.

Failure to Implement a Litigation Hold. Marion City filed its original complaint on February 2, 2018. See City of Marion, Alabama v. Actavis, LLC et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45217-DAP, ECF No. 1. Despite filing its case years ago, Marion City never implemented a litigation hold, in violation of this Court’s orders (ECF Nos. 232; 5455). See ECF No. 5687-1 (Date Litigation Hold Implemented: Never). Litigating Marion City’s case would force the parties and the Court to waste time and resources ascertaining the extent of Marion City’s document destruction and the appropriate sanctions—just as the parties were forced to do in the three PBM bellwethers that failed to implement litigation holds until 2024. The PBMs are prejudiced by Marion City’s disregard for its most basic discovery obligations as a litigant, compounded by the delay in seeking leave to amend, and Marion City therefore lacks good cause for leave to amend its complaint. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28 (denying leave to amend in part because the passage of time resulted in significant prejudice due to the loss of documents or records); see also Section III.A.4, above.

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Alabama law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Marion City's delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs' ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Alabama law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Marion City, a municipality in Alabama, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Marion City's proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Marion City filed its original complaint on February 2, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See City of Marion, Alabama v. Actavis, LLC et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45217-DAP, ECF No. 1. It is therefore indisputable that Marion City knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend. Marion City's RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO's four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by "discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim" (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Marion City's request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Public Nuisance Statute of Limitations. In Alabama, public-nuisance claims are subject to a two-year limitations period. Marion City’s public-nuisance claim against the PBMs is therefore time-barred because Marion City sought leave to amend its complaint on July 29, 2024—more than six years after filing its original complaint on February 2, 2018—and the proposed amendment does not relate back to the original filing for purposes of the applicable statute of limitations. See Zakora, 44 F.4th at 480 (“This court has repeatedly held that an amendment which adds a new party creates a new cause of action and there is no relation back to the original filing for purposes of limitations.” (cleaned up)).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Marion City, a municipality in Alabama, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester’s complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

279. Mecklenburg County v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45221-DAP: Plaintiff Mecklenburg County, North Carolina

Mecklenburg County’s untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Mecklenburg County failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Mecklenburg County also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, failure to timely implement a litigation hold, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Mecklenburg County’s motion should be denied due to futility, as Mecklenburg County does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Mecklenburg County was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Mecklenburg County first amended its complaint on May 25, 2018. See Mecklenburg County v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45221-DAP, ECF No. 6. Mecklenburg County amended its complaint again on March 15, 2019. See Mecklenburg County v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45221-DAP, ECF No. 9. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Mecklenburg County declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaints. See Section II.A.1, above. Mecklenburg County’s deadline to amend was in 2019. Mecklenburg County waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Mecklenburg County’s lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order’s deadline because plaintiff “had all the information [she] needed” to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a “wait-and-see approach” instead of timely moving to amend).

OptumRx’s Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to Mecklenburg County’s geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson Decl. (0.06% market share for Mecklenburg County). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Mecklenburg County to add dispensing claims against OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Express Scripts’ Mail Order Pharmacy a Negligible Market Share. Express Scripts’ mail order pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of prescription opioid units shipped to Mecklenburg County’s geographic jurisdiction during 2009 to 2019. See DeCarlo Decl., Exhibit C (0.25% market share). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Mecklenburg County to add dispensing claims against Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy entities. See Section III.A.2, above.

Failure to Timely Implement a Litigation Hold. Mecklenburg County violated its basic duty to implement a timely litigation hold. Mecklenburg County filed its original complaint on February 8, 2018, but waited until June 8, 2019 to implement a litigation hold—one year and four months later. See Mecklenburg County v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45221-DAP, ECF No. 1; see also ECF No. 5687-1 (Date Litigation Hold Implemented: June 8, 2019). This is a plain violation of this Court's orders. ECF Nos. 232; 5455. Litigating Mecklenburg County's case would force the parties and the Court to waste time and resources ascertaining the extent of Mecklenburg County's document destruction and the appropriate sanctions—just as the parties were forced to do in the three PBM bellwethers that failed to implement litigation holds until 2024. The PBMs are prejudiced by Mecklenburg County's disregard for its most basic discovery obligations as a litigant, compounded by the delay in seeking leave to amend, and Mecklenburg County therefore lacks good cause for leave to amend its complaint. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28 (denying leave to amend in part because the passage of time resulted in significant prejudice due to the loss of documents or records); see also Section III.A.4, above.

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under North Carolina law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Mecklenburg County's delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs' ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under North Carolina law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Mecklenburg County, a municipality in North Carolina, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Mecklenburg County's proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Mecklenburg County filed its first amended complaint on May 25, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See Mecklenburg County v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45221-DAP, ECF No. 6. It is therefore indisputable that Mecklenburg County knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend. Mecklenburg County's RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO's four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by "discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim" (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Mecklenburg County's request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Mecklenburg County, a municipality in North Carolina, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester's complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

280. Brunswick County v. AmerisourceBergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45222-DAP: Plaintiff Brunswick County, North Carolina

Brunswick County's untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Brunswick County failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Brunswick County also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Brunswick County's motion should be denied due to futility, as Brunswick County does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Brunswick County was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Brunswick County amended its complaint on March 11, 2019, after transfer to the MDL on February 28, 2018. See Brunswick County v. AmerisourceBergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45222-DAP, ECF No. 7. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Brunswick County declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaint. See Section II.A.1, above. Brunswick County's deadline to amend was in 2019. Brunswick County waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Brunswick County's lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order's deadline because plaintiff "had all the information [she] needed" to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a "wait-and-see approach" instead of timely moving to amend).

Prior Notice Through Counsel. Brunswick County cannot meet the Rule 16 good cause standard because it is represented by the same counsel—Greene, Ketchum, Farrell, Bailey & Tweel, LLP; Powell & Majestro; Baron & Budd, P.C.; Levin, Papantonio, Thomas, Mitchell, Rafferty & Proctor, P.A.; and McHugh Fuller Law Group, PLLC—that filed claims against the PBMs in 2019. See MDL ECF No. 2582. Brunswick County, through its counsel, was on notice of potential claims against the PBMs and could readily have amended its complaint to add the PBMs much earlier. Brunswick County fails to explain why it was unable to assert claims against the PBMs in 2019 when its own attorneys were already asserting those claims on behalf of other clients. See, e.g., Duggins, 195 F.3d at 834 (affirming denial of leave to amend after the close of discovery when the “plaintiff was obviously aware of the basis of the claim for many months, especially since some underlying facts were made a part of the complaint”); Thurmond, 649 F. App’x at 1006 (affirming denial of leave to amend for undue delay in part because plaintiff’s counsel had access to discovery in related cases and was previously aware of the proposed new defendants’ conduct).

OptumRx’s Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to Brunswick County’s geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson Decl. (0.06% market share for Brunswick County). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Brunswick County to add dispensing claims against OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Express Scripts’ Mail Order Pharmacy a Negligible Market Share. Express Scripts’ mail order pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of prescription opioid units shipped to Brunswick County’s geographic jurisdiction during 2009 to 2019. See DeCarlo Decl., Exhibit C (0.34% market share). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Brunswick County to add dispensing claims against Express Scripts’ mail order pharmacy entities. See Section III.A.2, above.

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under North Carolina law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Brunswick County’s delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs' ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under North Carolina law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Brunswick County, a municipality in North Carolina, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Brunswick County's proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Brunswick County filed its original complaint on February 2, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See Brunswick County v. AmerisourceBergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45222-DAP, ECF No. 1. It is therefore indisputable that Brunswick County knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend. Brunswick County's RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO's four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by "discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim" (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Brunswick County's request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Brunswick County, a municipality in North Carolina, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester's complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

281. Cullman County, Alabama v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45227-DAP: Plaintiff Cullman County, Alabama

Cullman County's untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Cullman County failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Cullman County also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Cullman County's motion should be denied due to futility, as Cullman County does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its proposed public nuisance claim is barred by the statute of limitations, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Cullman County was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Cullman County amended its complaint on March 18, 2019, after transfer to the MDL on February 28, 2018. See Cullman County, Alabama v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45227-DAP, ECF No. 21. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Cullman County declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaint. See Section II.A.1, above. Cullman County's deadline to amend was in 2019. Cullman County waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Cullman County's lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order's deadline because plaintiff "had all the information [she] needed" to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a "wait-and-see approach" instead of timely moving to amend).

Prior Notice Through Counsel. Cullman County cannot meet the Rule 16 good cause standard because it is represented by the same counsel—Greene, Ketchum, Farrell, Bailey & Tweel, LLP; Powell & Majestro; Baron & Budd, P.C.; Levin, Papantonio, Thomas, Mitchell, Rafferty & Proctor, P.A.; and McHugh Fuller Law Group, PLLC—that filed claims against the PBMs in 2019. See MDL ECF No. 2582. Cullman County, through its counsel, was on notice of potential claims against the PBMs and could readily have amended its complaint to add the PBMs much earlier. Cullman County fails to explain why it was unable to assert claims against the PBMs in 2019 when its own attorneys were already asserting those claims on behalf of other clients. See, e.g., Duggins, 195 F.3d at 834 (affirming denial of leave to amend after the close of discovery when the “plaintiff was obviously aware of the basis of the claim for many months, especially since some underlying facts were made a part of the complaint”); Thurmond, 649 F. App’x at 1006 (affirming denial of leave to amend for undue delay in part because plaintiff’s counsel had access to discovery in related cases and was previously aware of the proposed new defendants’ conduct).

OptumRx’s Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to Cullman County’s geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson Decl. (0.03% market share for Cullman County). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Cullman County to add dispensing claims against OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Express Scripts’ Mail Order Pharmacy a Negligible Market Share. Express Scripts’ mail order pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of prescription opioid units shipped to Cullman County’s geographic jurisdiction during 2009 to 2019. See DeCarlo Decl.,

Exhibit C (0.28% market share). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Cullman County to add dispensing claims against Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy entities. See Section III.A.2, above.

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Alabama law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Cullman County's delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs' ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Alabama law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Cullman County, a municipality in Alabama, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Cullman County's proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Cullman County filed its original complaint on February 9, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See Cullman County, Alabama v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45227-DAP, ECF No. 1. It is therefore indisputable that Cullman County knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend. Cullman County's RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO's four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by "discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim" (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Cullman County's request for leave to amend to add a

RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Public Nuisance Statute of Limitations. In Alabama, public-nuisance claims are subject to a two-year limitations period. Cullman County’s public-nuisance claim against the PBMs is therefore time-barred because Cullman County sought leave to amend its complaint on July 29, 2024—more than six years after filing its original complaint on February 9, 2018—and the proposed amendment does not relate back to the original filing for purposes of the applicable statute of limitations. See Zakora, 44 F.4th at 480 (“This court has repeatedly held that an amendment which adds a new party creates a new cause of action and there is no relation back to the original filing for purposes of limitations.” (cleaned up)).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Cullman County lacks statutory standing to assert a public nuisance claim under Alabama law because it “is clearly not an individual, nor a city, nor the [s]tate,” and thus amendment is futile. Lee County, 2022 WL 450810, at *4 (concluding an Alabama county lacked standing to bring a Ala. Code § 6-5-121 claim); see Section III.B.3, above.

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Cullman County, a municipality in Alabama, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester’s complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

282. Lawrence County, Alabama v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45228-DAP: Plaintiff Lawrence County, Alabama

Lawrence County’s untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Lawrence County failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Lawrence County also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, failure to implement a litigation hold, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Lawrence County’s motion should be denied due to futility, as Lawrence County does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its proposed public nuisance claim is barred by the statute of limitations, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Lawrence County was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Lawrence County amended its complaint on March 8, 2019, after transfer to the MDL on February 28, 2018. See Lawrence County, Alabama v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45228-DAP, ECF No. 20. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Lawrence County declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaint. See Section II.A.1, above. Lawrence County’s deadline to amend was in 2019. Lawrence County waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Lawrence County’s lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order’s deadline because plaintiff “had all the information [she] needed” to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a “wait-and-see approach” instead of timely moving to amend).

Prior Notice Through Counsel. Lawrence County cannot meet the Rule 16 good cause standard because it is represented by the same counsel—Levin, Papantonio, Thomas, Mitchell, Rafferty & Proctor, P.A.—that filed claims against the PBMs in 2019. See MDL ECF No. 2582. Lawrence County, through its counsel, was on notice of potential claims against the PBMs and could readily have amended its complaint to add the PBMs much earlier. Lawrence County fails to explain why it was unable to assert claims against the PBMs in 2019 when its own attorneys were already asserting those claims on behalf of other clients. See, e.g., Duggins, 195 F.3d at 834

(affirming denial of leave to amend after the close of discovery when the “plaintiff was obviously aware of the basis of the claim for many months, especially since some underlying facts were made a part of the complaint”); Thurmond, 649 F. App’x at 1006 (affirming denial of leave to amend for undue delay in part because plaintiff’s counsel had access to discovery in related cases and was previously aware of the proposed new defendants’ conduct).

OptumRx’s Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to Lawrence County’s geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson Decl. (0.03% market share for Lawrence County). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Lawrence County to add dispensing claims against OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Failure to Implement a Litigation Hold. Lawrence County filed its original complaint on February 12, 2018. See Lawrence County, Alabama v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45228-DAP, ECF No. 1. Despite filing its case years ago, Lawrence County never implemented a litigation hold and is instead purporting to rely on non-specific and unidentified document retention laws. See ECF No. 5687-1 (Date Litigation Hold Implemented: *(Never)). This is a plain violation of this Court’s orders. ECF Nos. 232; 5455. Litigating Lawrence County’s case would force the parties and the Court to waste time and resources ascertaining the extent of Lawrence County’s document destruction and the appropriate sanctions—just as the parties were forced to do in the three PBM bellwethers that failed to implement litigation holds until 2024. The PBMs are prejudiced by Lawrence County’s disregard for its most basic discovery obligations as a litigant, compounded by the delay in seeking leave to amend, and Lawrence County therefore lacks good cause for leave to amend its complaint. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28 (denying leave to amend in part because the passage of time resulted in significant prejudice due to the loss of documents or records); see also Section III.A.4, above.

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Alabama law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Lawrence County's delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs' ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Alabama law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Lawrence County, a municipality in Alabama, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Lawrence County's proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Lawrence County filed its original complaint on February 12, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See Lawrence County, Alabama v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45228-DAP, ECF No. 1. It is therefore indisputable that Lawrence County knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend. Lawrence County's RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO's four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by "discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim" (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Lawrence County’s request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Public Nuisance Statute of Limitations. In Alabama, public-nuisance claims are subject to a two-year limitations period. Lawrence County’s public-nuisance claim against the PBMs is therefore time-barred because Lawrence County sought leave to amend its complaint on July 29, 2024—more than six years after filing its original complaint on February 12, 2018—and the proposed amendment does not relate back to the original filing for purposes of the applicable statute of limitations. See Zakora, 44 F.4th at 480 (“This court has repeatedly held that an amendment which adds a new party creates a new cause of action and there is no relation back to the original filing for purposes of limitations.” (cleaned up)).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Lawrence County lacks statutory standing to assert a public nuisance claim under Alabama law because it “is clearly not an individual, nor a city, nor the [s]tate,” and thus amendment is futile. Lee County, 2022 WL 450810, at *4 (concluding an Alabama county lacked standing to bring a Ala. Code § 6-5-121 claim); see Section III.B.3, above.

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Lawrence County, a municipality in Alabama, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester’s complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

283. Marshall County, Alabama et al. v. Purdue Pharma L P et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45230-DAP: Plaintiff Albertville City, Alabama

Albertville City’s untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Albertville City failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Albertville City also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, failure to implement a litigation hold, failure to submit a complete plaintiff fact sheet, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Albertville City's motion should be denied due to futility, as Albertville City does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its proposed public nuisance claim is barred by the statute of limitations, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Albertville City was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Albertville City amended its complaint on March 15, 2019, after transfer to the MDL on February 28, 2018, as well as on March 15, 2019. See Marshall County, Alabama et al. v. Purdue Pharma L P et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45230-DAP, ECF Nos. 14, 15. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Albertville City declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaints. See Section II.A.1, above. Albertville City's deadline to amend was in 2019. Albertville City waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Albertville City's lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order's deadline because plaintiff "had all the information [she] needed" to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a "wait-and-see approach" instead of timely moving to amend).

OptumRx's Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to Albertville City's geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson Decl. (0.03% market share for Albertville City). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Albertville City to add dispensing claims against

OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Express Scripts' Mail Order Pharmacy a Negligible Market Share. Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of prescription opioid units shipped to Albertville City's geographic jurisdiction during 2009 to 2019. See DeCarlo Decl., Exhibit C (0.26% market share). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Albertville City to add dispensing claims against Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy entities. See Section III.A.2, above.

Failure to Implement a Litigation Hold. Albertville City filed its original complaint on February 8, 2018. See Marshall County, Alabama et al. v. Purdue Pharma L P et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45230-DAP, ECF No. 1. Despite filing its case years ago, Albertville City never implemented a litigation hold, in violation of this Court's orders (ECF Nos. 232; 5455). See ECF No. 5687-1 (Date Litigation Hold Implemented: Never). Litigating Albertville City's case would force the parties and the Court to waste time and resources ascertaining the extent of Albertville City's document destruction and the appropriate sanctions—just as the parties were forced to do in the three PBM bellwethers that failed to implement litigation holds until 2024. The PBMs are prejudiced by Albertville City's disregard for its most basic discovery obligations as a litigant, compounded by the delay in seeking leave to amend, and Albertville City therefore lacks good cause for leave to amend its complaint. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28 (denying leave to amend in part because the passage of time resulted in significant prejudice due to the loss of documents or records); see also Section III.A.4, above.

Failure to Prosecute. In its Plaintiff Fact Sheet, Albertville City failed to provide complete answers to Questions I.B.8 and I.B.9, relating to Albertville City's health plans, carriers, third party administrators, and pharmacy benefit managers throughout the relevant time period. The PBMs notified Albertville City of this deficiency on September 16, 2024 (see Exhibit B), but Albertville City refused to amend or supplement its Fact Sheet. Under this Court’s orders, Albertville City’s case is therefore subject to “dismiss[al] with prejudice” for failure to prosecute. ECF No. 4985 at 1 (emphasis in original); see Section III.A.5, above. Albertville City’s refusal to provide basic information related to its health care plans prejudices the PBMs’ ability to defend against Albertville City’s potential claims against them. Albertville City’s failure to diligently prosecute its case, coupled with the prejudice against the PBMs, negates any finding of good cause and leave to amend should be denied. See Final Amendment Order, ECF No. 5455 at 2 (directing counsel to dismiss, not seek leave to amend, in any case that “plaintiffs’ counsel does not intend to zealously pursue in litigation”); Range, 2017 WL 9477693, at *4 n.6 (denying motion for leave to amend as moot because claims were dismissed for failure to prosecute).

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Alabama law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Albertville City’s delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs’ ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Alabama law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28 .

Failure to State a Claim. Albertville City, a municipality in Alabama, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Albertville City’s proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Albertville City filed its original complaint on February 8, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See Marshall County, Alabama et al. v. Purdue Pharma L P et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45230-DAP, ECF No. 1. It is therefore indisputable that Albertville City knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend. Albertville City’s RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO’s four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by “discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim” (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Albertville City’s request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Public Nuisance Statute of Limitations. In Alabama, public-nuisance claims are subject to a two-year limitations period. Albertville City’s public-nuisance claim against the PBMs is therefore time-barred because Albertville City sought leave to amend its complaint on July 29, 2024—more than six years after filing its original complaint on February 8, 2018—and the proposed amendment does not relate back to the original filing for purposes of the applicable statute of limitations. See Zakora, 44 F.4th at 480 (“This court has repeatedly held that an amendment which adds a new party creates a new cause of action and there is no relation back to the original filing for purposes of limitations.” (cleaned up)).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Albertville City, a municipality in Alabama, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester’s complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

284. Marshall County, Alabama et al. v. Purdue Pharma L P et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45230-DAP: Plaintiff Arab City, Alabama

Arab City's untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Arab City failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Arab City also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, failure to implement a litigation hold, failure to submit a complete plaintiff fact sheet, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Arab City's motion should be denied due to futility, as Arab City does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its proposed public nuisance claim is barred by the statute of limitations, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Arab City was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Arab City amended its complaint on March 15, 2019, after transfer to the MDL on February 28, 2018, as well as on March 15, 2019. See Marshall County, Alabama et al. v. Purdue Pharma L P et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45230-DAP, ECF Nos. 14, 15. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Arab City declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaints. See Section II.A.1, above. Arab City's deadline to amend was in 2019. Arab City waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Arab City's lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order's deadline because plaintiff "had all the information [she] needed" to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a "wait-and-see approach" instead of timely moving to amend).

OptumRx's Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to Arab City's geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson Decl. (0.03% market share for Arab City). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Arab City to add dispensing claims against OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Express Scripts' Mail Order Pharmacy a Negligible Market Share. Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of prescription opioid units shipped to Arab City's geographic jurisdiction during 2009 to 2019. See DeCarlo Decl., Exhibit C (0.20% market share). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Arab City to add dispensing claims against Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy entities. See Section III.A.2, above.

Failure to Implement a Litigation Hold. Arab City filed its original complaint on February 8, 2018. See Marshall County, Alabama et al. v. Purdue Pharma L P et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45230-DAP, ECF No. 1. Despite filing its case years ago, Arab City never implemented a litigation hold, in violation of this Court's orders (ECF Nos. 232; 5455). See ECF No. 5687-1 (Date Litigation Hold Implemented: Never). Litigating Arab City's case would force the parties and the Court to waste time and resources ascertaining the extent of Arab City's document destruction and the appropriate sanctions—just as the parties were forced to do in the three PBM bellwethers that failed to implement litigation holds until 2024. The PBMs are prejudiced by Arab City's disregard for its most basic discovery obligations as a litigant, compounded by the delay in seeking leave to amend, and Arab City therefore lacks good cause for leave to amend its complaint. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28 (denying leave to amend in part because the passage of time resulted in significant prejudice due to the loss of documents or records); see also Section III.A.4, above.

Failure to Prosecute. In its Plaintiff Fact Sheet, Arab City failed to provide complete answers to Questions I.B.8 and I.B.9, relating to Arab City’s health plans, carriers, third party administrators, and pharmacy benefit managers throughout the relevant time period. The PBMs notified Arab City of this deficiency on September 16, 2024 (see Exhibit B), but Arab City refused to amend or supplement its Fact Sheet. Under this Court’s orders, Arab City’s case is therefore subject to “dismiss[al] with prejudice” for failure to prosecute. ECF No. 4985 at 1 (emphasis in original); see Section III.A.5, above. Arab City’s refusal to provide basic information related to its health care plans prejudices the PBMs’ ability to defend against Arab City’s potential claims against them. Arab City’s failure to diligently prosecute its case, coupled with the prejudice against the PBMs, negates any finding of good cause and leave to amend should be denied. See Final Amendment Order, ECF No. 5455 at 2 (directing counsel to dismiss, not seek leave to amend, in any case that “plaintiffs’ counsel does not intend to zealously pursue in litigation”); Range, 2017 WL 9477693, at *4 n.6 (denying motion for leave to amend as moot because claims were dismissed for failure to prosecute).

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Alabama law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Arab City’s delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs’ ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Alabama law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Arab City, a municipality in Alabama, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Arab City’s proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Arab City filed its original complaint on February 8, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See Marshall County, Alabama et al. v. Purdue Pharma L P et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45230-DAP, ECF No. 1. It is therefore indisputable that Arab City knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend. Arab City’s RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO’s four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by “discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim” (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Arab City’s request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Public Nuisance Statute of Limitations. In Alabama, public-nuisance claims are subject to a two-year limitations period. Arab City’s public-nuisance claim against the PBMs is therefore time-barred because Arab City sought leave to amend its complaint on July 29, 2024—more than six years after filing its original complaint on February 8, 2018—and the proposed amendment does not relate back to the original filing for purposes of the applicable statute of limitations. See Zakora, 44 F.4th at 480 (“This court has repeatedly held that an amendment which adds a new party creates a new cause of action and there is no relation back to the original filing for purposes of limitations.” (cleaned up)).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Arab City, a municipality in Alabama, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester’s complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

285. Marshall County, Alabama et al. v. Purdue Pharma L P et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45230-DAP: Plaintiff Boaz City, Alabama

Boaz City’s untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Boaz City failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Boaz City also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, failure to implement a litigation hold, failure to submit a complete plaintiff fact sheet, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Boaz City’s motion should be denied due to futility, as Boaz City does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its proposed public nuisance claim is barred by the statute of limitations, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Boaz City was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Boaz City amended its complaint on March 15, 2019, after transfer to the MDL on February 28, 2018, as well as on March 15, 2019. See Marshall County, Alabama et al. v. Purdue Pharma L P et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45230-DAP, ECF Nos. 14, 15. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Boaz City declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaints. See Section II.A.1, above. Boaz City’s deadline to amend was in 2019. Boaz City waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Boaz City’s lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order’s deadline because plaintiff “had all the information [she] needed” to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a “wait-and-see approach” instead of timely moving to amend).

OptumRx’s Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to Boaz City’s geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson Decl. (0.01% market share for Boaz City). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Boaz City to add dispensing claims against OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Express Scripts’ Mail Order Pharmacy a Negligible Market Share. Express Scripts’ mail order pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of prescription opioid units shipped to Boaz City’s geographic jurisdiction during 2009 to 2019. See DeCarlo Decl., Exhibit C (0.22% market share). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Boaz City to add dispensing claims against Express Scripts’ mail order pharmacy entities. See Section III.A.2, above.

Failure to Implement a Litigation Hold. Boaz City filed its original complaint on February 8, 2018. See Marshall County, Alabama et al. v. Purdue Pharma L P et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45230-DAP, ECF No. 1. Despite filing its case years ago, Boaz City never implemented a litigation hold, in violation of this Court’s orders (ECF Nos. 232; 5455). See ECF No. 5687-1 (Date Litigation Hold Implemented: Never). Litigating Boaz City’s case would force the parties and the Court to waste time and resources ascertaining the extent of Boaz City’s document destruction and the appropriate sanctions—just as the parties were forced to do in the three PBM bellwethers that failed to implement litigation holds until 2024. The PBMs are prejudiced by Boaz City’s disregard for its most basic discovery obligations as a litigant, compounded by the delay in seeking leave to amend, and Boaz City therefore lacks good cause for leave to amend its complaint. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28 (denying leave to amend in part because the passage of time resulted in significant prejudice due to the loss of documents or records); see also Section III.A.4, above.

Failure to Prosecute. In its Plaintiff Fact Sheet, Boaz City failed to provide complete answers to Questions I.B.8 and I.B.9, relating to Boaz City’s health plans, carriers, third party administrators, and pharmacy benefit managers throughout the relevant time period. The PBMs notified Boaz City of this deficiency on September 16, 2024 (see Exhibit B), but Boaz City refused to amend or supplement its Fact Sheet. Under this Court’s orders, Boaz City’s case is therefore subject to “dismiss[al] with prejudice” for failure to prosecute. ECF No. 4985 at 1 (emphasis in original); see Section III.A.5, above. Boaz City’s refusal to provide basic information related to its health care plans prejudices the PBMs’ ability to defend against Boaz City’s potential claims against them. Boaz City’s failure to diligently prosecute its case, coupled with the prejudice against the PBMs, negates any finding of good cause and leave to amend should be denied. See Final Amendment Order, ECF No. 5455 at 2 (directing counsel to dismiss, not seek leave to amend, in any case that “plaintiffs’ counsel does not intend to zealously pursue in litigation”); Range, 2017 WL 9477693, at *4 n.6 (denying motion for leave to amend as moot because claims were dismissed for failure to prosecute).

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Alabama law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Boaz City’s delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs’ ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Alabama law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Boaz City, a municipality in Alabama, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Boaz City’s proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Boaz City filed its original complaint on February 8, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See Marshall County, Alabama et al. v. Purdue Pharma L P et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45230-DAP, ECF No. 1. It is therefore indisputable that Boaz City knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend. Boaz City’s RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO’s four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by “discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim” (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Boaz City’s request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Public Nuisance Statute of Limitations. In Alabama, public-nuisance claims are subject to a two-year limitations period. Boaz City’s public-nuisance claim against the PBMs is therefore time-barred because Boaz City sought leave to amend its complaint on July 29, 2024—more than six years after filing its original complaint on February 8, 2018—and the proposed amendment does not relate back to the original filing for purposes of the applicable statute of limitations. See Zakora, 44 F.4th at 480 (“This court has repeatedly held that an amendment which adds a new party creates a new cause of action and there is no relation back to the original filing for purposes of limitations.” (cleaned up)).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Boaz City, a municipality in Alabama, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester’s complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

286. Marshall County, Alabama et al. v. Purdue Pharma L P et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45230-DAP: Plaintiff Douglas Town, Alabama

Douglas Town’s untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Douglas Town failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Douglas Town also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, failure to implement a litigation hold, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Douglas Town’s motion should be denied due to futility, as Douglas Town does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its proposed public nuisance claim is barred by the statute of limitations, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Douglas Town was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Douglas Town amended its complaint on March 15, 2019, after transfer to the MDL on February 28, 2018, as well as on March 15, 2019. See Marshall County, Alabama et al. v. Purdue Pharma L P et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45230-DAP, ECF Nos. 14, 15. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Douglas Town declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaints. See Section II.A.1, above. Douglas Town’s deadline to amend was in 2019. Douglas Town waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Douglas Town’s lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879

(affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order’s deadline because plaintiff “had all the information [she] needed” to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a “wait-and-see approach” instead of timely moving to amend).

OptumRx’s Home-Delivery Pharmacy Had Zero Dispenses. OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy did not dispense a single opioid prescription to Douglas Town’s geographic jurisdiction over the period for which OptumRx has data (2010 to 2019). See Gustafson Decl.. Because OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy “ha[s] no market share, they shouldn’t be in the case, period.” ECF No. 3685 at 6:9–14; see Section III.A.2, above. Thus, Douglas Town cannot show good cause to add claims against OptumRx in its capacity as a home delivery pharmacy.

Express Scripts’ Mail Order Pharmacy a Negligible Market Share. Express Scripts’ mail order pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of prescription opioid units shipped to Douglas Town’s geographic jurisdiction during 2009 to 2019. See DeCarlo Decl., Exhibit C (0.39% market share). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Douglas Town to add dispensing claims against Express Scripts’ mail order pharmacy entities. See Section III.A.2, above.

Failure to Implement a Litigation Hold. Douglas Town filed its original complaint on February 8, 2018. See Marshall County, Alabama et al. v. Purdue Pharma L P et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45230-DAP, ECF No. 1. Despite filing its case years ago, Douglas Town never implemented a litigation hold, in violation of this Court’s orders (ECF Nos. 232; 5455). See ECF No. 5687-1 (Date Litigation Hold Implemented: Never). Litigating Douglas Town’s case would force the parties and the Court to waste time and resources ascertaining the extent of Douglas Town’s document destruction and the appropriate sanctions—just as the parties were forced to do in the three PBM bellwethers that failed to implement litigation holds until 2024. The PBMs are prejudiced by Douglas Town's disregard for its most basic discovery obligations as a litigant, compounded by the delay in seeking leave to amend, and Douglas Town therefore lacks good cause for leave to amend its complaint. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28 (denying leave to amend in part because the passage of time resulted in significant prejudice due to the loss of documents or records); see also Section III.A.4, above.

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Alabama law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Douglas Town's delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs' ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Alabama law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Douglas Town, a municipality in Alabama, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Douglas Town's proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Douglas Town filed its original complaint on February 8, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See Marshall County, Alabama et al. v. Purdue Pharma L P et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45230-DAP, ECF No. 1. It is therefore indisputable that Douglas Town knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend. Douglas Town's RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO's four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by "discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim” (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Douglas Town’s request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Public Nuisance Statute of Limitations. In Alabama, public-nuisance claims are subject to a two-year limitations period. Douglas Town’s public-nuisance claim against the PBMs is therefore time-barred because Douglas Town sought leave to amend its complaint on July 29, 2024—more than six years after filing its original complaint on February 8, 2018—and the proposed amendment does not relate back to the original filing for purposes of the applicable statute of limitations. See Zakora, 44 F.4th at 480 (“This court has repeatedly held that an amendment which adds a new party creates a new cause of action and there is no relation back to the original filing for purposes of limitations.” (cleaned up)).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Douglas Town, a municipality in Alabama, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester’s complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

287. Marshall County, Alabama et al. v. Purdue Pharma L P et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45230-DAP: Plaintiff Grant Town, Alabama

Grant Town’s untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Grant Town failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Grant Town also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, failure to implement a litigation hold, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Grant Town’s motion should be denied due to futility, as Grant Town does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its proposed public nuisance claim is barred by the statute of limitations, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Grant Town was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Grant Town amended its complaint on March 15, 2019, after transfer to the MDL on February 28, 2018, as well as on March 15, 2019. See Marshall County, Alabama et al. v. Purdue Pharma L P et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45230-DAP, ECF Nos. 14, 15. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Grant Town declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaints. See Section II.A.1, above. Grant Town’s deadline to amend was in 2019. Grant Town waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Grant Town’s lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order’s deadline because plaintiff “had all the information [she] needed” to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a “wait-and-see approach” instead of timely moving to amend).

OptumRx’s Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to Grant Town’s geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson Decl. (0.03% market share for Grant Town). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Grant Town to add dispensing claims against OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Express Scripts’ Mail Order Pharmacy a Negligible Market Share. Express Scripts’ mail order pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of prescription opioid units

shipped to Grant Town's geographic jurisdiction during 2009 to 2019. See DeCarlo Decl., Exhibit C (0.34% market share). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Grant Town to add dispensing claims against Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy entities. See Section III.A.2, above.

Failure to Implement a Litigation Hold. Grant Town filed its original complaint on February 8, 2018. See Marshall County, Alabama et al. v. Purdue Pharma L P et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45230-DAP, ECF No. 1. Despite filing its case years ago, Grant Town never implemented a litigation hold, in violation of this Court's orders (ECF Nos. 232; 5455). See ECF No. 5687-1 (Date Litigation Hold Implemented: Never). Litigating Grant Town's case would force the parties and the Court to waste time and resources ascertaining the extent of Grant Town's document destruction and the appropriate sanctions—just as the parties were forced to do in the three PBM bellwethers that failed to implement litigation holds until 2024. The PBMs are prejudiced by Grant Town's disregard for its most basic discovery obligations as a litigant, compounded by the delay in seeking leave to amend, and Grant Town therefore lacks good cause for leave to amend its complaint. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28 (denying leave to amend in part because the passage of time resulted in significant prejudice due to the loss of documents or records); see also Section III.A.4, above.

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Alabama law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Grant Town's delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs' ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Alabama law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Grant Town, a municipality in Alabama, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Grant Town’s proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Grant Town filed its original complaint on February 8, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See Marshall County, Alabama et al. v. Purdue Pharma L P et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45230-DAP, ECF No. 1. It is therefore indisputable that Grant Town knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend. Grant Town’s RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO’s four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by “discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim” (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Grant Town’s request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Public Nuisance Statute of Limitations. In Alabama, public-nuisance claims are subject to a two-year limitations period. Grant Town’s public-nuisance claim against the PBMs is therefore time-barred because Grant Town sought leave to amend its complaint on July 29, 2024—more than six years after filing its original complaint on February 8, 2018—and the proposed amendment does not relate back to the original filing for purposes of the applicable statute of limitations. See Zakora, 44 F.4th at 480 (“This court has repeatedly held that an amendment which adds a new party creates a new cause of action and there is no relation back to the original filing for purposes of limitations.” (cleaned up)).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Grant Town, a municipality in Alabama, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester’s complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

288. Marshall County, Alabama et al. v. Purdue Pharma L P et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45230-DAP: Plaintiff Guntersville City, Alabama

Guntersville City’s untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Guntersville City failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Guntersville City also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, failure to implement a litigation hold, failure to submit a complete plaintiff fact sheet, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Guntersville City’s motion should be denied due to futility, as Guntersville City does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its proposed public nuisance claim is barred by the statute of limitations, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Guntersville City was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Guntersville City amended its complaint on March 15, 2019, after transfer to the MDL on February 28, 2018, as well as on March 15, 2019. See Marshall County, Alabama et al. v. Purdue Pharma L P et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45230-DAP, ECF Nos. 14, 15. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Guntersville City declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaints. See Section II.A.1, above. Guntersville City’s deadline to amend was in 2019. Guntersville City waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs.

Guntersville City's lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order's deadline because plaintiff "had all the information [she] needed" to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a "wait-and-see approach" instead of timely moving to amend).

OptumRx's Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy. But OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to Guntersville City's geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson Decl. (0.01% market share for Guntersville City). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Guntersville City to add dispensing claims against OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Express Scripts' Mail Order Pharmacy a Negligible Market Share. Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of prescription opioid units shipped to Guntersville City's geographic jurisdiction during 2009 to 2019. See DeCarlo Decl., Exhibit C (0.15% market share). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Guntersville City to add dispensing claims against Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy entities. See Section III.A.2, above.

Failure to Implement a Litigation Hold. Guntersville City filed its original complaint on February 8, 2018. See Marshall County, Alabama et al. v. Purdue Pharma L P et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45230-DAP, ECF No. 1. Despite filing its case years ago, Guntersville City never implemented a litigation hold, in violation of this Court's orders (ECF Nos. 232; 5455). See ECF No. 5687-1 (Date Litigation Hold Implemented: Never). Litigating Guntersville City's case would force the parties and the Court to waste time and resources ascertaining the extent of Guntersville City's document destruction and the appropriate sanctions—just as the parties were forced to do in the three PBM bellwethers that failed to implement litigation holds until 2024. The PBMs are prejudiced by Guntersville City's disregard for its most basic discovery obligations as a litigant, compounded by the delay in seeking leave to amend, and Guntersville City therefore lacks good cause for leave to amend its complaint. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28 (denying leave to amend in part because the passage of time resulted in significant prejudice due to the loss of documents or records); see also Section III.A.4, above.

Failure to Prosecute. In its Plaintiff Fact Sheet, Guntersville City failed to provide complete answers to Questions I.B.8 and I.B.9, relating to Guntersville City's health plans, carriers, third party administrators, and pharmacy benefit managers throughout the relevant time period. The PBMs notified Guntersville City of this deficiency on September 16, 2024 (see Exhibit B), but Guntersville City refused to amend or supplement its Fact Sheet. Under this Court's orders, Guntersville City's case is therefore subject to “dismiss[al] with prejudice” for failure to prosecute. ECF No. 4985 at 1 (emphasis in original); see Section III.A.5, above. Guntersville City's refusal to provide basic information related to its health care plans prejudices the PBMs' ability to defend against Guntersville City's potential claims against them. Guntersville City's failure to diligently prosecute its case, coupled with the prejudice against the PBMs, negates any finding of good cause and leave to amend should be denied. See Final Amendment Order, ECF No. 5455 at 2 (directing counsel to dismiss, not seek leave to amend, in any case that “plaintiffs' counsel does not intend to zealously pursue in litigation”); Range, 2017 WL 9477693, at *4 n.6 (denying motion for leave to amend as moot because claims were dismissed for failure to prosecute).

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Alabama law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Guntersville City’s delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs’ ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Alabama law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Guntersville City, a municipality in Alabama, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Guntersville City’s proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Guntersville City filed its original complaint on February 8, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See Marshall County, Alabama et al. v. Purdue Pharma L P et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45230-DAP, ECF No. 1. It is therefore indisputable that Guntersville City knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend. Guntersville City’s RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO’s four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by “discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim” (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Guntersville City’s request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Public Nuisance Statute of Limitations. In Alabama, public-nuisance claims are subject to a two-year limitations period. Guntersville City’s public-nuisance claim against the PBMs is therefore time-barred because Guntersville City sought leave to amend its complaint on July 29, 2024—more than six years after filing its original complaint on February 8, 2018—and the proposed amendment does not relate back to the original filing for purposes of the applicable statute of limitations. See Zakora, 44 F.4th at 480 (“This court has repeatedly held that an amendment which adds a new party creates a new cause of action and there is no relation back to the original filing for purposes of limitations.” (cleaned up)).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Guntersville City, a municipality in Alabama, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester’s complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

289. Marshall County, Alabama et al. v. Purdue Pharma L P et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45230-DAP: Plaintiff Marshall County, Alabama

Marshall County’s untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Marshall County failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Marshall County also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, failure to implement a litigation hold, failure to submit a complete plaintiff fact sheet, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Marshall County’s motion should be denied due to futility, as Marshall County does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its proposed public nuisance claim is barred by the statute of limitations, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Marshall County was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Marshall County amended its complaint on March 15, 2019, after transfer to the MDL on February 28, 2018, as well as on March 15, 2019. See Marshall County, Alabama et al. v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45230-DAP, ECF Nos. 14, 15. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Marshall County declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaints. See Section II.A.1, above. Marshall County's deadline to amend was in 2019. Marshall County waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Marshall County's lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order's deadline because plaintiff "had all the information [she] needed" to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a "wait-and-see approach" instead of timely moving to amend).

OptumRx's Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to Marshall County's geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson Decl. (0.02% market share for Marshall County). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Marshall County to add dispensing claims against OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Express Scripts' Mail Order Pharmacy a Negligible Market Share. Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of prescription opioid units shipped to Marshall County's geographic jurisdiction during 2009 to 2019. See DeCarlo Decl., Exhibit C (0.19% market share). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Marshall County to add dispensing claims against Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy entities. See Section III.A.2, above.

Failure to Implement a Litigation Hold. Marshall County filed its original complaint on February 8, 2018. See Marshall County, Alabama et al. v. Purdue Pharma L P et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45230-DAP, ECF No. 1. Despite filing its case years ago, Marshall County never implemented a litigation hold, in violation of this Court's orders (ECF Nos. 232; 5455). See ECF No. 5687-1 (Date Litigation Hold Implemented: Never). Litigating Marshall County's case would force the parties and the Court to waste time and resources ascertaining the extent of Marshall County's document destruction and the appropriate sanctions—just as the parties were forced to do in the three PBM bellwethers that failed to implement litigation holds until 2024. The PBMs are prejudiced by Marshall County's disregard for its most basic discovery obligations as a litigant, compounded by the delay in seeking leave to amend, and Marshall County therefore lacks good cause for leave to amend its complaint. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28 (denying leave to amend in part because the passage of time resulted in significant prejudice due to the loss of documents or records); see also Section III.A.4, above.

Failure to Prosecute. In its Plaintiff Fact Sheet, Marshall County failed to provide complete answers to Questions I.B.8 and I.B.9, relating to Marshall County's health plans, carriers, third party administrators, and pharmacy benefit managers throughout the relevant time period. The PBMs notified Marshall County of this deficiency on September 16, 2024 (see Exhibit B), but Marshall County refused to amend or supplement its Fact Sheet. Under this Court's orders, Marshall County's case is therefore subject to “dismiss[al] with prejudice” for failure to prosecute. ECF No. 4985 at 1 (emphasis in original); see Section III.A.5, above. Marshall County's refusal to provide basic information related to its health care plans prejudices the PBMs' ability to defend against Marshall County’s potential claims against them. Marshall County’s failure to diligently prosecute its case, coupled with the prejudice against the PBMs, negates any finding of good cause and leave to amend should be denied. See Final Amendment Order, ECF No. 5455 at 2 (directing counsel to dismiss, not seek leave to amend, in any case that “plaintiffs’ counsel does not intend to zealously pursue in litigation”); Range, 2017 WL 9477693, at *4 n.6 (denying motion for leave to amend as moot because claims were dismissed for failure to prosecute).

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Alabama law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Marshall County’s delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs’ ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Alabama law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Marshall County, a municipality in Alabama, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Marshall County’s proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Marshall County filed its original complaint on February 8, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See Marshall County, Alabama et al. v. Purdue Pharma L P et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45230-DAP, ECF No. 1. It is therefore indisputable that Marshall County knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend. Marshall County’s RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO’s four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by “discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim” (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Marshall County’s request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Public Nuisance Statute of Limitations. In Alabama, public-nuisance claims are subject to a two-year limitations period. Marshall County’s public-nuisance claim against the PBMs is therefore time-barred because Marshall County sought leave to amend its complaint on July 29, 2024—more than six years after filing its original complaint on February 8, 2018—and the proposed amendment does not relate back to the original filing for purposes of the applicable statute of limitations. See Zakora, 44 F.4th at 480 (“This court has repeatedly held that an amendment which adds a new party creates a new cause of action and there is no relation back to the original filing for purposes of limitations.” (cleaned up)).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Marshall County lacks statutory standing to assert a public nuisance claim under Alabama law because it “is clearly not an individual, nor a city, nor the [s]tate,” and thus amendment is futile. Lee County, 2022 WL 450810, at *4 (concluding an Alabama county lacked standing to bring a Ala. Code § 6-5-121 claim); see Section III.B.3, above.

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Marshall County, a municipality in Alabama, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester’s complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

290. Augusta, Georgia v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45233-DAP: Plaintiff Augusta-Richmond County Consolidated Government, Georgia

Augusta-Richmond County Consolidated Government’s untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Augusta-Richmond County Consolidated Government failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint.

Augusta-Richmond County Consolidated Government also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, failure to implement a litigation hold, failure to submit a plaintiff fact sheet, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Augusta-Richmond County Consolidated Government's motion should be denied due to futility, as Augusta-Richmond County Consolidated Government does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Augusta-Richmond County Consolidated Government was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Augusta-Richmond County Consolidated Government amended its complaint on March 11, 2019, after transfer to the MDL on February 28, 2018. See Augusta, Georgia v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45233-DAP, ECF No. 6. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Augusta-Richmond County Consolidated Government declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaint. See Section II.A.1, above. Augusta-Richmond County Consolidated Government's deadline to amend was in 2019. Augusta-Richmond County Consolidated Government waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Augusta-Richmond County Consolidated Government's lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order's deadline because plaintiff "had all the information [she] needed" to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a "wait-and-see approach" instead of timely moving to amend).

Prior Notice Through Counsel. Augusta-Richmond County Consolidated Government cannot meet the Rule 16 good cause standard because it is represented by the same counsel—Greene, Ketchum, Farrell, Bailey & Tweel, LLP; Powell & Majestro; Baron & Budd, P.C.; Levin, Papantonio, Thomas, Mitchell, Rafferty & Proctor, P.A.; and McHugh Fuller Law Group, PLLC—that filed claims against the PBMs in 2019. See MDL ECF No. 2582. Augusta-Richmond County Consolidated Government, through its counsel, was on notice of potential claims against the PBMs and could readily have amended its complaint to add the PBMs much earlier. Augusta-Richmond County Consolidated Government fails to explain why it was unable to assert claims against the PBMs in 2019 when its own attorneys were already asserting those claims on behalf of other clients. See, e.g., Duggins, 195 F.3d at 834 (affirming denial of leave to amend after the close of discovery when the “plaintiff was obviously aware of the basis of the claim for many months, especially since some underlying facts were made a part of the complaint”); Thurmond, 649 F. App’x at 1006 (affirming denial of leave to amend for undue delay in part because plaintiff’s counsel had access to discovery in related cases and was previously aware of the proposed new defendants’ conduct).

OptumRx’s Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to Augusta-Richmond County Consolidated Government’s geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson Decl. (0.04% market share for Augusta-Richmond County Consolidated Government). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Augusta-Richmond County Consolidated Government to add dispensing claims against OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Express Scripts' Mail Order Pharmacy a Negligible Market Share. Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of prescription opioid units shipped to Augusta-Richmond County Consolidated Government's geographic jurisdiction during 2009 to 2019. See DeCarlo Decl., Exhibit C (0.13% market share). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Augusta-Richmond County Consolidated Government to add dispensing claims against Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy entities. See Section III.A.2, above.

Failure to Implement a Litigation Hold. Augusta-Richmond County Consolidated Government filed its original complaint on February 13, 2018. See Augusta, Georgia v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45233-DAP, ECF No. 1. Despite filing its case years ago, Augusta-Richmond County Consolidated Government never implemented a litigation hold, in violation of this Court's orders (ECF Nos. 232; 5455). See ECF No. 5687-1 (Date Litigation Hold Implemented: Never). Litigating Augusta-Richmond County Consolidated Government's case would force the parties and the Court to waste time and resources ascertaining the extent of Augusta-Richmond County Consolidated Government's document destruction and the appropriate sanctions—just as the parties were forced to do in the three PBM bellwethers that failed to implement litigation holds until 2024. The PBMs are prejudiced by Augusta-Richmond County Consolidated Government's disregard for its most basic discovery obligations as a litigant, compounded by the delay in seeking leave to amend, and Augusta-Richmond County Consolidated Government therefore lacks good cause for leave to amend its complaint. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28 (denying leave to amend in part because the passage of time resulted in significant prejudice due to the loss of documents or records); see also Section III.A.4, above.

Failure to Prosecute. Despite the Court’s repeated instructions to the contrary, Augusta-Richmond County Consolidated Government has never served a Plaintiff Fact Sheet. Augusta-Richmond County Consolidated Government’s case is therefore subject to “dismiss[al] with prejudice” for failure to prosecute. ECF No. 4985 at 1 (emphasis in original); see Section III.A.5, above. Augusta-Richmond County Consolidated Government’s failure to diligently prosecute its case negates any finding of good cause and leave to amend should be denied. See Final Amendment Order, ECF No. 5455 at 2 (directing counsel to dismiss, not seek leave to amend, in any case that “plaintiffs’ counsel does not intend to zealously pursue in litigation”); Range, 2017 WL 9477693, at *4 n.6 (denying motion for leave to amend as moot because claims were dismissed for failure to prosecute).

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Georgia law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Augusta-Richmond County Consolidated Government’s delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs’ ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Georgia law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Augusta-Richmond County Consolidated Government, a municipality in Georgia, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Augusta-Richmond County Consolidated Government’s proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Augusta-Richmond County Consolidated Government filed its original complaint on February 13, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See Augusta, Georgia v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45233-DAP, ECF No. 1. It is therefore indisputable that Augusta-Richmond County Consolidated Government knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend. Augusta-Richmond County Consolidated Government's RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO's four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by "discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim" (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Augusta-Richmond County Consolidated Government's request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Augusta-Richmond County Consolidated Government, a municipality in Georgia, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester's complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

291. Wilkes County v. AmerisourceBergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45239-DAP: Plaintiff Wilkes County, North Carolina

Wilkes County's untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Wilkes County failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Wilkes County also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, failure to timely implement a litigation hold, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Wilkes County's motion should be denied due to futility, as Wilkes County does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Wilkes County was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Wilkes County amended its complaint on March 12, 2019, after transfer to the MDL on March 5, 2018. See Wilkes County v. AmerisourceBergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45239-DAP, ECF No. 6. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Wilkes County declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaint. See Section II.A.1, above. Wilkes County’s deadline to amend was in 2019. Wilkes County waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Wilkes County’s lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order’s deadline because plaintiff “had all the information [she] needed” to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a “wait-and-see approach” instead of timely moving to amend).

Prior Notice Through Counsel. Wilkes County cannot meet the Rule 16 good cause standard because it is represented by the same counsel—Greene, Ketchum, Farrell, Bailey & Tweel, LLP; Powell & Majestro; Baron & Budd, P.C.; Levin, Papantonio, Thomas, Mitchell, Rafferty & Proctor, P.A.; and McHugh Fuller Law Group, PLLC—that filed claims against the PBMs in 2019. See MDL ECF No. 2582. Wilkes County, through its counsel, was on notice of potential claims against the PBMs and could readily have amended its complaint to add the PBMs much earlier. Wilkes County fails to explain why it was unable to assert claims against the PBMs in 2019 when its own attorneys were already asserting those claims on behalf of other clients. See, e.g., Duggins, 195 F.3d at 834 (affirming denial of leave to amend after the close of discovery when the “plaintiff was obviously aware of the basis of the claim for many months, especially since some underlying facts were made a part of the complaint”); Thurmond, 649 F. App’x at 1006

(affirming denial of leave to amend for undue delay in part because plaintiff's counsel had access to discovery in related cases and was previously aware of the proposed new defendants' conduct).

OptumRx's Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to Wilkes County's geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson Decl. (0.03% market share for Wilkes County). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Wilkes County to add dispensing claims against OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Express Scripts' Mail Order Pharmacy a Negligible Market Share. Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of prescription opioid units shipped to Wilkes County's geographic jurisdiction during 2009 to 2019. See DeCarlo Decl., Exhibit C (0.28% market share). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Wilkes County to add dispensing claims against Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy entities. See Section III.A.2, above.

Failure to Timely Implement a Litigation Hold. Wilkes County filed its original complaint on February 16, 2018, but waited until June 27, 2018 to implement a litigation hold. See Wilkes County v. AmerisourceBergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45239-DAP, ECF No. 1; see also ECF No. 5687-1 (Date Litigation Hold Implemented: June 27, 2018). Wilkes County's violation of the Court's orders (ECF Nos. 232; 5455) and disregard for its discovery obligations is prejudicial to the PBMs and weighs heavily against any finding of good cause for leave to amend. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28 (denying leave to amend in part because the passage of time resulted in significant prejudice due to the loss of documents or records); see also Section III.A.4, above.

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under North Carolina law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Wilkes County’s delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs’ ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under North Carolina law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Wilkes County, a municipality in North Carolina, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Wilkes County’s proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Wilkes County filed its original complaint on February 16, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See Wilkes County v. AmerisourceBergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45239-DAP, ECF No. 1. It is therefore indisputable that Wilkes County knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend. Wilkes County’s RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO’s four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by “discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim” (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Wilkes County’s request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Wilkes County, a municipality in North Carolina, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester's complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

292. City of Lakewood v. Purdue Pharma LP et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45240-DAP: Plaintiff Lakewood City, Ohio

Lakewood City's untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Lakewood City failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Lakewood City also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, failure to timely implement a litigation hold, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Lakewood City's motion should be denied due to futility, as Lakewood City does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its proposed public nuisance claim is barred by state law in Ohio, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Lakewood City was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Lakewood City first amended its complaint on March 16, 2018. See City of Lakewood v. Purdue Pharma LP et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45240-DAP, ECF No. 4. Lakewood City amended its complaint again on March 14, 2019. See City of Lakewood v. Purdue Pharma LP et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45240-DAP, ECF No. 44. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Lakewood City declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaints. See Section II.A.1, above. Lakewood City's deadline to amend was in 2019. Lakewood City waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Lakewood City's lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order’s deadline because plaintiff “had all the information [she] needed” to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a “wait-and-see approach” instead of timely moving to amend).

OptumRx’s Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to Lakewood City’s geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson Decl. (0.04% market share for Lakewood City). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Lakewood City to add dispensing claims against OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Express Scripts’ Mail Order Pharmacy a Negligible Market Share. Express Scripts’ mail order pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of prescription opioid units shipped to Lakewood City’s geographic jurisdiction during 2009 to 2019. See DeCarlo Decl., Exhibit C (0.21% market share). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Lakewood City to add dispensing claims against Express Scripts’ mail order pharmacy entities. See Section III.A.2, above.

Failure to Timely Implement a Litigation Hold. Lakewood City violated its basic duty to implement a timely litigation hold. Lakewood City filed its original complaint on March 5, 2018, but waited until August 13, 2024 to implement a litigation hold—six years later. See City of Lakewood v. Purdue Pharma LP et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45240-DAP, ECF No. 1; see also ECF No. 5687-1 (Date Litigation Hold Implemented: August 13, 2024). This is a plain violation of this Court's orders. ECF Nos. 232; 5455. Litigating Lakewood City's case would force the parties and the Court to waste time and resources ascertaining the extent of Lakewood City's document destruction and the appropriate sanctions—just as the parties were forced to do in the three PBM bellwethers that failed to implement litigation holds until 2024. The PBMs are prejudiced by Lakewood City's disregard for its most basic discovery obligations as a litigant, compounded by the delay in seeking leave to amend, and Lakewood City therefore lacks good cause for leave to amend its complaint. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28 (denying leave to amend in part because the passage of time resulted in significant prejudice due to the loss of documents or records); see also Section III.A.4, above.

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Ohio law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Lakewood City's delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs' ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Ohio law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Lakewood City, a municipality in Ohio, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

Plaintiff's Public Nuisance Claim is Futile. Lakewood City is a plaintiff in Ohio. Lakewood City's request for leave to add the PBMs as defendants to a public nuisance claim should be denied as futile because "all common-law public-nuisance claims arising from the sale of a product have been abrogated by the Ohio Product Liability Act." In re Nat'l Prescription Opiate Litig., 2024 WL 5049302, at *1, 2024-OHIO-5744, ¶ 1; see Section III.B.3, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Lakewood City’s proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Lakewood City filed its original complaint on March 5, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See City of Lakewood v. Purdue Pharma LP et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45240-DAP, ECF No. 1. It is therefore indisputable that Lakewood City knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend. Lakewood City’s RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO’s four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by “discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim” (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Lakewood City’s request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Lakewood City, a municipality in Ohio, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester’s complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

293. Pickett County, Tennessee v. AmerisourceBergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45242-DAP: Plaintiff Pickett County, Tennessee

Pickett County’s untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Pickett County failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Pickett County also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Pickett County’s motion should be denied due to futility, as Pickett County does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Pickett County was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Pickett County amended its complaint on March 11, 2019, after transfer to the MDL on March 7, 2018. See Pickett County, Tennessee v. AmerisourceBergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45242-DAP, ECF No. 12. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Pickett County declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaint. See Section II.A.1, above. Pickett County’s deadline to amend was in 2019. Pickett County waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Pickett County’s lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order’s deadline because plaintiff “had all the information [she] needed” to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a “wait-and-see approach” instead of timely moving to amend).

Prior Notice Through Counsel. Pickett County cannot meet the Rule 16 good cause standard because it is represented by the same counsel—Greene, Ketchum, Farrell, Bailey & Tweel, LLP; Powell & Majestro; Baron & Budd, P.C.; Levin, Papantonio, Thomas, Mitchell, Rafferty & Proctor, P.A.; and McHugh Fuller Law Group, PLLC—that filed claims against the PBMs in 2019. See MDL ECF No. 2582. Pickett County, through its counsel, was on notice of potential claims against the PBMs and could readily have amended its complaint to add the PBMs much earlier. Pickett County fails to explain why it was unable to assert claims against the PBMs in 2019 when its own attorneys were already asserting those claims on behalf of other clients. See, e.g., Duggins, 195 F.3d at 834 (affirming denial of leave to amend after the close of discovery when the “plaintiff was obviously aware of the basis of the claim for many months, especially since some underlying facts were made a part of the complaint”); Thurmond, 649 F. App’x at 1006 (affirming denial of leave to amend for undue delay in part because plaintiff’s counsel had access to discovery in related cases and was previously aware of the proposed new defendants’ conduct).

OptumRx’s Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to Pickett County’s geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson Decl. (0.02% market share for Pickett County). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Pickett County to add dispensing claims against OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Tennessee law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Pickett County’s delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs’ ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Tennessee law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Pickett County, a municipality in Tennessee, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Pickett County’s proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Pickett County filed its original complaint on February 16, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants.

See Pickett County, Tennessee v. AmerisourceBergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45242-DAP, ECF No. 1. It is therefore indisputable that Pickett County knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend. Pickett County's RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO's four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by "discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim" (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Pickett County's request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Pickett County, a municipality in Tennessee, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester's complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

294. Rutherford County v. AmerisourceBergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45243-DAP: Plaintiff Rutherford County, North Carolina

Rutherford County's untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Rutherford County failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Rutherford County also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, failure to timely implement a litigation hold, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Rutherford County's motion should be denied due to futility, as Rutherford County does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Rutherford County was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above.

Moreover, Rutherford County amended its complaint on March 12, 2019, after transfer to the MDL on March 9, 2018. See Rutherford County v. AmerisourceBergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45243-DAP, ECF No. 6. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Rutherford County declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaint. See Section II.A.1, above. Rutherford County’s deadline to amend was in 2019. Rutherford County waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Rutherford County’s lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order’s deadline because plaintiff “had all the information [she] needed” to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a “wait-and-see approach” instead of timely moving to amend).

Prior Notice Through Counsel. Rutherford County cannot meet the Rule 16 good cause standard because it is represented by the same counsel—Greene, Ketchum, Farrell, Bailey & Tweel, LLP; Powell & Majestro; Baron & Budd, P.C.; Levin, Papantonio, Thomas, Mitchell, Rafferty & Proctor, P.A.; and McHugh Fuller Law Group, PLLC—that filed claims against the PBMs in 2019. See MDL ECF No. 2582. Rutherford County, through its counsel, was on notice of potential claims against the PBMs and could readily have amended its complaint to add the PBMs much earlier. Rutherford County fails to explain why it was unable to assert claims against the PBMs in 2019 when its own attorneys were already asserting those claims on behalf of other clients. See, e.g., Duggins, 195 F.3d at 834 (affirming denial of leave to amend after the close of discovery when the “plaintiff was obviously aware of the basis of the claim for many months, especially since some underlying facts were made a part of the complaint”); Thurmond, 649 F. App’x at 1006 (affirming denial of leave to amend for undue delay in part because plaintiff’s counsel had access to discovery in related cases and was previously aware of the proposed new defendants' conduct).

OptumRx's Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to Rutherford County's geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson Decl. (0.08% market share for Rutherford County). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Rutherford County to add dispensing claims against OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Express Scripts' Mail Order Pharmacy a Negligible Market Share. Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of prescription opioid units shipped to Rutherford County's geographic jurisdiction during 2009 to 2019. See DeCarlo Decl., Exhibit C (0.37% market share). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Rutherford County to add dispensing claims against Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy entities. See Section III.A.2, above.

Failure to Timely Implement a Litigation Hold. Rutherford County filed its original complaint on February 26, 2018, but waited until July 2, 2018 to implement a litigation hold. See Rutherford County v. AmerisourceBergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45243-DAP, ECF No. 1; see also ECF No. 5687-1 (Date Litigation Hold Implemented: July 2, 2018). Rutherford County's violation of the Court's orders (ECF Nos. 232; 5455) and disregard for its discovery obligations is prejudicial to the PBMs and weighs heavily against any finding of good cause for leave to amend. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28 (denying leave to amend in part because the passage of time resulted in significant prejudice due to the loss of documents or records); see also Section III.A.4, above.

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under North Carolina law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Rutherford County's delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs' ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under North Carolina law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Rutherford County, a municipality in North Carolina, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Rutherford County's proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Rutherford County filed its original complaint on February 26, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See Rutherford County v. AmerisourceBergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45243-DAP, ECF No. 1. It is therefore indisputable that Rutherford County knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend. Rutherford County's RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO's four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by "discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim" (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Rutherford County's request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Rutherford County, a municipality in North Carolina, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester's complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

295. Barbour County, Alabama v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45244-DAP: Plaintiff Barbour County, Alabama

Barbour County's untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Barbour County failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Barbour County also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, failure to implement a litigation hold, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Barbour County's motion should be denied due to futility, as Barbour County does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its proposed public nuisance claim is barred by the statute of limitations, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Barbour County was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Barbour County filed its original complaint on February 20, 2018 and the case was transferred to the MDL on March 9, 2018. See Barbour County, Alabama v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45244-DAP, ECF No. 19. Barbour County could have amended its complaint, without leave, to add claims against the PBMs in 2019. See Section II.A.1, above. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Barbour County elected not to do so. Instead, Barbour County waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Barbour County's lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879

(affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order’s deadline because plaintiff “had all the information [she] needed” to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a “wait-and-see approach” instead of timely moving to amend).

OptumRx’s Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to Barbour County’s geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson Decl. (0.03% market share for Barbour County). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Barbour County to add dispensing claims against OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Failure to Implement a Litigation Hold. Barbour County filed its original complaint on February 20, 2018. See Barbour County, Alabama v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45244-DAP, ECF No. 1. Despite filing its case years ago, Barbour County never implemented a litigation hold, in violation of this Court’s orders (ECF Nos. 232; 5455). See ECF No. 5687-1 (Date Litigation Hold Implemented: Never). Litigating Barbour County’s case would force the parties and the Court to waste time and resources ascertaining the extent of Barbour County’s document destruction and the appropriate sanctions—just as the parties were forced to do in the three PBM bellwethers that failed to implement litigation holds until 2024. The PBMs are prejudiced by Barbour County’s disregard for its most basic discovery obligations as a litigant, compounded by the delay in seeking leave to amend, and Barbour County therefore lacks good cause for leave to amend its complaint. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28 (denying leave to amend in part because the passage of time resulted in significant prejudice due to the loss of documents or records); see also Section III.A.4, above.

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Alabama law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Barbour County's delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs' ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Alabama law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Barbour County, a municipality in Alabama, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Barbour County's proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Barbour County filed its original complaint on February 20, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See Barbour County, Alabama v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45244-DAP, ECF No. 1. It is therefore indisputable that Barbour County knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend. Barbour County's RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO's four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by "discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim" (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Barbour County's request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Public Nuisance Statute of Limitations. In Alabama, public-nuisance claims are subject to a two-year limitations period. Barbour County’s public-nuisance claim against the PBMs is therefore time-barred because Barbour County sought leave to amend its complaint on July 29, 2024—more than six years after filing its original complaint on February 20, 2018—and the proposed amendment does not relate back to the original filing for purposes of the applicable statute of limitations. See Zakora, 44 F.4th at 480 (“This court has repeatedly held that an amendment which adds a new party creates a new cause of action and there is no relation back to the original filing for purposes of limitations.” (cleaned up)).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Barbour County lacks statutory standing to assert a public nuisance claim under Alabama law because it “is clearly not an individual, nor a city, nor the [s]tate,” and thus amendment is futile. Lee County, 2022 WL 450810, at *4 (concluding an Alabama county lacked standing to bring a Ala. Code § 6-5-121 claim); see Section III.B.3, above.

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Barbour County, a municipality in Alabama, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester’s complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

296. Perry County Board of County Commissioners v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45245-DAP: Plaintiff Perry County, Ohio

Perry County’s untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Perry County failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Perry County also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, failure to timely implement a litigation hold, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Perry County’s motion should be denied due to futility, as Perry County does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its proposed public nuisance claim is barred by state law in Ohio, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Perry County was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Perry County amended its complaint on March 11, 2019, after transfer to the MDL on March 9, 2018. See Perry County Board of County Commissioners v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45245-DAP, ECF No. 27. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Perry County declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaint. See Section II.A.1, above. Perry County’s deadline to amend was in 2019. Perry County waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Perry County’s lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order’s deadline because plaintiff “had all the information [she] needed” to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a “wait-and-see approach” instead of timely moving to amend).

Prior Notice Through Counsel. Perry County cannot meet the Rule 16 good cause standard because it is represented by the same counsel—Greene, Ketchum, Farrell, Bailey & Tweel, LLP; Powell & Majestro; Baron & Budd, P.C.; Levin, Papantonio, Thomas, Mitchell, Rafferty & Proctor, P.A.; and McHugh Fuller Law Group, PLLC—that filed claims against the PBMs in 2019. See MDL ECF No. 2582. Perry County, through its counsel, was on notice of potential claims against the PBMs and could readily have amended its complaint to add the PBMs much earlier. Perry County fails to explain why it was unable to assert claims against the PBMs in 2019 when its own attorneys were already asserting those claims on behalf of other clients. See,

e.g., Duggins, 195 F.3d at 834 (affirming denial of leave to amend after the close of discovery when the “plaintiff was obviously aware of the basis of the claim for many months, especially since some underlying facts were made a part of the complaint”); Thurmond, 649 F. App’x at 1006 (affirming denial of leave to amend for undue delay in part because plaintiff’s counsel had access to discovery in related cases and was previously aware of the proposed new defendants’ conduct).

OptumRx’s Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to Perry County’s geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson Decl. (0.03% market share for Perry County). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Perry County to add dispensing claims against OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Failure to Timely Implement a Litigation Hold. Perry County violated its basic duty to implement a timely litigation hold. Perry County filed its original complaint on February 23, 2018, but waited until September 26, 2024 to implement a litigation hold—six years later. See Perry County Board of County Commissioners v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45245-DAP, ECF No. 1; see also ECF No. 5687-1 (Date Litigation Hold Implemented: September 26, 2024). This is a plain violation of this Court’s orders. ECF Nos. 232; 5455. Litigating Perry County’s case would force the parties and the Court to waste time and resources ascertaining the extent of Perry County’s document destruction and the appropriate sanctions—just as the parties were forced to do in the three PBM bellwethers that failed to implement litigation holds until 2024. The PBMs are prejudiced by Perry County’s disregard for its most basic discovery obligations as a litigant, compounded by the delay in seeking leave to amend, and Perry County therefore lacks good cause for leave to amend its complaint. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28 (denying leave to amend in part because the passage of time resulted in significant prejudice due to the loss of documents or records); see also Section III.A.4, above.

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Ohio law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Perry County’s delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs’ ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Ohio law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Perry County, a municipality in Ohio, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

Plaintiff’s Public Nuisance Claim is Futile. Perry County is a plaintiff in Ohio. Perry County’s request for leave to add the PBMs as defendants to a public nuisance claim should be denied as futile because “all common-law public-nuisance claims arising from the sale of a product have been abrogated by the Ohio Product Liability Act.” In re Nat’l Prescription Opiate Litig., 2024 WL 5049302, at *1, 2024-OHIO-5744, ¶ 1; see Section III.B.3, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Perry County’s proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Perry County filed its original complaint on February 23, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See Perry County Board of County Commissioners v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45245-DAP, ECF No. 1. It is therefore indisputable that Perry County knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend. Perry County's RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO's four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by "discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim" (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Perry County's request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Perry County, a municipality in Ohio, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester's complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

297. Bullock County, Alabama v. AmerisourceBergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45246-DAP: Plaintiff Bullock County, Alabama

Bullock County's untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Bullock County failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Bullock County also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, failure to implement a litigation hold, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Bullock County's motion should be denied due to futility, as Bullock County does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its proposed public nuisance claim is barred by the statute of limitations, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Bullock County was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Bullock County amended its complaint on March 6, 2019, after transfer to the MDL on March 9, 2018. See Bullock County, Alabama v. AmerisourceBergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45246-DAP, ECF No. 12. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Bullock County declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaint. See Section II.A.1, above. Bullock County's deadline to amend was in 2019. Bullock County waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Bullock County's lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order's deadline because plaintiff "had all the information [she] needed" to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a "wait-and-see approach" instead of timely moving to amend).

Prior Notice Through Counsel. Bullock County cannot meet the Rule 16 good cause standard because it is represented by the same counsel—Levin, Papantonio, Thomas, Mitchell, Rafferty & Proctor, P.A.—that filed claims against the PBMs in 2019. See MDL ECF No. 2582. Bullock County, through its counsel, was on notice of potential claims against the PBMs and could readily have amended its complaint to add the PBMs much earlier. Bullock County fails to explain why it was unable to assert claims against the PBMs in 2019 when its own attorneys were already asserting those claims on behalf of other clients. See, e.g., Duggins, 195 F.3d at 834 (affirming denial of leave to amend after the close of discovery when the "plaintiff was obviously aware of the basis of the claim for many months, especially since some underlying facts were made a part of the complaint"); Thurmond, 649 F. App'x at 1006 (affirming denial of leave to amend for undue delay in part because plaintiff's counsel had access to discovery in related cases and was previously aware of the proposed new defendants' conduct).

OptumRx's Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to Bullock County's geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson

Decl. (0.04% market share for Bullock County). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Bullock County to add dispensing claims against OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Failure to Implement a Litigation Hold. Bullock County filed its original complaint on February 15, 2018. See Bullock County, Alabama v. AmerisourceBergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45246-DAP, ECF No. 1. Despite filing its case years ago, Bullock County never implemented a litigation hold, in violation of this Court's orders (ECF Nos. 232; 5455). See ECF No. 5687-1 (Date Litigation Hold Implemented: Never). Litigating Bullock County's case would force the parties and the Court to waste time and resources ascertaining the extent of Bullock County's document destruction and the appropriate sanctions—just as the parties were forced to do in the three PBM bellwethers that failed to implement litigation holds until 2024. The PBMs are prejudiced by Bullock County's disregard for its most basic discovery obligations as a litigant, compounded by the delay in seeking leave to amend, and Bullock County therefore lacks good cause for leave to amend its complaint. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28 (denying leave to amend in part because the passage of time resulted in significant prejudice due to the loss of documents or records); see also Section III.A.4, above.

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Alabama law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Bullock County's delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs' ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Alabama law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Bullock County, a municipality in Alabama, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Bullock County’s proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Bullock County filed its original complaint on February 15, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See Bullock County, Alabama v. AmerisourceBergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45246-DAP, ECF No. 1. It is therefore indisputable that Bullock County knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend. Bullock County’s RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO’s four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by “discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim” (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Bullock County’s request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Public Nuisance Statute of Limitations. In Alabama, public-nuisance claims are subject to a two-year limitations period. Bullock County’s public-nuisance claim against the PBMs is therefore time-barred because Bullock County sought leave to amend its complaint on July 29, 2024—more than six years after filing its original complaint on February 15, 2018—and the proposed amendment does not relate back to the original filing for purposes of the applicable statute of limitations. See Zakora, 44 F.4th at 480 (“This court has repeatedly held that an amendment which adds a new party creates a new cause of action and there is no relation back to the original filing for purposes of limitations.” (cleaned up)).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Bullock County lacks statutory standing to assert a public nuisance claim under Alabama law because it “is clearly not an individual, nor a city, nor the [s]tate,” and thus amendment is futile. Lee County, 2022 WL 450810, at *4 (concluding an Alabama county lacked standing to bring a Ala. Code § 6-5-121 claim); see Section III.B.3, above.

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Bullock County, a municipality in Alabama, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester’s complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

298. Clay County, Alabama v. Cardinal Health, Inc. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45248-DAP: Plaintiff Clay County, Alabama

Clay County’s untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Clay County failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Clay County also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, failure to implement a litigation hold, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Clay County’s motion should be denied due to futility, as Clay County does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its proposed public nuisance claim is barred by the statute of limitations, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Clay County was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Clay County amended its complaint on March 15, 2019, after transfer to the MDL on March 9, 2018. See Clay County, Alabama v. Cardinal Health, Inc. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45248-DAP, ECF No. 27. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Clay County declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaint. See Section II.A.1, above. Clay County’s deadline to amend was in 2019. Clay County waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Clay County’s lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order’s deadline because plaintiff “had all the information [she] needed” to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a “wait-and-see approach” instead of timely moving to amend).

OptumRx’s Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to Clay County’s geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson Decl. (0.003% market share for Clay County). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Clay County to add dispensing claims against OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Express Scripts’ Mail Order Pharmacy a Negligible Market Share. Express Scripts’ mail order pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of prescription opioid units shipped to Clay County’s geographic jurisdiction during 2009 to 2019. See DeCarlo Decl., Exhibit C (0.13% market share). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Clay County to add dispensing claims against Express Scripts’ mail order pharmacy entities. See Section III.A.2, above.

Failure to Implement a Litigation Hold. Clay County filed its original complaint on February 19, 2018. See Clay County, Alabama v. Cardinal Health, Inc. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45248-DAP, ECF No. 1. Despite filing its case years ago, Clay County never implemented a litigation hold, in violation of this Court's orders (ECF Nos. 232; 5455). See ECF No. 5687-1 (Date Litigation Hold Implemented: Never). Litigating Clay County's case would force the parties and the Court to waste time and resources ascertaining the extent of Clay County's document destruction and the appropriate sanctions—just as the parties were forced to do in the three PBM bellwethers that failed to implement litigation holds until 2024. The PBMs are prejudiced by Clay County's disregard for its most basic discovery obligations as a litigant, compounded by the delay in seeking leave to amend, and Clay County therefore lacks good cause for leave to amend its complaint. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28 (denying leave to amend in part because the passage of time resulted in significant prejudice due to the loss of documents or records); see also Section III.A.4, above.

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Alabama law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Clay County's delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs' ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Alabama law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Clay County, a municipality in Alabama, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Clay County's proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Clay County filed its original complaint on February 19, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See Clay County, Alabama v. Cardinal Health, Inc. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45248-DAP, ECF No. 1.

It is therefore indisputable that Clay County knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend. Clay County's RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO's four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by "discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim" (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Clay County's request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Public Nuisance Statute of Limitations. In Alabama, public-nuisance claims are subject to a two-year limitations period. Clay County's public-nuisance claim against the PBMs is therefore time-barred because Clay County sought leave to amend its complaint on July 29, 2024—more than six years after filing its original complaint on February 19, 2018—and the proposed amendment does not relate back to the original filing for purposes of the applicable statute of limitations. See Zakora, 44 F.4th at 480 ("This court has repeatedly held that an amendment which adds a new party creates a new cause of action and there is no relation back to the original filing for purposes of limitations." (cleaned up)).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Clay County lacks statutory standing to assert a public nuisance claim under Alabama law because it "is clearly not an individual, nor a city, nor the [s]tate," and thus amendment is futile. Lee County, 2022 WL 450810, at *4 (concluding an Alabama county lacked standing to bring a Ala. Code § 6-5-121 claim); see Section III.B.3, above.

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Clay County, a municipality in Alabama, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester's complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

299. Indiana County, Pennsylvania v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45249-DAP: Plaintiff Indiana County, Pennsylvania

Indiana County's untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Indiana County failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Indiana County also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, failure to timely implement a litigation hold, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Indiana County's motion should be denied due to futility, as Indiana County does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Indiana County was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Indiana County amended its complaint on March 6, 2019, after transfer to the MDL on March 12, 2018. See Indiana County, Pennsylvania v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45249-DAP, ECF No. 6. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Indiana County declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaint. See Section II.A.1, above. Indiana County's deadline to amend was in 2019. Indiana County waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Indiana County's lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order's deadline because plaintiff "had all the information [she] needed" to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a "wait-and-see approach" instead of timely moving to amend).

Prior Notice Through Counsel. Indiana County cannot meet the Rule 16 good cause standard because it is represented by the same counsel—Greene, Ketchum, Farrell, Bailey & Tweel, LLP; Powell & Majestro; Baron & Budd, P.C.; Levin, Papantonio, Thomas, Mitchell, Rafferty & Proctor, P.A.; and McHugh Fuller Law Group, PLLC—that filed claims against the PBMs in 2019. See MDL ECF No. 2582. Indiana County, through its counsel, was on notice of potential claims against the PBMs and could readily have amended its complaint to add the PBMs much earlier. Indiana County fails to explain why it was unable to assert claims against the PBMs in 2019 when its own attorneys were already asserting those claims on behalf of other clients. See, e.g., Duggins, 195 F.3d at 834 (affirming denial of leave to amend after the close of discovery when the “plaintiff was obviously aware of the basis of the claim for many months, especially since some underlying facts were made a part of the complaint”); Thurmond, 649 F. App’x at 1006 (affirming denial of leave to amend for undue delay in part because plaintiff’s counsel had access to discovery in related cases and was previously aware of the proposed new defendants’ conduct).

OptumRx’s Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to Indiana County’s geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson Decl. (0.03% market share for Indiana County). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Indiana County to add dispensing claims against OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Express Scripts’ Mail Order Pharmacy a Negligible Market Share. Express Scripts’ mail order pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of prescription opioid units shipped to Indiana County’s geographic jurisdiction during 2009 to 2019. See DeCarlo Decl., Exhibit C (0.36% market share). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Indiana County to add dispensing claims against Express Scripts’ mail order pharmacy entities. See Section III.A.2, above.

Failure to Timely Implement a Litigation Hold. Indiana County violated its basic duty to implement a timely litigation hold. Indiana County filed its original complaint on February 20, 2018, but waited until September 27, 2018 to implement a litigation hold—seven months later. See Indiana County, Pennsylvania v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45249-DAP, ECF No. 1; see also ECF No. 5687-1 (Date Litigation Hold Implemented: September 27, 2018). This is a plain violation of this Court’s orders. ECF Nos. 232; 5455. Litigating Indiana County’s case would force the parties and the Court to waste time and resources ascertaining the extent of Indiana County’s document destruction and the appropriate sanctions—just as the parties were forced to do in the three PBM bellwethers that failed to implement litigation holds until 2024. The PBMs are prejudiced by Indiana County’s disregard for its most basic discovery obligations as a litigant, compounded by the delay in seeking leave to amend, and Indiana County therefore lacks good cause for leave to amend its complaint. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28 (denying leave to amend in part because the passage of time resulted in significant prejudice due to the loss of documents or records); see also Section III.A.4, above.

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Pennsylvania law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Indiana County’s delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs’ ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Pennsylvania law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Indiana County, a municipality in Pennsylvania, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Indiana County’s proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Indiana County filed its original complaint on February 20, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See Indiana County, Pennsylvania v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45249-DAP, ECF No. 1. It is therefore indisputable that Indiana County knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend. Indiana County’s RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO’s four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by “discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim” (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Indiana County’s request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Indiana County, a municipality in Pennsylvania, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester’s complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

300. Sandusky County Board of Commissioners v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45254-DAP: Plaintiff Sandusky County, Ohio

Sandusky County’s untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Sandusky County failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Sandusky County also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, failure to timely implement a litigation hold, failure to submit a complete plaintiff fact sheet, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Sandusky County's motion should be denied due to futility, as Sandusky County does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its proposed public nuisance claim is barred by state law in Ohio, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Sandusky County was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Sandusky County amended its complaint on March 18, 2019, after transfer to the MDL on March 14, 2018. See Sandusky County Board of Commissioners v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45254-DAP, ECF No. 7. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Sandusky County declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaint. See Section II.A.1, above. Sandusky County's deadline to amend was in 2019. Sandusky County waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Sandusky County's lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order's deadline because plaintiff "had all the information [she] needed" to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a "wait-and-see approach" instead of timely moving to amend).

Furthermore, in 2023, Sandusky County filed a separate complaint in this MDL asserting new claims for public nuisance and negligence against Express Scripts, Inc.; Express Scripts Holding Company, n/k/a Evernorth Health, Inc.; Merck-Medco, n/k/a Medco Health Solutions, Inc.; Medco Health Solutions, Inc.; UnitedHealth Group Incorporated; Optum, Inc.; OptumRx, Inc.; and other defendants. See Cuyahoga County et al. v. Mylan Pharms., Inc. et al., No. 1:23-op-45003 (N.D. Ohio), ECF No. 1. Sandusky County offers no good cause for its failure to bring its proposed claims against all PBMs in the 2023 case, which is still pending. In addition, Sandusky County's improper claim-splitting between these two separate cases in the MDL should be rejected. See Waad, 762 F. App'x at 260–63 (affirming dismissal for improper claim splitting where the plaintiff's claims in a later-filed case were “duplicative of and improperly split” from an earlier-filed case).

Prior Notice Through Counsel. Sandusky County cannot meet the Rule 16 good cause standard because it is represented by the same counsel—Napoli Shkolnik, PLLC—that have been bringing claims against the PBMs since 2019. Sandusky County—through its counsel—was on notice of potential claims against the PBMs and could readily have amended its complaint to add the PBMs much earlier. Sandusky County fails to explain why it was unable to assert claims against the PBMs in 2019 when its own attorneys were already asserting those claims on behalf of other clients. See, e.g., Duggins, 195 F.3d at 834 (affirming denial of leave to amend after the close of discovery when the “plaintiff was obviously aware of the basis of the claim for many months, especially since some underlying facts were made a part of the complaint”); Thurmond, 649 F. App'x at 1006 (affirming denial of leave to amend for undue delay in part because plaintiff's counsel had access to discovery in related cases and was previously aware of the proposed new defendants' conduct).

OptumRx's Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to Sandusky County's geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson Decl. (0.07% market share for Sandusky County). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Sandusky County to add dispensing claims against OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Failure to Timely Implement a Litigation Hold. Sandusky County filed its original complaint on January 28, 2018, but waited until June 11, 2018 to implement a litigation hold. See Sandusky County Board of Commissioners v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45254-DAP, ECF No. 1-3; see also ECF No. 5687-1 (Date Litigation Hold Implemented: June 11, 2018). Sandusky County’s violation of the Court’s orders (ECF Nos. 232; 5455) and disregard for its discovery obligations is prejudicial to the PBMs and weighs heavily against any finding of good cause for leave to amend. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28 (denying leave to amend in part because the passage of time resulted in significant prejudice due to the loss of documents or records); see also Section III.A.4, above.

Failure to Prosecute. In its Plaintiff Fact Sheet, Sandusky County failed to provide complete answers to Questions I.B.8 and I.B.9, relating to Sandusky County’s health plans, carriers, third party administrators, and pharmacy benefit managers throughout the relevant time period. The PBMs notified Sandusky County of this deficiency on September 16, 2024 (see Exhibit B), but Sandusky County refused to amend or supplement its Fact Sheet. Under this Court’s orders, Sandusky County’s case is therefore subject to “dismiss[al] with prejudice” for failure to prosecute. ECF No. 4985 at 1 (emphasis in original); see Section III.A.5, above. Sandusky County’s refusal to provide basic information related to its health care plans prejudices the PBMs’ ability to defend against Sandusky County’s potential claims against them. Sandusky County’s failure to diligently prosecute its case, coupled with the prejudice against the PBMs, negates any finding of good cause and leave to amend should be denied. See Final Amendment Order, ECF No. 5455 at 2 (directing counsel to dismiss, not seek leave to amend, in any case that “plaintiffs’ counsel does not intend to zealously pursue in litigation”); Range, 2017 WL 9477693, at *4 n.6 (denying motion for leave to amend as moot because claims were dismissed for failure to prosecute).

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Ohio law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Sandusky County’s delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs’ ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Ohio law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Sandusky County, a municipality in Ohio, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

Plaintiff’s Public Nuisance Claim is Futile. Sandusky County is a plaintiff in Ohio. Sandusky County’s request for leave to add the PBMs as defendants to a public nuisance claim should be denied as futile because “all common-law public-nuisance claims arising from the sale of a product have been abrogated by the Ohio Product Liability Act.” In re Nat’l Prescription Opiate Litig., 2024 WL 5049302, at *1, 2024-OHIO-5744, ¶ 1; see Section III.B.3, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Sandusky County’s proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Sandusky County filed its original complaint on January 28, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries for which it now seeks to recover under RICO against the PBMs. See Sandusky County Board of Commissioners v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45254-DAP, ECF No. 1-3. Even assuming arguendo that Sandusky County first learned of its injury on the day it filed its original complaint, RICO’s four-year statute of limitations expired, at the very latest, on January 28, 2022. Sandusky County's RICO claim is therefore time-barred. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by "discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim" (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Sandusky County's request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Sandusky County, a municipality in Ohio, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester's complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

301. Sumner County, Tennessee v. Purdue Pharma L.P., et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45255-DAP: Plaintiff Sumner County, Tennessee

Sumner County's untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Sumner County failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Sumner County also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, failure to implement a litigation hold, failure to submit a plaintiff fact sheet, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Sumner County's motion should be denied due to futility, as Sumner County does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Sumner County was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Sumner County filed its original complaint on February 27, 2018 and the case was transferred to the MDL on March 15, 2018. See Sumner County, Tennessee v. Purdue Pharma L.P., et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45255-DAP, ECF No. 26. Sumner County could have amended its complaint, without leave, to add claims against the PBMs in 2019. See Section II.A.1, above. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Sumner County elected not to do so. Instead, Sumner County waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Sumner County's lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order's deadline because plaintiff "had all the information [she] needed" to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a "wait-and-see approach" instead of timely moving to amend).

OptumRx's Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to Sumner County's geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson Decl. (0.03% market share for Sumner County). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Sumner County to add dispensing claims against OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Express Scripts' Mail Order Pharmacy a Negligible Market Share. Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of prescription opioid units shipped to Sumner County's geographic jurisdiction during 2009 to 2019. See DeCarlo Decl., Exhibit C (0.30% market share). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Sumner County to add dispensing claims against Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy entities. See Section III.A.2, above.

Prior Notice as an Express Scripts Client. Sumner County previously entered into a contract with Express Scripts for PBM services related to utilization management and formulary development. See Achter Decl., Exhibit A. That contract notified Sumner County of the PBM services Express Scripts provides and Sumner County began receiving those services on July 26, 2007. See id. Inasmuch as Sumner County seeks to add claims against Express Scripts entities related to utilization management or formulary placement (see, e.g., Rochester Am. Compl. ¶¶ 733, 741, 786–816, 821–22, 845), Sumner County knew or should have known of the alleged wrongful conduct more than ten years before moving to amend. See Section III.A.2, above. Sumner County’s delay in seeking leave to amend negates any finding of good cause for leave to amend. Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (denying motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order’s deadline because plaintiff “had all the information [she] needed” to bring claims before the deadline).

Failure to Implement a Litigation Hold. Sumner County filed its original complaint on February 27, 2018. See Sumner County, Tennessee v. Purdue Pharma L.P., et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45255-DAP, ECF No. 1. Despite filing its case years ago, Sumner County never implemented a litigation hold, in violation of this Court’s orders (ECF Nos. 232; 5455). See ECF No. 5687-1 (Date Litigation Hold Implemented: Never). Litigating Sumner County’s case would force the parties and the Court to waste time and resources ascertaining the extent of Sumner County’s document destruction and the appropriate sanctions—just as the parties were forced to do in the three PBM bellwethers that failed to implement litigation holds until 2024. The PBMs are prejudiced by Sumner County’s disregard for its most basic discovery obligations as a litigant, compounded by the delay in seeking leave to amend, and Sumner County therefore lacks good cause for leave to amend its complaint. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28 (denying leave to amend in part because the passage of time resulted in significant prejudice due to the loss of documents or records); see also Section III.A.4, above.

Failure to Prosecute. Despite the Court's repeated instructions to the contrary, Sumner County has never served a Plaintiff Fact Sheet. Sumner County's case is therefore subject to "dismiss[al] with prejudice" for failure to prosecute. ECF No. 4985 at 1 (emphasis in original); see Section III.A.5, above. Sumner County's failure to diligently prosecute its case negates any finding of good cause and leave to amend should be denied. See Final Amendment Order, ECF No. 5455 at 2 (directing counsel to dismiss, not seek leave to amend, in any case that "plaintiffs' counsel does not intend to zealously pursue in litigation"); Range, 2017 WL 9477693, at *4 n.6 (denying motion for leave to amend as moot because claims were dismissed for failure to prosecute).

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Tennessee law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Sumner County's delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs' ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Tennessee law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Sumner County, a municipality in Tennessee, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Sumner County's proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Sumner County filed its original complaint on February 27, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See Sumner County, Tennessee v. Purdue Pharma L.P., et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45255-DAP, ECF

No. 1. It is therefore indisputable that Sumner County knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend. Sumner County's RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO's four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by "discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim" (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Sumner County's request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Sumner County, a municipality in Tennessee, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester's complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

302. Geauga County Board of County Commissioners v. AmerisourceBergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45256-DAP: Plaintiff Geauga County, Ohio

Geauga County's untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Geauga County failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Geauga County also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, failure to implement a litigation hold, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Geauga County's motion should be denied due to futility, as Geauga County does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its proposed public nuisance claim is barred by state law in Ohio, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Geauga County was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Geauga County amended its complaint on March 14, 2019, after directly filing in the MDL. See

Geauga County Board of County Commissioners v. AmerisourceBergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45256-DAP, ECF No. 30. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Geauga County declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaint. See Section II.A.1, above. Geauga County’s deadline to amend was in 2019. Geauga County waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Geauga County’s lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order’s deadline because plaintiff “had all the information [she] needed” to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a “wait-and-see approach” instead of timely moving to amend).

Prior Notice Through Counsel. Geauga County cannot meet the Rule 16 good cause standard because it is represented by the same counsel—Greene, Ketchum, Farrell, Bailey & Tweel, LLP; Powell & Majestro; Baron & Budd, P.C.; Levin, Papantonio, Thomas, Mitchell, Rafferty & Proctor, P.A.; and McHugh Fuller Law Group, PLLC—that filed claims against the PBMs in 2019. See MDL ECF No. 2582. Geauga County, through its counsel, was on notice of potential claims against the PBMs and could readily have amended its complaint to add the PBMs much earlier. Geauga County fails to explain why it was unable to assert claims against the PBMs in 2019 when its own attorneys were already asserting those claims on behalf of other clients. See, e.g., Duggins, 195 F.3d at 834 (affirming denial of leave to amend after the close of discovery when the “plaintiff was obviously aware of the basis of the claim for many months, especially since some underlying facts were made a part of the complaint”); Thurmond, 649 F. App’x at 1006 (affirming denial of leave to amend for undue delay in part because plaintiff’s counsel had access to discovery in related cases and was previously aware of the proposed new defendants’ conduct).

OptumRx's Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to Geauga County's geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson Decl. (0.19% market share for Geauga County). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Geauga County to add dispensing claims against OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Failure to Implement a Litigation Hold. Geauga County filed its original complaint on March 15, 2018. See Geauga County Board of County Commissioners v. AmerisourceBergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45256-DAP, ECF No. 1. Despite filing its case years ago, Geauga County never implemented a litigation hold, in violation of this Court's orders (ECF Nos. 232; 5455). See ECF No. 5687-1 (Date Litigation Hold Implemented: Never). Litigating Geauga County's case would force the parties and the Court to waste time and resources ascertaining the extent of Geauga County's document destruction and the appropriate sanctions—just as the parties were forced to do in the three PBM bellwethers that failed to implement litigation holds until 2024. The PBMs are prejudiced by Geauga County's disregard for its most basic discovery obligations as a litigant, compounded by the delay in seeking leave to amend, and Geauga County therefore lacks good cause for leave to amend its complaint. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28 (denying leave to amend in part because the passage of time resulted in significant prejudice due to the loss of documents or records); see also Section III.A.4, above.

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Ohio law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Geauga County's delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs' ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Ohio law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Geauga County, a municipality in Ohio, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

Plaintiff's Public Nuisance Claim is Futile. Geauga County is a plaintiff in Ohio. Geauga County's request for leave to add the PBMs as defendants to a public nuisance claim should be denied as futile because "all common-law public-nuisance claims arising from the sale of a product have been abrogated by the Ohio Product Liability Act." In re Nat'l Prescription Opiate Litig., 2024 WL 5049302, at *1, 2024-OHIO-5744, ¶ 1; see Section III.B.3, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Geauga County's proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Geauga County filed its original complaint on March 15, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See Geauga County Board of County Commissioners v. AmerisourceBergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45256-DAP, ECF No. 1. It is therefore indisputable that Geauga County knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend. Geauga County's RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO's four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by "discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim" (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Geauga County's request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Geauga County, a municipality in Ohio, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester’s complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

303. Williams County Board of County Commissioners v. AmerisourceBergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45257-DAP: Plaintiff Williams County, Ohio

Williams County’s untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Williams County failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Williams County also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Williams County’s motion should be denied due to futility, as Williams County does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its proposed public nuisance claim is barred by state law in Ohio, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Williams County was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Williams County amended its complaint on March 11, 2019, after directly filing in the MDL. See Williams County Board of County Commissioners v. AmerisourceBergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45257-DAP, ECF No. 30. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Williams County declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaint. See Section II.A.1, above. Williams County’s deadline to amend was in 2019. Williams County waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Williams County’s lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order’s deadline because plaintiff “had all the information [she] needed” to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704

F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a “wait-and-see approach” instead of timely moving to amend).

Prior Notice Through Counsel. Williams County cannot meet the Rule 16 good cause standard because it is represented by the same counsel—Greene, Ketchum, Farrell, Bailey & Tweel, LLP; Powell & Majestro; Baron & Budd, P.C.; Levin, Papantonio, Thomas, Mitchell, Rafferty & Proctor, P.A.; and McHugh Fuller Law Group, PLLC—that filed claims against the PBMs in 2019. See MDL ECF No. 2582. Williams County, through its counsel, was on notice of potential claims against the PBMs and could readily have amended its complaint to add the PBMs much earlier. Williams County fails to explain why it was unable to assert claims against the PBMs in 2019 when its own attorneys were already asserting those claims on behalf of other clients. See, e.g., Duggins, 195 F.3d at 834 (affirming denial of leave to amend after the close of discovery when the “plaintiff was obviously aware of the basis of the claim for many months, especially since some underlying facts were made a part of the complaint”); Thurmond, 649 F. App’x at 1006 (affirming denial of leave to amend for undue delay in part because plaintiff’s counsel had access to discovery in related cases and was previously aware of the proposed new defendants’ conduct).

OptumRx’s Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to Williams County’s geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson Decl. (0.05% market share for Williams County). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Williams County to add dispensing claims against OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Express Scripts' Mail Order Pharmacy a Negligible Market Share. Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of prescription opioid units shipped to Williams County's geographic jurisdiction during 2009 to 2019. See DeCarlo Decl., Exhibit C (0.46% market share). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Williams County to add dispensing claims against Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy entities. See Section III.A.2, above.

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Ohio law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Williams County's delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs' ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Ohio law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Williams County, a municipality in Ohio, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

Plaintiff's Public Nuisance Claim is Futile. Williams County is a plaintiff in Ohio. Williams County's request for leave to add the PBMs as defendants to a public nuisance claim should be denied as futile because "all common-law public-nuisance claims arising from the sale of a product have been abrogated by the Ohio Product Liability Act." In re Nat'l Prescription Opiate Litig., 2024 WL 5049302, at *1, 2024-OHIO-5744, ¶ 1; see Section III.B.3, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Williams County's proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Williams County filed its original complaint on March 15, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants.

See Williams County Board of County Commissioners v. AmerisourceBergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45257-DAP, ECF No. 1. It is therefore indisputable that Williams County knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend. Williams County's RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO's four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by "discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim" (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Williams County's request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Williams County, a municipality in Ohio, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester's complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

304. Beaufort County v. AmerisourceBergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45261-DAP: Plaintiff Beaufort County, North Carolina

Beaufort County's untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Beaufort County failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Beaufort County also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, failure to implement a litigation hold, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Beaufort County's motion should be denied due to futility, as Beaufort County does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Beaufort County was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Beaufort County amended its complaint on March 11, 2019, after transfer to the MDL on March 22, 2018. See Beaufort County v. AmerisourceBergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45261-DAP, ECF No. 6. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Beaufort County declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaint. See Section II.A.1, above. Beaufort County’s deadline to amend was in 2019. Beaufort County waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Beaufort County’s lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order’s deadline because plaintiff “had all the information [she] needed” to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a “wait-and-see approach” instead of timely moving to amend).

Prior Notice Through Counsel. Beaufort County cannot meet the Rule 16 good cause standard because it is represented by the same counsel—Greene, Ketchum, Farrell, Bailey & Tweel, LLP; Powell & Majestro; Baron & Budd, P.C.; Levin, Papantonio, Thomas, Mitchell, Rafferty & Proctor, P.A.; and McHugh Fuller Law Group, PLLC—that filed claims against the PBMs in 2019. See MDL ECF No. 2582. Beaufort County, through its counsel, was on notice of potential claims against the PBMs and could readily have amended its complaint to add the PBMs much earlier. Beaufort County fails to explain why it was unable to assert claims against the PBMs in 2019 when its own attorneys were already asserting those claims on behalf of other clients. See, e.g., Duggins, 195 F.3d at 834 (affirming denial of leave to amend after the close of discovery when the “plaintiff was obviously aware of the basis of the claim for many months, especially since some underlying facts were made a part of the complaint”); Thurmond, 649 F. App’x at 1006

(affirming denial of leave to amend for undue delay in part because plaintiff's counsel had access to discovery in related cases and was previously aware of the proposed new defendants' conduct).

OptumRx's Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to Beaufort County's geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson Decl. (0.09% market share for Beaufort County). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Beaufort County to add dispensing claims against OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Express Scripts' Mail Order Pharmacy a Negligible Market Share. Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of prescription opioid units shipped to Beaufort County's geographic jurisdiction during 2009 to 2019. See DeCarlo Decl., Exhibit C (0.43% market share). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Beaufort County to add dispensing claims against Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy entities. See Section III.A.2, above.

Failure to Implement a Litigation Hold. Beaufort County filed its original complaint on March 2, 2018. See Beaufort County v. AmerisourceBergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45261-DAP, ECF No. 1. Despite filing its case years ago, Beaufort County never implemented a litigation hold and is instead purporting to rely on non-specific and unidentified document retention laws. See ECF No. 5687-1 (Date Litigation Hold Implemented: *(Never)). This is a plain violation of this Court's orders. ECF Nos. 232; 5455. Litigating Beaufort County's case would force the parties and the Court to waste time and resources ascertaining the extent of Beaufort County's document destruction and the appropriate sanctions—just as the parties were forced to do in the three PBM bellwethers that failed to implement litigation holds until 2024. The PBMs are prejudiced by Beaufort County's disregard for its most basic discovery obligations as a litigant, compounded by the delay in seeking leave to amend, and Beaufort County therefore lacks good cause for leave to amend its complaint. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28 (denying leave to amend in part because the passage of time resulted in significant prejudice due to the loss of documents or records); see also Section III.A.4, above.

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under North Carolina law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Beaufort County's delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs' ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under North Carolina law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Beaufort County, a municipality in North Carolina, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Beaufort County's proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Beaufort County filed its original complaint on March 2, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See Beaufort County v. AmerisourceBergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45261-DAP, ECF No. 1. It is therefore indisputable that Beaufort County knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend. Beaufort County's RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO's four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by “discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim” (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Beaufort County’s request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Beaufort County, a municipality in North Carolina, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester’s complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

305. Caldwell County v. AmerisourceBergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45263-DAP: Plaintiff Caldwell County, North Carolina

Caldwell County’s untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Caldwell County failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Caldwell County also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Caldwell County’s motion should be denied due to futility, as Caldwell County does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Caldwell County was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Caldwell County amended its complaint on March 14, 2019, after transfer to the MDL on March 22, 2018. See Caldwell County v. AmerisourceBergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45263-DAP, ECF No. 6. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Caldwell County declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaint. See Section II.A.1, above. Caldwell County’s deadline to amend was in 2019. Caldwell County waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Caldwell County’s lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order’s deadline because plaintiff “had all the information [she] needed” to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a “wait-and-see approach” instead of timely moving to amend).

Prior Notice Through Counsel. Caldwell County cannot meet the Rule 16 good cause standard because it is represented by the same counsel—Greene, Ketchum, Farrell, Bailey & Tweel, LLP; Powell & Majestro; Baron & Budd, P.C.; Levin, Papantonio, Thomas, Mitchell, Rafferty & Proctor, P.A.; and McHugh Fuller Law Group, PLLC—that filed claims against the PBMs in 2019. See MDL ECF No. 2582. Caldwell County, through its counsel, was on notice of potential claims against the PBMs and could readily have amended its complaint to add the PBMs much earlier. Caldwell County fails to explain why it was unable to assert claims against the PBMs in 2019 when its own attorneys were already asserting those claims on behalf of other clients. See, e.g., Duggins, 195 F.3d at 834 (affirming denial of leave to amend after the close of discovery when the “plaintiff was obviously aware of the basis of the claim for many months, especially since some underlying facts were made a part of the complaint”); Thurmond, 649 F. App’x at 1006 (affirming denial of leave to amend for undue delay in part because plaintiff’s counsel had access to discovery in related cases and was previously aware of the proposed new defendants’ conduct).

OptumRx’s Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to Caldwell County’s geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson Decl. (0.04% market share for Caldwell County). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Caldwell County to add dispensing claims against OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Express Scripts' Mail Order Pharmacy a Negligible Market Share. Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of prescription opioid units shipped to Caldwell County's geographic jurisdiction during 2009 to 2019. See DeCarlo Decl., Exhibit C (0.22% market share). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Caldwell County to add dispensing claims against Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy entities. See Section III.A.2, above.

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under North Carolina law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Caldwell County's delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs' ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under North Carolina law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Caldwell County, a municipality in North Carolina, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Caldwell County's proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Caldwell County filed its original complaint on March 6, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See Caldwell County v. AmerisourceBergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45263-

DAP, ECF No. 1. It is therefore indisputable that Caldwell County knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend. Caldwell County's RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO's four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by "discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim" (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Caldwell County's request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Caldwell County, a municipality in North Carolina, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester's complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

306. Delaware County Board of County Commissioners v. AmerisourceBergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45266-DAP: Plaintiff Delaware County, Ohio

Delaware County's untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Delaware County failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Delaware County also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Delaware County's motion should be denied due to futility, as Delaware County does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its proposed public nuisance claim is barred by state law in Ohio, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Delaware County was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Delaware County amended its complaint on March 15, 2019, after transfer to the MDL on March 22, 2018. See Delaware County Board of County Commissioners v. AmerisourceBergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45266-DAP, ECF No. 23. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Delaware County declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaint. See Section II.A.1, above. Delaware County’s deadline to amend was in 2019. Delaware County waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Delaware County’s lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order’s deadline because plaintiff “had all the information [she] needed” to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a “wait-and-see approach” instead of timely moving to amend).

Prior Notice Through Counsel. Delaware County cannot meet the Rule 16 good cause standard because it is represented by the same counsel—Greene, Ketchum, Farrell, Bailey & Tweel, LLP; Powell & Majestro; Baron & Budd, P.C.; Levin, Papantonio, Thomas, Mitchell, Rafferty & Proctor, P.A.; and McHugh Fuller Law Group, PLLC—that filed claims against the PBMs in 2019. See MDL ECF No. 2582. Delaware County, through its counsel, was on notice of potential claims against the PBMs and could readily have amended its complaint to add the PBMs much earlier. Delaware County fails to explain why it was unable to assert claims against the PBMs in 2019 when its own attorneys were already asserting those claims on behalf of other clients. See, e.g., Duggins, 195 F.3d at 834 (affirming denial of leave to amend after the close of discovery when the “plaintiff was obviously aware of the basis of the claim for many months, especially since some underlying facts were made a part of the complaint”); Thurmond, 649 F. App’x at 1006 (affirming denial of leave to amend for undue delay in part because plaintiff’s counsel had access to discovery in related cases and was previously aware of the proposed new defendants' conduct).

OptumRx's Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to Delaware County's geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson Decl. (0.06% market share for Delaware County). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Delaware County to add dispensing claims against OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Ohio law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Delaware County's delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs' ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Ohio law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Delaware County, a municipality in Ohio, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

Plaintiff's Public Nuisance Claim is Futile. Delaware County is a plaintiff in Ohio. Delaware County's request for leave to add the PBMs as defendants to a public nuisance claim should be denied as futile because "all common-law public-nuisance claims arising from the sale of a product have been abrogated by the Ohio Product Liability Act." In re Nat'l Prescription Opiate Litig., 2024 WL 5049302, at *1, 2024-OHIO-5744, ¶ 1; see Section III.B.3, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Delaware County’s proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Delaware County filed its original complaint on February 28, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See Delaware County Board of County Commissioners v. AmerisourceBergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45266-DAP, ECF No. 1. It is therefore indisputable that Delaware County knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend. Delaware County’s RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO’s four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by “discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim” (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Delaware County’s request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Delaware County, a municipality in Ohio, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester’s complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

307. Chatham County, Georgia v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45267-DAP: Plaintiff Chatham County, Georgia

Chatham County’s untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Chatham County failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Chatham County also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Chatham County’s motion should be denied due to futility, as Chatham County does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Chatham County was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Chatham County first amended its complaint on December 14, 2018. See Chatham County, Georgia v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45267-DAP, ECF No. 25. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Chatham County declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaint. See Section II.A.1, above. Chatham County’s deadline to amend was in 2019. Chatham County waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Chatham County’s lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order’s deadline because plaintiff “had all the information [she] needed” to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a “wait-and-see approach” instead of timely moving to amend).

OptumRx’s Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to Chatham County’s geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson Decl. (0.05% market share for Chatham County). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Chatham County to add dispensing claims against OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Express Scripts’ Mail Order Pharmacy a Negligible Market Share. Express Scripts’ mail order pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of prescription opioid units

shipped to Chatham County's geographic jurisdiction during 2009 to 2019. See DeCarlo Decl., Exhibit C (0.20% market share). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Chatham County to add dispensing claims against Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy entities. See Section III.A.2, above.

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Georgia law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Chatham County's delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs' ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Georgia law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Chatham County, a municipality in Georgia, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Chatham County's proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Chatham County filed its original complaint on March 6, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries for which it now seeks to recover under RICO against the PBMs. See Chatham County, Georgia v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45267-DAP, ECF No. 1. Even assuming arguendo that Chatham County first learned of its injury on the day it filed its original complaint, RICO's four-year statute of limitations expired, at the very latest, on March 6, 2022. Chatham County's RICO claim is therefore time-barred. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by "discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim" (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Chatham County's request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Chatham County, a municipality in Georgia, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester's complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

308. City of Brunswick, Georgia v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45270-DAP: Plaintiff Brunswick City, Georgia Brunswick City's untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Brunswick City failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Brunswick City also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Brunswick City's motion should be denied due to futility, as Brunswick City does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Brunswick City was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Brunswick City filed its original complaint on March 6, 2018 and the case was transferred to the MDL on March 24, 2018. See City of Brunswick, Georgia v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45270-DAP, ECF No. 3. Brunswick City could have amended its complaint, without leave, to add claims against the PBMs in 2019. See Section II.A.1, above. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Brunswick City elected not to do so. Instead, Brunswick City waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Brunswick City's lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order's deadline because plaintiff "had all the information [she] needed" to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a "wait-and-see approach" instead of timely moving to amend).

OptumRx's Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to Brunswick City's geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson Decl. (0.08% market share for Brunswick City). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Brunswick City to add dispensing claims against OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Express Scripts' Mail Order Pharmacy a Negligible Market Share. Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of prescription opioid units shipped to Brunswick City's geographic jurisdiction during 2009 to 2019. See DeCarlo Decl., Exhibit C (0.28% market share). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Brunswick City to add dispensing claims against Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy entities. See Section III.A.2, above.

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Georgia law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Brunswick City's delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs' ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Georgia law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Brunswick City, a municipality in Georgia, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Brunswick City’s proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Brunswick City filed its original complaint on March 6, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries for which it now seeks to recover under RICO against the PBMs. See City of Brunswick, Georgia v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45270-DAP, ECF No. 1. Even assuming arguendo that Brunswick City first learned of its injury on the day it filed its original complaint, RICO’s four-year statute of limitations expired, at the very latest, on March 6, 2022. Brunswick City’s RICO claim is therefore time-barred. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by “discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim” (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Brunswick City’s request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Brunswick City, a municipality in Georgia, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester’s complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

309. Hamilton County Board of County Commissioners v. AmerisourceBergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45272-DAP: Plaintiff Hamilton County, Ohio

Hamilton County’s untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Hamilton County failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Hamilton County also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, failure to implement a litigation hold, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Hamilton County’s motion should be denied due to futility, as Hamilton County does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its proposed public nuisance claim is barred by state law in Ohio, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Hamilton County was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Hamilton County amended its complaint on March 15, 2019, after transfer to the MDL on March 24, 2018. See Hamilton County Board of County Commissioners v. AmerisourceBergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45272-DAP, ECF No. 30. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Hamilton County declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaint. See Section II.A.1, above. Hamilton County’s deadline to amend was in 2019. Hamilton County waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Hamilton County’s lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order’s deadline because plaintiff “had all the information [she] needed” to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a “wait-and-see approach” instead of timely moving to amend).

Prior Notice Through Counsel. Hamilton County cannot meet the Rule 16 good cause standard because it is represented by the same counsel—Greene, Ketchum, Farrell, Bailey & Tweel, LLP; Powell & Majestro; Baron & Budd, P.C.; Levin, Papantonio, Thomas, Mitchell, Rafferty & Proctor, P.A.; and McHugh Fuller Law Group, PLLC—that filed claims against the PBMs in 2019. See MDL ECF No. 2582. Hamilton County, through its counsel, was on notice of potential claims against the PBMs and could readily have amended its complaint to add the PBMs much earlier. Hamilton County fails to explain why it was unable to assert claims against the PBMs

in 2019 when its own attorneys were already asserting those claims on behalf of other clients. See, e.g., Duggins, 195 F.3d at 834 (affirming denial of leave to amend after the close of discovery when the “plaintiff was obviously aware of the basis of the claim for many months, especially since some underlying facts were made a part of the complaint”); Thurmond, 649 F. App’x at 1006 (affirming denial of leave to amend for undue delay in part because plaintiff’s counsel had access to discovery in related cases and was previously aware of the proposed new defendants’ conduct).

OptumRx’s Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to Hamilton County’s geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson Decl. (0.11% market share for Hamilton County). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Hamilton County to add dispensing claims against OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Express Scripts’ Mail Order Pharmacy a Negligible Market Share. Express Scripts’ mail order pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of prescription opioid units shipped to Hamilton County’s geographic jurisdiction during 2009 to 2019. See DeCarlo Decl., Exhibit C (0.35% market share). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Hamilton County to add dispensing claims against Express Scripts’ mail order pharmacy entities. See Section III.A.2, above.

Failure to Implement a Litigation Hold. Hamilton County filed its original complaint on March 1, 2018. See Hamilton County Board of County Commissioners v. AmerisourceBergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45272-DAP, ECF No. 1. Despite filing its case years ago, Hamilton County never implemented a litigation hold and is instead purporting to rely on non-specific and unidentified document retention laws. See ECF No. 5687-1 (Date Litigation Hold Implemented: *(Never)). This is a plain violation of this Court’s orders. ECF Nos. 232; 5455. Litigating Hamilton County’s case would force the parties and the Court to waste time and resources ascertaining the extent of Hamilton County’s document destruction and the appropriate sanctions—just as the parties were forced to do in the three PBM bellwethers that failed to implement litigation holds until 2024. The PBMs are prejudiced by Hamilton County’s disregard for its most basic discovery obligations as a litigant, compounded by the delay in seeking leave to amend, and Hamilton County therefore lacks good cause for leave to amend its complaint. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28 (denying leave to amend in part because the passage of time resulted in significant prejudice due to the loss of documents or records); see also Section III.A.4, above.

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Ohio law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Hamilton County’s delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs’ ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Ohio law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Hamilton County, a municipality in Ohio, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

Plaintiff’s Public Nuisance Claim is Futile. Hamilton County is a plaintiff in Ohio. Hamilton County’s request for leave to add the PBMs as defendants to a public nuisance claim should be denied as futile because “all common-law public-nuisance claims arising from the sale of a product have been abrogated by the Ohio Product Liability Act.” In re Nat’l Prescription Opiate Litig., 2024 WL 5049302, at *1, 2024-OHIO-5744, ¶ 1; see Section III.B.3, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Hamilton County’s proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Hamilton County filed its original complaint on March 1, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See Hamilton County Board of County Commissioners v. AmerisourceBergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45272-DAP, ECF No. 1. It is therefore indisputable that Hamilton County knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend. Hamilton County’s RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO’s four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by “discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim” (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Hamilton County’s request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Hamilton County, a municipality in Ohio, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester’s complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

310. Randolph County v. AmerisourceBergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45275-DAP: Plaintiff Randolph County, North Carolina

Randolph County’s untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Randolph County failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Randolph County also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Randolph County’s motion should be denied due to futility, as Randolph County does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Randolph County was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Randolph County amended its complaint on March 12, 2019, after transfer to the MDL on March 24, 2018. See Randolph County v. AmerisourceBergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45275-DAP, ECF No. 7. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Randolph County declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaint. See Section II.A.1, above. Randolph County’s deadline to amend was in 2019. Randolph County waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Randolph County’s lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order’s deadline because plaintiff “had all the information [she] needed” to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a “wait-and-see approach” instead of timely moving to amend).

Prior Notice Through Counsel. Randolph County cannot meet the Rule 16 good cause standard because it is represented by the same counsel—Greene, Ketchum, Farrell, Bailey & Tweel, LLP; Powell & Majestro; Baron & Budd, P.C.; Levin, Papantonio, Thomas, Mitchell, Rafferty & Proctor, P.A.; and McHugh Fuller Law Group, PLLC—that filed claims against the PBMs in 2019. See MDL ECF No. 2582. Randolph County, through its counsel, was on notice of potential claims against the PBMs and could readily have amended its complaint to add the PBMs much earlier. Randolph County fails to explain why it was unable to assert claims against the PBMs in 2019 when its own attorneys were already asserting those claims on behalf of other clients. See, e.g., Duggins, 195 F.3d at 834 (affirming denial of leave to amend after the close of discovery when the “plaintiff was obviously aware of the basis of the claim for many months, especially since some underlying facts were made a part of the complaint”); Thurmond, 649 F. App’x at 1006 (affirming denial of leave to amend for undue delay in part because plaintiff’s counsel had access to discovery in related cases and was previously aware of the proposed new defendants’ conduct).

OptumRx’s Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to Randolph County’s geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson Decl. (0.09% market share for Randolph County). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Randolph County to add dispensing claims against OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Express Scripts’ Mail Order Pharmacy a Negligible Market Share. Express Scripts’ mail order pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of prescription opioid units shipped to Randolph County’s geographic jurisdiction during 2009 to 2019. See DeCarlo Decl., Exhibit C (0.27% market share). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Randolph County to add dispensing claims against Express Scripts’ mail order pharmacy entities. See Section III.A.2, above.

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under North Carolina law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Randolph County’s delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs’ ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under North Carolina law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Randolph County, a municipality in North Carolina, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Randolph County's proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Randolph County filed its original complaint on March 2, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See Randolph County v. AmerisourceBergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45275-DAP, ECF No. 1. It is therefore indisputable that Randolph County knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend. Randolph County's RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO's four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by "discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim" (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Randolph County's request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Randolph County, a municipality in North Carolina, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester's complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

311. Person County v. AmerisourceBergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45276-DAP: Plaintiff Person County, North Carolina

Person County’s untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Person County failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Person County also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Person County’s motion should be denied due to futility, as Person County does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Person County was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Person County amended its complaint on March 12, 2019, after transfer to the MDL on March 24, 2018. See Person County v. AmerisourceBergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45276-DAP, ECF No. 7. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Person County declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaint. See Section II.A.1, above. Person County’s deadline to amend was in 2019. Person County waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Person County’s lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order’s deadline because plaintiff “had all the information [she] needed” to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a “wait-and-see approach” instead of timely moving to amend).

Prior Notice Through Counsel. Person County cannot meet the Rule 16 good cause standard because it is represented by the same counsel—Greene, Ketchum, Farrell, Bailey & Tweel, LLP; Powell & Majestro; Levin, Papantonio, Thomas, Mitchell, Rafferty & Proctor, P.A.; and McHugh Fuller Law Group, PLLC—that filed claims against the PBMs in 2019. See MDL ECF No. 2582. Person County, through its counsel, was on notice of potential claims against the PBMs and could readily have amended its complaint to add the PBMs much earlier. Person County fails to explain why it was unable to assert claims against the PBMs in 2019 when its own attorneys were already asserting those claims on behalf of other clients. See, e.g., Duggins, 195 F.3d at 834 (affirming denial of leave to amend after the close of discovery when the “plaintiff was obviously aware of the basis of the claim for many months, especially since some underlying facts were made a part of the complaint”); Thurmond, 649 F. App’x at 1006 (affirming denial of leave to amend for undue delay in part because plaintiff’s counsel had access to discovery in related cases and was previously aware of the proposed new defendants’ conduct).

OptumRx’s Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to Person County’s geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson Decl. (0.12% market share for Person County). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Person County to add dispensing claims against OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under North Carolina law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Person County’s delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs’ ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under North Carolina law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Person County, a municipality in North Carolina, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Person County's proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Person County filed its original complaint on March 2, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See Person County v. AmerisourceBergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45276-DAP, ECF No. 1. It is therefore indisputable that Person County knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend. Person County's RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO's four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by "discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim" (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Person County's request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Person County, a municipality in North Carolina, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester's complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

312. Barron County et al. v. Purdue Pharma LP et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45277-DAP: Plaintiff La Crosse County, Wisconsin

La Crosse County's untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. La Crosse County failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. La Crosse County also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, La Crosse County's motion should be denied due to futility, as La Crosse County does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. La Crosse County was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, La Crosse County first amended its complaint on May 25, 2018. See Barron County et al. v. Purdue Pharma LP et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45277-DAP, ECF No. 5. La Crosse County amended its complaint again on March 15, 2019. See Barron County et al. v. Purdue Pharma LP et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45277-DAP, ECF No. 9. Unlike many other plaintiffs, La Crosse County declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaints. See Section II.A.1, above. La Crosse County's deadline to amend was in 2019. La Crosse County waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. La Crosse County's lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order's deadline because plaintiff "had all the information [she] needed" to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a "wait-and-see approach" instead of timely moving to amend).

OptumRx's Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to La Crosse County's geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson Decl. (0.09% market share for La Crosse County). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for La Crosse County to add dispensing claims against

OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Express Scripts' Mail Order Pharmacy a Negligible Market Share. Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of prescription opioid units shipped to La Crosse County's geographic jurisdiction during 2009 to 2019. See DeCarlo Decl., Exhibit C (0.17% market share). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for La Crosse County to add dispensing claims against Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy entities. See Section III.A.2, above.

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Wisconsin law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But La Crosse County's delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs' ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Wisconsin law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. La Crosse County, a municipality in Wisconsin, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for La Crosse County's proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. La Crosse County filed its original complaint on March 7, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See Barron County et al. v. Purdue Pharma LP et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45277-DAP, ECF No. 5. It is therefore indisputable that La Crosse County knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend. La Crosse County's RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO's four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by "discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim" (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. La Crosse County's request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. La Crosse County, a municipality in Wisconsin, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester's complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

313. Barron County et al. v. Purdue Pharma LP et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45277-DAP: Plaintiff Lafayette County, Wisconsin

Lafayette County's untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Lafayette County failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Lafayette County also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, failure to implement a litigation hold, failure to submit a complete plaintiff fact sheet, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Lafayette County's motion should be denied due to futility, as Lafayette County does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Lafayette County was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Lafayette County first amended its complaint on May 25, 2018. See Barron County et al. v. Purdue Pharma LP et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45277-DAP, ECF No. 5. Lafayette County amended its complaint again on March 15, 2019. See Barron County et al. v. Purdue Pharma LP et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45277-DAP, ECF No. 9. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Lafayette County declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaints. See Section II.A.1, above. Lafayette County's deadline to amend was in 2019. Lafayette County waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Lafayette County's lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order's deadline because plaintiff "had all the information [she] needed" to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a "wait-and-see approach" instead of timely moving to amend).

OptumRx's Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to Lafayette County's geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson Decl. (0.08% market share for Lafayette County). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Lafayette County to add dispensing claims against OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Failure to Implement a Litigation Hold. Lafayette County filed its original complaint on March 7, 2018. See Barron County et al. v. Purdue Pharma LP et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45277-DAP, ECF No. 1. Despite filing its case years ago, Lafayette County never implemented a litigation hold and is instead purporting to rely on non-specific and unidentified document retention laws. See ECF No. 5687-1 (Date Litigation Hold Implemented: *(Never)). This is a plain violation of this Court's orders. ECF Nos. 232; 5455. Litigating Lafayette County's case would force the parties and the Court to waste time and resources ascertaining the extent of Lafayette County's document destruction and the appropriate sanctions—just as the parties were forced to do in the three PBM bellwethers that failed to implement litigation holds until 2024. The PBMs are prejudiced by Lafayette County's disregard for its most basic discovery obligations as a litigant, compounded by the delay in seeking leave to amend, and Lafayette County therefore lacks good cause for leave to amend its complaint. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28 (denying leave to amend in part because the passage of time resulted in significant prejudice due to the loss of documents or records); see also Section III.A.4, above.

Failure to Prosecute. In its Plaintiff Fact Sheet, Lafayette County failed to provide complete answers to Questions I.B.8 and I.B.9, relating to Lafayette County's health plans, carriers, third party administrators, and pharmacy benefit managers throughout the relevant time period. The PBMs notified Lafayette County of this deficiency on September 16, 2024 (see Exhibit B), but Lafayette County refused to amend or supplement its Fact Sheet. Under this Court's orders, Lafayette County's case is therefore subject to “dismiss[al] with prejudice” for failure to prosecute. ECF No. 4985 at 1 (emphasis in original); see Section III.A.5, above. Lafayette County's refusal to provide basic information related to its health care plans prejudices the PBMs' ability to defend against Lafayette County's potential claims against them. Lafayette County's failure to diligently prosecute its case, coupled with the prejudice against the PBMs, negates any finding of good cause and leave to amend should be denied. See Final Amendment Order, ECF No. 5455 at 2 (directing counsel to dismiss, not seek leave to amend, in any case that “plaintiffs' counsel does not intend to zealously pursue in litigation”); Range, 2017 WL 9477693, at *4 n.6 (denying motion for leave to amend as moot because claims were dismissed for failure to prosecute).

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Wisconsin law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Lafayette County's delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs' ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Wisconsin law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Lafayette County, a municipality in Wisconsin, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Lafayette County's proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Lafayette County filed its original complaint on March 7, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See Barron County et al. v. Purdue Pharma LP et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45277-DAP, ECF No. 5. It is therefore indisputable that Lafayette County knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend. Lafayette County's RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO's four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by "discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim" (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Lafayette County's request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Lafayette County, a municipality in Wisconsin, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester's complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

314. Barron County et al. v. Purdue Pharma LP et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45277-DAP: Plaintiff Menominee County, Wisconsin

Menominee County's untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Menominee County failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Menominee County also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, failure to implement a litigation hold, failure to submit a complete plaintiff fact sheet, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Menominee County's motion should be denied due to futility, as Menominee County does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Menominee County was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Menominee County first amended its complaint on May 25, 2018. See Barron County et al. v. Purdue Pharma LP et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45277-DAP, ECF No. 5. Menominee County amended its complaint again on March 15, 2019. See Barron County et al. v. Purdue Pharma LP et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45277-DAP, ECF No. 9. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Menominee County declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaints. See Section II.A.1, above. Menominee County's deadline to amend was in 2019. Menominee County waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Menominee County's lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order's deadline because plaintiff “had all the information [she] needed” to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a “wait-and-see approach” instead of timely moving to amend).

Express Scripts’ Mail Order Pharmacy a Negligible Market Share. Express Scripts’ mail order pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of prescription opioid units shipped to Menominee County’s geographic jurisdiction during 2009 to 2019. See DeCarlo Decl., Exhibit C (0.09% market share). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Menominee County to add dispensing claims against Express Scripts’ mail order pharmacy entities. See Section III.A.2, above.

Failure to Implement a Litigation Hold. Menominee County filed its original complaint on March 7, 2018. See Barron County et al. v. Purdue Pharma LP et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45277-DAP, ECF No. 1. Despite filing its case years ago, Menominee County never implemented a litigation hold and is instead purporting to rely on non-specific and unidentified document retention laws. See ECF No. 5687-1 (Date Litigation Hold Implemented: *(Never)). This is a plain violation of this Court’s orders. ECF Nos. 232; 5455. Litigating Menominee County’s case would force the parties and the Court to waste time and resources ascertaining the extent of Menominee County’s document destruction and the appropriate sanctions—just as the parties were forced to do in the three PBM bellwethers that failed to implement litigation holds until 2024. The PBMs are prejudiced by Menominee County’s disregard for its most basic discovery obligations as a litigant, compounded by the delay in seeking leave to amend, and Menominee County therefore lacks good cause for leave to amend its complaint. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28 (denying leave to amend in part because the passage of time resulted in significant prejudice due to the loss of documents or records); see also Section III.A.4, above.

Failure to Prosecute. In its Plaintiff Fact Sheet, Menominee County failed to provide complete answers to Questions I.B.8 and I.B.9, relating to Menominee County’s health plans, carriers, third party administrators, and pharmacy benefit managers throughout the relevant time period. The PBMs notified Menominee County of this deficiency on September 16, 2024 (see Exhibit B), but Menominee County refused to amend or supplement its Fact Sheet. Under this Court’s orders, Menominee County’s case is therefore subject to “dismiss[al] with prejudice” for failure to prosecute. ECF No. 4985 at 1 (emphasis in original); see Section III.A.5, above. Menominee County’s refusal to provide basic information related to its health care plans prejudices the PBMs’ ability to defend against Menominee County’s potential claims against them. Menominee County’s failure to diligently prosecute its case, coupled with the prejudice against the PBMs, negates any finding of good cause and leave to amend should be denied. See Final Amendment Order, ECF No. 5455 at 2 (directing counsel to dismiss, not seek leave to amend, in any case that “plaintiffs’ counsel does not intend to zealously pursue in litigation”); Range, 2017 WL 9477693, at *4 n.6 (denying motion for leave to amend as moot because claims were dismissed for failure to prosecute).

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Wisconsin law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Menominee County’s delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs’ ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Wisconsin law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Menominee County, a municipality in Wisconsin, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Menominee County’s proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Menominee County filed its original complaint on March 7, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See Barron County et al. v. Purdue Pharma LP et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45277-DAP, ECF No. 5. It is therefore indisputable that Menominee County knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend. Menominee County’s RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO’s four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by “discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim” (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Menominee County’s request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Menominee County, a municipality in Wisconsin, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester’s complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

315. City of Rome et al. v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45282-DAP: Plaintiff Ashburn City, Georgia

Ashburn City’s untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Ashburn City failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Ashburn City also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, failure to implement a litigation hold, failure to submit a complete plaintiff fact sheet, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Ashburn City’s motion should be denied due to futility, as Ashburn City does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Ashburn City was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. The original plaintiffs in City of Rome first amended their complaint on March 15, 2019. See City of Rome et al. v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45282-DAP, ECF No. 24. The original plaintiffs amended their complaint again on September 14, 2021, adding Ashburn City (among others) as a plaintiff. See id., ECF No. 44-1. Unlike many other plaintiffs, above, the original plaintiffs declined to add claims against the PBMs in their amended complaints. See Section II.A.1, above. Although Ashburn City was not formally a plaintiff at the time of the first amended complaint, it was “represented by counsel and participating at the time of the original filing,” id., ECF No. 44, so the failure to add claims against the PBMs at the time of the first amended complaint demonstrates its own lack of diligence.

OptumRx’s Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to Ashburn City’s geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson Decl. (0.02% market share for Ashburn City). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Ashburn City to add dispensing claims against OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Express Scripts’ Mail Order Pharmacy a Negligible Market Share. Express Scripts’ mail order pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of prescription opioid units shipped to Ashburn City’s geographic jurisdiction during 2009 to 2019. See DeCarlo Decl., Exhibit

C (0.01% market share). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Ashburn City to add dispensing claims against Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy entities. See Section III.A.2, above.

Failure to Implement a Litigation Hold. Ashburn City filed its original complaint on September 14, 2021. See City of Rome et al. v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45282-DAP, ECF No. 44-1. Despite filing its case years ago, Ashburn City never implemented a litigation hold and is instead purporting to rely on non-specific and unidentified document retention laws. See ECF No. 5687-1 (Date Litigation Hold Implemented: *(Never)). This is a plain violation of this Court's orders. ECF Nos. 232; 5455. Litigating Ashburn City's case would force the parties and the Court to waste time and resources ascertaining the extent of Ashburn City's document destruction and the appropriate sanctions—just as the parties were forced to do in the three PBM bellwethers that failed to implement litigation holds until 2024. The PBMs are prejudiced by Ashburn City's disregard for its most basic discovery obligations as a litigant, compounded by the delay in seeking leave to amend, and Ashburn City therefore lacks good cause for leave to amend its complaint. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28 (denying leave to amend in part because the passage of time resulted in significant prejudice due to the loss of documents or records); see also Section III.A.4, above.

Failure to Prosecute. In its Plaintiff Fact Sheet, Ashburn City failed to provide complete answers to Questions I.B.8 and I.B.9, relating to Ashburn City's health plans, carriers, third party administrators, and pharmacy benefit managers throughout the relevant time period. The PBMs notified Ashburn City of this deficiency on September 16, 2024 (see Exhibit B), but Ashburn City refused to amend or supplement its Fact Sheet. Under this Court's orders, Ashburn City's case is therefore subject to “dismiss[al] with prejudice” for failure to prosecute. ECF No. 4985 at 1

(emphasis in original); see Section III.A.5, above. Ashburn City’s refusal to provide basic information related to its health care plans prejudices the PBMs’ ability to defend against Ashburn City’s potential claims against them. Ashburn City’s failure to diligently prosecute its case, coupled with the prejudice against the PBMs, negates any finding of good cause and leave to amend should be denied. See Final Amendment Order, ECF No. 5455 at 2 (directing counsel to dismiss, not seek leave to amend, in any case that “plaintiffs’ counsel does not intend to zealously pursue in litigation”); Range, 2017 WL 9477693, at *4 n.6 (denying motion for leave to amend as moot because claims were dismissed for failure to prosecute).

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Georgia law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Ashburn City’s delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs’ ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Georgia law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Ashburn City, a municipality in Georgia, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Ashburn City, a municipality in Georgia, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester’s complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

316. City of Rome et al. v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45282-DAP: Plaintiff Calhoun City, Georgia

Calhoun City’s untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Calhoun City failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint.

Calhoun City also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, failure to implement a litigation hold, failure to submit a complete plaintiff fact sheet, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Calhoun City's motion should be denied due to futility, as Calhoun City does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Calhoun City was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. The original plaintiffs in City of Rome first amended their complaint on March 15, 2019. See City of Rome et al. v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45282-DAP, ECF No. 24. The original plaintiffs amended their complaint again on September 14, 2021, adding Calhoun City (among others) as a plaintiff. See id., ECF No. 44-1. Unlike many other plaintiffs, above, the original plaintiffs declined to add claims against the PBMs in their amended complaints. See Section II.A.1, above. Although Calhoun City was not formally a plaintiff at the time of the first amended complaint, it was “represented by counsel and participating at the time of the original filing,” id., ECF No. 44, so the failure to add claims against the PBMs at the time of the first amended complaint demonstrates its own lack of diligence.

OptumRx's Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to Calhoun City's geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson Decl. (0.04% market share for Calhoun City). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Calhoun City to add dispensing claims against OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Express Scripts' Mail Order Pharmacy a Negligible Market Share. Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of prescription opioid units shipped to Calhoun City's geographic jurisdiction during 2009 to 2019. See DeCarlo Decl., Exhibit C (0.13% market share). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Calhoun City to add dispensing claims against Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy entities. See Section III.A.2, above.

Failure to Implement a Litigation Hold. Calhoun City filed its original complaint on September 14, 2021. See City of Rome et al. v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45282-DAP, ECF No. 44-1. Despite filing its case years ago, Calhoun City never implemented a litigation hold and is instead purporting to rely on non-specific and unidentified document retention laws. See ECF No. 5687-1 (Date Litigation Hold Implemented: *(Never)). This is a plain violation of this Court's orders. ECF Nos. 232; 5455. Litigating Calhoun City's case would force the parties and the Court to waste time and resources ascertaining the extent of Calhoun City's document destruction and the appropriate sanctions—just as the parties were forced to do in the three PBM bellwethers that failed to implement litigation holds until 2024. The PBMs are prejudiced by Calhoun City's disregard for its most basic discovery obligations as a litigant, compounded by the delay in seeking leave to amend, and Calhoun City therefore lacks good cause for leave to amend its complaint. See Pethel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28 (denying leave to amend in part because the passage of time resulted in significant prejudice due to the loss of documents or records); see also Section III.A.4, above.

Failure to Prosecute. In its Plaintiff Fact Sheet, Calhoun City failed to provide complete answers to Questions I.B.8 and I.B.9, relating to Calhoun City's health plans, carriers, third party administrators, and pharmacy benefit managers throughout the relevant time period. The PBMs notified Calhoun City of this deficiency on September 16, 2024 (see Exhibit B), but Calhoun City refused to amend or supplement its Fact Sheet. Under this Court’s orders, Calhoun City’s case is therefore subject to “dismiss[al] with prejudice” for failure to prosecute. ECF No. 4985 at 1 (emphasis in original); see Section III.A.5, above. Calhoun City’s refusal to provide basic information related to its health care plans prejudices the PBMs’ ability to defend against Calhoun City’s potential claims against them. Calhoun City’s failure to diligently prosecute its case, coupled with the prejudice against the PBMs, negates any finding of good cause and leave to amend should be denied. See Final Amendment Order, ECF No. 5455 at 2 (directing counsel to dismiss, not seek leave to amend, in any case that “plaintiffs’ counsel does not intend to zealously pursue in litigation”); Range, 2017 WL 9477693, at *4 n.6 (denying motion for leave to amend as moot because claims were dismissed for failure to prosecute).

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Georgia law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Calhoun City’s delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs’ ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Georgia law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Calhoun City, a municipality in Georgia, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Calhoun City, a municipality in Georgia, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester’s complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

317. City of Rome et al. v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45282-DAP: Plaintiff Cartersville City, Georgia

Cartersville City's untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Cartersville City failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Cartersville City also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, failure to implement a litigation hold, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Cartersville City's motion should be denied due to futility, as Cartersville City does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Cartersville City was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Cartersville City amended its complaint on March 15, 2019, after transfer to the MDL on March 24, 2018, as well as on September 14, 2021. See City of Rome et al. v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45282-DAP, ECF Nos. 24, 44-1. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Cartersville City declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaints. See Section II.A.1, above. Cartersville City's deadline to amend was in 2019. Cartersville City waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Cartersville City's lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order's deadline because plaintiff "had all the information [she] needed" to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a "wait-and-see approach" instead of timely moving to amend).

OptumRx's Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to Cartersville City's geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson Decl. (0.05% market share for Cartersville City). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Cartersville City to add dispensing claims against OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Express Scripts' Mail Order Pharmacy a Negligible Market Share. Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of prescription opioid units shipped to Cartersville City's geographic jurisdiction during 2009 to 2019. See DeCarlo Decl., Exhibit C (0.20% market share). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Cartersville City to add dispensing claims against Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy entities. See Section III.A.2, above.

Failure to Implement a Litigation Hold. Cartersville City filed its original complaint on March 2, 2018. See City of Rome et al. v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45282-DAP, ECF No. 1. Despite filing its case years ago, Cartersville City never implemented a litigation hold and is instead purporting to rely on non-specific and unidentified document retention laws. See ECF No. 5687-1 (Date Litigation Hold Implemented: *(Never)). This is a plain violation of this Court's orders. ECF Nos. 232; 5455. Litigating Cartersville City's case would force the parties and the Court to waste time and resources ascertaining the extent of Cartersville City's document destruction and the appropriate sanctions—just as the parties were forced to do in the three PBM bellwethers that failed to implement litigation holds until 2024. The PBMs are prejudiced by Cartersville City's disregard for its most basic discovery obligations as a litigant, compounded by the delay in seeking leave to amend, and Cartersville City therefore lacks good cause for leave to amend its complaint. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28 (denying leave to amend in part because the passage of time resulted in significant prejudice due to the loss of documents or records); see also Section III.A.4, above.

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Georgia law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Cartersville City’s delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs’ ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Georgia law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Cartersville City, a municipality in Georgia, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Cartersville City’s proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Cartersville City filed its original complaint on March 2, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See City of Rome et al. v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45282-DAP, ECF No. 1. It is therefore indisputable that Cartersville City knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend. Cartersville City’s RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO’s four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by “discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim” (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Cartersville City’s request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Cartersville City, a municipality in Georgia, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester’s complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

318. City of Rome et al. v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45282-DAP: Plaintiff Chatsworth City, Georgia

Chatsworth City’s untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Chatsworth City failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Chatsworth City also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, failure to implement a litigation hold, failure to submit a complete plaintiff fact sheet, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Chatsworth City’s motion should be denied due to futility, as Chatsworth City does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Chatsworth City was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. The original plaintiffs in City of Rome first amended their complaint on March 15, 2019. See City of Rome et al. v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45282-DAP, ECF No. 24. The original plaintiffs amended their complaint again on September 14, 2021, adding Chatsworth City (among others) as a plaintiff. See id., ECF No. 44-1. Unlike many other plaintiffs, above, the original plaintiffs declined to add claims against the PBMs in their amended complaints. See Section II.A.1, above. Although Chatsworth City was not formally a plaintiff at the time of the first amended complaint, it was “represented by counsel and participating at the time of the original filing,” id., ECF No. 44, so the failure to add claims against the PBMs at the time of the first amended complaint demonstrates its own lack of diligence.

OptumRx's Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to Chatsworth City's geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson Decl. (0.03% market share for Chatsworth City). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Chatsworth City to add dispensing claims against OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Express Scripts' Mail Order Pharmacy a Negligible Market Share. Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of prescription opioid units shipped to Chatsworth City's geographic jurisdiction during 2009 to 2019. See DeCarlo Decl., Exhibit C (0.22% market share). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Chatsworth City to add dispensing claims against Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy entities. See Section III.A.2, above.

Failure to Implement a Litigation Hold. Chatsworth City filed its original complaint on September 14, 2021. See City of Rome et al. v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45282-DAP, ECF No. 44-1. Despite filing its case years ago, Chatsworth City never implemented a litigation hold and is instead purporting to rely on non-specific and unidentified document retention laws. See ECF No. 5687-1 (Date Litigation Hold Implemented: *(Never)). This is a plain violation of this Court's orders. ECF Nos. 232; 5455. Litigating Chatsworth City's case would force the parties and the Court to waste time and resources ascertaining the extent of Chatsworth City's document destruction and the appropriate sanctions—just as the parties were forced to do in the three PBM bellwethers that failed to implement litigation holds until 2024. The PBMs are prejudiced by Chatsworth City's disregard for its most basic discovery obligations as a litigant, compounded by the delay in seeking leave to amend, and Chatsworth City therefore lacks good cause for leave to amend its complaint. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28 (denying leave to amend in part because the passage of time resulted in significant prejudice due to the loss of documents or records); see also Section III.A.4, above.

Failure to Prosecute. In its Plaintiff Fact Sheet, Chatsworth City failed to provide complete answers to Questions I.B.8 and I.B.9, relating to Chatsworth City's health plans, carriers, third party administrators, and pharmacy benefit managers throughout the relevant time period. The PBMs notified Chatsworth City of this deficiency on September 16, 2024 (see Exhibit B), but Chatsworth City refused to amend or supplement its Fact Sheet. Under this Court's orders, Chatsworth City's case is therefore subject to "dismiss[al] with prejudice" for failure to prosecute. ECF No. 4985 at 1 (emphasis in original); see Section III.A.5, above. Chatsworth City's refusal to provide basic information related to its health care plans prejudices the PBMs' ability to defend against Chatsworth City's potential claims against them. Chatsworth City's failure to diligently prosecute its case, coupled with the prejudice against the PBMs, negates any finding of good cause and leave to amend should be denied. See Final Amendment Order, ECF No. 5455 at 2 (directing counsel to dismiss, not seek leave to amend, in any case that "plaintiffs' counsel does not intend to zealously pursue in litigation"); Range, 2017 WL 9477693, at *4 n.6 (denying motion for leave to amend as moot because claims were dismissed for failure to prosecute).

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Georgia law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Chatsworth City's delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs' ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Georgia law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Chatsworth City, a municipality in Georgia, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Chatsworth City, a municipality in Georgia, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester's complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

319. City of Rome et al. v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45282-DAP: Plaintiff Chattooga County, Georgia

Chattooga County's untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Chattooga County failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Chattooga County also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, failure to implement a litigation hold, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Chattooga County's motion should be denied due to futility, as Chattooga County does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Chattooga County was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Chattooga County amended its complaint on March 15, 2019, after transfer to the MDL on March 24, 2018, as well as on September 14, 2021. See City of Rome et al. v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45282-DAP, ECF Nos. 24, 44-1. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Chattooga County declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaints. See Section II.A.1, above. Chattooga County’s deadline to amend was in 2019. Chattooga County waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Chattooga County’s lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order’s deadline because plaintiff “had all the information [she] needed” to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a “wait-and-see approach” instead of timely moving to amend).

OptumRx’s Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to Chattooga County’s geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson Decl. (0.05% market share for Chattooga County). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Chattooga County to add dispensing claims against OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Failure to Implement a Litigation Hold. Chattooga County filed its original complaint on March 2, 2018. See City of Rome et al. v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45282-DAP, ECF No. 1. Despite filing its case years ago, Chattooga County never implemented a litigation hold and is instead purporting to rely on non-specific and unidentified document retention laws. See ECF No. 5687-1 (Date Litigation Hold Implemented: *(Never)). This is a plain violation of this Court’s orders. ECF Nos. 232; 5455. Litigating Chattooga County’s case would force the parties and the Court to waste time and resources ascertaining the extent of Chattooga County’s document destruction and the appropriate sanctions—just as the parties were forced to do in the three PBM bellwethers that failed to implement litigation holds until 2024. The PBMs are prejudiced by Chattooga County's disregard for its most basic discovery obligations as a litigant, compounded by the delay in seeking leave to amend, and Chattooga County therefore lacks good cause for leave to amend its complaint. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28 (denying leave to amend in part because the passage of time resulted in significant prejudice due to the loss of documents or records); see also Section III.A.4, above.

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Georgia law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Chattooga County's delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs' ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Georgia law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Chattooga County, a municipality in Georgia, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Chattooga County's proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Chattooga County filed its original complaint on March 2, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See City of Rome et al. v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45282-DAP, ECF No. 1. It is therefore indisputable that Chattooga County knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend. Chattooga County's RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO's four-year limitations period. ECF No.

2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by “discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim” (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Chattooga County’s request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Chattooga County, a municipality in Georgia, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester’s complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

320. City of Rome et al. v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45282-DAP: Plaintiff Colquitt County, Georgia

Colquitt County’s untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Colquitt County failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Colquitt County also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, failure to implement a litigation hold, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Colquitt County’s motion should be denied due to futility, as Colquitt County does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Colquitt County was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. The original plaintiffs in City of Rome first amended their complaint on March 15, 2019. See City of Rome et al. v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45282-DAP, ECF No. 24. The original plaintiffs amended their complaint again on September 14, 2021, adding Colquitt County (among others) as a plaintiff. See id., ECF No. 44-1. Unlike many other plaintiffs, above, the original plaintiffs declined to add claims against the PBMs in their amended complaints. See Section II.A.1, above. Although Colquitt County was not formally a plaintiff at the time of the first amended complaint, it was “represented by counsel and participating at the time of the original filing,” id., ECF No. 44, so the failure to add claims against the PBMs at the time of the first amended complaint demonstrates its own lack of diligence.

OptumRx’s Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to Colquitt County’s geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson Decl. (0.07% market share for Colquitt County). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Colquitt County to add dispensing claims against OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Express Scripts’ Mail Order Pharmacy a Negligible Market Share. Express Scripts’ mail order pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of prescription opioid units shipped to Colquitt County’s geographic jurisdiction during 2009 to 2019. See DeCarlo Decl., Exhibit C (0.35% market share). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Colquitt County to add dispensing claims against Express Scripts’ mail order pharmacy entities. See Section III.A.2, above.

Failure to Implement a Litigation Hold. Colquitt County filed its original complaint on September 14, 2021. See City of Rome et al. v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45282-DAP, ECF No. 44-1. Despite filing its case years ago, Colquitt County never implemented a litigation hold and is instead purporting to rely on non-specific and unidentified document retention laws. See ECF No. 5687-1 (Date Litigation Hold Implemented: *(Never)). This is a plain violation of this Court’s orders. ECF Nos. 232; 5455. Litigating Colquitt County’s case would force the parties and the Court to waste time and resources ascertaining the extent of Colquitt County's document destruction and the appropriate sanctions—just as the parties were forced to do in the three PBM bellwethers that failed to implement litigation holds until 2024. The PBMs are prejudiced by Colquitt County's disregard for its most basic discovery obligations as a litigant, compounded by the delay in seeking leave to amend, and Colquitt County therefore lacks good cause for leave to amend its complaint. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28 (denying leave to amend in part because the passage of time resulted in significant prejudice due to the loss of documents or records); see also Section III.A.4, above.

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Georgia law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Colquitt County's delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs' ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Georgia law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Colquitt County, a municipality in Georgia, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Colquitt County, a municipality in Georgia, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester's complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

321. City of Rome et al. v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45282-DAP: Plaintiff Dawsonville City, Georgia

Dawsonville City's untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Dawsonville City failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Dawsonville City also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, failure to implement a litigation hold, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Dawsonville City's motion should be denied due to futility, as Dawsonville City does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Dawsonville City was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. The original plaintiffs in City of Rome first amended their complaint on March 15, 2019. See City of Rome et al. v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45282-DAP, ECF No. 24. The original plaintiffs amended their complaint again on September 14, 2021, adding Dawsonville City (among others) as a plaintiff. See id., ECF No. 44-1. Unlike many other plaintiffs, above, the original plaintiffs declined to add claims against the PBMs in their amended complaints. See Section II.A.1, above. Although Dawsonville City was not formally a plaintiff at the time of the first amended complaint, it was “represented by counsel and participating at the time of the original filing,” id., ECF No. 44, so the failure to add claims against the PBMs at the time of the first amended complaint demonstrates its own lack of diligence.

OptumRx's Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to Dawsonville City's geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson Decl. (0.02% market share for Dawsonville City). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Dawsonville City to add dispensing claims against OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Express Scripts' Mail Order Pharmacy a Negligible Market Share. Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of prescription opioid units shipped to Dawsonville City's geographic jurisdiction during 2009 to 2019. See DeCarlo Decl., Exhibit C (0.26% market share). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Dawsonville City to add dispensing claims against Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy entities. See Section III.A.2, above.

Failure to Implement a Litigation Hold. Dawsonville City filed its original complaint on September 14, 2021. See City of Rome et al. v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45282-DAP, ECF No. 44-1. Despite filing its case years ago, Dawsonville City never implemented a litigation hold and is instead purporting to rely on non-specific and unidentified document retention laws. See ECF No. 5687-1 (Date Litigation Hold Implemented: *(Never)). This is a plain violation of this Court's orders. ECF Nos. 232; 5455. Litigating Dawsonville City's case would force the parties and the Court to waste time and resources ascertaining the extent of Dawsonville City's document destruction and the appropriate sanctions—just as the parties were forced to do in the three PBM bellwethers that failed to implement litigation holds until 2024. The PBMs are prejudiced by Dawsonville City's disregard for its most basic discovery obligations as a litigant, compounded by the delay in seeking leave to amend, and Dawsonville City therefore lacks good cause for leave to amend its complaint. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28 (denying leave to amend in part because the passage of time resulted in significant prejudice due to the loss of documents or records); see also Section III.A.4, above.

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Georgia law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Dawsonville City's delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs' ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Georgia law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Dawsonville City, a municipality in Georgia, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Dawsonville City, a municipality in Georgia, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester's complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

322. City of Rome et al. v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45282-DAP: Plaintiff Floyd County, Georgia

Floyd County's untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Floyd County failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Floyd County also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, failure to implement a litigation hold, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Floyd County's motion should be denied due to futility, as Floyd County does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Floyd County was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Floyd County amended its complaint on March 15, 2019, after transfer to the MDL on March 24, 2018, as well as on September 14, 2021. See City of Rome et al. v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45282-DAP, ECF Nos. 24, 44-1. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Floyd County declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaints. See Section II.A.1, above. Floyd County’s deadline to amend was in 2019. Floyd County waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Floyd County’s lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order’s deadline because plaintiff “had all the information [she] needed” to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a “wait-and-see approach” instead of timely moving to amend).

OptumRx’s Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to Floyd County’s geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson Decl. (0.07% market share for Floyd County). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Floyd County to add dispensing claims against OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Express Scripts’ Mail Order Pharmacy a Negligible Market Share. Express Scripts’ mail order pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of prescription opioid units shipped to Floyd County’s geographic jurisdiction during 2009 to 2019. See DeCarlo Decl., Exhibit C (0.19% market share). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Floyd County to add dispensing claims against Express Scripts’ mail order pharmacy entities. See Section III.A.2, above.

Failure to Implement a Litigation Hold. Floyd County filed its original complaint on March 2, 2018. See City of Rome et al. v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45282-

DAP, ECF No. 1. Despite filing its case years ago, Floyd County never implemented a litigation hold and is instead purporting to rely on non-specific and unidentified document retention laws. See ECF No. 5687-1 (Date Litigation Hold Implemented: *(Never)). This is a plain violation of this Court's orders. ECF Nos. 232; 5455. Litigating Floyd County's case would force the parties and the Court to waste time and resources ascertaining the extent of Floyd County's document destruction and the appropriate sanctions—just as the parties were forced to do in the three PBM bellwethers that failed to implement litigation holds until 2024. The PBMs are prejudiced by Floyd County's disregard for its most basic discovery obligations as a litigant, compounded by the delay in seeking leave to amend, and Floyd County therefore lacks good cause for leave to amend its complaint. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28 (denying leave to amend in part because the passage of time resulted in significant prejudice due to the loss of documents or records); see also Section III.A.4, above.

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Georgia law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Floyd County's delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs' ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Georgia law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Floyd County, a municipality in Georgia, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Floyd County's proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Floyd County filed its original complaint on March 2, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See City of Rome et al. v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45282-DAP, ECF No. 1. It is therefore indisputable that Floyd County knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend. Floyd County's RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO's four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by "discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim" (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Floyd County's request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Floyd County, a municipality in Georgia, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester's complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

323. City of Rome et al. v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45282-DAP: Plaintiff Gordon County, Georgia

Gordon County's untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Gordon County failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Gordon County also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, failure to implement a litigation hold, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Gordon County's motion should be denied due to futility, as Gordon County does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Gordon County was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. The original plaintiffs in City of Rome first amended their complaint on March 15, 2019. See City of Rome et al. v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45282-DAP, ECF No. 24. The original plaintiffs amended their complaint again on September 14, 2021, adding Gordon County (among others) as a plaintiff. See id., ECF No. 44-1. Unlike many other plaintiffs, above, the original plaintiffs declined to add claims against the PBMs in their amended complaints. See Section II.A.1, above. Although Gordon County was not formally a plaintiff at the time of the first amended complaint, it was “represented by counsel and participating at the time of the original filing,” id., ECF No. 44, so the failure to add claims against the PBMs at the time of the first amended complaint demonstrates its own lack of diligence.

OptumRx’s Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to Gordon County’s geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson Decl. (0.06% market share for Gordon County). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Gordon County to add dispensing claims against OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Express Scripts’ Mail Order Pharmacy a Negligible Market Share. Express Scripts’ mail order pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of prescription opioid units shipped to Gordon County’s geographic jurisdiction during 2009 to 2019. See DeCarlo Decl., Exhibit C (0.36% market share). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Gordon County to add dispensing claims against Express Scripts’ mail order pharmacy entities. See Section III.A.2, above.

Failure to Implement a Litigation Hold. Gordon County filed its original complaint on September 14, 2021. See City of Rome et al. v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45282-DAP, ECF No. 44-1. Despite filing its case years ago, Gordon County never implemented a litigation hold and is instead purporting to rely on non-specific and unidentified document retention laws. See ECF No. 5687-1 (Date Litigation Hold Implemented: *(Never)). This is a plain violation of this Court’s orders. ECF Nos. 232; 5455. Litigating Gordon County’s case would force the parties and the Court to waste time and resources ascertaining the extent of Gordon County’s document destruction and the appropriate sanctions—just as the parties were forced to do in the three PBM bellwethers that failed to implement litigation holds until 2024. The PBMs are prejudiced by Gordon County’s disregard for its most basic discovery obligations as a litigant, compounded by the delay in seeking leave to amend, and Gordon County therefore lacks good cause for leave to amend its complaint. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28 (denying leave to amend in part because the passage of time resulted in significant prejudice due to the loss of documents or records); see also Section III.A.4, above.

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Georgia law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Gordon County’s delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs’ ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Georgia law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Gordon County, a municipality in Georgia, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Gordon County, a municipality in Georgia, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester’s complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

324. City of Rome et al. v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45282-DAP: Plaintiff Helen City, Georgia

Helen City’s untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Helen City failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Helen City also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, failure to implement a litigation hold, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Helen City’s motion should be denied due to futility, as Helen City does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Helen City was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. The original plaintiffs in City of Rome first amended their complaint on March 15, 2019. See City of Rome et al. v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45282-DAP, ECF No. 24. The original plaintiffs amended their complaint again on September 14, 2021, adding Helen City (among others) as a plaintiff. See id., ECF No. 44-1. Unlike many other plaintiffs, above, the original plaintiffs declined to add claims against the PBMs in their amended complaints. See Section II.A.1, above. Although Helen City was not formally a plaintiff at the time of the first amended complaint, it was “represented by counsel and participating at the time of the original filing,” id., ECF No. 44, so the failure to add claims against the PBMs at the time of the first amended complaint demonstrates its own lack of diligence.

OptumRx's Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to Helen City's geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson Decl. (0.02% market share for Helen City). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Helen City to add dispensing claims against OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Express Scripts' Mail Order Pharmacy a Negligible Market Share. Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of prescription opioid units shipped to Helen City's geographic jurisdiction during 2009 to 2019. See DeCarlo Decl., Exhibit C (0.07% market share). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Helen City to add dispensing claims against Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy entities. See Section III.A.2, above.

Failure to Implement a Litigation Hold. Helen City filed its original complaint on September 14, 2021. See City of Rome et al. v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45282-DAP, ECF No. 44-1. Despite filing its case years ago, Helen City never implemented a litigation hold and is instead purporting to rely on non-specific and unidentified document retention laws. See ECF No. 5687-1 (Date Litigation Hold Implemented: *(Never)). This is a plain violation of this Court's orders. ECF Nos. 232; 5455. Litigating Helen City's case would force the parties and the Court to waste time and resources ascertaining the extent of Helen City's document destruction and the appropriate sanctions—just as the parties were forced to do in the three PBM bellwethers that failed to implement litigation holds until 2024. The PBMs are prejudiced by Helen City's disregard for its most basic discovery obligations as a litigant, compounded by the delay in seeking leave to amend, and Helen City therefore lacks good cause for leave to amend its complaint. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28 (denying leave to amend in part because the passage of time resulted in significant prejudice due to the loss of documents or records); see also Section III.A.4, above.

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Georgia law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Helen City's delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs' ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Georgia law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Helen City, a municipality in Georgia, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Helen City, a municipality in Georgia, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester's complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

325. City of Rome et al. v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45282-DAP: Plaintiff Jackson City, Georgia

Jackson City's untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Jackson City failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Jackson City also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, failure to implement a litigation hold, failure to submit a complete plaintiff fact sheet, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Jackson City's motion should be denied due to futility, as Jackson City does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Jackson City was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. The original plaintiffs in City of Rome first amended their complaint on March 15, 2019. See City of Rome et al. v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45282-DAP, ECF No. 24. The original plaintiffs amended their complaint again on September 14, 2021, adding Jackson City (among others) as a plaintiff. See id., ECF No. 44-1. Unlike many other plaintiffs, above, the original plaintiffs declined to add claims against the PBMs in their amended complaints. See Section II.A.1, above. Although Jackson City was not formally a plaintiff at the time of the first amended complaint, it was “represented by counsel and participating at the time of the original filing,” id., ECF No. 44, so the failure to add claims against the PBMs at the time of the first amended complaint demonstrates its own lack of diligence.

OptumRx’s Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to Jackson City’s geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson Decl. (0.05% market share for Jackson City). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Jackson City to add dispensing claims against OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Express Scripts’ Mail Order Pharmacy a Negligible Market Share. Express Scripts’ mail order pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of prescription opioid units shipped to Jackson City’s geographic jurisdiction during 2009 to 2019. See DeCarlo Decl., Exhibit C (0.43% market share). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Jackson City to add dispensing claims against Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy entities. See Section III.A.2, above.

Failure to Implement a Litigation Hold. Jackson City filed its original complaint on September 14, 2021. See City of Rome et al. v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45282-DAP, ECF No. 44-1. Despite filing its case years ago, Jackson City never implemented a litigation hold and is instead purporting to rely on non-specific and unidentified document retention laws. See ECF No. 5687-1 (Date Litigation Hold Implemented: *(Never)). This is a plain violation of this Court's orders. ECF Nos. 232; 5455. Litigating Jackson City's case would force the parties and the Court to waste time and resources ascertaining the extent of Jackson City's document destruction and the appropriate sanctions—just as the parties were forced to do in the three PBM bellwethers that failed to implement litigation holds until 2024. The PBMs are prejudiced by Jackson City's disregard for its most basic discovery obligations as a litigant, compounded by the delay in seeking leave to amend, and Jackson City therefore lacks good cause for leave to amend its complaint. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28 (denying leave to amend in part because the passage of time resulted in significant prejudice due to the loss of documents or records); see also Section III.A.4, above.

Failure to Prosecute. In its Plaintiff Fact Sheet, Jackson City failed to provide complete answers to Questions I.B.8 and I.B.9, relating to Jackson City's health plans, carriers, third party administrators, and pharmacy benefit managers throughout the relevant time period. The PBMs notified Jackson City of this deficiency on September 16, 2024 (see Exhibit B), but Jackson City refused to amend or supplement its Fact Sheet. Under this Court's orders, Jackson City's case is therefore subject to “dismiss[al] with prejudice” for failure to prosecute. ECF No. 4985 at 1 (emphasis in original); see Section III.A.5, above. Jackson City's refusal to provide basic information related to its health care plans prejudices the PBMs' ability to defend against Jackson City's potential claims against them. Jackson City's failure to diligently prosecute its case, coupled with the prejudice against the PBMs, negates any finding of good cause and leave to amend should be denied. See Final Amendment Order, ECF No. 5455 at 2 (directing counsel to dismiss, not seek leave to amend, in any case that "plaintiffs' counsel does not intend to zealously pursue in litigation"); Range, 2017 WL 9477693, at *4 n.6 (denying motion for leave to amend as moot because claims were dismissed for failure to prosecute).

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Georgia law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Jackson City's delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs' ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Georgia law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Jackson City, a municipality in Georgia, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Jackson City, a municipality in Georgia, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester's complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

326. City of Rome et al. v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45282-DAP: Plaintiff Marietta City, Georgia

Marietta City's untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Marietta City failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Marietta City also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, failure to implement a litigation hold, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Marietta City's motion should be denied due to futility, as Marietta City does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Marietta City was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. The original plaintiffs in City of Rome first amended their complaint on March 15, 2019. See City of Rome et al. v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45282-DAP, ECF No. 24. The original plaintiffs amended their complaint again on September 14, 2021, adding Marietta City (among others) as a plaintiff. See id., ECF No. 44-1. Unlike many other plaintiffs, above, the original plaintiffs declined to add claims against the PBMs in their amended complaints. See Section II.A.1, above. Although Marietta City was not formally a plaintiff at the time of the first amended complaint, it was “represented by counsel and participating at the time of the original filing,” id., ECF No. 44, so the failure to add claims against the PBMs at the time of the first amended complaint demonstrates its own lack of diligence.

OptumRx's Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to Marietta City's geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson Decl. (0.03% market share for Marietta City). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Marietta City to add dispensing claims against OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Express Scripts' Mail Order Pharmacy a Negligible Market Share. Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of prescription opioid units shipped to Marietta City's geographic jurisdiction during 2009 to 2019. See DeCarlo Decl., Exhibit C (0.31% market share). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Marietta City to add dispensing claims against Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy entities. See Section III.A.2, above.

Failure to Implement a Litigation Hold. Marietta City filed its original complaint on September 14, 2021. See City of Rome et al. v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45282-DAP, ECF No. 44-1. Despite filing its case years ago, Marietta City never implemented a litigation hold and is instead purporting to rely on non-specific and unidentified document retention laws. See ECF No. 5687-1 (Date Litigation Hold Implemented: *(Never)). This is a plain violation of this Court's orders. ECF Nos. 232; 5455. Litigating Marietta City's case would force the parties and the Court to waste time and resources ascertaining the extent of Marietta City's document destruction and the appropriate sanctions—just as the parties were forced to do in the three PBM bellwethers that failed to implement litigation holds until 2024. The PBMs are prejudiced by Marietta City's disregard for its most basic discovery obligations as a litigant, compounded by the delay in seeking leave to amend, and Marietta City therefore lacks good cause for leave to amend its complaint. See Pethel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28 (denying leave to amend in part because the passage of time resulted in significant prejudice due to the loss of documents or records); see also Section III.A.4, above.

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Georgia law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Marietta City's delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs' ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Georgia law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Marietta City, a municipality in Georgia, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

327. City of Rome et al. v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45282-DAP: Plaintiff McDonough City, Georgia

McDonough City’s untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. McDonough City failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. McDonough City also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, failure to implement a litigation hold, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, McDonough City’s motion should be denied due to futility, as McDonough City does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. McDonough City was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. The original plaintiffs in City of Rome first amended their complaint on March 15, 2019. See City of Rome et al. v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45282-DAP, ECF No. 24. The original plaintiffs amended their complaint again on September 14, 2021, adding McDonough City (among others) as a plaintiff. See id., ECF No. 44-1. Unlike many other plaintiffs, above, the original plaintiffs declined to add claims against the PBMs in their amended complaints. See Section II.A.1, above. Although McDonough City was not formally a plaintiff at the time of the first amended complaint, it was “represented by counsel and participating at the time of the original filing,” id., ECF No. 44, so the failure to add claims against the PBMs at the time of the first amended complaint demonstrates its own lack of diligence.

OptumRx's Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to McDonough City's geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson Decl. (0.03% market share for McDonough City). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for McDonough City to add dispensing claims against OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Express Scripts' Mail Order Pharmacy a Negligible Market Share. Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of prescription opioid units shipped to McDonough City's geographic jurisdiction during 2009 to 2019. See DeCarlo Decl., Exhibit C (0.30% market share). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for McDonough City to add dispensing claims against Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy entities. See Section III.A.2, above.

Failure to Implement a Litigation Hold. McDonough City filed its original complaint on September 14, 2021. See City of Rome et al. v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45282-DAP, ECF No. 44-1. Despite filing its case years ago, McDonough City never implemented a litigation hold and is instead purporting to rely on non-specific and unidentified document retention laws. See ECF No. 5687-1 (Date Litigation Hold Implemented: *(Never)). This is a plain violation of this Court's orders. ECF Nos. 232; 5455. Litigating McDonough City's case would force the parties and the Court to waste time and resources ascertaining the extent of McDonough City's document destruction and the appropriate sanctions—just as the parties were forced to do in the three PBM bellwethers that failed to implement litigation holds until 2024. The PBMs are prejudiced by McDonough City's disregard for its most basic discovery obligations as a litigant, compounded by the delay in seeking leave to amend, and McDonough City therefore lacks good cause for leave to amend its complaint. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28 (denying leave to amend in part because the passage of time resulted in significant prejudice due to the loss of documents or records); see also Section III.A.4, above.

Failure to Prosecute. In its Plaintiff Fact Sheet, McDonough City failed to provide complete answers to Questions I.B.8 and I.B.9, relating to McDonough City's health plans, carriers, third party administrators, and pharmacy benefit managers throughout the relevant time period. The PBMs notified McDonough City of this deficiency on September 16, 2024 (see Exhibit B), but McDonough City refused to amend or supplement its Fact Sheet. Under this Court's orders, McDonough City's case is therefore subject to "dismiss[al] with prejudice" for failure to prosecute. ECF No. 4985 at 1 (emphasis in original); see Section III.A.5, above. McDonough City's refusal to provide basic information related to its health care plans prejudices the PBMs' ability to defend against McDonough City's potential claims against them. McDonough City's failure to diligently prosecute its case, coupled with the prejudice against the PBMs, negates any finding of good cause and leave to amend should be denied. See Final Amendment Order, ECF No. 5455 at 2 (directing counsel to dismiss, not seek leave to amend, in any case that "plaintiffs' counsel does not intend to zealously pursue in litigation"); Range, 2017 WL 9477693, at *4 n.6 (denying motion for leave to amend as moot because claims were dismissed for failure to prosecute).

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Georgia law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But McDonough City's delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs' ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Georgia law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. McDonough City, a municipality in Georgia, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. McDonough City, a municipality in Georgia, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester's complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

328. City of Rome et al. v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45282-DAP: Plaintiff Moultrie City, Georgia

Moultrie City's untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Moultrie City failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Moultrie City also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, failure to implement a litigation hold, failure to submit a complete plaintiff fact sheet, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Moultrie City's motion should be denied due to futility, as Moultrie City does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Moultrie City was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. The original plaintiffs in City of Rome first amended their complaint on March 15, 2019. See City of Rome et al. v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45282-DAP, ECF No. 24. The original plaintiffs amended their complaint again on September 14, 2021, adding Moultrie City (among others) as a plaintiff. See id., ECF No. 44-1. Unlike many other plaintiffs, the original plaintiffs declined to add claims against the PBMs in their amended complaints. See Section II.A.1, above. Although Moultrie City was not formally a plaintiff at the time of the first amended complaint, it was “represented by counsel and participating at the time of the original filing,” id., ECF No. 44, so the failure to add claims against the PBMs at the time of the first amended complaint demonstrates its own lack of diligence.

OptumRx’s Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to Moultrie City’s geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson Decl. (0.01% market share for Moultrie City). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Moultrie City to add dispensing claims against OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Express Scripts’ Mail Order Pharmacy a Negligible Market Share. Express Scripts’ mail order pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of prescription opioid units shipped to Moultrie City’s geographic jurisdiction during 2009 to 2019. See DeCarlo Decl., Exhibit C (0.16% market share). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Moultrie City to add dispensing claims against Express Scripts’ mail order pharmacy entities. See Section III.A.2, above.

Failure to Implement a Litigation Hold. Moultrie City filed its original complaint on September 14, 2021. See City of Rome et al. v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45282-DAP, ECF No. 44-1. Despite filing its case years ago, Moultrie City never implemented a litigation hold and is instead purporting to rely on non-specific and unidentified document retention laws. See ECF No. 5687-1 (Date Litigation Hold Implemented: *(Never)). This is a plain violation of this Court’s orders. ECF Nos. 232; 5455. Litigating Moultrie City’s case would force the parties and the Court to waste time and resources ascertaining the extent of Moultrie City’s document destruction and the appropriate sanctions—just as the parties were forced to do in the three PBM bellwethers that failed to implement litigation holds until 2024. The PBMs are prejudiced by Moultrie City’s disregard for its most basic discovery obligations as a litigant, compounded by the delay in seeking leave to amend, and Moultrie City therefore lacks good cause for leave to amend its complaint. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28 (denying leave to amend in part because the passage of time resulted in significant prejudice due to the loss of documents or records); see also Section III.A.4, above.

Failure to Prosecute. In its Plaintiff Fact Sheet, Moultrie City failed to provide complete answers to Questions I.B.8 and I.B.9, relating to Moultrie City’s health plans, carriers, third party administrators, and pharmacy benefit managers throughout the relevant time period. The PBMs notified Moultrie City of this deficiency on September 16, 2024 (see Exhibit B), but Moultrie City refused to amend or supplement its Fact Sheet. Under this Court’s orders, Moultrie City’s case is therefore subject to “dismiss[al] with prejudice” for failure to prosecute. ECF No. 4985 at 1 (emphasis in original); see Section III.A.5, above. Moultrie City’s refusal to provide basic information related to its health care plans prejudices the PBMs’ ability to defend against Moultrie City’s potential claims against them. Moultrie City’s failure to diligently prosecute its case, coupled with the prejudice against the PBMs, negates any finding of good cause and leave to amend should be denied. See Final Amendment Order, ECF No. 5455 at 2 (directing counsel to dismiss, not seek leave to amend, in any case that “plaintiffs’ counsel does not intend to zealously pursue in litigation”); Range, 2017 WL 9477693, at *4 n.6 (denying motion for leave to amend as moot because claims were dismissed for failure to prosecute).

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Georgia law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Moultrie City’s delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs’ ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Georgia law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Moultrie City, a municipality in Georgia, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Moultrie City, a municipality in Georgia, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester’s complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

329. City of Rome et al. v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45282-DAP: Plaintiff Murray County, Georgia

Murray County’s untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Murray County failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Murray County also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, failure to implement a litigation hold, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Murray County’s motion should be denied due to futility, as Murray County does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Murray County was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. The original plaintiffs in City of Rome first amended their complaint on March 15, 2019. See City of Rome et al. v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45282-DAP, ECF No. 24. The original plaintiffs amended their complaint again on September 14, 2021, adding Murray County (among others) as a plaintiff. See id., ECF No. 44-1. Unlike many other plaintiffs, above, the original plaintiffs declined to add claims against the PBMs in their amended complaints. See Section II.A.1, above. Although Murray County was not formally a plaintiff at the time of the first amended complaint, it was “represented by counsel and participating at the time of the original filing,” id., ECF No. 44, so the failure to add claims against the PBMs at the time of the first amended complaint demonstrates its own lack of diligence.

OptumRx’s Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to Murray County’s geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson Decl. (0.03% market share for Murray County). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Murray County to add dispensing claims against OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Express Scripts’ Mail Order Pharmacy a Negligible Market Share. Express Scripts’ mail order pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of prescription opioid units shipped to Murray County’s geographic jurisdiction during 2009 to 2019. See DeCarlo Decl., Exhibit C (0.22% market share). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Murray County to add dispensing claims against Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy entities. See Section III.A.2, above.

Failure to Implement a Litigation Hold. Murray County filed its original complaint on September 14, 2021. See City of Rome et al. v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45282-DAP, ECF No. 44-1. Despite filing its case years ago, Murray County never implemented a litigation hold and is instead purporting to rely on non-specific and unidentified document retention laws. See ECF No. 5687-1 (Date Litigation Hold Implemented: *(Never)). This is a plain violation of this Court's orders. ECF Nos. 232; 5455. Litigating Murray County's case would force the parties and the Court to waste time and resources ascertaining the extent of Murray County's document destruction and the appropriate sanctions—just as the parties were forced to do in the three PBM bellwethers that failed to implement litigation holds until 2024. The PBMs are prejudiced by Murray County's disregard for its most basic discovery obligations as a litigant, compounded by the delay in seeking leave to amend, and Murray County therefore lacks good cause for leave to amend its complaint. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28 (denying leave to amend in part because the passage of time resulted in significant prejudice due to the loss of documents or records); see also Section III.A.4, above.

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Georgia law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Murray County's delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs' ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Georgia law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Murray County, a municipality in Georgia, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

Impermissible Claim-splitting. Murray County seeks leave to amend to add claims against the PBMs in two cases: City of Rome, et al. v. Purdue Pharma L.P., et al., No. 1:19-op-45282-DAP; and Langford v. Purdue Pharma, L.P. et al., No. 1:19-op-45164-DAP. Murray County’s impermissible claim-splitting is a waste of judicial resources and should be rejected. See Waad, 762 F. App’x at 260–63 (finding no abuse of discretion where district court dismissed plaintiff’s claims for improper claim splitting where the plaintiff’s claims in a later-filed case were “duplicative of and improperly split” from an earlier-filed case); Stripling, 2023 WL 5120238, at *2–4 (dismissing subsequent suit based on the same facts pursuant to the Court’s inherent authority and discretion to manage its own docket). It also demonstrates a fundamental lack of diligence on the part of Plaintiff and the PEC.

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Murray County, a municipality in Georgia, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester’s complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

330. City of Rome et al. v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45282-DAP: Plaintiff Ringgold City, Georgia

Ringgold City’s untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Ringgold City failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Ringgold City also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, failure to implement a litigation hold, failure to submit a complete plaintiff fact sheet, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Ringgold City’s motion should be denied due to futility, as Ringgold City does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Ringgold City was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. The original plaintiffs in City of Rome first amended their complaint on March 15, 2019. See City of Rome et al. v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45282-DAP, ECF No. 24. The original plaintiffs amended their complaint again on September 14, 2021, adding Ringgold City (among others) as a plaintiff. See id., ECF No. 44-1. Unlike many other plaintiffs, above, the original plaintiffs declined to add claims against the PBMs in their amended complaints. See Section II.A.1, above. Although Ringgold City was not formally a plaintiff at the time of the first amended complaint, it was “represented by counsel and participating at the time of the original filing,” id., ECF No. 44, so the failure to add claims against the PBMs at the time of the first amended complaint demonstrates its own lack of diligence.

OptumRx’s Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to Ringgold City’s geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson Decl. (0.12% market share for Ringgold City). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Ringgold City to add dispensing claims against OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Express Scripts’ Mail Order Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. Express Scripts’ mail order pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of prescription opioid units shipped to Ringgold City’s geographic jurisdiction during 2009 to 2019. See DeCarlo Decl., Exhibit C (0.46% market share). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Ringgold City to add dispensing claims against Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy entities. See Section III.A.2, above.

Failure to Implement a Litigation Hold. Ringgold City filed its original complaint on September 14, 2021. See City of Rome et al. v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45282-DAP, ECF No. 44-1. Despite filing its case years ago, Ringgold City never implemented a litigation hold and is instead purporting to rely on non-specific and unidentified document retention laws. See ECF No. 5687-1 (Date Litigation Hold Implemented: *(Never)). This is a plain violation of this Court's orders. ECF Nos. 232; 5455. Litigating Ringgold City's case would force the parties and the Court to waste time and resources ascertaining the extent of Ringgold City's document destruction and the appropriate sanctions—just as the parties were forced to do in the three PBM bellwethers that failed to implement litigation holds until 2024. The PBMs are prejudiced by Ringgold City's disregard for its most basic discovery obligations as a litigant, compounded by the delay in seeking leave to amend, and Ringgold City therefore lacks good cause for leave to amend its complaint. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28 (denying leave to amend in part because the passage of time resulted in significant prejudice due to the loss of documents or records); see also Section III.A.4, above.

Failure to Prosecute. In its Plaintiff Fact Sheet, Ringgold City failed to provide complete answers to Questions I.B.8 and I.B.9, relating to Ringgold City's health plans, carriers, third party administrators, and pharmacy benefit managers throughout the relevant time period. The PBMs notified Ringgold City of this deficiency on September 16, 2024 (see Exhibit B), but Ringgold City refused to amend or supplement its Fact Sheet. Under this Court's orders, Ringgold City's case is therefore subject to “dismiss[al] with prejudice” for failure to prosecute. ECF No. 4985 at 1 (emphasis in original); see Section III.A.5, above. Ringgold City's refusal to provide basic information related to its health care plans prejudices the PBMs' ability to defend against Ringgold City's potential claims against them. Ringgold City's failure to diligently prosecute its case, coupled with the prejudice against the PBMs, negates any finding of good cause and leave to amend should be denied. See Final Amendment Order, ECF No. 5455 at 2 (directing counsel to dismiss, not seek leave to amend, in any case that "plaintiffs' counsel does not intend to zealously pursue in litigation"); Range, 2017 WL 9477693, at *4 n.6 (denying motion for leave to amend as moot because claims were dismissed for failure to prosecute).

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Georgia law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Ringgold City's delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs' ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Georgia law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Ringgold City, a municipality in Georgia, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Ringgold City, a municipality in Georgia, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester's complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

331. City of Rome et al. v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45282-DAP: Plaintiff Rome City, Georgia

Rome City's untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Rome City failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Rome City also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, failure to implement a litigation hold, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Rome City's motion should be denied due to futility, as Rome City does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Rome City was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Rome City amended its complaint on March 15, 2019, after transfer to the MDL on March 24, 2018, as well as on September 14, 2021. See City of Rome et al. v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45282-DAP, ECF Nos. 24, 44-1. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Rome City declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaints. See Section II.A.1, above. Rome City's deadline to amend was in 2019. Rome City waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Rome City's lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order's deadline because plaintiff "had all the information [she] needed" to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a "wait-and-see approach" instead of timely moving to amend).

OptumRx's Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to Rome City's geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson Decl. (0.03% market share for Rome City). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Rome City to add dispensing claims against OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Express Scripts' Mail Order Pharmacy a Negligible Market Share. Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of prescription opioid units shipped to Rome City's geographic jurisdiction during 2009 to 2019. See DeCarlo Decl., Exhibit C (0.15% market share). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Rome City to add dispensing claims against Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy entities. See Section III.A.2, above.

Failure to Implement a Litigation Hold. Rome City filed its original complaint on March 2, 2018. See City of Rome et al. v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45282-DAP, ECF No. 1. Despite filing its case years ago, Rome City never implemented a litigation hold and is instead purporting to rely on non-specific and unidentified document retention laws. See ECF No. 5687-1 (Date Litigation Hold Implemented: *(Never)). This is a plain violation of this Court's orders. ECF Nos. 232; 5455. Litigating Rome City's case would force the parties and the Court to waste time and resources ascertaining the extent of Rome City's document destruction and the appropriate sanctions—just as the parties were forced to do in the three PBM bellwethers that failed to implement litigation holds until 2024. The PBMs are prejudiced by Rome City's disregard for its most basic discovery obligations as a litigant, compounded by the delay in seeking leave to amend, and Rome City therefore lacks good cause for leave to amend its complaint. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28 (denying leave to amend in part because the passage of time resulted in significant prejudice due to the loss of documents or records); see also Section III.A.4, above.

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Georgia law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Rome City's delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs' ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Georgia law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Rome City, a municipality in Georgia, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Rome City's proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Rome City filed its original complaint on March 2, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See City of Rome et al. v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45282-DAP, ECF No. 1. It is therefore indisputable that Rome City knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend. Rome City's RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO's four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by "discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim" (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Rome City's request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Rome City, a municipality in Georgia, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester's complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

332. City of Rome et al. v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45282-DAP: Plaintiff Snellville City, Georgia

Snellville City's untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Snellville City failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint.

Snellville City also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, failure to implement a litigation hold, failure to submit a complete plaintiff fact sheet, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Snellville City's motion should be denied due to futility, as Snellville City does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Snellville City was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. The original plaintiffs in City of Rome first amended their complaint on March 15, 2019. See City of Rome et al. v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45282-DAP, ECF No. 24. The original plaintiffs amended their complaint again on September 14, 2021, adding Snellville City (among others) as a plaintiff. See id., ECF No. 44-1. Unlike many other plaintiffs, above, the original plaintiffs declined to add claims against the PBMs in their amended complaints. See Section II.A.1, above. Although Snellville City was not formally a plaintiff at the time of the first amended complaint, it was “represented by counsel and participating at the time of the original filing,” id., ECF No. 44, so the failure to add claims against the PBMs at the time of the first amended complaint demonstrates its own lack of diligence.

OptumRx's Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to Snellville City's geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson Decl. (0.04% market share for Snellville City). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Snellville City to add dispensing claims against OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Express Scripts' Mail Order Pharmacy a Negligible Market Share. Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of prescription opioid units shipped to Snellville City's geographic jurisdiction during 2009 to 2019. See DeCarlo Decl., Exhibit C (0.24% market share). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Snellville City to add dispensing claims against Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy entities. See Section III.A.2, above.

Failure to Implement a Litigation Hold. Snellville City filed its original complaint on September 14, 2021. See City of Rome et al. v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45282-DAP, ECF No. 44-1. Despite filing its case years ago, Snellville City never implemented a litigation hold and is instead purporting to rely on non-specific and unidentified document retention laws. See ECF No. 5687-1 (Date Litigation Hold Implemented: *(Never)). This is a plain violation of this Court's orders. ECF Nos. 232; 5455. Litigating Snellville City's case would force the parties and the Court to waste time and resources ascertaining the extent of Snellville City's document destruction and the appropriate sanctions—just as the parties were forced to do in the three PBM bellwethers that failed to implement litigation holds until 2024. The PBMs are prejudiced by Snellville City's disregard for its most basic discovery obligations as a litigant, compounded by the delay in seeking leave to amend, and Snellville City therefore lacks good cause for leave to amend its complaint. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28 (denying leave to amend in part because the passage of time resulted in significant prejudice due to the loss of documents or records); see also Section III.A.4, above.

Failure to Prosecute. In its Plaintiff Fact Sheet, Snellville City failed to provide complete answers to Questions I.B.8 and I.B.9, relating to Snellville City's health plans, carriers, third party administrators, and pharmacy benefit managers throughout the relevant time period. The PBMs notified Snellville City of this deficiency on September 16, 2024 (see Exhibit B), but Snellville City refused to amend or supplement its Fact Sheet. Under this Court’s orders, Snellville City’s case is therefore subject to “dismiss[al] with prejudice” for failure to prosecute. ECF No. 4985 at 1 (emphasis in original); see Section III.A.5, above. Snellville City’s refusal to provide basic information related to its health care plans prejudices the PBMs’ ability to defend against Snellville City’s potential claims against them. Snellville City’s failure to diligently prosecute its case, coupled with the prejudice against the PBMs, negates any finding of good cause and leave to amend should be denied. See Final Amendment Order, ECF No. 5455 at 2 (directing counsel to dismiss, not seek leave to amend, in any case that “plaintiffs’ counsel does not intend to zealously pursue in litigation”); Range, 2017 WL 9477693, at *4 n.6 (denying motion for leave to amend as moot because claims were dismissed for failure to prosecute).

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Georgia law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Snellville City’s delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs’ ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Georgia law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Snellville City, a municipality in Georgia, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Snellville City, a municipality in Georgia, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester’s complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

333. City of Rome et al. v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45282-DAP: Plaintiff Telfair County, Georgia

Telfair County's untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Telfair County failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Telfair County also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, failure to implement a litigation hold, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Telfair County's motion should be denied due to futility, as Telfair County does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Telfair County was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. The original plaintiffs in City of Rome first amended their complaint on March 15, 2019. See City of Rome et al. v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45282-DAP, ECF No. 24. The original plaintiffs amended their complaint again on September 14, 2021, adding Telfair County (among others) as a plaintiff. See id., ECF No. 44-1. Unlike many other plaintiffs, above, the original plaintiffs declined to add claims against the PBMs in their amended complaints. See Section II.A.1, above. Although Telfair County was not formally a plaintiff at the time of the first amended complaint, it was "represented by counsel and participating at the time of the original filing," id., ECF No. 44, so the failure to add claims against the PBMs at the time of the first amended complaint demonstrates its own lack of diligence.

OptumRx's Home-Delivery Pharmacy Had Zero Dispenses. OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy did not dispense a single opioid prescription to Telfair County's geographic jurisdiction over the period for which OptumRx has data (2010 to 2019). See Gustafson Decl.. Because OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy "ha[s] no market share, they shouldn't be in the case, period.” ECF No. 3685 at 6:9–14; see Section III.A.2, above. Thus, Telfair County cannot show good cause to add claims against OptumRx in its capacity as a home delivery pharmacy.

Express Scripts’ Mail Order Pharmacy a Negligible Market Share. Express Scripts’ mail order pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of prescription opioid units shipped to Telfair County’s geographic jurisdiction during 2009 to 2019. See DeCarlo Decl., Exhibit C (0.08% market share). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Telfair County to add dispensing claims against Express Scripts’ mail order pharmacy entities. See Section III.A.2, above.

Failure to Implement a Litigation Hold. Telfair County filed its original complaint on September 14, 2021. See City of Rome et al. v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45282-DAP, ECF No. 44-1. Despite filing its case years ago, Telfair County never implemented a litigation hold and is instead purporting to rely on non-specific and unidentified document retention laws. See ECF No. 5687-1 (Date Litigation Hold Implemented: *(Never)). This is a plain violation of this Court’s orders. ECF Nos. 232; 5455. Litigating Telfair County’s case would force the parties and the Court to waste time and resources ascertaining the extent of Telfair County’s document destruction and the appropriate sanctions—just as the parties were forced to do in the three PBM bellwethers that failed to implement litigation holds until 2024. The PBMs are prejudiced by Telfair County’s disregard for its most basic discovery obligations as a litigant, compounded by the delay in seeking leave to amend, and Telfair County therefore lacks good cause for leave to amend its complaint. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28 (denying leave to amend in part because the passage of time resulted in significant prejudice due to the loss of documents or records); see also Section III.A.4, above.

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Georgia law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Telfair County’s delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs’ ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Georgia law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Telfair County, a municipality in Georgia, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

Impermissible Claim-splitting. Telfair County seeks leave to amend to add claims against the PBMs in two cases: City of Rome, et al. v. Purdue Pharma L.P., et al., No. 1:18-op-45282-DAP; and Steverson v. Purdue Pharma L.P., et al., No. 1:19-op-45313-DAP. Telfair County’s impermissible claim-splitting is a waste of judicial resources and should be rejected. See Waad, 762 F. App’x at 260–63 (finding no abuse of discretion where district court dismissed plaintiff’s claims for improper claim splitting where the plaintiff’s claims in a later-filed case were “duplicative of and improperly split” from an earlier-filed case); Stripling, 2023 WL 5120238, at *2–4 (dismissing subsequent suit based on the same facts pursuant to the Court’s inherent authority and discretion to manage its own docket). It also demonstrates a fundamental lack of diligence on the part of Plaintiff and the PEC.

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Telfair County, a municipality in Georgia, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester’s complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

334. City of Rome et al. v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45282-DAP: Plaintiff Valdosta City, Georgia

Valdosta City's untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Valdosta City failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Valdosta City also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, failure to implement a litigation hold, failure to submit a complete plaintiff fact sheet, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Valdosta City's motion should be denied due to futility, as Valdosta City does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Valdosta City was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. The original plaintiffs in City of Rome first amended their complaint on March 15, 2019. See City of Rome et al. v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45282-DAP, ECF No. 24. The original plaintiffs amended their complaint again on September 14, 2021, adding Valdosta City (among others) as a plaintiff. See id., ECF No. 44-1. Unlike many other plaintiffs, above, the original plaintiffs declined to add claims against the PBMs in their amended complaints. See Section II.A.1, above. Although Valdosta City was not formally a plaintiff at the time of the first amended complaint, it was "represented by counsel and participating at the time of the original filing," id., ECF No. 44, so the failure to add claims against the PBMs at the time of the first amended complaint demonstrates its own lack of diligence.

OptumRx's Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to Valdosta City's geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson Decl. (0.01% market share for Valdosta City). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Valdosta City to add dispensing claims against OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Express Scripts' Mail Order Pharmacy a Negligible Market Share. Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of prescription opioid units shipped to Valdosta City's geographic jurisdiction during 2009 to 2019. See DeCarlo Decl., Exhibit C (0.11% market share). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Valdosta City to add dispensing claims against Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy entities. See Section III.A.2, above.

Prior Notice as an Express Scripts Client. Valdosta City previously entered into a contract with Express Scripts for PBM services related to utilization management and formulary development. See Achter Decl., Exhibit A. That contract notified Valdosta City of the PBM services Express Scripts provides and Valdosta City began receiving those services on July 1, 2011. See id. Inasmuch as Valdosta City seeks to add claims against Express Scripts entities related to utilization management or formulary placement (see, e.g., Rochester Am. Compl. ¶¶ 733, 741, 786–816, 821–22, 845), Valdosta City knew or should have known of the alleged wrongful conduct more than ten years before moving to amend. See Section III.A.2, above. Valdosta City's delay in seeking leave to amend negates any finding of good cause for leave to amend. Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (denying motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order's deadline because plaintiff "had all the information [she] needed" to bring claims before the deadline).

Failure to Implement a Litigation Hold. Valdosta City filed its original complaint on September 14, 2021. See City of Rome et al. v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45282-DAP, ECF No. 44-1. Despite filing its case years ago, Valdosta City never implemented a litigation hold and is instead purporting to rely on non-specific and unidentified document retention laws. See ECF No. 5687-1 (Date Litigation Hold Implemented: *(Never)). This is a plain violation of this Court’s orders. ECF Nos. 232; 5455. Litigating Valdosta City’s case would force the parties and the Court to waste time and resources ascertaining the extent of Valdosta City’s document destruction and the appropriate sanctions—just as the parties were forced to do in the three PBM bellwethers that failed to implement litigation holds until 2024. The PBMs are prejudiced by Valdosta City’s disregard for its most basic discovery obligations as a litigant, compounded by the delay in seeking leave to amend, and Valdosta City therefore lacks good cause for leave to amend its complaint. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28 (denying leave to amend in part because the passage of time resulted in significant prejudice due to the loss of documents or records); see also Section III.A.4, above.

Failure to Prosecute. In its Plaintiff Fact Sheet, Valdosta City failed to provide complete answers to Questions I.B.8 and I.B.9, relating to Valdosta City’s health plans, carriers, third party administrators, and pharmacy benefit managers throughout the relevant time period. The PBMs notified Valdosta City of this deficiency on September 16, 2024 (see Exhibit B), but Valdosta City refused to amend or supplement its Fact Sheet. Under this Court’s orders, Valdosta City’s case is therefore subject to “dismiss[al] with prejudice” for failure to prosecute. ECF No. 4985 at 1 (emphasis in original); see Section III.A.5, above. Valdosta City’s refusal to provide basic information related to its health care plans prejudices the PBMs’ ability to defend against Valdosta City’s potential claims against them. Valdosta City’s failure to diligently prosecute its case, coupled with the prejudice against the PBMs, negates any finding of good cause and leave to amend should be denied. See Final Amendment Order, ECF No. 5455 at 2 (directing counsel to dismiss, not seek leave to amend, in any case that “plaintiffs’ counsel does not intend to zealously pursue in litigation”); Range, 2017 WL 9477693, at *4 n.6 (denying motion for leave to amend as moot because claims were dismissed for failure to prosecute).

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Georgia law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Valdosta City’s delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs’ ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Georgia law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Valdosta City, a municipality in Georgia, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Valdosta City, a municipality in Georgia, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester’s complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

335. City of Rome et al. v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45282-DAP: Plaintiff Villa Rica City, Georgia

Villa Rica City’s untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Villa Rica City failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Villa Rica City also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, failure to implement a litigation hold, failure to submit a complete plaintiff fact sheet, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Villa Rica City’s motion should be denied due to futility, as Villa Rica City does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Villa Rica City was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. The original plaintiffs in City of Rome first amended their complaint on March 15, 2019. See City of Rome et al. v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45282-DAP, ECF No. 24. The original plaintiffs amended their complaint again on September 14, 2021, adding Villa Rica City (among others) as a plaintiff. See id., ECF No. 44-1. Unlike many other plaintiffs, above, the original plaintiffs declined to add claims against the PBMs in their amended complaints. See Section II.A.1, above. Although Villa Rica City was not formally a plaintiff at the time of the first amended complaint, it was “represented by counsel and participating at the time of the original filing,” id., ECF No. 44, so the failure to add claims against the PBMs at the time of the first amended complaint demonstrates its own lack of diligence.

OptumRx’s Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to Villa Rica City’s geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson Decl. (0.07% market share for Villa Rica City). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Villa Rica City to add dispensing claims against OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Express Scripts’ Mail Order Pharmacy a Negligible Market Share. Express Scripts’ mail order pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of prescription opioid units shipped to Villa Rica City’s geographic jurisdiction during 2009 to 2019. See DeCarlo Decl., Exhibit C (0.31% market share). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Villa Rica City to add dispensing claims against Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy entities. See Section III.A.2, above.

Failure to Implement a Litigation Hold. Villa Rica City filed its original complaint on September 14, 2021. See City of Rome et al. v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45282-DAP, ECF No. 44-1. Despite filing its case years ago, Villa Rica City never implemented a litigation hold and is instead purporting to rely on non-specific and unidentified document retention laws. See ECF No. 5687-1 (Date Litigation Hold Implemented: *(Never)). This is a plain violation of this Court's orders. ECF Nos. 232; 5455. Litigating Villa Rica City's case would force the parties and the Court to waste time and resources ascertaining the extent of Villa Rica City's document destruction and the appropriate sanctions—just as the parties were forced to do in the three PBM bellwethers that failed to implement litigation holds until 2024. The PBMs are prejudiced by Villa Rica City's disregard for its most basic discovery obligations as a litigant, compounded by the delay in seeking leave to amend, and Villa Rica City therefore lacks good cause for leave to amend its complaint. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28 (denying leave to amend in part because the passage of time resulted in significant prejudice due to the loss of documents or records); see also Section III.A.4, above.

Failure to Prosecute. In its Plaintiff Fact Sheet, Villa Rica City failed to provide complete answers to Questions I.B.8 and I.B.9, relating to Villa Rica City's health plans, carriers, third party administrators, and pharmacy benefit managers throughout the relevant time period. The PBMs notified Villa Rica City of this deficiency on September 16, 2024 (see Exhibit B), but Villa Rica City refused to amend or supplement its Fact Sheet. Under this Court's orders, Villa Rica City's case is therefore subject to “dismiss[al] with prejudice” for failure to prosecute. ECF No. 4985 at 1 (emphasis in original); see Section III.A.5, above. Villa Rica City's refusal to provide basic information related to its health care plans prejudices the PBMs' ability to defend against Villa Rica City's potential claims against them. Villa Rica City's failure to diligently prosecute its case, coupled with the prejudice against the PBMs, negates any finding of good cause and leave to amend should be denied. See Final Amendment Order, ECF No. 5455 at 2 (directing counsel to dismiss, not seek leave to amend, in any case that "plaintiffs' counsel does not intend to zealously pursue in litigation"); Range, 2017 WL 9477693, at *4 n.6 (denying motion for leave to amend as moot because claims were dismissed for failure to prosecute).

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Georgia law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Villa Rica City's delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs' ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Georgia law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Villa Rica City, a municipality in Georgia, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Villa Rica City, a municipality in Georgia, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester's complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

336. City of Rome et al. v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45282-DAP: Plaintiff Whitfield County, Georgia

Whitfield County's untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Whitfield County failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Whitfield County also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, failure to implement a litigation hold, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Whitfield County's motion should be denied due to futility, as Whitfield County does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Whitfield County was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above.

Lack of Diligence. Whitfield County amended its complaint on March 15, 2019, after transfer to the MDL on March 24, 2018, as well as on September 14, 2021. See City of Rome et al. v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45282-DAP, ECF Nos. 24, 44-1. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Whitfield County declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaints. See Section II.A.1, above. Whitfield County's deadline to amend was in 2019. Whitfield County waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Whitfield County's lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order's deadline because plaintiff "had all the information [she] needed" to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a "wait-and-see approach" instead of timely moving to amend).

OptumRx's Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to Whitfield County's geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson Decl. (0.06% market share for Whitfield County). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Whitfield County to add dispensing claims against OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Express Scripts' Mail Order Pharmacy a Negligible Market Share. Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of prescription opioid units shipped to Whitfield County's geographic jurisdiction during 2009 to 2019. See DeCarlo Decl., Exhibit C (0.16% market share). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Whitfield County to add dispensing claims against Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy entities. See Section III.A.2, above.

Failure to Implement a Litigation Hold. Whitfield County filed its original complaint on March 2, 2018. See City of Rome et al. v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45282-DAP, ECF No. 1. Despite filing its case years ago, Whitfield County never implemented a litigation hold and is instead purporting to rely on non-specific and unidentified document retention laws. See ECF No. 5687-1 (Date Litigation Hold Implemented: *(Never)). This is a plain violation of this Court's orders. ECF Nos. 232; 5455. Litigating Whitfield County's case would force the parties and the Court to waste time and resources ascertaining the extent of Whitfield County's document destruction and the appropriate sanctions—just as the parties were forced to do in the three PBM bellwethers that failed to implement litigation holds until 2024. The PBMs are prejudiced by Whitfield County's disregard for its most basic discovery obligations as a litigant, compounded by the delay in seeking leave to amend, and Whitfield County therefore lacks good cause for leave to amend its complaint. See Pethel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28 (denying leave to amend in part because the passage of time resulted in significant prejudice due to the loss of documents or records); see also Section III.A.4, above.

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Georgia law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Whitfield County's delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs' ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Georgia law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Whitfield County, a municipality in Georgia, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Whitfield County's proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Whitfield County filed its original complaint on March 2, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See City of Rome et al. v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45282-DAP, ECF No. 1. It is therefore indisputable that Whitfield County knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend. Whitfield County's RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO's four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by "discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim" (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Whitfield County's request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Whitfield County, a municipality in Georgia, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester's complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

337. City of Rome et al. v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45282-DAP: Plaintiff Winder City, Georgia

Winder City's untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Winder City failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Winder City also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, failure to implement a litigation hold, failure to submit a complete plaintiff fact sheet, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Winder City's motion should be denied due to futility, as Winder City does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Winder City was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. The original plaintiffs in City of Rome first amended their complaint on March 15, 2019. See City of Rome et al. v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45282-DAP, ECF No. 24. The original plaintiffs amended their complaint again on September 14, 2021, adding Winder City (among others) as a plaintiff. See id., ECF No. 44-1. Unlike many other plaintiffs, above, the original plaintiffs declined to add claims against the PBMs in their amended complaints. See Section II.A.1, above. Although Winder City was not formally a plaintiff at the time of the first amended complaint, it was "represented by counsel and participating at the time of the original filing," id., ECF No. 44, so the failure to add claims against the PBMs at the time of the first amended complaint demonstrates its own lack of diligence.

OptumRx's Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to Winder City's geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson Decl. (0.06% market share for Winder City). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Winder City to add dispensing claims against OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Express Scripts' Mail Order Pharmacy a Negligible Market Share. Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of prescription opioid units shipped to Winder City's geographic jurisdiction during 2009 to 2019. See DeCarlo Decl., Exhibit C (0.26% market share). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Winder City to add dispensing claims against Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy entities. See Section III.A.2, above.

Failure to Implement a Litigation Hold. Winder City filed its original complaint on September 14, 2021. See City of Rome et al. v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45282-DAP, ECF No. 44-1. Despite filing its case years ago, Winder City never implemented a litigation hold and is instead purporting to rely on non-specific and unidentified document retention laws. See ECF No. 5687-1 (Date Litigation Hold Implemented: *(Never)). This is a plain violation of this Court's orders. ECF Nos. 232; 5455. Litigating Winder City's case would force the parties and the Court to waste time and resources ascertaining the extent of Winder City's document destruction and the appropriate sanctions—just as the parties were forced to do in the three PBM bellwethers that failed to implement litigation holds until 2024. The PBMs are prejudiced by Winder City's disregard for its most basic discovery obligations as a litigant, compounded by the delay in seeking leave to amend, and Winder City therefore lacks good cause for leave to amend its complaint. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28 (denying leave to amend in part because the passage of time resulted in significant prejudice due to the loss of documents or records); see also Section III.A.4, above.

Failure to Prosecute. In its Plaintiff Fact Sheet, Winder City failed to provide complete answers to Questions I.B.8 and I.B.9, relating to Winder City’s health plans, carriers, third party administrators, and pharmacy benefit managers throughout the relevant time period. The PBMs notified Winder City of this deficiency on September 16, 2024 (see Exhibit B), but Winder City refused to amend or supplement its Fact Sheet. Under this Court’s orders, Winder City’s case is therefore subject to “dismiss[al] with prejudice” for failure to prosecute. ECF No. 4985 at 1 (emphasis in original); see Section III.A.5, above. Winder City’s refusal to provide basic information related to its health care plans prejudices the PBMs’ ability to defend against Winder City’s potential claims against them. Winder City’s failure to diligently prosecute its case, coupled with the prejudice against the PBMs, negates any finding of good cause and leave to amend should be denied. See Final Amendment Order, ECF No. 5455 at 2 (directing counsel to dismiss, not seek leave to amend, in any case that “plaintiffs’ counsel does not intend to zealously pursue in litigation”); Range, 2017 WL 9477693, at *4 n.6 (denying motion for leave to amend as moot because claims were dismissed for failure to prosecute).

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Georgia law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Winder City’s delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs’ ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Georgia law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Winder City, a municipality in Georgia, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Winder City, a municipality in Georgia, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester's complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

338. City of Rome et al. v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45282-DAP: Plaintiff Woodstock City, Georgia

Woodstock City's untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Woodstock City failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Woodstock City also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, failure to implement a litigation hold, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Woodstock City's motion should be denied due to futility, as Woodstock City does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Woodstock City was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. The original plaintiffs in City of Rome first amended their complaint on March 15, 2019. See City of Rome et al. v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45282-DAP, ECF No. 24. The original plaintiffs amended their complaint again on September 14, 2021, adding Woodstock City (among others) as a plaintiff. See id., ECF No. 44-1. Unlike many other plaintiffs, above, the original plaintiffs declined to add claims against the PBMs in their amended complaints. See Section II.A.1, above. Although Woodstock City was not formally a plaintiff at the time of the first amended complaint, it was “represented by counsel and participating at the time of the original filing,” id., ECF No. 44, so the failure to add claims against the PBMs at the time of the first amended complaint demonstrates its own lack of diligence.

OptumRx’s Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to Woodstock City’s geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson Decl. (0.04% market share for Woodstock City). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Woodstock City to add dispensing claims against OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Express Scripts’ Mail Order Pharmacy a Negligible Market Share. Express Scripts’ mail order pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of prescription opioid units shipped to Woodstock City’s geographic jurisdiction during 2009 to 2019. See DeCarlo Decl., Exhibit C (0.38% market share). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Woodstock City to add dispensing claims against Express Scripts’ mail order pharmacy entities. See Section III.A.2, above.

Failure to Implement a Litigation Hold. Woodstock City filed its original complaint on September 14, 2021. See City of Rome et al. v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45282-DAP, ECF No. 44-1. Despite filing its case years ago, Woodstock City never implemented a litigation hold and is instead purporting to rely on non-specific and unidentified document retention laws. See ECF No. 5687-1 (Date Litigation Hold Implemented: *(Never)). This is a plain violation of this Court’s orders. ECF Nos. 232; 5455. Litigating Woodstock City’s case would force the parties and the Court to waste time and resources ascertaining the extent of Woodstock City's document destruction and the appropriate sanctions—just as the parties were forced to do in the three PBM bellwethers that failed to implement litigation holds until 2024. The PBMs are prejudiced by Woodstock City's disregard for its most basic discovery obligations as a litigant, compounded by the delay in seeking leave to amend, and Woodstock City therefore lacks good cause for leave to amend its complaint. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28 (denying leave to amend in part because the passage of time resulted in significant prejudice due to the loss of documents or records); see also Section III.A.4, above.

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Georgia law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Woodstock City's delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs' ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Georgia law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Woodstock City, a municipality in Georgia, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Woodstock City, a municipality in Georgia, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester's complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

339. Bacon County Hospital Foundation, Inc. v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45285-DAP: Plaintiff Bacon County (GA) Hospital Authority, Georgia

Bacon County (GA) Hospital Authority's untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Bacon County (GA) Hospital Authority failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Bacon County (GA) Hospital Authority also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Bacon County (GA) Hospital Authority's motion should be denied due to futility, as Bacon County (GA) Hospital Authority does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Bacon County (GA) Hospital Authority was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Bacon County (GA) Hospital Authority filed its original complaint on March 9, 2018 and the case was transferred to the MDL on March 27, 2018. See Bacon County Hospital Foundation, Inc. v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45285-DAP, ECF No. 4. Bacon County (GA) Hospital Authority could have amended its complaint, without leave, to add claims against the PBMs in 2019. See Section II.A.1, above. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Bacon County (GA) Hospital Authority elected not to do so. Instead, Bacon County (GA) Hospital Authority waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Bacon County (GA) Hospital Authority's lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order's deadline because plaintiff "had all the information [she] needed" to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a "wait-and-see approach" instead of timely moving to amend).

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Georgia law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Bacon County (GA) Hospital Authority's delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs' ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Georgia law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Bacon County (GA) Hospital Authority, a hospital in Georgia, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

Plaintiff is Not a Party. Bacon County (GA) Hospital Authority seeks leave to amend the complaint in Bacon County Hospital Foundation, Inc. v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45285-DAP, but Bacon County (GA) Hospital Authority is not a named plaintiff in that case. Because Bacon County (GA) Hospital Authority has not submitted any proposed complaint and is not a plaintiff in the existing case, Bacon County (GA) Hospital Authority has not pleaded any facts establishing injury to Bacon County (GA) Hospital Authority and its request for leave to amend should be denied as futile. See Stuebing Automatic Mach. Co. v. Gavronsky, 2016 WL 7365093, at *2 (S.D. Ohio Dec. 19, 2016), report and recommendation adopted, 2017 WL 999247 (S.D. Ohio Mar. 15, 2017) (denying leave to amend where counterclaim plaintiff failed to set forth facts showing a cognizable injury).

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Bacon County (GA) Hospital Authority's proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Bacon County (GA) Hospital Authority filed its original complaint on March 9, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries for which it now seeks to recover under RICO against the PBMs. See Bacon County Hospital Foundation, Inc. v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45285-DAP, ECF No. 1. Even assuming arguendo that Bacon County (GA) Hospital Authority first learned of its injury on the day it filed its original complaint, RICO's four-year statute of limitations expired, at the very latest, on March 9, 2022. Bacon County (GA) Hospital Authority's RICO claim is therefore time-barred. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by "discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim" (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Bacon County (GA) Hospital Authority's request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Bacon County (GA) Hospital Authority, a hospital in Georgia, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester's complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

340. Crawford County Board of County Commissioners v. AmerisourceBergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45288-DAP: Plaintiff Crawford County, Ohio

Crawford County's untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Crawford County failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Crawford County also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Crawford County's motion should be denied due to futility, as Crawford County does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its proposed public nuisance claim is barred by state law in Ohio, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Crawford County was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Crawford County amended its complaint on March 12, 2019, after directly filing in the MDL. See Crawford County Board of County Commissioners v. AmerisourceBergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45288-DAP, ECF No. 29. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Crawford County declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaint. See Section II.A.1, above. Crawford County’s deadline to amend was in 2019. Crawford County waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Crawford County’s lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order’s deadline because plaintiff “had all the information [she] needed” to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a “wait-and-see approach” instead of timely moving to amend).

Prior Notice Through Counsel. Crawford County cannot meet the Rule 16 good cause standard because it is represented by the same counsel—Greene, Ketchum, Farrell, Bailey & Tweel, LLP; Powell & Majestro; Baron & Budd, P.C.; Levin, Papantonio, Thomas, Mitchell, Rafferty & Proctor, P.A.; and McHugh Fuller Law Group, PLLC—that filed claims against the PBMs in 2019. See MDL ECF No. 2582. Crawford County, through its counsel, was on notice of potential claims against the PBMs and could readily have amended its complaint to add the PBMs much earlier. Crawford County fails to explain why it was unable to assert claims against the PBMs in 2019 when its own attorneys were already asserting those claims on behalf of other clients. See, e.g., Duggins, 195 F.3d at 834 (affirming denial of leave to amend after the close of discovery when the “plaintiff was obviously aware of the basis of the claim for many months, especially since some underlying facts were made a part of the complaint”); Thurmond, 649 F. App’x at 1006 (affirming denial of leave to amend for undue delay in part because plaintiff’s counsel had access to discovery in related cases and was previously aware of the proposed new defendants’ conduct).

OptumRx's Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to Crawford County's geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson Decl. (0.07% market share for Crawford County). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Crawford County to add dispensing claims against OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Ohio law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Crawford County's delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs' ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Ohio law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Crawford County, a municipality in Ohio, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

Plaintiff's Public Nuisance Claim is Futile. Crawford County is a plaintiff in Ohio. Crawford County's request for leave to add the PBMs as defendants to a public nuisance claim should be denied as futile because "all common-law public-nuisance claims arising from the sale of a product have been abrogated by the Ohio Product Liability Act." In re Nat'l Prescription Opiate Litig., 2024 WL 5049302, at *1, 2024-OHIO-5744, ¶ 1; see Section III.B.3, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Crawford County's proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Crawford County filed its original complaint on March 15, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See Crawford County Board of County Commissioners v. AmerisourceBergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45288-DAP, ECF No. 1. It is therefore indisputable that Crawford County knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend. Crawford County's RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO's four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by "discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim" (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Crawford County's request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Crawford County, a municipality in Ohio, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester's complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

341. Columbiana County Board of County Commissioners v. AmerisourceBergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45289-DAP: Plaintiff Columbiana County, Ohio

Columbiana County's untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Columbiana County failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Columbiana County also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Columbiana County's motion should be denied due to futility, as Columbiana County does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its proposed public nuisance claim is barred by state law in Ohio, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Columbiana County was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Columbiana County amended its complaint on March 13, 2019, after directly filing in the MDL. See Columbiana County Board of County Commissioners v. AmerisourceBergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45289-DAP, ECF No. 28. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Columbiana County declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaint. See Section II.A.1, above. Columbiana County’s deadline to amend was in 2019. Columbiana County waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Columbiana County’s lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order’s deadline because plaintiff “had all the information [she] needed” to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a “wait-and-see approach” instead of timely moving to amend).

Prior Notice Through Counsel. Columbiana County cannot meet the Rule 16 good cause standard because it is represented by the same counsel—Greene, Ketchum, Farrell, Bailey & Tweel, LLP; Powell & Majestro; Baron & Budd, P.C.; Levin, Papantonio, Thomas, Mitchell, Rafferty & Proctor, P.A.; and McHugh Fuller Law Group, PLLC—that filed claims against the PBMs in 2019. See MDL ECF No. 2582. Columbiana County, through its counsel, was on notice of potential claims against the PBMs and could readily have amended its complaint to add the PBMs much earlier. Columbiana County fails to explain why it was unable to assert claims against the PBMs in 2019 when its own attorneys were already asserting those claims on behalf of other clients. See, e.g., Duggins, 195 F.3d at 834 (affirming denial of leave to amend after the close of discovery when the “plaintiff was obviously aware of the basis of the claim for many months, especially since some underlying facts were made a part of the complaint”); Thurmond, 649 F. App’x at 1006 (affirming denial of leave to amend for undue delay in part because plaintiff’s counsel had access to discovery in related cases and was previously aware of the proposed new defendants’ conduct).

OptumRx’s Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to Columbiana County’s geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson Decl. (0.15% market share for Columbiana County). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Columbiana County to add dispensing claims against OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Ohio law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Columbiana County’s delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs’ ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Ohio law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Columbiana County, a municipality in Ohio, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

Plaintiff’s Public Nuisance Claim is Futile. Columbiana County is a plaintiff in Ohio. Columbiana County’s request for leave to add the PBMs as defendants to a public nuisance claim should be denied as futile because “all common-law public-nuisance claims arising from the sale of a product have been abrogated by the Ohio Product Liability Act.” In re Nat’l Prescription Opiate Litig., 2024 WL 5049302, at *1, 2024-OHIO-5744, ¶ 1; see Section III.B.3, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Columbiana County’s proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Columbiana County filed its original complaint on March 15, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See Columbiana County Board of County Commissioners v. AmerisourceBergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45289-DAP, ECF No. 1. It is therefore indisputable that Columbiana County knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend. Columbiana County’s RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO’s four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by “discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim” (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Columbiana County’s request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Columbiana County, a municipality in Ohio, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester’s complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

342. Seneca County Board of County Commissioners v. AmerisourceBergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45290-DAP: Plaintiff Seneca County, Ohio

Seneca County’s untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Seneca County failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Seneca County also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Seneca County's motion should be denied due to futility, as Seneca County does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its proposed public nuisance claim is barred by state law in Ohio, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Seneca County was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Seneca County amended its complaint on March 14, 2019, after directly filing in the MDL. See Seneca County Board of County Commissioners v. AmerisourceBergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45290-DAP, ECF No. 28. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Seneca County declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaint. See Section II.A.1, above. Seneca County's deadline to amend was in 2019. Seneca County waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Seneca County's lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order's deadline because plaintiff "had all the information [she] needed" to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a "wait-and-see approach" instead of timely moving to amend).

Prior Notice Through Counsel. Seneca County cannot meet the Rule 16 good cause standard because it is represented by the same counsel—Greene, Ketchum, Farrell, Bailey & Tweel, LLP; Powell & Majestro; Baron & Budd, P.C.; Levin, Papantonio, Thomas, Mitchell, Rafferty & Proctor, P.A.; and McHugh Fuller Law Group, PLLC—that filed claims against the PBMs in 2019. See MDL ECF No. 2582. Seneca County, through its counsel, was on notice of potential claims against the PBMs and could readily have amended its complaint to add the PBMs much earlier. Seneca County fails to explain why it was unable to assert claims against the PBMs in 2019 when its own attorneys were already asserting those claims on behalf of other clients. See, e.g., Duggins, 195 F.3d at 834 (affirming denial of leave to amend after the close of discovery when the “plaintiff was obviously aware of the basis of the claim for many months, especially since some underlying facts were made a part of the complaint”); Thurmond, 649 F. App’x at 1006 (affirming denial of leave to amend for undue delay in part because plaintiff’s counsel had access to discovery in related cases and was previously aware of the proposed new defendants’ conduct).

OptumRx’s Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to Seneca County’s geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson Decl. (0.11% market share for Seneca County). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Seneca County to add dispensing claims against OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Prior Notice as an Express Scripts Client. Seneca County previously entered into a contract with Express Scripts for PBM services related to utilization management and formulary development. See Achter Decl., Exhibit A. That contract notified Seneca County of the PBM services Express Scripts provides and Seneca County began receiving those services on December 1, 2008. See id. Inasmuch as Seneca County seeks to add claims against Express Scripts entities related to utilization management or formulary placement (see, e.g., Rochester Am. Compl. ¶¶ 733, 741, 786–816, 821–22, 845), Seneca County knew or should have known of the alleged wrongful conduct more than ten years before moving to amend. See Section III.A.2, above. Seneca County's delay in seeking leave to amend negates any finding of good cause for leave to amend. Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (denying motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order's deadline because plaintiff "had all the information [she] needed" to bring claims before the deadline).

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Ohio law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Seneca County's delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs' ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Ohio law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Seneca County, a municipality in Ohio, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

Plaintiff's Public Nuisance Claim is Futile. Seneca County is a plaintiff in Ohio. Seneca County's request for leave to add the PBMs as defendants to a public nuisance claim should be denied as futile because "all common-law public-nuisance claims arising from the sale of a product have been abrogated by the Ohio Product Liability Act." In re Nat'l Prescription Opiate Litig., 2024 WL 5049302, at *1, 2024-OHIO-5744, ¶ 1; see Section III.B.3, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Seneca County's proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Seneca County filed its original complaint on March 15, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See Seneca County Board of County Commissioners v. AmerisourceBergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45290-DAP, ECF No. 1. It is therefore indisputable that Seneca County knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend. Seneca County's RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO's four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by "discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim" (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Seneca County's request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Seneca County, a municipality in Ohio, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester's complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

343. Erie County Board of County Commissioners v. AmerisourceBergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45291-DAP: Plaintiff Erie County, Ohio

Erie County's untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Erie County failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Erie County also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Erie County's motion should be denied due to futility, as Erie County does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its proposed public nuisance claim is barred by state law in Ohio, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Erie County was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Erie County amended its complaint on March 13, 2019, after directly filing in the MDL. See Erie County Board of County Commissioners v. AmerisourceBergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No.

1:18-op-45291-DAP, ECF No. 29. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Erie County declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaint. See Section II.A.1, above. Erie County’s deadline to amend was in 2019. Erie County waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Erie County’s lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order’s deadline because plaintiff “had all the information [she] needed” to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a “wait-and-see approach” instead of timely moving to amend).

Prior Notice Through Counsel. Erie County cannot meet the Rule 16 good cause standard because it is represented by the same counsel—Greene, Ketchum, Farrell, Bailey & Tweel, LLP; Powell & Majestro; Baron & Budd, P.C.; Levin, Papantonio, Thomas, Mitchell, Rafferty & Proctor, P.A.; and McHugh Fuller Law Group, PLLC—that filed claims against the PBMs in 2019. See MDL ECF No. 2582. Erie County, through its counsel, was on notice of potential claims against the PBMs and could readily have amended its complaint to add the PBMs much earlier. Erie County fails to explain why it was unable to assert claims against the PBMs in 2019 when its own attorneys were already asserting those claims on behalf of other clients. See, e.g., Duggins, 195 F.3d at 834 (affirming denial of leave to amend after the close of discovery when the “plaintiff was obviously aware of the basis of the claim for many months, especially since some underlying facts were made a part of the complaint”); Thurmond, 649 F. App’x at 1006 (affirming denial of leave to amend for undue delay in part because plaintiff’s counsel had access to discovery in related cases and was previously aware of the proposed new defendants’ conduct).

OptumRx's Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to Erie County's geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson Decl. (0.17% market share for Erie County). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Erie County to add dispensing claims against OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Ohio law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Erie County's delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs' ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Ohio law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Erie County, a municipality in Ohio, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

Plaintiff's Public Nuisance Claim is Futile. Erie County is a plaintiff in Ohio. Erie County's request for leave to add the PBMs as defendants to a public nuisance claim should be denied as futile because "all common-law public-nuisance claims arising from the sale of a product have been abrogated by the Ohio Product Liability Act." In re Nat'l Prescription Opiate Litig., 2024 WL 5049302, at *1, 2024-OHIO-5744, ¶ 1; see Section III.B.3, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Erie County's proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Erie County filed its original complaint on March 15, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See Erie

County Board of County Commissioners v. AmerisourceBergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45291-DAP, ECF No. 1. It is therefore indisputable that Erie County knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend. Erie County's RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO's four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by "discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim" (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Erie County's request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Erie County, a municipality in Ohio, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester's complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

344. Huron County Board of County Commissioners v. AmerisourceBergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45292-DAP: Plaintiff Huron County, Ohio

Huron County's untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Huron County failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Huron County also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, failure to implement a litigation hold, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Huron County's motion should be denied due to futility, as Huron County does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its proposed public nuisance claim is barred by state law in Ohio, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Huron County was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Huron County amended its complaint on March 6, 2019, after directly filing in the MDL. See Huron County Board of County Commissioners v. AmerisourceBergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45292-DAP, ECF No. 28. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Huron County declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaint. See Section II.A.1, above. Huron County’s deadline to amend was in 2019. Huron County waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Huron County’s lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order’s deadline because plaintiff “had all the information [she] needed” to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a “wait-and-see approach” instead of timely moving to amend).

Prior Notice Through Counsel. Huron County cannot meet the Rule 16 good cause standard because it is represented by the same counsel—Greene, Ketchum, Farrell, Bailey & Tweel, LLP; Powell & Majestro; Baron & Budd, P.C.; Levin, Papantonio, Thomas, Mitchell, Rafferty & Proctor, P.A.; and McHugh Fuller Law Group, PLLC—that filed claims against the PBMs in 2019. See MDL ECF No. 2582. Huron County, through its counsel, was on notice of potential claims against the PBMs and could readily have amended its complaint to add the PBMs much earlier. Huron County fails to explain why it was unable to assert claims against the PBMs in 2019 when its own attorneys were already asserting those claims on behalf of other clients. See, e.g., Duggins, 195 F.3d at 834 (affirming denial of leave to amend after the close of discovery when the “plaintiff was obviously aware of the basis of the claim for many months, especially since some underlying facts were made a part of the complaint”); Thurmond, 649 F. App’x at 1006

(affirming denial of leave to amend for undue delay in part because plaintiff's counsel had access to discovery in related cases and was previously aware of the proposed new defendants' conduct).

OptumRx's Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to Huron County's geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson Decl. (0.07% market share for Huron County). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Huron County to add dispensing claims against OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Failure to Implement a Litigation Hold. Huron County filed its original complaint on March 15, 2018. See Huron County Board of County Commissioners v. AmerisourceBergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45292-DAP, ECF No. 1. Despite filing its case years ago, Huron County never implemented a litigation hold, in violation of this Court's orders (ECF Nos. 232; 5455). See ECF No. 5687-1 (Date Litigation Hold Implemented: Never). Litigating Huron County's case would force the parties and the Court to waste time and resources ascertaining the extent of Huron County's document destruction and the appropriate sanctions—just as the parties were forced to do in the three PBM bellwethers that failed to implement litigation holds until 2024. The PBMs are prejudiced by Huron County's disregard for its most basic discovery obligations as a litigant, compounded by the delay in seeking leave to amend, and Huron County therefore lacks good cause for leave to amend its complaint. See Pethel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28 (denying leave to amend in part because the passage of time resulted in significant prejudice due to the loss of documents or records); see also Section III.A.4, above.

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Ohio law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Huron County’s delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs’ ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Ohio law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Huron County, a municipality in Ohio, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Huron County’s proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Huron County filed its original complaint on March 15, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See Huron County Board of County Commissioners v. AmerisourceBergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45292-DAP, ECF No. 1. It is therefore indisputable that Huron County knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend. Huron County’s RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO’s four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by “discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim” (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Huron County’s request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Huron County, a municipality in Ohio, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester’s complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

345. Hawkins County, TN v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45299-DAP: Plaintiff Hawkins County, Tennessee

Hawkins County’s untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Hawkins County failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Hawkins County also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Hawkins County’s motion should be denied due to futility, as Hawkins County does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Hawkins County was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Hawkins County amended its complaint on March 11, 2019, after transfer to the MDL on March 27, 2018. See Hawkins County, TN v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45299-DAP, ECF No. 9. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Hawkins County declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaint. See Section II.A.1, above. Hawkins County’s deadline to amend was in 2019. Hawkins County waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Hawkins County’s lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order’s deadline because plaintiff “had all the information [she] needed” to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a “wait-and-see approach” instead of timely moving to amend).

Prior Notice Through Counsel. Hawkins County cannot meet the Rule 16 good cause standard because it is represented by the same counsel—Greene, Ketchum, Farrell, Bailey & Tweel, LLP; Powell & Majestro; Baron & Budd, P.C.; Levin, Papantonio, Thomas, Mitchell, Rafferty & Proctor, P.A.; and McHugh Fuller Law Group, PLLC—that filed claims against the PBMs in 2019. See MDL ECF No. 2582. Hawkins County, through its counsel, was on notice of potential claims against the PBMs and could readily have amended its complaint to add the PBMs much earlier. Hawkins County fails to explain why it was unable to assert claims against the PBMs in 2019 when its own attorneys were already asserting those claims on behalf of other clients. See, e.g., Duggins, 195 F.3d at 834 (affirming denial of leave to amend after the close of discovery when the “plaintiff was obviously aware of the basis of the claim for many months, especially since some underlying facts were made a part of the complaint”); Thurmond, 649 F. App’x at 1006 (affirming denial of leave to amend for undue delay in part because plaintiff’s counsel had access to discovery in related cases and was previously aware of the proposed new defendants’ conduct).

OptumRx’s Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to Hawkins County’s geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson Decl. (0.02% market share for Hawkins County). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Hawkins County to add dispensing claims against OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Express Scripts' Mail Order Pharmacy a Negligible Market Share. Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of prescription opioid units shipped to Hawkins County's geographic jurisdiction during 2009 to 2019. See DeCarlo Decl., Exhibit C (0.33% market share). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Hawkins County to add dispensing claims against Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy entities. See Section III.A.2, above.

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Tennessee law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Hawkins County's delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs' ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Tennessee law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Hawkins County, a municipality in Tennessee, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Hawkins County's proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Hawkins County filed its original complaint on March 8, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See Hawkins County, TN v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45299-DAP, ECF No. 1. It is therefore indisputable that Hawkins County knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend. Hawkins County's RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO's four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by “discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim” (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Hawkins County’s request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Hawkins County, a municipality in Tennessee, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester’s complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

346. County of Camp v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45301-DAP: Plaintiff Camp County, Texas

Camp County’s untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Camp County failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Camp County also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, failure to implement a litigation hold, failure to submit a complete plaintiff fact sheet, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Camp County’s motion should be denied due to futility, as Camp County does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Camp County was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Camp County amended its complaint on March 14, 2019, after transfer to the MDL on March 27, 2018. See County of Camp v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45301-DAP, ECF No. 13. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Camp County declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaint. See Section II.A.1, above. Camp County’s deadline to amend was in 2019.

Camp County waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Camp County's lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order's deadline because plaintiff "had all the information [she] needed" to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a "wait-and-see approach" instead of timely moving to amend).

OptumRx's Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to Camp County's geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson Decl. (0.04% market share for Camp County). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Camp County to add dispensing claims against OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Failure to Implement a Litigation Hold. Camp County filed its original complaint on January 5, 2018. See County of Camp v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45301-DAP, ECF No. 1. Despite filing its case years ago, Camp County never implemented a litigation hold, in violation of this Court's orders (ECF Nos. 232; 5455). See ECF No. 5687-1 (Date Litigation Hold Implemented: Never). Litigating Camp County's case would force the parties and the Court to waste time and resources ascertaining the extent of Camp County's document destruction and the appropriate sanctions—just as the parties were forced to do in the three PBM bellwethers that failed to implement litigation holds until 2024. The PBMs are prejudiced by Camp County's disregard for its most basic discovery obligations as a litigant, compounded by the delay in seeking leave to amend, and Camp County therefore lacks good cause for leave to amend its complaint. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28 (denying leave to amend in part because the passage of time resulted in significant prejudice due to the loss of documents or records); see also Section III.A.4, above.

Failure to Prosecute. In its Plaintiff Fact Sheet, Camp County failed to provide complete answers to Questions I.B.8 and I.B.9, relating to Camp County’s health plans, carriers, third party administrators, and pharmacy benefit managers throughout the relevant time period. The PBMs notified Camp County of this deficiency on September 16, 2024 (see Exhibit B), but Camp County refused to amend or supplement its Fact Sheet. Under this Court’s orders, Camp County’s case is therefore subject to “dismiss[al] with prejudice” for failure to prosecute. ECF No. 4985 at 1 (emphasis in original); see Section III.A.5, above. Camp County’s refusal to provide basic information related to its health care plans prejudices the PBMs’ ability to defend against Camp County’s potential claims against them. Camp County’s failure to diligently prosecute its case, coupled with the prejudice against the PBMs, negates any finding of good cause and leave to amend should be denied. See Final Amendment Order, ECF No. 5455 at 2 (directing counsel to dismiss, not seek leave to amend, in any case that “plaintiffs’ counsel does not intend to zealously pursue in litigation”); Range, 2017 WL 9477693, at *4 n.6 (denying motion for leave to amend as moot because claims were dismissed for failure to prosecute).

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Texas law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Camp County’s delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs’ ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Texas law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Camp County, a municipality in Texas, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Camp County’s proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Camp County filed its original complaint on January 5, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See County of Camp v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45301-DAP, ECF No. 1. It is therefore indisputable that Camp County knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend. Camp County’s RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO’s four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by “discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim” (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Camp County’s request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Camp County, a municipality in Texas, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester’s complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

347. County of Franklin v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45302-DAP: Plaintiff Franklin County, Texas

Franklin County’s untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Franklin County failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Franklin County also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, failure to implement a litigation hold, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Franklin County's motion should be denied due to futility, as Franklin County does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Franklin County was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Franklin County amended its complaint on March 14, 2019, after transfer to the MDL on March 27, 2018. See County of Franklin v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45302-DAP, ECF No. 12. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Franklin County declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaint. See Section II.A.1, above. Franklin County's deadline to amend was in 2019. Franklin County waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Franklin County's lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order's deadline because plaintiff "had all the information [she] needed" to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a "wait-and-see approach" instead of timely moving to amend).

OptumRx's Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to Franklin County's geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson Decl. (0.06% market share for Franklin County). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Franklin County to add dispensing claims against

OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Express Scripts' Mail Order Pharmacy a Negligible Market Share. Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of prescription opioid units shipped to Franklin County's geographic jurisdiction during 2009 to 2019. See DeCarlo Decl., Exhibit C (0.36% market share). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Franklin County to add dispensing claims against Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy entities. See Section III.A.2, above.

Failure to Implement a Litigation Hold. Franklin County filed its original complaint on January 5, 2018. See County of Franklin v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45302-DAP, ECF No. 1. Despite filing its case years ago, Franklin County never implemented a litigation hold, in violation of this Court's orders (ECF Nos. 232; 5455). See ECF No. 5687-1 (Date Litigation Hold Implemented: Never). Litigating Franklin County's case would force the parties and the Court to waste time and resources ascertaining the extent of Franklin County's document destruction and the appropriate sanctions—just as the parties were forced to do in the three PBM bellwethers that failed to implement litigation holds until 2024. The PBMs are prejudiced by Franklin County's disregard for its most basic discovery obligations as a litigant, compounded by the delay in seeking leave to amend, and Franklin County therefore lacks good cause for leave to amend its complaint. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28 (denying leave to amend in part because the passage of time resulted in significant prejudice due to the loss of documents or records); see also Section III.A.4, above.

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Texas law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Franklin County's delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs' ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Texas law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Franklin County, a municipality in Texas, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Franklin County's proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Franklin County filed its original complaint on January 5, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See County of Franklin v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45302-DAP, ECF No. 1. It is therefore indisputable that Franklin County knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend. Franklin County's RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO's four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by "discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim" (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Franklin County's request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Franklin County, a municipality in Texas, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester's complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

348. Black Hawk County et al. v. Purdue Pharma LP et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45303-DAP: Plaintiff Des Moines County, Iowa

Des Moines County's untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Des Moines County failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Des Moines County also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Des Moines County's motion should be denied due to futility, as Des Moines County does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Des Moines County was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Des Moines County first amended its complaint on May 25, 2018. See Black Hawk County et al. v. Purdue Pharma LP et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45303-DAP, ECF No. 7. Des Moines County amended its complaint again on March 15, 2019. See Black Hawk County et al. v. Purdue Pharma LP et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45303-DAP, ECF No. 10. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Des Moines County declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaints. See Section II.A.1, above. Des Moines County's deadline to amend was in 2019. Des Moines County waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Des Moines County's lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order's deadline because plaintiff "had all the information [she] needed" to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a "wait-and-see approach" instead of timely moving to amend).

OptumRx's Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to Des Moines County's geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson Decl. (0.11% market share for Des Moines County). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Des Moines County to add dispensing claims against OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Iowa law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Des Moines County's delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs' ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Iowa law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Des Moines County, a municipality in Iowa, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Des Moines County's proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Des Moines County filed its first amended complaint on May 25, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See Black Hawk County et al. v. Purdue Pharma LP et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45303-DAP, ECF No. 7. It is therefore indisputable that Des Moines County knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend. Des Moines County's RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO's four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by "discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim" (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Des Moines County's request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Des Moines County, a municipality in Iowa, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester's complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

349. Black Hawk County et al. v. Purdue Pharma LP et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45303-DAP: Plaintiff Harrison County, Iowa

Harrison County's untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Harrison County failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Harrison County also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, failure to timely implement a litigation hold, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Harrison County's motion should be denied due to futility, as Harrison County does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Harrison County was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Harrison County first amended its complaint on May 25, 2018. See Black Hawk County et al. v. Purdue Pharma LP et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45303-DAP, ECF No. 7. Harrison County amended its complaint again on March 15, 2019. See Black Hawk County et al. v. Purdue Pharma LP et al.,

Case No. 1:18-op-45303-DAP, ECF No. 10. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Harrison County declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaints. See Section II.A.1, above. Harrison County's deadline to amend was in 2019. Harrison County waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Harrison County's lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order's deadline because plaintiff "had all the information [she] needed" to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a "wait-and-see approach" instead of timely moving to amend).

OptumRx's Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to Harrison County's geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson Decl. (0.22% market share for Harrison County). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Harrison County to add dispensing claims against OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Failure to Timely Implement a Litigation Hold. Harrison County filed its original complaint on March 8, 2018, but waited until August 17, 2018 to implement a litigation hold. See Black Hawk County et al. v. Purdue Pharma LP et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45303-DAP, ECF No. 1; see also ECF No. 5687-1 (Date Litigation Hold Implemented: August 17, 2018). Harrison County's violation of the Court's orders (ECF Nos. 232; 5455) and disregard for its discovery obligations is prejudicial to the PBMs and weighs heavily against any finding of good cause for leave to amend. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28 (denying leave to amend in part because the passage of time resulted in significant prejudice due to the loss of documents or records); see also Section III.A.4, above.

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Iowa law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Harrison County's delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs' ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Iowa law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Harrison County, a municipality in Iowa, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Harrison County's proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Harrison County filed its first amended complaint on May 25, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See Black Hawk County et al. v. Purdue Pharma LP et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45303-DAP, ECF No. 7. It is therefore indisputable that Harrison County knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend. Harrison County's RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO's four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by "discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim" (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Harrison County's request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Harrison County, a municipality in Iowa, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester’s complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

350. Black Hawk County et al. v. Purdue Pharma LP et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45303-DAP: Plaintiff Lyon County, Iowa

Lyon County’s untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Lyon County failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Lyon County also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Lyon County’s motion should be denied due to futility, as Lyon County does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Lyon County was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Lyon County first amended its complaint on May 25, 2018. See Black Hawk County et al. v. Purdue Pharma LP et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45303-DAP, ECF No. 7. Lyon County amended its complaint again on March 15, 2019. See Black Hawk County et al. v. Purdue Pharma LP et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45303-DAP, ECF No. 10. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Lyon County declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaints. See Section II.A.1, above. Lyon County’s deadline to amend was in 2019. Lyon County waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Lyon County’s lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order’s deadline because plaintiff “had all the information [she] needed” to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a “wait-and-see approach” instead of timely moving to amend).

OptumRx’s Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to Lyon County’s geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson Decl. (0.004% market share for Lyon County). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Lyon County to add dispensing claims against OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Iowa law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Lyon County’s delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs’ ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Iowa law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28,

Failure to State a Claim. Lyon County, a municipality in Iowa, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Lyon County’s proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Lyon County filed its first amended complaint on May 25, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See Black Hawk County et al. v. Purdue Pharma LP et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45303-DAP, ECF No. 7. It is therefore indisputable that Lyon County knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend. Lyon County's RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO's four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by "discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim" (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Lyon County's request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Lyon County, a municipality in Iowa, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester's complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

351. Black Hawk County et al. v. Purdue Pharma LP et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45303-DAP: Plaintiff Tama County, Iowa

Tama County's untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Tama County failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Tama County also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Tama County's motion should be denied due to futility, as Tama County does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Tama County was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Tama County first amended its complaint on May 25, 2018. See Black Hawk County et al. v. Purdue Pharma LP et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45303-DAP, ECF No. 7. Tama County amended its complaint again on March 15, 2019. See Black Hawk County et al. v. Purdue Pharma LP et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45303-DAP, ECF No. 10. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Tama County declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaints. See Section II.A.1, above. Tama County’s deadline to amend was in 2019. Tama County waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Tama County’s lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order’s deadline because plaintiff “had all the information [she] needed” to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a “wait-and-see approach” instead of timely moving to amend).

OptumRx’s Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to Tama County’s geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson Decl. (0.17% market share for Tama County). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Tama County to add dispensing claims against OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Iowa law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Tama County’s delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs’ ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Iowa law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Tama County, a municipality in Iowa, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Tama County's proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Tama County filed its first amended complaint on May 25, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See Black Hawk County et al. v. Purdue Pharma LP et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45303-DAP, ECF No. 7. It is therefore indisputable that Tama County knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend. Tama County's RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO's four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by "discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim" (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Tama County's request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Tama County, a municipality in Iowa, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester's complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

352. City of Richmond Hill, Georgia v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45305-DAP: Plaintiff Richmond Hill City, Georgia

Richmond Hill City's untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Richmond Hill City failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Richmond Hill City also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Richmond Hill City's motion should be denied due to futility, as Richmond Hill City does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Richmond Hill City was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Richmond Hill City filed its original complaint on March 9, 2018 and the case was transferred to the MDL on March 28, 2018. See City of Richmond Hill, Georgia v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45305-DAP, ECF No. 4. Richmond Hill City could have amended its complaint, without leave, to add claims against the PBMs in 2019. See Section II.A.1, above. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Richmond Hill City elected not to do so. Instead, Richmond Hill City waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Richmond Hill City's lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order's deadline because plaintiff "had all the information [she] needed" to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a "wait-and-see approach" instead of timely moving to amend).

OptumRx's Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to Richmond Hill City's geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson Decl. (0.02% market share for Richmond Hill City). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Richmond Hill City to add dispensing claims against OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Express Scripts' Mail Order Pharmacy a Negligible Market Share. Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of prescription opioid units shipped to Richmond Hill City's geographic jurisdiction during 2009 to 2019. See DeCarlo Decl., Exhibit C (0.32% market share). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Richmond Hill City to add dispensing claims against Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy entities. See Section III.A.2, above.

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Georgia law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Richmond Hill City's delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs' ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Georgia law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Richmond Hill City, a municipality in Georgia, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Richmond Hill City's proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Richmond Hill City filed its original complaint on March 9, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries for which it now seeks to recover under RICO against the PBMs. See City of Richmond Hill, Georgia v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45305-DAP, ECF No. 1. Even assuming arguendo that Richmond Hill City first learned of its injury on the day it filed its original complaint, RICO's four-year statute of limitations expired, at the very latest, on March 9, 2022. Richmond Hill City's RICO claim is therefore time-barred. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by “discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim” (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Richmond Hill City’s request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Richmond Hill City, a municipality in Georgia, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester’s complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

353. Orange County v. AmerisourceBergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45308-DAP: Plaintiff Orange County, North Carolina

Orange County’s untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Orange County failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Orange County also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Orange County’s motion should be denied due to futility, as Orange County does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Orange County was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Orange County amended its complaint on March 15, 2019, after transfer to the MDL on March 30, 2018. See Orange County v. AmerisourceBergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45308-DAP, ECF No. 7. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Orange County declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaint. See Section II.A.1, above. Orange County’s deadline to amend was in 2019. Orange County waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Orange County’s lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order’s deadline because plaintiff “had all the information [she] needed” to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a “wait-and-see approach” instead of timely moving to amend).

Prior Notice Through Counsel. Orange County cannot meet the Rule 16 good cause standard because it is represented by the same counsel—Greene, Ketchum, Farrell, Bailey & Tweel, LLP; Powell & Majestro; Baron & Budd, P.C.; Levin, Papantonio, Thomas, Mitchell, Rafferty & Proctor, P.A.; and McHugh Fuller Law Group, PLLC—that filed claims against the PBMs in 2019. See MDL ECF No. 2582. Orange County, through its counsel, was on notice of potential claims against the PBMs and could readily have amended its complaint to add the PBMs much earlier. Orange County fails to explain why it was unable to assert claims against the PBMs in 2019 when its own attorneys were already asserting those claims on behalf of other clients. See, e.g., Duggins, 195 F.3d at 834 (affirming denial of leave to amend after the close of discovery when the “plaintiff was obviously aware of the basis of the claim for many months, especially since some underlying facts were made a part of the complaint”); Thurmond, 649 F. App’x at 1006 (affirming denial of leave to amend for undue delay in part because plaintiff’s counsel had access to discovery in related cases and was previously aware of the proposed new defendants’ conduct).

OptumRx’s Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to Orange County’s geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson Decl. (0.08% market share for Orange County). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Orange County to add dispensing claims against

OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Express Scripts' Mail Order Pharmacy a Negligible Market Share. Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of prescription opioid units shipped to Orange County's geographic jurisdiction during 2009 to 2019. See DeCarlo Decl., Exhibit C (0.39% market share). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Orange County to add dispensing claims against Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy entities. See Section III.A.2, above.

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under North Carolina law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Orange County's delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs' ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under North Carolina law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Orange County, a municipality in North Carolina, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Orange County's proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Orange County filed its original complaint on March 12, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See Orange County v. AmerisourceBergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45308-DAP, ECF No. 1. It is therefore indisputable that Orange County knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend. Orange County's RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO's four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by "discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim" (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Orange County's request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Orange County, a municipality in North Carolina, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester's complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

354. City of Rockford v. AmerisourceBergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45309-DAP: Plaintiff Rockford City, Illinois

Rockford City's untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Rockford City failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Rockford City also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, failure to implement a litigation hold, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Rockford City's motion should be denied due to futility, as Rockford City does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Rockford City was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Rockford City amended its complaint on March 6, 2019, after transfer to the MDL on March 30, 2018. See City of Rockford v. AmerisourceBergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45309-DAP, ECF No. 11. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Rockford City declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaint. See Section II.A.1, above. Rockford City’s deadline to amend was in 2019. Rockford City waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Rockford City’s lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order’s deadline because plaintiff “had all the information [she] needed” to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a “wait-and-see approach” instead of timely moving to amend).

Prior Notice Through Counsel. Rockford City cannot meet the Rule 16 good cause standard because it is represented by the same counsel—Greene, Ketchum, Farrell, Bailey & Tweel, LLP; Powell & Majestro; Baron & Budd, P.C.; Levin, Papantonio, Thomas, Mitchell, Rafferty & Proctor, P.A.; and McHugh Fuller Law Group, PLLC—that filed claims against the PBMs in 2019. See MDL ECF No. 2582. Rockford City, through its counsel, was on notice of potential claims against the PBMs and could readily have amended its complaint to add the PBMs much earlier. Rockford City fails to explain why it was unable to assert claims against the PBMs in 2019 when its own attorneys were already asserting those claims on behalf of other clients. See, e.g., Duggins, 195 F.3d at 834 (affirming denial of leave to amend after the close of discovery when the “plaintiff was obviously aware of the basis of the claim for many months, especially since some underlying facts were made a part of the complaint”); Thurmond, 649 F. App’x at 1006 (affirming denial of leave to amend for undue delay in part because plaintiff’s counsel had access to discovery in related cases and was previously aware of the proposed new defendants’ conduct).

OptumRx’s Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to Rockford City’s geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson

Decl. (0.04% market share for Rockford City). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Rockford City to add dispensing claims against OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Express Scripts' Mail Order Pharmacy a Negligible Market Share. Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of prescription opioid units shipped to Rockford City's geographic jurisdiction during 2009 to 2019. See DeCarlo Decl., Exhibit C (0.36% market share). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Rockford City to add dispensing claims against Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy entities. See Section III.A.2, above.

Prior Notice as an Express Scripts Client. Rockford City previously entered into a contract with Express Scripts for PBM services related to utilization management and formulary development. See Achter Decl., Exhibit A. That contract notified Rockford City of the PBM services Express Scripts provides and Rockford City began receiving those services on January 2, 2012. See id. Inasmuch as Rockford City seeks to add claims against Express Scripts entities related to utilization management or formulary placement (see, e.g., Rochester Am. Compl. ¶¶ 733, 741, 786–816, 821–22, 845), Rockford City knew or should have known of the alleged wrongful conduct more than ten years before moving to amend. See Section III.A.2, above. Rockford City's delay in seeking leave to amend negates any finding of good cause for leave to amend. Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (denying motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order's deadline because plaintiff "had all the information [she] needed" to bring claims before the deadline).

Failure to Implement a Litigation Hold. Rockford City filed its original complaint on March 12, 2018. See City of Rockford v. AmerisourceBergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45309-DAP, ECF No. 1. Despite filing its case years ago, Rockford City never implemented a litigation hold and is instead purporting to rely on non-specific and unidentified document retention laws. See ECF No. 5687-1 (Date Litigation Hold Implemented: *(Never)). This is a plain violation of this Court’s orders. ECF Nos. 232; 5455. Litigating Rockford City’s case would force the parties and the Court to waste time and resources ascertaining the extent of Rockford City’s document destruction and the appropriate sanctions—just as the parties were forced to do in the three PBM bellwethers that failed to implement litigation holds until 2024. The PBMs are prejudiced by Rockford City’s disregard for its most basic discovery obligations as a litigant, compounded by the delay in seeking leave to amend, and Rockford City therefore lacks good cause for leave to amend its complaint. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28 (denying leave to amend in part because the passage of time resulted in significant prejudice due to the loss of documents or records); see also Section III.A.4, above.

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Illinois law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Rockford City’s delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs’ ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Illinois law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Rockford City, a municipality in Illinois, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Rockford City’s proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Rockford City filed its original complaint on March 12, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See City of Rockford v. AmerisourceBergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45309-DAP, ECF No. 1. It is therefore indisputable that Rockford City knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend. Rockford City’s RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO’s four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by “discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim” (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Rockford City’s request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Rockford City, a municipality in Illinois, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester’s complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

355. People of the State of Illinois et al. v. AmerisourceBergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45310-DAP: Plaintiff Winnebago County, Illinois

Winnebago County’s untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Winnebago County failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Winnebago County also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, failure to timely implement a litigation hold, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Winnebago County’s motion should be denied due to futility, as Winnebago County does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Winnebago County was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Winnebago County amended its complaint on March 9, 2019, after transfer to the MDL on March 30, 2018. See People Of The State Of Illinois et al. v. AmerisourceBergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45310-DAP, ECF No. 11. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Winnebago County declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaint. See Section II.A.1, above. Winnebago County’s deadline to amend was in 2019. Winnebago County waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Winnebago County’s lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order’s deadline because plaintiff “had all the information [she] needed” to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a “wait-and-see approach” instead of timely moving to amend).

Prior Notice Through Counsel. Winnebago County cannot meet the Rule 16 good cause standard because it is represented by the same counsel—Greene, Ketchum, Farrell, Bailey & Tweel, LLP; Powell & Majestro; Baron & Budd, P.C.; Levin, Papantonio, Thomas, Mitchell, Rafferty & Proctor, P.A.; and McHugh Fuller Law Group, PLLC—that filed claims against the PBMs in 2019. See MDL ECF No. 2582. Winnebago County, through its counsel, was on notice of potential claims against the PBMs and could readily have amended its complaint to add the PBMs much earlier. Winnebago County fails to explain why it was unable to assert claims against the PBMs in 2019 when its own attorneys were already asserting those claims on behalf of other clients. See, e.g., Duggins, 195 F.3d at 834 (affirming denial of leave to amend after the close of discovery when the “plaintiff was obviously aware of the basis of the claim for many months, especially since some underlying facts were made a part of the complaint”); Thurmond, 649 F. App’x at 1006 (affirming denial of leave to amend for undue delay in part because plaintiff’s counsel had access to discovery in related cases and was previously aware of the proposed new defendants’ conduct).

OptumRx’s Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to Winnebago County’s geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson Decl. (0.05% market share for Winnebago County). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Winnebago County to add dispensing claims against OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Express Scripts’ Mail Order Pharmacy a Negligible Market Share. Express Scripts’ mail order pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of prescription opioid units shipped to Winnebago County’s geographic jurisdiction during 2009 to 2019. See DeCarlo Decl., Exhibit C (0.43% market share). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Winnebago County to add dispensing claims against Express Scripts’ mail order pharmacy entities. See Section III.A.2, above.

Prior Notice as an Express Scripts Client. Winnebago County previously entered into a contract with Express Scripts for PBM services related to utilization management and formulary development. See Achter Decl., Exhibit E. That contract notified Winnebago County of the PBM services Express Scripts provides and Winnebago County began receiving those services on January 3, 2012. See id. Inasmuch as Winnebago County seeks to add claims against Express Scripts entities related to utilization management or formulary placement (see, e.g., Rochester Am. Compl. ¶¶ 733, 741, 786–816, 821–22, 845), Winnebago County knew or should have known of the alleged wrongful conduct more than ten years before moving to amend. See Section III.A.2, above. Winnebago County’s delay in seeking leave to amend negates any finding of good cause for leave to amend. Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (denying motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order’s deadline because plaintiff “had all the information [she] needed” to bring claims before the deadline).

Winnebago County’s agreement with Express Scripts, Inc., also includes a mandatory mediation provision. See Achter Decl., ¶ 18, Exhibit E. This provision requires that all claims arising from the agreement or relating to the performance or interpretation of the agreement be mediated (or proceed through other informal dispute resolution procedures) before any party may commence arbitration or litigation. Id. This provision thus forecloses Winnebago County from seeking redress against Express Scripts, Inc., in the MDL.

The contractual obligation to mediate claims prior to filing suit is binding and courts routinely hold parties to such agreements. See CJ Consultants, LLC v. Window World, Inc., 2022 WL 4354265, at *7 (W.D. Mich. Sept. 20, 2022) (granting defendant’s motion to dismiss complaint in order to enforce the informal resolution/mediation procedures in the parties’ contract); see also Fisher v. GE Med. Sys., 276 F. Supp. 2d 891, 894 (M.D. Tenn. 2003) (“[F]ederal policy favors arbitration in a broad sense, and mediation surely falls under the preference for non-judicial dispute resolution. Thus, agreements like [the one at issue] are to be encouraged. Accordingly, the court finds that plaintiff[’s] agreement to mediate any claim before filing it in court is binding under the FAA.”). Because Winnebago County entered into an agreement to mediate or pursue other dispute resolution prior to bringing suit against Express Scripts, Inc., its proposed claims should not proceed in this Court. Winnebago County's motion for leave to add claims against Express Scripts, Inc., must therefore be denied as futile.

Failure to Timely Implement a Litigation Hold. Winnebago County violated its basic duty to implement a timely litigation hold. Winnebago County filed its original complaint on March 13, 2018, but waited until January 13, 2020 to implement a litigation hold—nearly two years later. See People Of The State Of Illinois et al. v. AmerisourceBergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45310-DAP, ECF No. 1; see also ECF No. 5687-1 (Date Litigation Hold Implemented: January 13, 2020). This is a plain violation of this Court's orders. ECF Nos. 232; 5455. Litigating Winnebago County's case would force the parties and the Court to waste time and resources ascertaining the extent of Winnebago County's document destruction and the appropriate sanctions—just as the parties were forced to do in the three PBM bellwethers that failed to implement litigation holds until 2024. The PBMs are prejudiced by Winnebago County's disregard for its most basic discovery obligations as a litigant, compounded by the delay in seeking leave to amend, and Winnebago County therefore lacks good cause for leave to amend its complaint. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28 (denying leave to amend in part because the passage of time resulted in significant prejudice due to the loss of documents or records); see also Section III.A.4, above.

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Illinois law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Winnebago County's delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs' ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Illinois law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Winnebago County, a municipality in Illinois, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Winnebago County's proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Winnebago County filed its original complaint on March 13, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See People Of The State Of Illinois et al. v. AmerisourceBergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45310-DAP, ECF No. 1. It is therefore indisputable that Winnebago County knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend. Winnebago County's RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO's four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by "discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim" (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Winnebago County's request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Winnebago County, a municipality in Illinois, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester's complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

356. Athens County Board of Commissioners v. AmerisourceBergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45326-DAP: Plaintiff Athens County, Ohio

Athens County's untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Athens County failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Athens County also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Athens County's motion should be denied due to futility, as Athens County does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its proposed public nuisance claim is barred by state law in Ohio, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Athens County was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Athens County amended its complaint on March 14, 2019, after transfer to the MDL on March 30, 2018. See Athens County Board of Commissioners v. AmerisourceBergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45326-DAP, ECF No. 23. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Athens County declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaint. See Section II.A.1, above. Athens County's deadline to amend was in 2019. Athens County waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Athens County's lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order's deadline because plaintiff "had all the information [she] needed" to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a "wait-and-see approach" instead of timely moving to amend).

Prior Notice Through Counsel. Athens County cannot meet the Rule 16 good cause standard because it is represented by the same counsel—Greene, Ketchum, Farrell, Bailey & Tweel, LLP; Powell & Majestro; Baron & Budd, P.C.; Levin, Papantonio, Thomas, Mitchell, Rafferty & Proctor, P.A.; and McHugh Fuller Law Group, PLLC—that filed claims against the PBMs in 2019. See MDL ECF No. 2582. Athens County, through its counsel, was on notice of potential claims against the PBMs and could readily have amended its complaint to add the PBMs much earlier. Athens County fails to explain why it was unable to assert claims against the PBMs in 2019 when its own attorneys were already asserting those claims on behalf of other clients. See, e.g., Duggins, 195 F.3d at 834 (affirming denial of leave to amend after the close of discovery when the “plaintiff was obviously aware of the basis of the claim for many months, especially since some underlying facts were made a part of the complaint”); Thurmond, 649 F. App’x at 1006 (affirming denial of leave to amend for undue delay in part because plaintiff’s counsel had access to discovery in related cases and was previously aware of the proposed new defendants’ conduct).

OptumRx’s Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to Athens County’s geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson Decl. (0.14% market share for Athens County). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Athens County to add dispensing claims against OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Ohio law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Athens County’s delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs’ ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Ohio law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Athens County, a municipality in Ohio, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

Plaintiff's Public Nuisance Claim is Futile. Athens County is a plaintiff in Ohio. Athens County's request for leave to add the PBMs as defendants to a public nuisance claim should be denied as futile because "all common-law public-nuisance claims arising from the sale of a product have been abrogated by the Ohio Product Liability Act." In re Nat'l Prescription Opiate Litig., 2024 WL 5049302, at *1, 2024-OHIO-5744, ¶ 1; see Section III.B.3, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Athens County's proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Athens County filed its original complaint on March 14, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See Athens County Board of Commissioners v. AmerisourceBergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45326-DAP, ECF No. 1. It is therefore indisputable that Athens County knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend. Athens County's RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO's four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by "discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim" (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Athens County's request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Athens County, a municipality in Ohio, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester’s complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

357. Limestone County, Alabama v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45328-DAP: Plaintiff Limestone County, Alabama

Limestone County’s untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Limestone County failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Limestone County also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, failure to implement a litigation hold, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Limestone County’s motion should be denied due to futility, as Limestone County does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its proposed public nuisance claim is barred by the statute of limitations, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Limestone County was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Limestone County filed its original complaint on March 14, 2018 and the case was transferred to the MDL on March 30, 2018. See Limestone County, Alabama v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45328-DAP, ECF No. 9. Limestone County could have amended its complaint, without leave, to add claims against the PBMs in 2019. See Section II.A.1, above. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Limestone County elected not to do so. Instead, Limestone County waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Limestone County’s lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order’s deadline because plaintiff “had all the information [she] needed” to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a “wait-and-see approach” instead of timely moving to amend).

OptumRx’s Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to Limestone County’s geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson Decl. (0.01% market share for Limestone County). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Limestone County to add dispensing claims against OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Express Scripts’ Mail Order Pharmacy a Negligible Market Share. Express Scripts’ mail order pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of prescription opioid units shipped to Limestone County’s geographic jurisdiction during 2009 to 2019. See DeCarlo Decl., Exhibit C (0.49% market share). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Limestone County to add dispensing claims against Express Scripts’ mail order pharmacy entities. See Section III.A.2, above.

Failure to Implement a Litigation Hold. Limestone County filed its original complaint on March 14, 2018. See Limestone County, Alabama v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45328-DAP, ECF No. 1. Despite filing its case years ago, Limestone County never implemented a litigation hold, in violation of this Court’s orders (ECF Nos. 232; 5455). See ECF No. 5687-1 (Date Litigation Hold Implemented: Never). Litigating Limestone County’s case would force the parties and the Court to waste time and resources ascertaining the extent of Limestone County’s document destruction and the appropriate sanctions—just as the parties were forced to do in the three PBM bellwethers that failed to implement litigation holds until 2024. The PBMs are prejudiced by Limestone County's disregard for its most basic discovery obligations as a litigant, compounded by the delay in seeking leave to amend, and Limestone County therefore lacks good cause for leave to amend its complaint. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28 (denying leave to amend in part because the passage of time resulted in significant prejudice due to the loss of documents or records); see also Section III.A.4, above.

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Alabama law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Limestone County's delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs' ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Alabama law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Limestone County, a municipality in Alabama, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Limestone County's proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Limestone County filed its original complaint on March 14, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See Limestone County, Alabama v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45328-DAP, ECF No. 1. It is therefore indisputable that Limestone County knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend. Limestone County's RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO's four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by “discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim” (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Limestone County’s request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Public Nuisance Statute of Limitations. In Alabama, public-nuisance claims are subject to a two-year limitations period. Limestone County’s public-nuisance claim against the PBMs is therefore time-barred because Limestone County sought leave to amend its complaint on July 29, 2024—six years after filing its original complaint on March 14, 2018—and the proposed amendment does not relate back to the original filing for purposes of the applicable statute of limitations. See Zakora, 44 F.4th at 480 (“This court has repeatedly held that an amendment which adds a new party creates a new cause of action and there is no relation back to the original filing for purposes of limitations.” (cleaned up)).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Limestone County lacks statutory standing to assert a public nuisance claim under Alabama law because it “is clearly not an individual, nor a city, nor the [s]tate,” and thus amendment is futile. Lee County, 2022 WL 450810, at *4 (concluding an Alabama county lacked standing to bring a Ala. Code § 6-5-121 claim); see Section III.B.3, above.

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Limestone County, a municipality in Alabama, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester’s complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

358. City of Anniston Alabama v. Purdue Pharma L P et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45329-DAP: Plaintiff Anniston City, Alabama

Anniston City’s untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Anniston City failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Anniston City also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, failure to implement a litigation hold, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Anniston City's motion should be denied due to futility, as Anniston City does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its proposed public nuisance claim is barred by the statute of limitations, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Anniston City was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Anniston City filed its original complaint on March 14, 2018 and the case was transferred to the MDL on March 30, 2018. See City of Anniston Alabama v. Purdue Pharma L P et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45329-DAP, ECF No. 10. Anniston City could have amended its complaint, without leave, to add claims against the PBMs in 2019. See Section II.A.1, above. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Anniston City elected not to do so. Instead, Anniston City waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Anniston City's lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order's deadline because plaintiff "had all the information [she] needed" to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a "wait-and-see approach" instead of timely moving to amend).

OptumRx's Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to Anniston City's geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson Decl. (0.03% market share for Anniston City). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Anniston City to add dispensing claims against

OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Express Scripts' Mail Order Pharmacy a Negligible Market Share. Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of prescription opioid units shipped to Anniston City's geographic jurisdiction during 2009 to 2019. See DeCarlo Decl., Exhibit C (0.26% market share). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Anniston City to add dispensing claims against Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy entities. See Section III.A.2, above.

Failure to Implement a Litigation Hold. Anniston City filed its original complaint on March 14, 2018. See City of Anniston Alabama v. Purdue Pharma L P et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45329-DAP, ECF No. 1. Despite filing its case years ago, Anniston City never implemented a litigation hold, in violation of this Court's orders (ECF Nos. 232; 5455). See ECF No. 5687-1 (Date Litigation Hold Implemented: Never). Litigating Anniston City's case would force the parties and the Court to waste time and resources ascertaining the extent of Anniston City's document destruction and the appropriate sanctions—just as the parties were forced to do in the three PBM bellwethers that failed to implement litigation holds until 2024. The PBMs are prejudiced by Anniston City's disregard for its most basic discovery obligations as a litigant, compounded by the delay in seeking leave to amend, and Anniston City therefore lacks good cause for leave to amend its complaint. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28 (denying leave to amend in part because the passage of time resulted in significant prejudice due to the loss of documents or records); see also Section III.A.4, above.

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Alabama law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Anniston City's delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs' ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Alabama law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Anniston City, a municipality in Alabama, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Anniston City's proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Anniston City filed its original complaint on March 14, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See City of Anniston Alabama v. Purdue Pharma L P et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45329-DAP, ECF No. 1. It is therefore indisputable that Anniston City knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend. Anniston City's RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO's four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by "discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim" (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Anniston City's request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Public Nuisance Statute of Limitations. In Alabama, public-nuisance claims are subject to a two-year limitations period. Anniston City's public-nuisance claim against the PBMs is therefore time-barred because Anniston City sought leave to amend its complaint on July 29, 2024—six years after filing its original complaint on March 14, 2018—and the proposed amendment does not relate back to the original filing for purposes of the applicable statute of limitations. See Zakora, 44 F.4th at 480 (“This court has repeatedly held that an amendment which adds a new party creates a new cause of action and there is no relation back to the original filing for purposes of limitations.” (cleaned up)).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Anniston City, a municipality in Alabama, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester’s complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

359. City of Broadview Heights v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45330-DAP: Plaintiff Broadview Heights City, Ohio

Broadview Heights City’s untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Broadview Heights City failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Broadview Heights City also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, failure to timely implement a litigation hold, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Broadview Heights City’s motion should be denied due to futility, as Broadview Heights City does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its proposed public nuisance claim is barred by state law in Ohio, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Broadview Heights City was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Broadview Heights City amended its complaint on March 18, 2019, after transfer to the MDL on March 29, 2018. See City of Broadview Heights v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45330-DAP, ECF No. 8. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Broadview Heights City declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaint. See Section II.A.1, above. Broadview Heights City’s deadline to amend was in 2019. Broadview Heights City waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Broadview Heights City’s lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order’s deadline because plaintiff “had all the information [she] needed” to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a “wait-and-see approach” instead of timely moving to amend).

Furthermore, in 2023, Broadview Heights City filed a separate complaint in this MDL asserting new claims for public nuisance and negligence against Express Scripts, Inc.; Express Scripts Holding Company, n/k/a Evernorth Health, Inc.; Merck-Medco, n/k/a Medco Health Solutions, Inc.; Medco Health Solutions, Inc.; UnitedHealth Group Incorporated; Optum, Inc.; OptumRx, Inc.; and other defendants. See Cuyahoga County et al. v. Mylan Pharms., Inc. et al., No. 1:23-op-45003 (N.D. Ohio), ECF No. 1. Broadview Heights City offers no good cause for its failure to bring its proposed claims against all PBMs in the 2023 case, which is still pending. In addition, Broadview Heights City’s improper claim-splitting between these two separate cases in the MDL should be rejected. See Waad, 762 F. App’x at 260–63 (affirming dismissal for improper claim splitting where the plaintiff’s claims in a later-filed case were “duplicative of and improperly split” from an earlier-filed case).

Prior Notice Through Counsel. Broadview Heights City cannot meet the Rule 16 good cause standard because it is represented by the same counsel—Napoli Shkolnik, PLLC—that have been bringing claims against the PBMs since 2019. Broadview Heights City—through its counsel—was on notice of potential claims against the PBMs and could readily have amended its complaint to add the PBMs much earlier. Broadview Heights City fails to explain why it was unable to assert claims against the PBMs in 2019 when its own attorneys were already asserting those claims on behalf of other clients. See, e.g., Duggins, 195 F.3d at 834 (affirming denial of leave to amend after the close of discovery when the “plaintiff was obviously aware of the basis of the claim for many months, especially since some underlying facts were made a part of the complaint”); Thurmond, 649 F. App’x at 1006 (affirming denial of leave to amend for undue delay in part because plaintiff’s counsel had access to discovery in related cases and was previously aware of the proposed new defendants’ conduct).

OptumRx’s Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to Broadview Heights City’s geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson Decl. (0.09% market share for Broadview Heights City). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Broadview Heights City to add dispensing claims against OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Failure to Timely Implement a Litigation Hold. Broadview Heights City violated its basic duty to implement a timely litigation hold. Broadview Heights City filed its original complaint on February 26, 2018, but waited until September 7, 2018 to implement a litigation hold—six months later. See City of Broadview Heights v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45330-DAP, ECF No. 1-3; see also ECF No. 5687-1 (Date Litigation Hold Implemented: September 7, 2018). This is a plain violation of this Court’s orders. ECF Nos. 232; 5455. Litigating Broadview Heights City’s case would force the parties and the Court to waste time and resources ascertaining the extent of Broadview Heights City’s document destruction and the appropriate sanctions—just as the parties were forced to do in the three PBM bellwethers that failed to implement litigation holds until 2024. The PBMs are prejudiced by Broadview Heights City's disregard for its most basic discovery obligations as a litigant, compounded by the delay in seeking leave to amend, and Broadview Heights City therefore lacks good cause for leave to amend its complaint. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28 (denying leave to amend in part because the passage of time resulted in significant prejudice due to the loss of documents or records); see also Section III.A.4, above.

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Ohio law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Broadview Heights City's delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs' ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Ohio law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Broadview Heights City, a municipality in Ohio, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

Plaintiff's Public Nuisance Claim is Futile. Broadview Heights City is a plaintiff in Ohio. Broadview Heights City's request for leave to add the PBMs as defendants to a public nuisance claim should be denied as futile because "all common-law public-nuisance claims arising from the sale of a product have been abrogated by the Ohio Product Liability Act." In re Nat'l Prescription Opiate Litig., 2024 WL 5049302, at *1, 2024-OHIO-5744, ¶ 1; see Section III.B.3, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Broadview Heights City's proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Broadview Heights City filed its amended complaint on March 18, 2019, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See City of Broadview Heights v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45330-DAP, ECF No. 8. It is therefore indisputable that Broadview Heights City knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, five years before seeking leave to amend. Broadview Heights City's RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO's four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by "discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim" (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Broadview Heights City's request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Broadview Heights City, a municipality in Ohio, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester's complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

360. Broward County, Florida v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45332-DAP: Plaintiff Broward County, Florida

Broward County's untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Broward County failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Broward County also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Broward County's motion should be denied due to futility, as Broward County does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its proposed public nuisance claim is barred by the statute of limitations, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Broward County was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Broward County first amended its complaint on April 25, 2018. See Broward County, Florida v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45332-DAP, ECF No. 26. Broward County amended its complaint again on May 30, 2018, as well as on December 21, 2019. See Broward County, Florida v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45332-DAP, ECF Nos. 32, 88. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Broward County declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaints. See Section II.A.1, above. Broward County’s deadline to amend was in 2019. Broward County waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Broward County’s lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order’s deadline because plaintiff “had all the information [she] needed” to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a “wait-and-see approach” instead of timely moving to amend).

OptumRx’s Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to Broward County’s geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson Decl. (0.33% market share for Broward County). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Broward County to add dispensing claims against OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Express Scripts’ Mail Order Pharmacy a Negligible Market Share. Express Scripts’ mail order pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of prescription opioid units

shipped to Broward County's geographic jurisdiction during 2009 to 2019. See DeCarlo Decl., Exhibit C (0.35% market share). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Broward County to add dispensing claims against Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy entities. See Section III.A.2, above.

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Florida law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Broward County's delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs' ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Florida law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Broward County, a municipality in Florida, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Broward County's proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Broward County filed its original complaint on March 12, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See Broward County, Florida v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45332-DAP, ECF No. 1. It is therefore indisputable that Broward County knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend. Broward County's RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO's four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by "discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim" (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Broward County's request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Public Nuisance Statute of Limitations. In Florida, public-nuisance claims are subject to a four-year limitations period. Broward County’s public-nuisance claim against the PBMs is therefore time-barred because Broward County sought leave to amend its complaint on July 29, 2024—six years after filing its original complaint on March 12, 2018—and the proposed amendment does not relate back to the original filing for purposes of the applicable statute of limitations. See Zakora, 44 F.4th at 480 (“This court has repeatedly held that an amendment which adds a new party creates a new cause of action and there is no relation back to the original filing for purposes of limitations.” (cleaned up)).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Broward County, a municipality in Florida, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester’s complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

361. City of Lima v. AmerisourceBergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45333-DAP: Plaintiff Lima City, Ohio

Lima City’s untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Lima City failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Lima City also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Lima City’s motion should be denied due to futility, as Lima City does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its proposed public nuisance claim is barred by state law in Ohio, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Lima City was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Lima City amended its complaint on March 16, 2019, after directly filing in the MDL. See City Of Lima v. AmerisourceBergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45333-DAP, ECF No. 23. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Lima City declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaint. See Section II.A.1, above. Lima City’s deadline to amend was in 2019. Lima City waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Lima City’s lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order’s deadline because plaintiff “had all the information [she] needed” to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a “wait-and-see approach” instead of timely moving to amend).

OptumRx’s Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to Lima City’s geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson Decl. (0.07% market share for Lima City). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Lima City to add dispensing claims against OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Ohio law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Lima City’s delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs’ ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Ohio law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Lima City, a municipality in Ohio, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

Plaintiff's Public Nuisance Claim is Futile. Lima City is a plaintiff in Ohio. Lima City's request for leave to add the PBMs as defendants to a public nuisance claim should be denied as futile because "all common-law public-nuisance claims arising from the sale of a product have been abrogated by the Ohio Product Liability Act." In re Nat'l Prescription Opiate Litig., 2024 WL 5049302, at *1, 2024-OHIO-5744, ¶ 1; see Section III.B.3, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Lima City's proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Lima City filed its original complaint on April 3, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See City Of Lima v. AmerisourceBergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45333-DAP, ECF No. 1. It is therefore indisputable that Lima City knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend. Lima City's RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO's four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by "discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim" (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Lima City's request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Lima City, a municipality in Ohio, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester's complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

362. City of Pittsfield v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45335-DAP: Plaintiff Pittsfield City, Massachusetts

Pittsfield City's untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Pittsfield City failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Pittsfield City also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Pittsfield City's motion should be denied due to futility, as Pittsfield City does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its proposed public nuisance claim is barred by the statute of limitations, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Pittsfield City was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Pittsfield City amended its complaint on March 6, 2019, after transfer to the MDL on April 4, 2018. See City of Pittsfield v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45335-DAP, ECF No. 23. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Pittsfield City declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaint. See Section II.A.1, above. Pittsfield City's deadline to amend was in 2019. Pittsfield City waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Pittsfield City's lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order's deadline because plaintiff "had all the information [she] needed" to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a "wait-and-see approach" instead of timely moving to amend).

Prior Notice Through Counsel. Pittsfield City cannot meet the Rule 16 good cause standard because it is represented by the same counsel—Greene, Ketchum, Farrell, Bailey &

Tweel, LLP; Powell & Majestro; Baron & Budd, P.C.; Levin, Papantonio, Thomas, Mitchell, Rafferty & Proctor, P.A.; and McHugh Fuller Law Group, PLLC—that filed claims against the PBMs in 2019. See MDL ECF No. 2582. Pittsfield City, through its counsel, was on notice of potential claims against the PBMs and could readily have amended its complaint to add the PBMs much earlier. Pittsfield City fails to explain why it was unable to assert claims against the PBMs in 2019 when its own attorneys were already asserting those claims on behalf of other clients. See, e.g., Duggins, 195 F.3d at 834 (affirming denial of leave to amend after the close of discovery when the “plaintiff was obviously aware of the basis of the claim for many months, especially since some underlying facts were made a part of the complaint”); Thurmond, 649 F. App’x at 1006 (affirming denial of leave to amend for undue delay in part because plaintiff’s counsel had access to discovery in related cases and was previously aware of the proposed new defendants’ conduct).

OptumRx’s Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to Pittsfield City’s geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson Decl. (0.01% market share for Pittsfield City). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Pittsfield City to add dispensing claims against OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Express Scripts’ Mail Order Pharmacy a Negligible Market Share. Express Scripts’ mail order pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of prescription opioid units shipped to Pittsfield City’s geographic jurisdiction during 2009 to 2019. See DeCarlo Decl., Exhibit C (0.07% market share). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Pittsfield City to add dispensing claims against Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy entities. See Section III.A.2, above.

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Massachusetts law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Pittsfield City's delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs' ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Massachusetts law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Pittsfield City, a municipality in Massachusetts, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Pittsfield City's proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Pittsfield City filed its original complaint on March 15, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See City of Pittsfield v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45335-DAP, ECF No. 1. It is therefore indisputable that Pittsfield City knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend. Pittsfield City's RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO's four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by "discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim" (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Pittsfield City's request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Public Nuisance Statute of Limitations. In Massachusetts, public-nuisance claims are subject to a three-year limitations period. Pittsfield City’s public-nuisance claim against the PBMs is therefore time-barred because Pittsfield City sought leave to amend its complaint on July 29, 2024—six years after filing its original complaint on March 15, 2018—and the proposed amendment does not relate back to the original filing for purposes of the applicable statute of limitations. See Zakora, 44 F.4th at 480 (“This court has repeatedly held that an amendment which adds a new party creates a new cause of action and there is no relation back to the original filing for purposes of limitations.” (cleaned up)).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Pittsfield City, a municipality in Massachusetts, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester’s complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

363. City of Easthampton, Massachusetts v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45336-DAP: Plaintiff Easthampton Town City, Massachusetts

Easthampton Town City’s untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Easthampton Town City failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Easthampton Town City also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, failure to implement a litigation hold, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Easthampton Town City’s motion should be denied due to futility, as Easthampton Town City does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its proposed public nuisance claim is barred by the statute of limitations, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Easthampton Town City was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Easthampton Town City amended its complaint on March 6, 2019, after transfer to the MDL on April 4, 2018. See City of Easthampton, Massachusetts v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45336-DAP, ECF No. 23. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Easthampton Town City declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaint. See Section II.A.1, above. Easthampton Town City’s deadline to amend was in 2019. Easthampton Town City waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Easthampton Town City’s lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order’s deadline because plaintiff “had all the information [she] needed” to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a “wait-and-see approach” instead of timely moving to amend).

Prior Notice Through Counsel. Easthampton Town City cannot meet the Rule 16 good cause standard because it is represented by the same counsel—Greene, Ketchum, Farrell, Bailey & Tweel, LLP; Powell & Majestro; Baron & Budd, P.C.; and McHugh Fuller Law Group, PLLC—that filed claims against the PBMs in 2019. See MDL ECF No. 2582. Easthampton Town City, through its counsel, was on notice of potential claims against the PBMs and could readily have amended its complaint to add the PBMs much earlier. Easthampton Town City fails to explain why it was unable to assert claims against the PBMs in 2019 when its own attorneys were already asserting those claims on behalf of other clients. See, e.g., Duggins, 195 F.3d at 834 (affirming denial of leave to amend after the close of discovery when the “plaintiff was obviously aware of the basis of the claim for many months, especially since some underlying facts were made a part of the complaint”); Thurmond, 649 F. App’x at 1006 (affirming denial of leave to amend for undue delay in part because plaintiff’s counsel had access to discovery in related cases and was previously aware of the proposed new defendants’ conduct).

OptumRx’s Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to Easthampton Town City’s geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson Decl. (0.01% market share for Easthampton Town City). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Easthampton Town City to add dispensing claims against OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Express Scripts’ Mail Order Pharmacy a Negligible Market Share. Express Scripts’ mail order pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of prescription opioid units shipped to Easthampton Town City’s geographic jurisdiction during 2009 to 2019. See DeCarlo Decl., Exhibit C (0.39% market share). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Easthampton Town City to add dispensing claims against Express Scripts’ mail order pharmacy entities. See Section III.A.2, above.

Failure to Implement a Litigation Hold. Easthampton Town City filed its original complaint on March 15, 2018. See City of Easthampton, Massachusetts v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45336-DAP, ECF No. 1. Despite filing its case years ago, Easthampton Town City never implemented a litigation hold and is instead purporting to rely on non-specific and unidentified document retention laws. See ECF No. 5687-1 (Date Litigation Hold Implemented: *(Never)). This is a plain violation of this Court’s orders. ECF Nos. 232; 5455. Litigating Easthampton Town City’s case would force the parties and the Court to waste time and resources ascertaining the extent of Easthampton Town City's document destruction and the appropriate sanctions—just as the parties were forced to do in the three PBM bellwethers that failed to implement litigation holds until 2024. The PBMs are prejudiced by Easthampton Town City's disregard for its most basic discovery obligations as a litigant, compounded by the delay in seeking leave to amend, and Easthampton Town City therefore lacks good cause for leave to amend its complaint. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28 (denying leave to amend in part because the passage of time resulted in significant prejudice due to the loss of documents or records); see also Section III.A.4, above.

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Massachusetts law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Easthampton Town City's delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs' ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Massachusetts law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Easthampton Town City, a municipality in Massachusetts, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Easthampton Town City's proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Easthampton Town City filed its original complaint on March 15, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See City of Easthampton, Massachusetts v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45336-DAP, ECF No. 1. It is therefore indisputable that Easthampton Town City knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend. Easthampton Town City's RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO's four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by "discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim" (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Easthampton Town City's request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Public Nuisance Statute of Limitations. In Massachusetts, public-nuisance claims are subject to a three-year limitations period. Easthampton Town City's public-nuisance claim against the PBMs is therefore time-barred because Easthampton Town City sought leave to amend its complaint on July 29, 2024—six years after filing its original complaint on March 15, 2018—and the proposed amendment does not relate back to the original filing for purposes of the applicable statute of limitations. See Zakora, 44 F.4th at 480 ("This court has repeatedly held that an amendment which adds a new party creates a new cause of action and there is no relation back to the original filing for purposes of limitations." (cleaned up)).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Easthampton Town City, a municipality in Massachusetts, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester's complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

364. City of Northampton v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45337-DAP: Plaintiff Northampton City, Massachusetts

Northampton City's untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Northampton City failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Northampton City also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, failure to timely implement a litigation hold, failure to submit a complete plaintiff fact sheet, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Northampton City's motion should be denied due to futility, as Northampton City does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its proposed public nuisance claim is barred by the statute of limitations, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Northampton City was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Northampton City amended its complaint on March 6, 2019, after transfer to the MDL on April 4, 2018. See City of Northampton v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45337-DAP, ECF No. 23. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Northampton City declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaint. See Section II.A.1, above. Northampton City's deadline to amend was in 2019. Northampton City waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Northampton City's lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order's deadline because plaintiff "had all the information [she] needed" to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a "wait-and-see approach" instead of timely moving to amend).

Prior Notice Through Counsel. Northampton City cannot meet the Rule 16 good cause standard because it is represented by the same counsel—Greene, Ketchum, Farrell, Bailey & Tweel, LLP; Powell & Majestro; Baron & Budd, P.C.; and McHugh Fuller Law Group, PLLC—that filed claims against the PBMs in 2019. See MDL ECF No. 2582. Northampton City, through its counsel, was on notice of potential claims against the PBMs and could readily have amended its complaint to add the PBMs much earlier. Northampton City fails to explain why it was unable to assert claims against the PBMs in 2019 when its own attorneys were already asserting those claims on behalf of other clients. See, e.g., Duggins, 195 F.3d at 834 (affirming denial of leave to amend after the close of discovery when the “plaintiff was obviously aware of the basis of the claim for many months, especially since some underlying facts were made a part of the complaint”); Thurmond, 649 F. App’x at 1006 (affirming denial of leave to amend for undue delay in part because plaintiff’s counsel had access to discovery in related cases and was previously aware of the proposed new defendants’ conduct).

OptumRx’s Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to Northampton City’s geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson Decl. (0.0007% market share for Northampton City). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Northampton City to add dispensing claims against OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Express Scripts’ Mail Order Pharmacy a Negligible Market Share. Express Scripts’ mail order pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of prescription opioid units shipped to Northampton City’s geographic jurisdiction during 2009 to 2019. See DeCarlo Decl., Exhibit C (0.13% market share). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Northampton City to add dispensing claims against Express Scripts’ mail order pharmacy entities. See Section III.A.2, above.

Failure to Timely Implement a Litigation Hold. Northampton City filed its original complaint on March 16, 2018, but waited until August 7, 2018 to implement a litigation hold. See City of Northampton v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45337-DAP, ECF No. 1; see also ECF No. 5687-1 (Date Litigation Hold Implemented: August 7, 2018). Northampton City’s violation of the Court’s orders (ECF Nos. 232; 5455) and disregard for its discovery obligations is prejudicial to the PBMs and weighs heavily against any finding of good cause for leave to amend. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28 (denying leave to amend in part because the passage of time resulted in significant prejudice due to the loss of documents or records); see also Section III.A.4, above.

Failure to Prosecute. In its Plaintiff Fact Sheet, Northampton City failed to provide complete answers to Questions I.B.8 and I.B.9, relating to Northampton City’s health plans, carriers, third party administrators, and pharmacy benefit managers throughout the relevant time period. The PBMs notified Northampton City of this deficiency on September 16, 2024 (see Exhibit B), but Northampton City refused to amend or supplement its Fact Sheet. Under this Court’s orders, Northampton City’s case is therefore subject to “dismiss[al] with prejudice” for failure to prosecute. ECF No. 4985 at 1 (emphasis in original); see Section III.A.5, above. Northampton City’s refusal to provide basic information related to its health care plans prejudices the PBMs’ ability to defend against Northampton City’s potential claims against them. Northampton City’s failure to diligently prosecute its case, coupled with the prejudice against the PBMs, negates any finding of good cause and leave to amend should be denied. See Final Amendment Order, ECF No. 5455 at 2 (directing counsel to dismiss, not seek leave to amend, in any case that “plaintiffs’ counsel does not intend to zealously pursue in litigation”); Range, 2017

WL 9477693, at *4 n.6 (denying motion for leave to amend as moot because claims were dismissed for failure to prosecute).

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Massachusetts law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Northampton City's delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs' ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Massachusetts law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Northampton City, a municipality in Massachusetts, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Northampton City's proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Northampton City filed its original complaint on March 16, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See City of Northampton v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45337-DAP, ECF No. 1. It is therefore indisputable that Northampton City knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend. Northampton City's RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO's four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by "discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim" (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Northampton City's request for leave to amend to add a

RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Public Nuisance Statute of Limitations. In Massachusetts, public-nuisance claims are subject to a three-year limitations period. Northampton City’s public-nuisance claim against the PBMs is therefore time-barred because Northampton City sought leave to amend its complaint on July 29, 2024—six years after filing its original complaint on March 16, 2018—and the proposed amendment does not relate back to the original filing for purposes of the applicable statute of limitations. See Zakora, 44 F.4th at 480 (“This court has repeatedly held that an amendment which adds a new party creates a new cause of action and there is no relation back to the original filing for purposes of limitations.” (cleaned up)).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Northampton City, a municipality in Massachusetts, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester’s complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

365. County of Oneida, New York v. Purdue Pharma, L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45338-DAP: Plaintiff Oneida County, New York

Oneida County’s untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Oneida County failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Oneida County also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, failure to implement a litigation hold, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Oneida County’s motion should be denied due to futility, as Oneida County does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, and its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations.

Lack of Diligence. Oneida County was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Oneida County amended its complaint on March 12, 2019, after transfer to the MDL on April 4, 2018. See County of Oneida, New York v. Purdue Pharma, L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45338-DAP, ECF No. 78. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Oneida County declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaint. See Section II.A.1, above. Oneida County's deadline to amend was in 2019. Oneida County waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Oneida County's lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order's deadline because plaintiff "had all the information [she] needed" to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a "wait-and-see approach" instead of timely moving to amend).

OptumRx's Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to Oneida County's geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson Decl. (0.02% market share for Oneida County). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Oneida County to add dispensing claims against OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Express Scripts' Mail Order Pharmacy a Negligible Market Share. Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of prescription opioid units shipped to Oneida County's geographic jurisdiction during 2009 to 2019. See DeCarlo Decl., Exhibit C (0.19% market share). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Oneida County to add dispensing claims against Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy entities. See Section III.A.2, above.

Failure to Implement a Litigation Hold. Oneida County filed its original complaint on March 14, 2018. See County of Oneida, New York v. Purdue Pharma, L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45338-DAP, ECF No. 1. Despite filing its case years ago, Oneida County never implemented a litigation hold, in violation of this Court’s orders (ECF Nos. 232; 5455). See ECF No. 5687-1 (Date Litigation Hold Implemented: Never). Litigating Oneida County’s case would force the parties and the Court to waste time and resources ascertaining the extent of Oneida County’s document destruction and the appropriate sanctions—just as the parties were forced to do in the three PBM bellwethers that failed to implement litigation holds until 2024. The PBMs are prejudiced by Oneida County’s disregard for its most basic discovery obligations as a litigant, compounded by the delay in seeking leave to amend, and Oneida County therefore lacks good cause for leave to amend its complaint. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28 (denying leave to amend in part because the passage of time resulted in significant prejudice due to the loss of documents or records); see also Section III.A.4, above.

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under New York law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Oneida County’s delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs’ ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under New York law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Oneida County’s proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Oneida County filed its original complaint on March 14, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See County of Oneida, New York v. Purdue Pharma, L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45338-DAP, ECF No. 1. It is therefore indisputable that Oneida County knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend. Oneida County's RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO's four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by "discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim" (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Oneida County's request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

366. County of Shiawassee, Michigan v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45350-DAP: Plaintiff Shiawassee County, Michigan

Shiawassee County's untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Shiawassee County failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Shiawassee County also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Shiawassee County's motion should be denied due to futility, as Shiawassee County does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Shiawassee County was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Shiawassee County amended its complaint on March 16, 2019, after transfer to the MDL on April 5, 2018. See County of Shiawassee, Michigan v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45350-DAP, ECF No. 23. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Shiawassee County declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaint. See Section II.A.1, above. Shiawassee County's deadline to amend was in 2019. Shiawassee County waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Shiawassee County's lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order's deadline because plaintiff "had all the information [she] needed" to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a "wait-and-see approach" instead of timely moving to amend).

OptumRx's Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to Shiawassee County's geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson Decl. (0.06% market share for Shiawassee County). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Shiawassee County to add dispensing claims against OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Michigan law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Shiawassee County's delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs' ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Michigan law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Shiawassee County, a municipality in Michigan, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Shiawassee County's proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Shiawassee County filed its original complaint on March 12, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See County of Shiawassee, Michigan v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45350-DAP, ECF No. 1. It is therefore indisputable that Shiawassee County knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend. Shiawassee County's RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO's four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by "discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim" (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Shiawassee County's request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Shiawassee County, a municipality in Michigan, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester's complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

367. County of Lenawee, Michigan v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45351-DAP: Plaintiff Lenawee County, Michigan

Lenawee County's untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Lenawee County failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Lenawee County also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Lenawee County's motion should be denied due to futility, as Lenawee County does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Lenawee County was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Lenawee County amended its complaint on March 16, 2019, after transfer to the MDL on April 5, 2018. See County of Lenawee, Michigan v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45351-DAP, ECF No. 22. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Lenawee County declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaint. See Section II.A.1, above. Lenawee County’s deadline to amend was in 2019. Lenawee County waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Lenawee County’s lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order’s deadline because plaintiff “had all the information [she] needed” to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a “wait-and-see approach” instead of timely moving to amend).

OptumRx’s Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to Lenawee County’s geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson Decl. (0.03% market share for Lenawee County). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Lenawee County to add dispensing claims against OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Michigan law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Lenawee County’s delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs’ ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Michigan law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Lenawee County, a municipality in Michigan, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Lenawee County's proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Lenawee County filed its original complaint on March 13, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See County of Lenawee, Michigan v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45351-DAP, ECF No. 1. It is therefore indisputable that Lenawee County knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend. Lenawee County's RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO's four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by "discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim" (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Lenawee County's request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Lenawee County, a municipality in Michigan, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester's complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

368. County of Sanilac, Michigan v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45352-DAP: Plaintiff Sanilac County, Michigan

Sanilac County's untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Sanilac County failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Sanilac County also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Sanilac County's motion should be denied due to futility, as Sanilac County does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Sanilac County was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Sanilac County first amended its complaint on March 13, 2018. See County of Sanilac, Michigan v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45352-DAP, ECF No. 2. Sanilac County amended its complaint again on March 16, 2019. See County of Sanilac, Michigan v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45352-DAP, ECF No. 25. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Sanilac County declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaints. See Section II.A.1, above. Sanilac County's deadline to amend was in 2019. Sanilac County waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Sanilac County's lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order's deadline because plaintiff "had all the information [she] needed" to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a "wait-and-see approach" instead of timely moving to amend).

OptumRx's Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to Sanilac County's geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson Decl. (0.03% market share for Sanilac County). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Sanilac County to add dispensing claims against OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Prior Notice as an Express Scripts Client. Sanilac County previously entered into a contract with Express Scripts for PBM services related to utilization management and formulary development. See Achter Decl., Exhibit A. That contract notified Sanilac County of the PBM services Express Scripts provides and Sanilac County began receiving those services on July 20, 2007. See id. Inasmuch as Sanilac County seeks to add claims against Express Scripts entities related to utilization management or formulary placement (see, e.g., Rochester Am. Compl. ¶¶ 733, 741, 786–816, 821–22, 845), Sanilac County knew or should have known of the alleged wrongful conduct more than ten years before moving to amend. See Section III.A.2, above. Sanilac County's delay in seeking leave to amend negates any finding of good cause for leave to amend. Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (denying motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order's deadline because plaintiff "had all the information [she] needed" to bring claims before the deadline).

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Michigan law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Sanilac County's delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs' ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Michigan law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Sanilac County, a municipality in Michigan, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Sanilac County's proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Sanilac County filed its original complaint on March 12, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See County of Sanilac, Michigan v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45352-DAP, ECF No. 1. It is therefore indisputable that Sanilac County knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend. Sanilac County's RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO's four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by "discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim" (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Sanilac County's request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Sanilac County, a municipality in Michigan, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester's complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

369. County of Hillsdale, Michigan v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45355-DAP: Plaintiff Hillsdale County, Michigan

Hillsdale County's untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Hillsdale County failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Hillsdale County also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Hillsdale County's motion should be denied due to futility, as Hillsdale County does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Hillsdale County was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Hillsdale County amended its complaint on March 16, 2019, after transfer to the MDL on April 5, 2018. See County of Hillsdale, Michigan v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45355-DAP, ECF No. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Hillsdale County declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaint. See Section II.A.1, above. Hillsdale County's deadline to amend was in 2019. Hillsdale County waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Hillsdale County's lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order's deadline because plaintiff "had all the information [she] needed" to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a "wait-and-see approach" instead of timely moving to amend).

OptumRx's Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to Hillsdale County's geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson

Decl. (0.11% market share for Hillsdale County). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Hillsdale County to add dispensing claims against OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Michigan law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Hillsdale County's delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs' ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Michigan law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Hillsdale County, a municipality in Michigan, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Hillsdale County's proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Hillsdale County filed its original complaint on March 13, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See County of Hillsdale, Michigan v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45355-DAP, ECF No. 1. It is therefore indisputable that Hillsdale County knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend. Hillsdale County's RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO's four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by "discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim" (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Hillsdale County's request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Hillsdale County, a municipality in Michigan, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester's complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

370. Calhoun County, Florida v. AmerisourceBergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45363-DAP: Plaintiff Calhoun County, Florida

Calhoun County's untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Calhoun County failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Calhoun County also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, failure to implement a litigation hold, failure to submit a complete plaintiff fact sheet, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Calhoun County's motion should be denied due to futility, as Calhoun County does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its proposed public nuisance claim is barred by the statute of limitations, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Calhoun County was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Calhoun County amended its complaint on March 8, 2019, after transfer to the MDL on April 5, 2018. See Calhoun County, Florida v. AmerisourceBergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45363-DAP, ECF No. 13. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Calhoun County declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaint. See Section II.A.1, above. Calhoun County's deadline to amend was in 2019. Calhoun County waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Calhoun County's lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order’s deadline because plaintiff “had all the information [she] needed” to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a “wait-and-see approach” instead of timely moving to amend).

Prior Notice Through Counsel. Calhoun County cannot meet the Rule 16 good cause standard because it is represented by the same counsel—Levin, Papantonio, Thomas, Mitchell, Rafferty & Proctor, P.A., and McHugh Fuller Law Group, PLLC—that filed claims against the PBMs in 2019. See MDL ECF No. 2582. Calhoun County, through its counsel, was on notice of potential claims against the PBMs and could readily have amended its complaint to add the PBMs much earlier. Calhoun County fails to explain why it was unable to assert claims against the PBMs in 2019 when its own attorneys were already asserting those claims on behalf of other clients. See, e.g., Duggins, 195 F.3d at 834 (affirming denial of leave to amend after the close of discovery when the “plaintiff was obviously aware of the basis of the claim for many months, especially since some underlying facts were made a part of the complaint”); Thurmond, 649 F. App’x at 1006 (affirming denial of leave to amend for undue delay in part because plaintiff’s counsel had access to discovery in related cases and was previously aware of the proposed new defendants’ conduct).

OptumRx’s Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to Calhoun County’s geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson Decl. (0.02% market share for Calhoun County). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Calhoun County to add dispensing claims against

OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Failure to Implement a Litigation Hold. Calhoun County filed its original complaint on March 16, 2018. See Calhoun County, Florida v. AmerisourceBergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45363-DAP, ECF No. 1. Despite filing its case years ago, Calhoun County never implemented a litigation hold and is instead purporting to rely on non-specific and unidentified document retention laws. See ECF No. 5687-1 (Date Litigation Hold Implemented: *(Never)). This is a plain violation of this Court's orders. ECF Nos. 232; 5455. Litigating Calhoun County's case would force the parties and the Court to waste time and resources ascertaining the extent of Calhoun County's document destruction and the appropriate sanctions—just as the parties were forced to do in the three PBM bellwethers that failed to implement litigation holds until 2024. The PBMs are prejudiced by Calhoun County's disregard for its most basic discovery obligations as a litigant, compounded by the delay in seeking leave to amend, and Calhoun County therefore lacks good cause for leave to amend its complaint. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28 (denying leave to amend in part because the passage of time resulted in significant prejudice due to the loss of documents or records); see also Section III.A.4, above.

Failure to Prosecute. In its Plaintiff Fact Sheet, Calhoun County failed to provide complete answers to Questions I.B.8 and I.B.9, relating to Calhoun County's health plans, carriers, third party administrators, and pharmacy benefit managers throughout the relevant time period. The PBMs notified Calhoun County of this deficiency on September 16, 2024 (see Exhibit B), but Calhoun County refused to amend or supplement its Fact Sheet. Under this Court's orders, Calhoun County's case is therefore subject to “dismiss[al] with prejudice” for failure to prosecute. ECF No. 4985 at 1 (emphasis in original); see Section III.A.5, above. Calhoun County's refusal to provide basic information related to its health care plans prejudices the PBMs' ability to defend against Calhoun County's potential claims against them. Calhoun County's failure to diligently prosecute its case, coupled with the prejudice against the PBMs, negates any finding of good cause and leave to amend should be denied. See Final Amendment Order, ECF No. 5455 at 2 (directing counsel to dismiss, not seek leave to amend, in any case that "plaintiffs' counsel does not intend to zealously pursue in litigation"); Range, 2017 WL 9477693, at *4 n.6 (denying motion for leave to amend as moot because claims were dismissed for failure to prosecute).

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Florida law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Calhoun County's delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs' ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Florida law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Calhoun County, a municipality in Florida, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Calhoun County's proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Calhoun County filed its original complaint on March 16, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See Calhoun County, Florida v. AmerisourceBergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45363-DAP, ECF No. 1. It is therefore indisputable that Calhoun County knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend. Calhoun County's RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO's four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by “discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim” (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Calhoun County’s request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Public Nuisance Statute of Limitations. In Florida, public-nuisance claims are subject to a four-year limitations period. Calhoun County’s public-nuisance claim against the PBMs is therefore time-barred because Calhoun County sought leave to amend its complaint on July 29, 2024—six years after filing its original complaint on March 16, 2018—and the proposed amendment does not relate back to the original filing for purposes of the applicable statute of limitations. See Zakora, 44 F.4th at 480 (“This court has repeatedly held that an amendment which adds a new party creates a new cause of action and there is no relation back to the original filing for purposes of limitations.” (cleaned up)).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Calhoun County, a municipality in Florida, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester’s complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

371. Jefferson County, Ohio v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45365-DAP: Plaintiff Jefferson County, Ohio

Jefferson County’s untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Jefferson County previously dismissed its claims against some of the PBMs with prejudice in another case. Moreover, Jefferson County failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Jefferson County also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, failure to timely implement a litigation hold, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Jefferson County’s motion should be denied due to futility, as Jefferson County does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its proposed public nuisance claim is barred by state law in Ohio, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Prior Dismissal with Prejudice. Jefferson County previously dismissed its claims against Express Scripts Holding Company, n/k/a Evernorth Health, Inc.; Express Scripts, Inc.; Medco Health Solutions, Inc.; Merck-Medco, n/k/a Medco Health Solutions, Inc.; UnitedHealth Group Incorporated; Optum, Inc.; and OptumRx, Inc.; with prejudice in another case. See County of Cuyahoga et al. v. Mylan Pharms., Inc. et al., Case No. 1:23-op-45003 (N.D. Ohio), ECF No. 50. That dismissal “operates as a final adjudication on the merits and has a res judicata effect.” Warfield, 267 F.3d at 542; see also Taylor, 21 F. App’x at 266 (“A dismissal with prejudice [by stipulation of the parties] operates as a rejection of the plaintiff’s claims on the merits and the doctrine of claim preclusion bars further litigation.”). Jefferson County’s proposed claims against Express Scripts Holding Company, n/k/a Evernorth Health, Inc.; Express Scripts, Inc.; Medco Health Solutions, Inc.; Merck-Medco, n/k/a Medco Health Solutions, Inc.; UnitedHealth Group Incorporated; Optum, Inc.; and OptumRx, Inc.; are therefore barred by res judicata and leave to amend should be denied as futile. See Gale, 142 F. Supp. 3d at 554–55 (“[A] stipulated dismissal with prejudice constitutes an adjudication on the merits” and denying motion for leave to amend complaint when “[p]laintiffs fail to allege any claim within this Court’s federal question jurisdiction that would not be barred by res judicata.”).

Lack of Diligence. Jefferson County was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Jefferson County amended its complaint on March 15, 2019, after transfer to the MDL on April 6, 2018. See Jefferson County, Ohio v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45365-DAP, ECF No. 40. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Jefferson County declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaint. See Section II.A.1, above. Jefferson County’s deadline to amend was in 2019. Jefferson County waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Jefferson County’s lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order’s deadline because plaintiff “had all the information [she] needed” to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a “wait-and-see approach” instead of timely moving to amend).

Prior Notice Through Counsel. Jefferson County cannot meet the Rule 16 good cause standard because it is represented by the same counsel—Napoli Shkolnik, PLLC—that have been bringing claims against the PBMs since 2019. Jefferson County—through its counsel—was on notice of potential claims against the PBMs and could readily have amended its complaint to add the PBMs much earlier. Jefferson County fails to explain why it was unable to assert claims against the PBMs in 2019 when its own attorneys were already asserting those claims on behalf of other clients. See, e.g., Duggins, 195 F.3d at 834 (affirming denial of leave to amend after the close of discovery when the “plaintiff was obviously aware of the basis of the claim for many months, especially since some underlying facts were made a part of the complaint”); Thurmond, 649 F. App’x at 1006 (affirming denial of leave to amend for undue delay in part because plaintiff’s counsel had access to discovery in related cases and was previously aware of the proposed new defendants’ conduct).

OptumRx’s Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to Jefferson County's geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson Decl. (0.05% market share for Jefferson County). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Jefferson County to add dispensing claims against OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Express Scripts' Mail Order Pharmacy a Negligible Market Share. Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of prescription opioid units shipped to Jefferson County's geographic jurisdiction during 2009 to 2019. See DeCarlo Decl., Exhibit C (0.25% market share). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Jefferson County to add dispensing claims against Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy entities. See Section III.A.2, above.

Failure to Timely Implement a Litigation Hold. Jefferson County violated its basic duty to implement a timely litigation hold. Jefferson County filed its original complaint on December 13, 2017, but waited until November 24, 2018 to implement a litigation hold—almost a year later. See Jefferson County, Ohio v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45365-DAP, ECF No. 3; see also ECF No. 5687-1 (Date Litigation Hold Implemented: November 24, 2018). This is a plain violation of this Court's orders. ECF Nos. 232; 5455. Litigating Jefferson County's case would force the parties and the Court to waste time and resources ascertaining the extent of Jefferson County's document destruction and the appropriate sanctions—just as the parties were forced to do in the three PBM bellwethers that failed to implement litigation holds until 2024. The PBMs are prejudiced by Jefferson County's disregard for its most basic discovery obligations as a litigant, compounded by the delay in seeking leave to amend, and Jefferson County therefore lacks good cause for leave to amend its complaint. See Pethel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28 (denying leave to amend in part because the passage of time resulted in significant prejudice due to the loss of documents or records); see also Section III.A.4, above.

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Ohio law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Jefferson County’s delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs’ ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Ohio law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Jefferson County, a municipality in Ohio, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

Plaintiff’s Public Nuisance Claim is Futile. Jefferson County is a plaintiff in Ohio. Jefferson County’s request for leave to add the PBMs as defendants to a public nuisance claim should be denied as futile because “all common-law public-nuisance claims arising from the sale of a product have been abrogated by the Ohio Product Liability Act.” In re Nat’l Prescription Opiate Litig., 2024 WL 5049302, at *1, 2024-OHIO-5744, ¶ 1; see Section III.B.3, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Jefferson County’s proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Jefferson County filed its amended complaint on March 15, 2019, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See Jefferson County, Ohio v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45365-DAP, ECF No. 40. It is therefore indisputable that Jefferson County knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, five years before seeking leave to amend. Jefferson County’s RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO’s four-year limitations period.

ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by “discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim” (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Jefferson County’s request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Jefferson County, a municipality in Ohio, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester’s complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

372. St. Croix Chippewa Indians of Wisconsin v. McKesson Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45367-DAP: Plaintiff St. Croix Chippewa Indians of Wisconsin, Wisconsin

St. Croix Chippewa Indians of Wisconsin’s untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. St. Croix Chippewa Indians of Wisconsin failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. St. Croix Chippewa Indians of Wisconsin also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, failure to implement a litigation hold, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, St. Croix Chippewa Indians of Wisconsin’s motion should be denied due to futility, as St. Croix Chippewa Indians of Wisconsin does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. St. Croix Chippewa Indians of Wisconsin was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, St. Croix Chippewa Indians of Wisconsin amended its complaint on August 12, 2019, after transfer to the MDL on April 5, 2018. See St. Croix Chippewa Indians of Wisconsin v. McKesson Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45367-DAP, ECF No. 64. Unlike many other plaintiffs, St. Croix Chippewa Indians of Wisconsin declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaint. See Section II.A.1, above. St. Croix Chippewa Indians of Wisconsin’s deadline to amend was in 2019. St. Croix Chippewa Indians of Wisconsin waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. St. Croix Chippewa Indians of Wisconsin’s lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order’s deadline because plaintiff “had all the information [she] needed” to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a “wait-and-see approach” instead of timely moving to amend).

Express Scripts’ Mail Order Pharmacy a Negligible Market Share. Express Scripts’ mail order pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of prescription opioid units shipped to St. Croix Chippewa Indians of Wisconsin’s geographic jurisdiction during 2009 to 2019. See DeCarlo Decl., Exhibit C (0.14% market share). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for St. Croix Chippewa Indians of Wisconsin to add dispensing claims against Express Scripts’ mail order pharmacy entities. See Section III.A.2, above.

Failure to Implement a Litigation Hold. St. Croix Chippewa Indians of Wisconsin filed its original complaint on December 6, 2017. See St. Croix Chippewa Indians of Wisconsin v. McKesson Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45367-DAP, ECF No. 1. Despite filing its case years ago, St. Croix Chippewa Indians of Wisconsin never implemented a litigation hold, in violation of this Court’s orders (ECF Nos. 232; 5455). See ECF No. 5687-1 (Date Litigation Hold Implemented: Never). Litigating St. Croix Chippewa Indians of Wisconsin’s case would force the parties and the Court to waste time and resources ascertaining the extent of St. Croix Chippewa Indians of Wisconsin's document destruction and the appropriate sanctions—just as the parties were forced to do in the three PBM bellwethers that failed to implement litigation holds until 2024. The PBMs are prejudiced by St. Croix Chippewa Indians of Wisconsin's disregard for its most basic discovery obligations as a litigant, compounded by the delay in seeking leave to amend, and St. Croix Chippewa Indians of Wisconsin therefore lacks good cause for leave to amend its complaint. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28 (denying leave to amend in part because the passage of time resulted in significant prejudice due to the loss of documents or records); see also Section III.A.4, above.

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Wisconsin law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But St. Croix Chippewa Indians of Wisconsin's delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs' ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Wisconsin law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. St. Croix Chippewa Indians of Wisconsin, a native tribe in Wisconsin, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for St. Croix Chippewa Indians of Wisconsin's proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. St. Croix Chippewa Indians of Wisconsin filed its amended complaint on August 12, 2019, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See St. Croix Chippewa Indians of Wisconsin v. McKesson Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45367-DAP, ECF No. 64. It is therefore indisputable that St. Croix Chippewa Indians of Wisconsin knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, five years before seeking leave to amend. St. Croix Chippewa Indians of Wisconsin's RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO's four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by "discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim" (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. St. Croix Chippewa Indians of Wisconsin's request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. St. Croix Chippewa Indians of Wisconsin, a native tribe in Wisconsin, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester's complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

373. County of Floyd v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45369-DAP: Plaintiff Floyd County, Kentucky

Floyd County's untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Floyd County failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Floyd County also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Floyd County's motion should be denied due to futility, as Floyd County does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Floyd County was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Floyd County amended its complaint on March 18, 2019, after transfer to the MDL on April 6, 2018. See County of Floyd v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45369-DAP, ECF No.

40. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Floyd County declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaint. See Section II.A.1, above. Floyd County’s deadline to amend was in 2019. Floyd County waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Floyd County’s lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order’s deadline because plaintiff “had all the information [she] needed” to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a “wait-and-see approach” instead of timely moving to amend).

Prior Notice Through Counsel. Floyd County cannot meet the Rule 16 good cause standard because it is represented by the same counsel—Napoli Shkolnik, PLLC—that have been bringing claims against the PBMs since 2019. Floyd County—through its counsel—was on notice of potential claims against the PBMs and could readily have amended its complaint to add the PBMs much earlier. Floyd County fails to explain why it was unable to assert claims against the PBMs in 2019 when its own attorneys were already asserting those claims on behalf of other clients. See, e.g., Duggins, 195 F.3d at 834 (affirming denial of leave to amend after the close of discovery when the “plaintiff was obviously aware of the basis of the claim for many months, especially since some underlying facts were made a part of the complaint”); Thurmond, 649 F. App’x at 1006 (affirming denial of leave to amend for undue delay in part because plaintiff’s counsel had access to discovery in related cases and was previously aware of the proposed new defendants’ conduct).

OptumRx’s Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to Floyd County’s geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson

Decl. (0.002% market share for Floyd County). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Floyd County to add dispensing claims against OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Express Scripts' Mail Order Pharmacy a Negligible Market Share. Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of prescription opioid units shipped to Floyd County's geographic jurisdiction during 2009 to 2019. See DeCarlo Decl., Exhibit C (0.09% market share). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Floyd County to add dispensing claims against Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy entities. See Section III.A.2, above.

Failure to Timely Implement a Litigation Hold. Floyd County violated its basic duty to implement a timely litigation hold. Floyd County filed its original complaint on November 2, 2017, but waited until September 1, 2018 to implement a litigation hold—ten months later. See County of Floyd v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45369-DAP, ECF No. 1-1; see also ECF No. 5687-1 (Date Litigation Hold Implemented: September 1, 2018). This is a plain violation of this Court's orders. ECF Nos. 232; 5455. Litigating Floyd County's case would force the parties and the Court to waste time and resources ascertaining the extent of Floyd County's document destruction and the appropriate sanctions—just as the parties were forced to do in the three PBM bellwethers that failed to implement litigation holds until 2024. The PBMs are prejudiced by Floyd County's disregard for its most basic discovery obligations as a litigant, compounded by the delay in seeking leave to amend, and Floyd County therefore lacks good cause for leave to amend its complaint. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28 (denying leave to amend in part because the passage of time resulted in significant prejudice due to the loss of documents or records); see also Section III.A.4, above.

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Kentucky law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Floyd County's delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs' ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Kentucky law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Floyd County, a municipality in Kentucky, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Floyd County's proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Floyd County filed its amended complaint on March 18, 2019, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See County of Floyd v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45369-DAP, ECF No. 40. It is therefore indisputable that Floyd County knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, five years before seeking leave to amend. Floyd County's RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO's four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by "discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim" (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Floyd County's request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Floyd County, a municipality in Kentucky, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester's complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

374. Panama City, Florida v. AmerisourceBergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45373-DAP: Plaintiff Panama City, Florida

Panama City's untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Panama City failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Panama City also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Panama City's motion should be denied due to futility, as Panama City does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its proposed public nuisance claim is barred by the statute of limitations, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Panama City was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Panama City amended its complaint on March 8, 2019, after transfer to the MDL on April 6, 2018. See Panama City, Florida v. AmerisourceBergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45373-DAP, ECF No. 20. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Panama City declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaint. See Section II.A.1, above. Panama City's deadline to amend was in 2019. Panama City waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Panama City's lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order's deadline because plaintiff "had all the information [she] needed” to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a “wait-and-see approach” instead of timely moving to amend).

Prior Notice Through Counsel. City of Panama City cannot meet the Rule 16 good cause standard because it is represented by the same counsel—Levin, Papantonio, Thomas, Mitchell, Rafferty & Proctor, P.A., and McHugh Fuller Law Group, PLLC—that filed claims against the PBMs in 2019. See MDL ECF No. 2582. City of Panama City, through its counsel, was on notice of potential claims against the PBMs and could readily have amended its complaint to add the PBMs much earlier. City of Panama City fails to explain why it was unable to assert claims against the PBMs in 2019 when its own attorneys were already asserting those claims on behalf of other clients. See, e.g., Duggins, 195 F.3d at 834 (affirming denial of leave to amend after the close of discovery when the “plaintiff was obviously aware of the basis of the claim for many months, especially since some underlying facts were made a part of the complaint”); Thurmond, 649 F. App’x at 1006 (affirming denial of leave to amend for undue delay in part because plaintiff’s counsel had access to discovery in related cases and was previously aware of the proposed new defendants’ conduct).

OptumRx’s Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to Panama City’s geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson Decl. (0.06% market share for City of Panama City). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Panama City to add dispensing claims against OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Express Scripts' Mail Order Pharmacy a Negligible Market Share. Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of prescription opioid units shipped to Panama City's geographic jurisdiction during 2009 to 2019. See DeCarlo Decl., Exhibit C (0.33% market share). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Panama City to add dispensing claims against Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy entities. See Section III.A.2, above.

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Florida law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Panama City's delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs' ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Florida law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Panama City, a municipality in Florida, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Panama City's proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Panama City filed its original complaint on March 16, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See Panama City, Florida v. AmerisourceBergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45373-DAP, ECF No. 1. It is therefore indisputable that Panama City knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend. Panama City's RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO's four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by "discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim” (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Panama City’s request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Public Nuisance Statute of Limitations. In Florida, public-nuisance claims are subject to a four-year limitations period. Panama City’s public-nuisance claim against the PBMs is therefore time-barred because Panama City sought leave to amend its complaint on July 29, 2024—six years after filing its original complaint on March 16, 2018—and the proposed amendment does not relate back to the original filing for purposes of the applicable statute of limitations. See Zakora, 44 F.4th at 480 (“This court has repeatedly held that an amendment which adds a new party creates a new cause of action and there is no relation back to the original filing for purposes of limitations.” (cleaned up)).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Panama City, a municipality in Florida, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester’s complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

375. County of Fulton v. Purdue Pharma, LP et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45374-DAP: Plaintiff Fulton County, Georgia

Fulton County’s untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Fulton County failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Fulton County also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, failure to timely implement a litigation hold, failure to submit a complete plaintiff fact sheet, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Fulton County’s motion should be denied due to futility, as Fulton County does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Fulton County was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Fulton County amended its complaint on March 18, 2019, after transfer to the MDL on April 6, 2018. See County of Fulton v. Purdue Pharma, LP et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45374-DAP, ECF No. 55. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Fulton County declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaint. See Section II.A.1, above. Fulton County’s deadline to amend was in 2019. Fulton County waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Fulton County’s lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order’s deadline because plaintiff “had all the information [she] needed” to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a “wait-and-see approach” instead of timely moving to amend).

Prior Notice Through Counsel. Fulton County cannot meet the Rule 16 good cause standard because it is represented by the same counsel—Napoli Shkolnik, PLLC—that have been bringing claims against the PBMs since 2019. Fulton County—through its counsel—was on notice of potential claims against the PBMs and could readily have amended its complaint to add the PBMs much earlier. Fulton County fails to explain why it was unable to assert claims against the PBMs in 2019 when its own attorneys were already asserting those claims on behalf of other clients. See, e.g., Duggins, 195 F.3d at 834 (affirming denial of leave to amend after the close of discovery when the “plaintiff was obviously aware of the basis of the claim for many months, especially since some underlying facts were made a part of the complaint”); Thurmond, 649 F.

App'x at 1006 (affirming denial of leave to amend for undue delay in part because plaintiff's counsel had access to discovery in related cases and was previously aware of the proposed new defendants' conduct).

OptumRx's Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to Fulton County's geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson Decl. (0.07% market share for Fulton County). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Fulton County to add dispensing claims against OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Express Scripts' Mail Order Pharmacy a Negligible Market Share. Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of prescription opioid units shipped to Fulton County's geographic jurisdiction during 2009 to 2019. See DeCarlo Decl., Exhibit C (0.24% market share). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Fulton County to add dispensing claims against Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy entities. See Section III.A.2, above.

Failure to Timely Implement a Litigation Hold. Fulton County filed its original complaint on October 23, 2017, but waited until February 22, 2018 to implement a litigation hold. See County of Fulton v. Purdue Pharma, LP et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45374-DAP, ECF No. 1-3; see also ECF No. 5687-1 (Date Litigation Hold Implemented: February 22, 2018). Fulton County's violation of the Court's orders (ECF Nos. 232; 5455) and disregard for its discovery obligations is prejudicial to the PBMs and weighs heavily against any finding of good cause for leave to amend. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28 (denying leave to amend in part because the passage of time resulted in significant prejudice due to the loss of documents or records); see also Section III.A.4, above.

Failure to Prosecute. In its Plaintiff Fact Sheet, Fulton County failed to provide complete answers to Questions I.B.8 and I.B.9, relating to Fulton County’s health plans, carriers, third party administrators, and pharmacy benefit managers throughout the relevant time period. The PBMs notified Fulton County of this deficiency on September 16, 2024 (see Exhibit B), but Fulton County refused to amend or supplement its Fact Sheet. Under this Court’s orders, Fulton County’s case is therefore subject to “dismiss[al] with prejudice” for failure to prosecute. ECF No. 4985 at 1 (emphasis in original); see Section III.A.5, above. Fulton County’s refusal to provide basic information related to its health care plans prejudices the PBMs’ ability to defend against Fulton County’s potential claims against them. Fulton County’s failure to diligently prosecute its case, coupled with the prejudice against the PBMs, negates any finding of good cause and leave to amend should be denied. See Final Amendment Order, ECF No. 5455 at 2 (directing counsel to dismiss, not seek leave to amend, in any case that “plaintiffs’ counsel does not intend to zealously pursue in litigation”); Range, 2017 WL 9477693, at *4 n.6 (denying motion for leave to amend as moot because claims were dismissed for failure to prosecute).

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Georgia law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Fulton County’s delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs’ ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Georgia law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Fulton County, a municipality in Georgia, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Fulton County’s proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Fulton County filed its amended complaint on March 18, 2019, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See County of Fulton v. Purdue Pharma, LP et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45374-DAP, ECF No. 55. It is therefore indisputable that Fulton County knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, five years before seeking leave to amend. Fulton County’s RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO’s four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by “discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim” (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Fulton County’s request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Fulton County, a municipality in Georgia, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester’s complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

376. Halifax County v. AmerisourceBergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45376-DAP: Plaintiff Halifax County, North Carolina

Halifax County’s untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Halifax County failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Halifax County also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Halifax County’s motion should be denied due to futility, as Halifax County does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Halifax County was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Halifax County amended its complaint on March 11, 2019, after transfer to the MDL on April 9, 2018. See Halifax County v. AmerisourceBergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45376-DAP, ECF No. 8. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Halifax County declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaint. See Section II.A.1, above. Halifax County’s deadline to amend was in 2019. Halifax County waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Halifax County’s lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order’s deadline because plaintiff “had all the information [she] needed” to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a “wait-and-see approach” instead of timely moving to amend).

Prior Notice Through Counsel. Halifax County cannot meet the Rule 16 good cause standard because it is represented by the same counsel—Greene, Ketchum, Farrell, Bailey & Tweel, LLP; Powell & Majestro; Baron & Budd, P.C.; Levin, Papantonio, Thomas, Mitchell, Rafferty & Proctor, P.A.; and McHugh Fuller Law Group, PLLC—that filed claims against the PBMs in 2019. See MDL ECF No. 2582. Halifax County, through its counsel, was on notice of potential claims against the PBMs and could readily have amended its complaint to add the PBMs much earlier. Halifax County fails to explain why it was unable to assert claims against the PBMs in 2019 when its own attorneys were already asserting those claims on behalf of other clients. See, e.g., Duggins, 195 F.3d at 834 (affirming denial of leave to amend after the close of discovery when the “plaintiff was obviously aware of the basis of the claim for many months, especially since some underlying facts were made a part of the complaint”); Thurmond, 649 F. App’x at 1006 (affirming denial of leave to amend for undue delay in part because plaintiff’s counsel had access to discovery in related cases and was previously aware of the proposed new defendants’ conduct).

OptumRx’s Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to Halifax County’s geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson Decl. (0.02% market share for Halifax County). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Halifax County to add dispensing claims against OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Express Scripts’ Mail Order Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. Express Scripts’ mail order pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of prescription opioid units shipped to Halifax County’s geographic jurisdiction during 2009 to 2019. See DeCarlo Decl., Exhibit C (0.33% market share). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Halifax County to add dispensing claims against Express Scripts’ mail order pharmacy entities. See Section III.A.2, above.

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under North Carolina law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Halifax County’s delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs’ ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under North Carolina law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Halifax County, a municipality in North Carolina, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Halifax County’s proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Halifax County filed its original complaint on March 12, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See Halifax County v. AmerisourceBergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45376-DAP, ECF No. 1. It is therefore indisputable that Halifax County knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend. Halifax County’s RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO’s four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by “discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim” (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Halifax County’s request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Halifax County, a municipality in North Carolina, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester’s complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

377. City of Mansfield v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45380-DAP: Plaintiff Mansfield City, Ohio

Mansfield City’s untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Mansfield City failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Mansfield City also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, failure to implement a litigation hold, failure to submit a plaintiff fact sheet, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Mansfield City's motion should be denied due to futility, as Mansfield City does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its proposed public nuisance claim is barred by state law in Ohio, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Mansfield City was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Mansfield City filed its original complaint on March 8, 2018 and the case joined the MDL on April 9, 2018. See City of Mansfield v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45380-DAP, ECF No. 1-3. Mansfield City could have amended its complaint, without leave, to add claims against the PBMs in 2019. See Section II.A.1, above. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Mansfield City elected not to do so. Instead, Mansfield City waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Mansfield City's lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order's deadline because plaintiff "had all the information [she] needed" to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a "wait-and-see approach" instead of timely moving to amend).

OptumRx's Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to Mansfield City's geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson Decl. (0.08% market share for Mansfield City). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Mansfield City to add dispensing claims against

OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Failure to Implement a Litigation Hold. Mansfield City filed its original complaint on March 8, 2018. See City of Mansfield v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45380-DAP, ECF No. 1-3. Despite filing its case years ago, Mansfield City never implemented a litigation hold and is instead purporting to rely on non-specific and unidentified document retention laws. See ECF No. 5687-1 (Date Litigation Hold Implemented: *(Never)). This is a plain violation of this Court's orders. ECF Nos. 232; 5455. Litigating Mansfield City's case would force the parties and the Court to waste time and resources ascertaining the extent of Mansfield City's document destruction and the appropriate sanctions—just as the parties were forced to do in the three PBM bellwethers that failed to implement litigation holds until 2024. The PBMs are prejudiced by Mansfield City's disregard for its most basic discovery obligations as a litigant, compounded by the delay in seeking leave to amend, and Mansfield City therefore lacks good cause for leave to amend its complaint. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28 (denying leave to amend in part because the passage of time resulted in significant prejudice due to the loss of documents or records); see also Section III.A.4, above.

Failure to Prosecute. Despite the Court's repeated instructions to the contrary, Mansfield City has never served a Plaintiff Fact Sheet. Mansfield City's case is therefore subject to “dismiss[al] with prejudice” for failure to prosecute. ECF No. 4985 at 1 (emphasis in original); see Section III.A.5, above. Mansfield City's failure to diligently prosecute its case negates any finding of good cause and leave to amend should be denied. See Final Amendment Order, ECF No. 5455 at 2 (directing counsel to dismiss, not seek leave to amend, in any case that “plaintiffs’ counsel does not intend to zealously pursue in litigation”); Range, 2017 WL 9477693, at *4 n.6

(denying motion for leave to amend as moot because claims were dismissed for failure to prosecute).

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Ohio law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Mansfield City’s delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs’ ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Ohio law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Mansfield City, a municipality in Ohio, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

Plaintiff’s Public Nuisance Claim is Futile. Mansfield City is a plaintiff in Ohio. Mansfield City’s request for leave to add the PBMs as defendants to a public nuisance claim should be denied as futile because “all common-law public-nuisance claims arising from the sale of a product have been abrogated by the Ohio Product Liability Act.” In re Nat’l Prescription Opiate Litig., 2024 WL 5049302, at *1, 2024-OHIO-5744, ¶ 1; see Section III.B.3, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Mansfield City’s proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Mansfield City filed its original complaint on March 8, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries for which it now seeks to recover under RICO against the PBMs. See City of Mansfield v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45380-DAP, ECF No. 1-3. Even assuming arguendo that Mansfield City first learned of its injury on the day it filed its original complaint, RICO’s four-year statute of limitations expired, at the very latest, on March 8, 2022. Mansfield City’s RICO claim is therefore time-barred. ECF No. 2568 at 13

(holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by “discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim” (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Mansfield City’s request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Mansfield City, a municipality in Ohio, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester’s complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

378. Martin County Fiscal Court v. AmerisourceBergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45388-DAP: Plaintiff Martin County, Kentucky

Martin County’s untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Martin County failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Martin County also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Martin County’s motion should be denied due to futility, as Martin County does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Martin County was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Martin County amended its complaint on March 9, 2019, after transfer to the MDL on April 11, 2018. See Martin County Fiscal Court v. AmerisourceBergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45388-DAP, ECF No. 21. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Martin County declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaint. See Section II.A.1, above. Martin County’s deadline to amend was in 2019. Martin County waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Martin County’s lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order’s deadline because plaintiff “had all the information [she] needed” to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a “wait-and-see approach” instead of timely moving to amend).

Prior Notice Through Counsel. Martin County cannot meet the Rule 16 good cause standard because it is represented by the same counsel—Greene, Ketchum, Farrell, Bailey & Tweel, LLP; Powell & Majestro; Baron & Budd, P.C.; Levin, Papantonio, Thomas, Mitchell, Rafferty & Proctor, P.A.; and McHugh Fuller Law Group, PLLC—that filed claims against the PBMs in 2019. See MDL ECF No. 2582. Martin County, through its counsel, was on notice of potential claims against the PBMs and could readily have amended its complaint to add the PBMs much earlier. Martin County fails to explain why it was unable to assert claims against the PBMs in 2019 when its own attorneys were already asserting those claims on behalf of other clients. See, e.g., Duggins, 195 F.3d at 834 (affirming denial of leave to amend after the close of discovery when the “plaintiff was obviously aware of the basis of the claim for many months, especially since some underlying facts were made a part of the complaint”); Thurmond, 649 F. App’x at 1006 (affirming denial of leave to amend for undue delay in part because plaintiff’s counsel had access to discovery in related cases and was previously aware of the proposed new defendants’ conduct).

OptumRx’s Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to Martin County’s geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson Decl. (0.004% market share for Martin County). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Martin County to add dispensing claims against OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Express Scripts' Mail Order Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of prescription opioid units shipped to Martin County's geographic jurisdiction during 2009 to 2019. See DeCarlo Decl., Exhibit C (0.05% market share). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Martin County to add dispensing claims against Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy entities. See Section III.A.2, above.

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Kentucky law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Martin County's delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs' ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Kentucky law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Martin County, a municipality in Kentucky, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Martin County's proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Martin County filed its original complaint on March 22, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See Martin County Fiscal Court v. AmerisourceBergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45388-DAP, ECF No. 1. It is therefore indisputable that Martin County knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend. Martin County's RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO's four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by "discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim" (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Martin County's request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Martin County, a municipality in Kentucky, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester's complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

379. Wayne County Fiscal Court v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45389-DAP: Plaintiff Wayne County, Kentucky

Wayne County's untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Wayne County failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Wayne County also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, failure to implement a litigation hold, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Wayne County's motion should be denied due to futility, as Wayne County does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Wayne County was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Wayne County amended its complaint on March 13, 2019, after transfer to the MDL on April 11, 2018. See Wayne County Fiscal Court v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45389-DAP, ECF No. 21. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Wayne County declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaint. See Section II.A.1, above. Wayne County’s deadline to amend was in 2019. Wayne County waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Wayne County’s lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order’s deadline because plaintiff “had all the information [she] needed” to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a “wait-and-see approach” instead of timely moving to amend).

Prior Notice Through Counsel. Wayne County cannot meet the Rule 16 good cause standard because it is represented by the same counsel—Greene, Ketchum, Farrell, Bailey & Tweel, LLP; Powell & Majestro; Baron & Budd, P.C.; Levin, Papantonio, Thomas, Mitchell, Rafferty & Proctor, P.A.; and McHugh Fuller Law Group, PLLC—that filed claims against the PBMs in 2019. See MDL ECF No. 2582. Wayne County, through its counsel, was on notice of potential claims against the PBMs and could readily have amended its complaint to add the PBMs much earlier. Wayne County fails to explain why it was unable to assert claims against the PBMs in 2019 when its own attorneys were already asserting those claims on behalf of other clients. See, e.g., Duggins, 195 F.3d at 834 (affirming denial of leave to amend after the close of discovery when the “plaintiff was obviously aware of the basis of the claim for many months, especially since some underlying facts were made a part of the complaint”); Thurmond, 649 F. App’x at 1006 (affirming denial of leave to amend for undue delay in part because plaintiff’s counsel had access to discovery in related cases and was previously aware of the proposed new defendants’ conduct).

OptumRx’s Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to Wayne County's geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson Decl. (0.002% market share for Wayne County). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Wayne County to add dispensing claims against OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Express Scripts' Mail Order Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of prescription opioid units shipped to Wayne County's geographic jurisdiction during 2009 to 2019. See DeCarlo Decl., Exhibit C (0.47% market share). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Wayne County to add dispensing claims against Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy entities. See Section III.A.2, above.

Failure to Implement a Litigation Hold. Wayne County filed its original complaint on March 22, 2018. See Wayne County Fiscal Court v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45389-DAP, ECF No. 1. Despite filing its case years ago, Wayne County never implemented a litigation hold and is instead purporting to rely on non-specific and unidentified document retention laws. See ECF No. 5687-1 (Date Litigation Hold Implemented: *(Never)). This is a plain violation of this Court's orders. ECF Nos. 232; 5455. Litigating Wayne County's case would force the parties and the Court to waste time and resources ascertaining the extent of Wayne County's document destruction and the appropriate sanctions—just as the parties were forced to do in the three PBM bellwethers that failed to implement litigation holds until 2024. The PBMs are prejudiced by Wayne County's disregard for its most basic discovery obligations as a litigant, compounded by the delay in seeking leave to amend, and Wayne County therefore lacks good cause for leave to amend its complaint. See Pethel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28 (denying leave to amend in part because the passage of time resulted in significant prejudice due to the loss of documents or records); see also Section III.A.4, above.

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Kentucky law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Wayne County’s delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs’ ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Kentucky law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Wayne County, a municipality in Kentucky, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Wayne County’s proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Wayne County filed its original complaint on March 22, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See Wayne County Fiscal Court v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45389-DAP, ECF No. 1. It is therefore indisputable that Wayne County knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend. Wayne County’s RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO’s four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by “discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim” (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Wayne County’s request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Wayne County, a municipality in Kentucky, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester’s complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

380. Family Practice Clinic of Booneville, Inc. et al. v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45390-DAP: Plaintiff Family Health Care Clinic, PSC, Kentucky

Family Health Care Clinic, PSC’s untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Family Health Care Clinic, PSC failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Family Health Care Clinic, PSC also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, failure to implement a litigation hold, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Family Health Care Clinic, PSC’s motion should be denied due to futility, as Family Health Care Clinic, PSC does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Family Health Care Clinic, PSC was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Family Health Care Clinic, PSC amended its complaint on March 15, 2019, after transfer to the MDL on April 11, 2018. See Family Practice Clinic of Booneville, Inc. et al. v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45390-DAP, ECF No. 20. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Family Health Care Clinic, PSC declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaint. See Section II.A.1, above. Family Health Care Clinic, PSC’s deadline to amend was in 2019. Family Health Care Clinic, PSC waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Family Health Care Clinic, PSC’s lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order’s deadline because plaintiff “had all the information [she] needed” to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a “wait-and-see approach” instead of timely moving to amend).

Failure to Implement a Litigation Hold. Family Health Care Clinic, PSC filed its original complaint on March 21, 2018. See Family Practice Clinic of Booneville, Inc. et al. v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45390-DAP, ECF No. 1. Despite filing its case years ago, Family Health Care Clinic, PSC never implemented a litigation hold and is instead purporting to rely on non-specific and unidentified document retention laws. See ECF No. 5687-1 (Date Litigation Hold Implemented: *(Never)). This is a plain violation of this Court’s orders. ECF Nos. 232; 5455. Litigating Family Health Care Clinic, PSC’s case would force the parties and the Court to waste time and resources ascertaining the extent of Family Health Care Clinic, PSC’s document destruction and the appropriate sanctions—just as the parties were forced to do in the three PBM bellwethers that failed to implement litigation holds until 2024. The PBMs are prejudiced by Family Health Care Clinic, PSC’s disregard for its most basic discovery obligations as a litigant, compounded by the delay in seeking leave to amend, and Family Health Care Clinic, PSC therefore lacks good cause for leave to amend its complaint. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28 (denying leave to amend in part because the passage of time resulted in significant prejudice due to the loss of documents or records); see also Section III.A.4, above.

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Kentucky law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Family Health Care Clinic, PSC’s delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs’ ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Kentucky law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Family Health Care Clinic, PSC, a hospital in Kentucky, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Family Health Care Clinic, PSC's proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Family Health Care Clinic, PSC filed its original complaint on March 21, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See Family Practice Clinic of Booneville, Inc. et al. v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45390-DAP, ECF No. 1. It is therefore indisputable that Family Health Care Clinic, PSC knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend. Family Health Care Clinic, PSC's RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO's four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by "discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim" (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Family Health Care Clinic, PSC's request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Family Health Care Clinic, PSC, a hospital in Kentucky, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester's complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

381. Family Practice Clinic of Booneville, Inc. et al. v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45390-DAP: Plaintiff Family Practice Clinic of Booneville, Inc., Kentucky

Family Practice Clinic of Booneville, Inc.’s untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Family Practice Clinic of Booneville, Inc. failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Family Practice Clinic of Booneville, Inc. also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, failure to implement a litigation hold, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Family Practice Clinic of Booneville, Inc.’s motion should be denied due to futility, as Family Practice Clinic of Booneville, Inc. does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Family Practice Clinic of Booneville, Inc. was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Family Practice Clinic of Booneville, Inc. amended its complaint on March 15, 2019, after transfer to the MDL on April 11, 2018. See Family Practice Clinic of Booneville, Inc. et al. v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45390-DAP, ECF No. 20. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Family Practice Clinic of Booneville, Inc. declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaint. See Section II.A.1, above. Family Practice Clinic of Booneville, Inc.’s deadline to amend was in 2019. Family Practice Clinic of Booneville, Inc. waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Family Practice Clinic of Booneville, Inc.’s lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order’s deadline because plaintiff “had all the information [she] needed” to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a “wait-and-see approach” instead of timely moving to amend).

Failure to Implement a Litigation Hold. Family Practice Clinic of Booneville, Inc. filed its original complaint on March 21, 2018. See Family Practice Clinic of Booneville, Inc. et al. v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45390-DAP, ECF No. 1. Despite filing its case years ago, Family Practice Clinic of Booneville, Inc. never implemented a litigation hold and is instead purporting to rely on non-specific and unidentified document retention laws. See ECF No. 5687-1 (Date Litigation Hold Implemented: *(Never)). This is a plain violation of this Court’s orders. ECF Nos. 232; 5455. Litigating Family Practice Clinic of Booneville, Inc.’s case would force the parties and the Court to waste time and resources ascertaining the extent of Family Practice Clinic of Booneville, Inc.’s document destruction and the appropriate sanctions—just as the parties were forced to do in the three PBM bellwethers that failed to implement litigation holds until 2024. The PBMs are prejudiced by Family Practice Clinic of Booneville, Inc.’s disregard for its most basic discovery obligations as a litigant, compounded by the delay in seeking leave to amend, and Family Practice Clinic of Booneville, Inc. therefore lacks good cause for leave to amend its complaint. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28 (denying leave to amend in part because the passage of time resulted in significant prejudice due to the loss of documents or records); see also Section III.A.4, above.

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Kentucky law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Family Practice Clinic of Booneville, Inc.’s delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs’ ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Kentucky law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Family Practice Clinic of Booneville, Inc., a hospital in Kentucky, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Family Practice Clinic of Booneville, Inc.’s proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Family Practice Clinic of Booneville, Inc. filed its original complaint on March 21, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See Family Practice Clinic of Booneville, Inc. et al. v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45390-DAP, ECF No. 1. It is therefore indisputable that Family Practice Clinic of Booneville, Inc. knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend. Family Practice Clinic of Booneville, Inc.’s RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO’s four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by “discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim” (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Family Practice Clinic of Booneville, Inc.’s request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Family Practice Clinic of Booneville, Inc., a hospital in Kentucky, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester’s complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

382. City of Pooler, Georgia v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45391-DAP: Plaintiff Pooler City, Georgia

Pooler City's untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Pooler City failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Pooler City also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Pooler City's motion should be denied due to futility, as Pooler City does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Pooler City was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Pooler City filed its original complaint on March 20, 2018 and the case was transferred to the MDL on April 10, 2018. See City of Pooler, Georgia v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45391-DAP, ECF No. 3. Pooler City could have amended its complaint, without leave, to add claims against the PBMs in 2019. See Section II.A.1, above. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Pooler City elected not to do so. Instead, Pooler City waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Pooler City's lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order's deadline because plaintiff "had all the information [she] needed" to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a "wait-and-see approach" instead of timely moving to amend).

OptumRx's Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to Pooler City's geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson Decl. (0.003% market share for Pooler City). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Pooler City to add dispensing claims against OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Express Scripts' Mail Order Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of prescription opioid units shipped to Pooler City's geographic jurisdiction during 2009 to 2019. See DeCarlo Decl., Exhibit C (0.12% market share). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Pooler City to add dispensing claims against Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy entities. See Section III.A.2, above.

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Georgia law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Pooler City's delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs' ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Georgia law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Pooler City, a municipality in Georgia, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Pooler City's proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Pooler City filed its original complaint on March 20, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries for which it now seeks to recover under RICO against the PBMs. See City of Pooler, Georgia v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45391-DAP, ECF No. 1. Even assuming arguendo that Pooler City first learned of its injury on the day it filed its original complaint, RICO's four-year statute of limitations expired, at the very latest, on March 20, 2022. Pooler City's RICO claim is therefore time-barred. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by "discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim" (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Pooler City's request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Pooler City, a municipality in Georgia, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester's complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

383. Carter County Fiscal Court v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45392-DAP: Plaintiff Carter County, Kentucky

Carter County's untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Carter County failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Carter County also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, failure to timely implement a litigation hold, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Carter County's motion should be denied due to futility, as Carter County does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its proposed public nuisance claim is barred by the statute of limitations, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Carter County was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Carter County amended its complaint on March 8, 2019, after transfer to the MDL on April 11, 2018. See Carter County Fiscal Court v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45392-DAP, ECF No. 21. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Carter County declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaint. See Section II.A.1, above. Carter County’s deadline to amend was in 2019. Carter County waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Carter County’s lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order’s deadline because plaintiff “had all the information [she] needed” to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a “wait-and-see approach” instead of timely moving to amend).

Prior Notice Through Counsel. Carter County cannot meet the Rule 16 good cause standard because it is represented by the same counsel—Greene, Ketchum, Farrell, Bailey & Tweel, LLP; Powell & Majestro; Baron & Budd, P.C.; Levin, Papantonio, Thomas, Mitchell, Rafferty & Proctor, P.A.; and McHugh Fuller Law Group, PLLC—that filed claims against the PBMs in 2019. See MDL ECF No. 2582. Carter County, through its counsel, was on notice of potential claims against the PBMs and could readily have amended its complaint to add the PBMs much earlier. Carter County fails to explain why it was unable to assert claims against the PBMs in 2019 when its own attorneys were already asserting those claims on behalf of other clients. See, e.g., Duggins, 195 F.3d at 834 (affirming denial of leave to amend after the close of discovery when the “plaintiff was obviously aware of the basis of the claim for many months, especially since some underlying facts were made a part of the complaint”); Thurmond, 649 F. App’x at 1006 (affirming denial of leave to amend for undue delay in part because plaintiff’s counsel had access to discovery in related cases and was previously aware of the proposed new defendants’ conduct).

OptumRx's Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to Carter County's geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson Decl. (0.30% market share for Carter County). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Carter County to add dispensing claims against OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Express Scripts' Mail Order Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of prescription opioid units shipped to Carter County's geographic jurisdiction during 2009 to 2019. See DeCarlo Decl., Exhibit C (0.42% market share). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Carter County to add dispensing claims against Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy entities. See Section III.A.2, above.

Failure to Timely Implement a Litigation Hold. Carter County violated its basic duty to implement a timely litigation hold. Carter County filed its original complaint on March 22, 2018, but waited until October 29, 2021 to implement a litigation hold—more than three and a half years later. See Carter County Fiscal Court v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45392-DAP, ECF No. 1; see also ECF No. 5687-1 (Date Litigation Hold Implemented: October 29, 2021). This is a plain violation of this Court's orders. ECF Nos. 232; 5455. Litigating Carter County's case would force the parties and the Court to waste time and resources ascertaining the extent of Carter County's document destruction and the appropriate sanctions—just as the parties were forced to do in the three PBM bellwethers that failed to implement litigation holds until 2024. The PBMs are prejudiced by Carter County's disregard for its most basic discovery obligations as a litigant, compounded by the delay in seeking leave to amend, and Carter County therefore lacks good cause for leave to amend its complaint. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28 (denying leave to amend in part because the passage of time resulted in significant prejudice due to the loss of documents or records); see also Section III.A.4, above.

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Kentucky law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Carter County’s delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs’ ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Kentucky law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Carter County, a municipality in Kentucky, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Carter County’s proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Carter County filed its original complaint on March 22, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See Carter County Fiscal Court v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45392-DAP, ECF No. 1. It is therefore indisputable that Carter County knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend. Carter County’s RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO’s four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by “discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim” (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Carter County’s request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Carter County, a municipality in Kentucky, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester's complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

384. Elliott County Fiscal Court v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45393-DAP: Plaintiff Elliott County, Kentucky

Elliott County's untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Elliott County failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Elliott County also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, failure to implement a litigation hold, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Elliott County's motion should be denied due to futility, as Elliott County does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its proposed public nuisance claim is barred by the statute of limitations, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Elliott County was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Elliott County amended its complaint on March 9, 2019, after transfer to the MDL on April 11, 2018. See Elliott County Fiscal Court v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45393-DAP, ECF No. 21. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Elliott County declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaint. See Section II.A.1, above. Elliott County's deadline to amend was in 2019. Elliott County waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Elliott County's lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order’s deadline because plaintiff “had all the information [she] needed” to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a “wait-and-see approach” instead of timely moving to amend).

Prior Notice Through Counsel. Elliott County cannot meet the Rule 16 good cause standard because it is represented by the same counsel—Greene, Ketchum, Farrell, Bailey & Tweel, LLP; Powell & Majestro; Baron & Budd, P.C.; Levin, Papantonio, Thomas, Mitchell, Rafferty & Proctor, P.A.; and McHugh Fuller Law Group, PLLC—that filed claims against the PBMs in 2019. See MDL ECF No. 2582. Elliott County, through its counsel, was on notice of potential claims against the PBMs and could readily have amended its complaint to add the PBMs much earlier. Elliott County fails to explain why it was unable to assert claims against the PBMs in 2019 when its own attorneys were already asserting those claims on behalf of other clients. See, e.g., Duggins, 195 F.3d at 834 (affirming denial of leave to amend after the close of discovery when the “plaintiff was obviously aware of the basis of the claim for many months, especially since some underlying facts were made a part of the complaint”); Thurmond, 649 F. App’x at 1006 (affirming denial of leave to amend for undue delay in part because plaintiff’s counsel had access to discovery in related cases and was previously aware of the proposed new defendants’ conduct).

OptumRx’s Home-Delivery Pharmacy Had Zero Dispenses. OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy did not dispense a single opioid prescription to Elliott County’s geographic jurisdiction over the period for which OptumRx has data (2010 to 2019). See Gustafson Decl.. Because OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy “ha[s] no market share, they shouldn’t be in the case, period.” ECF No. 3685 at 6:9–14; see Section III.A.2, above. Thus, Elliott County cannot show good cause to add claims against OptumRx in its capacity as a home delivery pharmacy.

Express Scripts' Mail Order Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of prescription opioid units shipped to Elliott County's geographic jurisdiction during 2009 to 2019. See DeCarlo Decl., Exhibit C (0.35% market share). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Elliott County to add dispensing claims against Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy entities. See Section III.A.2, above.

Failure to Implement a Litigation Hold. Elliott County filed its original complaint on March 22, 2018. See Elliott County Fiscal Court v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45393-DAP, ECF No. 1. Despite filing its case years ago, Elliott County never implemented a litigation hold and is instead purporting to rely on non-specific and unidentified document retention laws. See ECF No. 5687-1 (Date Litigation Hold Implemented: *(Never)). This is a plain violation of this Court's orders. ECF Nos. 232; 5455. Litigating Elliott County's case would force the parties and the Court to waste time and resources ascertaining the extent of Elliott County's document destruction and the appropriate sanctions—just as the parties were forced to do in the three PBM bellwethers that failed to implement litigation holds until 2024. The PBMs are prejudiced by Elliott County's disregard for its most basic discovery obligations as a litigant, compounded by the delay in seeking leave to amend, and Elliott County therefore lacks good cause for leave to amend its complaint. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28 (denying leave to amend in part because the passage of time resulted in significant prejudice due to the loss of documents or records); see also Section III.A.4, above.

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Kentucky law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Elliott County's delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs' ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Kentucky law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Elliott County, a municipality in Kentucky, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Elliott County's proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Elliott County filed its original complaint on March 22, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See Elliott County Fiscal Court v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45393-DAP, ECF No. 1. It is therefore indisputable that Elliott County knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend. Elliott County's RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO's four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by "discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim" (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Elliott County's request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Elliott County, a municipality in Kentucky, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester's complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

385. Bracken County Fiscal Court v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45395-DAP: Plaintiff Bracken County, Kentucky

Bracken County's untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Bracken County failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Bracken County also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, failure to implement a litigation hold, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Bracken County's motion should be denied due to futility, as Bracken County does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Bracken County was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Bracken County amended its complaint on March 8, 2019, after transfer to the MDL on April 11, 2018. See Bracken County Fiscal Court v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45395-DAP, ECF No. 13. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Bracken County declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaint. See Section II.A.1, above. Bracken County's deadline to amend was in 2019. Bracken County waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Bracken County's lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order's deadline because plaintiff "had all the information [she] needed" to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a "wait-and-see approach" instead of timely moving to amend).

Prior Notice Through Counsel. Bracken County cannot meet the Rule 16 good cause standard because it is represented by the same counsel—Greene, Ketchum, Farrell, Bailey & Tweel, LLP; Powell & Majestro; Baron & Budd, P.C.; Levin, Papantonio, Thomas, Mitchell, Rafferty & Proctor, P.A.; and McHugh Fuller Law Group, PLLC—that filed claims against the PBMs in 2019. See MDL ECF No. 2582. Bracken County, through its counsel, was on notice of potential claims against the PBMs and could readily have amended its complaint to add the PBMs much earlier. Bracken County fails to explain why it was unable to assert claims against the PBMs in 2019 when its own attorneys were already asserting those claims on behalf of other clients. See, e.g., Duggins, 195 F.3d at 834 (affirming denial of leave to amend after the close of discovery when the “plaintiff was obviously aware of the basis of the claim for many months, especially since some underlying facts were made a part of the complaint”); Thurmond, 649 F. App’x at 1006 (affirming denial of leave to amend for undue delay in part because plaintiff’s counsel had access to discovery in related cases and was previously aware of the proposed new defendants’ conduct).

OptumRx’s Home-Delivery Pharmacy Had Zero Dispenses. OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy did not dispense a single opioid prescription to Bracken County’s geographic jurisdiction over the period for which OptumRx has data (2010 to 2019). See Gustafson Decl.. Because OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy “ha[s] no market share, they shouldn’t be in the case, period.” ECF No. 3685 at 6:9–14; see Section III.A.2, above. Thus, Bracken County cannot show good cause to add claims against OptumRx in its capacity as a home delivery pharmacy.

Failure to Implement a Litigation Hold. Bracken County filed its original complaint on March 22, 2018. See Bracken County Fiscal Court v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45395-DAP, ECF No. 1. Despite filing its case years ago, Bracken County never implemented a litigation hold and is instead purporting to rely on non-specific and unidentified document retention laws. See ECF No. 5687-1 (Date Litigation Hold Implemented: *(Never)). This is a plain violation of this Court's orders. ECF Nos. 232; 5455. Litigating Bracken County's case would force the parties and the Court to waste time and resources ascertaining the extent of Bracken County's document destruction and the appropriate sanctions—just as the parties were forced to do in the three PBM bellwethers that failed to implement litigation holds until 2024. The PBMs are prejudiced by Bracken County's disregard for its most basic discovery obligations as a litigant, compounded by the delay in seeking leave to amend, and Bracken County therefore lacks good cause for leave to amend its complaint. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28 (denying leave to amend in part because the passage of time resulted in significant prejudice due to the loss of documents or records); see also Section III.A.4, above.

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Kentucky law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Bracken County's delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs' ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Kentucky law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Bracken County, a municipality in Kentucky, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Bracken County's proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Bracken County filed its original complaint on March 22, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See Bracken County Fiscal Court v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45395-DAP, ECF No. 1. It is therefore indisputable that Bracken County knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend. Bracken County's RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO's four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by "discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim" (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Bracken County's request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Bracken County, a municipality in Kentucky, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester's complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

386. Itawamba County, Mississippi v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45396-DAP: Plaintiff Itawamba County, Mississippi

Itawamba County's untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Itawamba County failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Itawamba County also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Itawamba County's motion should be denied due to futility, as Itawamba County does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Itawamba County was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Itawamba County amended its complaint on March 7, 2019, after transfer to the MDL on April 11, 2018. See Itawamba County, Mississippi v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45396-DAP, ECF No. 7. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Itawamba County declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaint. See Section II.A.1, above. Itawamba County’s deadline to amend was in 2019. Itawamba County waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Itawamba County’s lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order’s deadline because plaintiff “had all the information [she] needed” to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a “wait-and-see approach” instead of timely moving to amend).

Prior Notice Through Counsel. Itawamba County cannot meet the Rule 16 good cause standard because it is represented by the same counsel—McHugh Fuller Law Group, PLLC—that filed claims against the PBMs in 2019. See MDL ECF No. 2582. Itawamba County, through its counsel, was on notice of potential claims against the PBMs and could readily have amended its complaint to add the PBMs much earlier. Itawamba County fails to explain why it was unable to assert claims against the PBMs in 2019 when its own attorneys were already asserting those claims on behalf of other clients. See, e.g., Duggins, 195 F.3d at 834 (affirming denial of leave to amend after the close of discovery when the “plaintiff was obviously aware of the basis of the claim for many months, especially since some underlying facts were made a part of the complaint”); Thurmond, 649 F. App’x at 1006 (affirming denial of leave to amend for undue delay in part because plaintiff’s counsel had access to discovery in related cases and was previously aware of the proposed new defendants’ conduct).

OptumRx’s Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to Itawamba County's geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson Decl. (0.04% market share for Itawamba County). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Itawamba County to add dispensing claims against OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Express Scripts' Mail Order Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of prescription opioid units shipped to Itawamba County's geographic jurisdiction during 2009 to 2019. See DeCarlo Decl., Exhibit C (0.20% market share). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Itawamba County to add dispensing claims against Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy entities. See Section III.A.2, above.

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Mississippi law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Itawamba County's delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs' ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Mississippi law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Itawamba County, a municipality in Mississippi, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Itawamba County's proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Itawamba County filed its amended complaint on March 7, 2019, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See Itawamba County, Mississippi v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45396-DAP, ECF No. 7. It is therefore indisputable that Itawamba County knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, five years before seeking leave to amend. Itawamba County's RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO's four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by "discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim" (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Itawamba County's request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Itawamba County, a municipality in Mississippi, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester's complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

387. Marshall County, Mississippi v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45397-DAP: Plaintiff Marshall County, Mississippi

Marshall County's untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Marshall County failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Marshall County also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, failure to implement a litigation hold, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Marshall County's motion should be denied due to futility, as Marshall County does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Marshall County was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Marshall County amended its complaint on March 7, 2019, after transfer to the MDL on April 11, 2018. See Marshall County, Mississippi v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45397-DAP, ECF No. 6. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Marshall County declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaint. See Section II.A.1, above. Marshall County's deadline to amend was in 2019. Marshall County waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Marshall County's lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order's deadline because plaintiff "had all the information [she] needed" to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a "wait-and-see approach" instead of timely moving to amend).

Prior Notice Through Counsel. Marshall County cannot meet the Rule 16 good cause standard because it is represented by the same counsel—McHugh Fuller Law Group, PLLC—that filed claims against the PBMs in 2019. See MDL ECF No. 2582. Marshall County, through its counsel, was on notice of potential claims against the PBMs and could readily have amended its complaint to add the PBMs much earlier. Marshall County fails to explain why it was unable to assert claims against the PBMs in 2019 when its own attorneys were already asserting those claims on behalf of other clients. See, e.g., Duggins, 195 F.3d at 834 (affirming denial of leave to amend after the close of discovery when the "plaintiff was obviously aware of the basis of the claim for many months, especially since some underlying facts were made a part of the complaint"); Thurmond, 649 F. App'x at 1006 (affirming denial of leave to amend for undue delay in part because plaintiff's counsel had access to discovery in related cases and was previously aware of the proposed new defendants' conduct).

Express Scripts' Mail Order Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of prescription opioid units shipped to Marshall County's geographic jurisdiction during 2009 to 2019. See DeCarlo Decl., Exhibit C (0.39% market share). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Marshall County to add dispensing claims against Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy entities. See Section III.A.2, above.

Failure to Implement a Litigation Hold. Marshall County filed its original complaint on March 26, 2018. See Marshall County, Mississippi v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45397-DAP, ECF No. 1. Despite filing its case years ago, Marshall County never implemented a litigation hold and is instead purporting to rely on non-specific and unidentified document retention laws. See ECF No. 5687-1 (Date Litigation Hold Implemented: *(Never)). This is a plain violation of this Court's orders. ECF Nos. 232; 5455. Litigating Marshall County's case would force the parties and the Court to waste time and resources ascertaining the extent of Marshall County's document destruction and the appropriate sanctions—just as the parties were forced to do in the three PBM bellwethers that failed to implement litigation holds until 2024. The PBMs are prejudiced by Marshall County's disregard for its most basic discovery obligations as a litigant, compounded by the delay in seeking leave to amend, and Marshall County therefore lacks good cause for leave to amend its complaint. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28 (denying leave to amend in part because the passage of time resulted in significant prejudice due to the loss of documents or records); see also Section III.A.4, above.

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Mississippi law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Marshall County's delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs' ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Mississippi law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Marshall County, a municipality in Mississippi, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Marshall County's proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Marshall County filed its amended complaint on March 7, 2019, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See Marshall County, Mississippi v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45397-DAP, ECF No. 6. It is therefore indisputable that Marshall County knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, five years before seeking leave to amend. Marshall County's RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO's four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by "discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim" (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Marshall County's request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Marshall County, a municipality in Mississippi, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester's complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

388. City of Charleston, Mississippi v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45398-DAP: Plaintiff Charleston City, Mississippi

Charleston City's untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Charleston City failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Charleston City also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, failure to implement a litigation hold, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Charleston City's motion should be denied due to futility, as Charleston City does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Charleston City was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Charleston City amended its complaint on March 7, 2019, after transfer to the MDL on April 11, 2018. See City of Charleston, Mississippi v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45398-DAP, ECF No. 14. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Charleston City declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaint. See Section II.A.1, above. Charleston City's deadline to amend was in 2019. Charleston City waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Charleston City's lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order's deadline because plaintiff "had all the information [she] needed" to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a “wait-and-see approach” instead of timely moving to amend).

Prior Notice Through Counsel. Charleston City cannot meet the Rule 16 good cause standard because it is represented by the same counsel—McHugh Fuller Law Group, PLLC—that filed claims against the PBMs in 2019. See MDL ECF No. 2582. Charleston City, through its counsel, was on notice of potential claims against the PBMs and could readily have amended its complaint to add the PBMs much earlier. Charleston City fails to explain why it was unable to assert claims against the PBMs in 2019 when its own attorneys were already asserting those claims on behalf of other clients. See, e.g., Duggins, 195 F.3d at 834 (affirming denial of leave to amend after the close of discovery when the “plaintiff was obviously aware of the basis of the claim for many months, especially since some underlying facts were made a part of the complaint”); Thurmond, 649 F. App’x at 1006 (affirming denial of leave to amend for undue delay in part because plaintiff’s counsel had access to discovery in related cases and was previously aware of the proposed new defendants’ conduct).

OptumRx’s Home-Delivery Pharmacy Had Zero Dispenses. OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy did not dispense a single opioid prescription to Charleston City’s geographic jurisdiction over the period for which OptumRx has data (2010 to 2019). See Gustafson Decl.. Because OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy “ha[s] no market share, they shouldn’t be in the case, period.” ECF No. 3685 at 6:9–14; see Section III.A.2, above. Thus, Charleston City cannot show good cause to add claims against OptumRx in its capacity as a home delivery pharmacy.

Express Scripts’ Mail Order Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. Express Scripts’ mail order pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of prescription opioid units shipped to Charleston City’s geographic jurisdiction during 2009 to 2019. See DeCarlo Decl.,

Exhibit C (0.22% market share). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Charleston City to add dispensing claims against Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy entities. See Section III.A.2, above.

Failure to Implement a Litigation Hold. Charleston City filed its original complaint on March 26, 2018. See City of Charleston, Mississippi v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45398-DAP, ECF No. 1. Despite filing its case years ago, Charleston City never implemented a litigation hold, in violation of this Court's orders (ECF Nos. 232; 5455). See ECF No. 5687-1 (Date Litigation Hold Implemented: Never). Litigating Charleston City's case would force the parties and the Court to waste time and resources ascertaining the extent of Charleston City's document destruction and the appropriate sanctions—just as the parties were forced to do in the three PBM bellwethers that failed to implement litigation holds until 2024. The PBMs are prejudiced by Charleston City's disregard for its most basic discovery obligations as a litigant, compounded by the delay in seeking leave to amend, and Charleston City therefore lacks good cause for leave to amend its complaint. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28 (denying leave to amend in part because the passage of time resulted in significant prejudice due to the loss of documents or records); see also Section III.A.4, above.

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Mississippi law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Charleston City's delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs' ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Mississippi law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Charleston City, a municipality in Mississippi, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Charleston City’s proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Charleston City filed its amended complaint on March 7, 2019, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See City of Charleston, Mississippi v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45398-DAP, ECF No. 14. It is therefore indisputable that Charleston City knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, five years before seeking leave to amend. Charleston City’s RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO’s four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by “discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim” (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Charleston City’s request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Charleston City, a municipality in Mississippi, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester’s complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

389. Tallahatchie County, Mississippi v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45399-DAP: Plaintiff Tallahatchie County, Mississippi

Tallahatchie County’s untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Tallahatchie County failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Tallahatchie County also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, failure to implement a litigation hold, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Tallahatchie County's motion should be denied due to futility, as Tallahatchie County does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Tallahatchie County was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Tallahatchie County amended its complaint on March 7, 2019, after transfer to the MDL on April 11, 2018. See Tallahatchie County, Mississippi v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45399-DAP, ECF No. 6. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Tallahatchie County declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaint. See Section II.A.1, above. Tallahatchie County's deadline to amend was in 2019. Tallahatchie County waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Tallahatchie County's lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order's deadline because plaintiff "had all the information [she] needed" to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a "wait-and-see approach" instead of timely moving to amend).

Prior Notice Through Counsel. Tallahatchie County cannot meet the Rule 16 good cause standard because it is represented by the same counsel—McHugh Fuller Law Group, PLLC—that filed claims against the PBMs in 2019. See MDL ECF No. 2582. Tallahatchie County, through its counsel, was on notice of potential claims against the PBMs and could readily have amended its complaint to add the PBMs much earlier. Tallahatchie County fails to explain why it was unable to assert claims against the PBMs in 2019 when its own attorneys were already asserting those claims on behalf of other clients. See, e.g., Duggins, 195 F.3d at 834 (affirming denial of leave to amend after the close of discovery when the “plaintiff was obviously aware of the basis of the claim for many months, especially since some underlying facts were made a part of the complaint”); Thurmond, 649 F. App’x at 1006 (affirming denial of leave to amend for undue delay in part because plaintiff’s counsel had access to discovery in related cases and was previously aware of the proposed new defendants’ conduct).

OptumRx’s Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to Tallahatchie County’s geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson Decl. (0.18% market share for Tallahatchie County). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Tallahatchie County to add dispensing claims against OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Express Scripts’ Mail Order Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. Express Scripts’ mail order pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of prescription opioid units shipped to Tallahatchie County’s geographic jurisdiction during 2009 to 2019. See DeCarlo Decl., Exhibit C (0.21% market share). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Tallahatchie County to add dispensing claims against Express Scripts’ mail order pharmacy entities. See Section III.A.2, above.

Failure to Implement a Litigation Hold. Tallahatchie County filed its original complaint on March 26, 2018. See Tallahatchie County, Mississippi v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45399-DAP, ECF No. 1. Despite filing its case years ago, Tallahatchie County never implemented a litigation hold, in violation of this Court's orders (ECF Nos. 232; 5455). See ECF No. 5687-1 (Date Litigation Hold Implemented: Never). Litigating Tallahatchie County's case would force the parties and the Court to waste time and resources ascertaining the extent of Tallahatchie County's document destruction and the appropriate sanctions—just as the parties were forced to do in the three PBM bellwethers that failed to implement litigation holds until 2024. The PBMs are prejudiced by Tallahatchie County's disregard for its most basic discovery obligations as a litigant, compounded by the delay in seeking leave to amend, and Tallahatchie County therefore lacks good cause for leave to amend its complaint. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28 (denying leave to amend in part because the passage of time resulted in significant prejudice due to the loss of documents or records); see also Section III.A.4, above.

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Mississippi law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Tallahatchie County's delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs' ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Mississippi law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Tallahatchie County, a municipality in Mississippi, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Tallahatchie County's proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Tallahatchie County filed its amended complaint on March 7, 2019, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See Tallahatchie County, Mississippi v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45399-DAP, ECF No. 6. It is therefore indisputable that Tallahatchie County knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, five years before seeking leave to amend. Tallahatchie County's RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO's four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by "discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim" (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Tallahatchie County's request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Tallahatchie County, a municipality in Mississippi, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester's complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

390. Allen County Board of County Commissioners v. AmerisourceBergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45401-DAP: Plaintiff Allen County, Ohio

Allen County's untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Allen County failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Allen County also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, failure to implement a litigation hold, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Allen County's motion should be denied due to futility, as Allen County does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its proposed public nuisance claim is barred by state law in Ohio, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Allen County was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover,

Allen County amended its complaint on March 16, 2019, after directly filing in the MDL. See Allen County Board of County Commissioners v. AmerisourceBergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45401-DAP, ECF No. 23. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Allen County declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaint. See Section II.A.1, above. Allen County's deadline to amend was in 2019. Allen County waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Allen County's lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order's deadline because plaintiff "had all the information [she] needed" to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a "wait-and-see approach" instead of timely moving to amend).

OptumRx's Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to Allen County's geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson Decl. (0.08% market share for Allen County). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Allen County to add dispensing claims against OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Failure to Implement a Litigation Hold. Allen County filed its original complaint on April 10, 2018. See Allen County Board of County Commissioners v. AmerisourceBergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45401-DAP, ECF No. 1. Despite filing its case years ago, Allen County never implemented a litigation hold and is instead purporting to rely on non-specific and unidentified document retention laws. See ECF No. 5687-1 (Date Litigation Hold Implemented: *(Never)). This is a plain violation of this Court's orders. ECF Nos. 232; 5455. Litigating Allen County's case would force the parties and the Court to waste time and resources ascertaining the extent of Allen County's document destruction and the appropriate sanctions—just as the parties were forced to do in the three PBM bellwethers that failed to implement litigation holds until 2024. The PBMs are prejudiced by Allen County's disregard for its most basic discovery obligations as a litigant, compounded by the delay in seeking leave to amend, and Allen County therefore lacks good cause for leave to amend its complaint. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28 (denying leave to amend in part because the passage of time resulted in significant prejudice due to the loss of documents or records); see also Section III.A.4, above.

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Ohio law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Allen County's delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs' ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Ohio law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Allen County, a municipality in Ohio, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

Plaintiff's Public Nuisance Claim is Futile. Allen County is a plaintiff in Ohio. Allen County's request for leave to add the PBMs as defendants to a public nuisance claim should be denied as futile because "all common-law public-nuisance claims arising from the sale of a product have been abrogated by the Ohio Product Liability Act." In re Nat'l Prescription Opiate Litig., 2024 WL 5049302, at *1, 2024-OHIO-5744, ¶ 1; see Section III.B.3, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Allen County’s proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Allen County filed its original complaint on April 10, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See Allen County Board of County Commissioners v. AmerisourceBergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45401-DAP, ECF No. 1. It is therefore indisputable that Allen County knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend. Allen County’s RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO’s four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by “discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim” (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Allen County’s request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Allen County, a municipality in Ohio, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester’s complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

391. Milwaukee County Wisconsin v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45402-DAP: Plaintiff Milwaukee County, Wisconsin

Milwaukee County’s untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Milwaukee County failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Milwaukee County also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, failure to timely implement a litigation hold, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Milwaukee County’s motion should be denied due to futility, as Milwaukee County does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Milwaukee County was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Milwaukee County amended its complaint on March 13, 2019, after transfer to the MDL on April 11, 2018. See Milwaukee County Wisconsin v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45402-DAP, ECF No. 4. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Milwaukee County declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaint. See Section II.A.1, above. Milwaukee County’s deadline to amend was in 2019. Milwaukee County waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Milwaukee County’s lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order’s deadline because plaintiff “had all the information [she] needed” to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a “wait-and-see approach” instead of timely moving to amend).

Prior Notice Through Counsel. Milwaukee County cannot meet the Rule 16 good cause standard because it is represented by the same counsel—Greene, Ketchum, Farrell, Bailey & Tweel, LLP; Powell & Majestro; Baron & Budd, P.C.; Levin, Papantonio, Thomas, Mitchell, Rafferty & Proctor, P.A.; and McHugh Fuller Law Group, PLLC—that filed claims against the PBMs in 2019. See MDL ECF No. 2582. Milwaukee County, through its counsel, was on notice of potential claims against the PBMs and could readily have amended its complaint to add the PBMs much earlier. Milwaukee County fails to explain why it was unable to assert claims against the PBMs in 2019 when its own attorneys were already asserting those claims on behalf of other clients. See, e.g., Duggins, 195 F.3d at 834 (affirming denial of leave to amend after the close of discovery when the “plaintiff was obviously aware of the basis of the claim for many months, especially since some underlying facts were made a part of the complaint”); Thurmond, 649 F. App’x at 1006 (affirming denial of leave to amend for undue delay in part because plaintiff’s counsel had access to discovery in related cases and was previously aware of the proposed new defendants’ conduct).

OptumRx’s Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to Milwaukee County’s geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson Decl. (0.13% market share for Milwaukee County). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Milwaukee County to add dispensing claims against OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Express Scripts’ Mail Order Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. Express Scripts’ mail order pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of prescription opioid units shipped to Milwaukee County’s geographic jurisdiction during 2009 to 2019. See DeCarlo Decl., Exhibit C (0.45% market share). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Milwaukee County to add dispensing claims against Express Scripts’ mail order pharmacy entities. See Section III.A.2, above.

Prior Notice as an Express Scripts Client. Milwaukee County previously entered into a contract with Express Scripts for PBM services related to utilization management and formulary development. See Achter Decl., Exhibit A. That contract notified Milwaukee County of the PBM services Express Scripts provides and Milwaukee County began receiving those services on January 1, 2009. See id. Inasmuch as Milwaukee County seeks to add claims against Express Scripts entities related to utilization management or formulary placement (see, e.g., Rochester Am. Compl. ¶¶ 733, 741, 786–816, 821–22, 845), Milwaukee County knew or should have known of the alleged wrongful conduct more than ten years before moving to amend. See Section III.A.3, above. Milwaukee County’s delay in seeking leave to amend negates any finding of good cause for leave to amend. Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (denying motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order’s deadline because plaintiff “had all the information [she] needed” to bring claims before the deadline).

Failure to Timely Implement a Litigation Hold. Milwaukee County filed its original complaint on March 14, 2018, but waited until July 25, 2018 to implement a litigation hold. See Milwaukee County Wisconsin v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45402-DAP, ECF No. 1; see also ECF No. 5687-1 (Date Litigation Hold Implemented: July 25, 2018). Milwaukee County’s violation of the Court’s orders (ECF Nos. 232; 5455) and disregard for its discovery obligations is prejudicial to the PBMs and weighs heavily against any finding of good cause for leave to amend. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28 (denying leave to amend in part because the passage of time resulted in significant prejudice due to the loss of documents or records); see also Section III.A.4, above.

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Wisconsin law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Milwaukee County’s delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs’ ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Wisconsin law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Milwaukee County, a municipality in Wisconsin, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Milwaukee County's proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Milwaukee County filed its original complaint on March 14, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See Milwaukee County Wisconsin v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45402-DAP, ECF No. 1. It is therefore indisputable that Milwaukee County knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend. Milwaukee County's RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO's four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by "discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim" (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Milwaukee County's request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Milwaukee County, a municipality in Wisconsin, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester's complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

392. Madison County, Tennessee v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45403-DAP: Plaintiff Madison County, Tennessee

Madison County's untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Madison County failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Madison County also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Madison County's motion should be denied due to futility, as Madison County does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Madison County was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Madison County amended its complaint on March 8, 2019, after transfer to the MDL on April 11, 2018. See Madison County, Tennessee v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45403-DAP, ECF No. 10. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Madison County declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaint. See Section II.A.1, above. Madison County's deadline to amend was in 2019. Madison County waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Madison County's lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order's deadline because plaintiff "had all the information [she] needed" to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a "wait-and-see approach" instead of timely moving to amend).

Prior Notice Through Counsel. Madison County cannot meet the Rule 16 good cause standard because it is represented by the same counsel—Greene, Ketchum, Farrell, Bailey & Tweel, LLP; Powell & Majestro; Baron & Budd, P.C.; and Levin, Papantonio, Thomas, Mitchell, Rafferty & Proctor, P.A.—that filed claims against the PBMs in 2019. See MDL ECF No. 2582. Madison County, through its counsel, was on notice of potential claims against the PBMs and could readily have amended its complaint to add the PBMs much earlier. Madison County fails to explain why it was unable to assert claims against the PBMs in 2019 when its own attorneys were already asserting those claims on behalf of other clients. See, e.g., Duggins, 195 F.3d at 834 (affirming denial of leave to amend after the close of discovery when the “plaintiff was obviously aware of the basis of the claim for many months, especially since some underlying facts were made a part of the complaint”); Thurmond, 649 F. App’x at 1006 (affirming denial of leave to amend for undue delay in part because plaintiff’s counsel had access to discovery in related cases and was previously aware of the proposed new defendants’ conduct).

OptumRx’s Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to Madison County’s geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson Decl. (0.01% market share for Madison County). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Madison County to add dispensing claims against OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Express Scripts’ Mail Order Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. Express Scripts’ mail order pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of prescription opioid units shipped to Madison County’s geographic jurisdiction during 2009 to 2019. See DeCarlo Decl., Exhibit C (0.11% market share). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Madison County to add dispensing claims against Express Scripts’ mail order pharmacy entities. See Section III.A.2, above.

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Tennessee law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Madison County’s delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs’ ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Tennessee law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Madison County, a municipality in Tennessee, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Madison County’s proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Madison County filed its original complaint on March 21, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See Madison County, Tennessee v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45403-DAP, ECF No. 1. It is therefore indisputable that Madison County knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend. Madison County’s RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO’s four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by “discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim” (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Madison County’s request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Madison County, a municipality in Tennessee, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester’s complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

393. Henderson County, Tennessee v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45404-DAP: Plaintiff Henderson County, Tennessee

Henderson County's untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Henderson County failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Henderson County also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, failure to submit a complete plaintiff fact sheet, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Henderson County's motion should be denied due to futility, as Henderson County does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Henderson County was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Henderson County amended its complaint on March 8, 2019, after transfer to the MDL on April 11, 2018. See Henderson County, Tennessee v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45404-DAP, ECF No. 10. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Henderson County declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaint. See Section II.A.1, above. Henderson County's deadline to amend was in 2019. Henderson County waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Henderson County's lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order's deadline because plaintiff "had all the information [she] needed" to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a "wait-and-see approach" instead of timely moving to amend).

Prior Notice Through Counsel. Henderson County cannot meet the Rule 16 good cause standard because it is represented by the same counsel—Greene, Ketchum, Farrell, Bailey & Tweel, LLP; Powell & Majestro; Baron & Budd, P.C.; Levin, Papantonio, Thomas, Mitchell, Rafferty & Proctor, P.A.; and McHugh Fuller Law Group, PLLC—that filed claims against the PBMs in 2019. See MDL ECF No. 2582. Henderson County, through its counsel, was on notice of potential claims against the PBMs and could readily have amended its complaint to add the PBMs much earlier. Henderson County fails to explain why it was unable to assert claims against the PBMs in 2019 when its own attorneys were already asserting those claims on behalf of other clients. See, e.g., Duggins, 195 F.3d at 834 (affirming denial of leave to amend after the close of discovery when the “plaintiff was obviously aware of the basis of the claim for many months, especially since some underlying facts were made a part of the complaint”); Thurmond, 649 F. App’x at 1006 (affirming denial of leave to amend for undue delay in part because plaintiff’s counsel had access to discovery in related cases and was previously aware of the proposed new defendants’ conduct).

OptumRx’s Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to Henderson County’s geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson Decl. (0.02% market share for Henderson County). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Henderson County to add dispensing claims against OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Express Scripts’ Mail Order Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. Express Scripts’ mail order pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of prescription opioid units shipped to Henderson County’s geographic jurisdiction during 2009 to 2019. See DeCarlo Decl., Exhibit C (0.10% market share). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Henderson County to add dispensing claims against Express Scripts’ mail order pharmacy entities. See Section III.A.2, above.

Failure to Prosecute. In its Plaintiff Fact Sheet, Henderson County failed to provide complete answers to Questions I.B.8 and I.B.9, relating to Henderson County’s health plans, carriers, third party administrators, and pharmacy benefit managers throughout the relevant time period. The PBMs notified Henderson County of this deficiency on September 16, 2024 (see Exhibit B), but Henderson County refused to amend or supplement its Fact Sheet. Under this Court’s orders, Henderson County’s case is therefore subject to “dismiss[al] with prejudice” for failure to prosecute. ECF No. 4985 at 1 (emphasis in original); see Section III.A.5, above. Henderson County’s refusal to provide basic information related to its health care plans prejudices the PBMs’ ability to defend against Henderson County’s potential claims against them. Henderson County’s failure to diligently prosecute its case, coupled with the prejudice against the PBMs, negates any finding of good cause and leave to amend should be denied. See Final Amendment Order, ECF No. 5455 at 2 (directing counsel to dismiss, not seek leave to amend, in any case that “plaintiffs’ counsel does not intend to zealously pursue in litigation”); Range, 2017 WL 9477693, at *4 n.6 (denying motion for leave to amend as moot because claims were dismissed for failure to prosecute).

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Tennessee law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Henderson County’s delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs’ ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Tennessee law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Henderson County, a municipality in Tennessee, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Henderson County's proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Henderson County filed its original complaint on March 21, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See Henderson County, Tennessee v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45404-DAP, ECF No. 1. It is therefore indisputable that Henderson County knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend. Henderson County's RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO's four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by "discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim" (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Henderson County's request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Henderson County, a municipality in Tennessee, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester's complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

394. Grand Rapids, City of v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45406-DAP: Plaintiff Grand Rapids City, Michigan

Grand Rapids City's untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Grand Rapids City failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Grand Rapids City also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Grand Rapids City's motion should be denied due to futility, as Grand Rapids City does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its proposed public nuisance claim is barred by the statute of limitations, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Grand Rapids City was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Grand Rapids City amended its complaint on March 16, 2019, after transfer to the MDL on April 12, 2018. See Grand Rapids, City of v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45406-DAP, ECF No. 23. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Grand Rapids City declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaint. See Section II.A.1, above. Grand Rapids City's deadline to amend was in 2019. Grand Rapids City waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Grand Rapids City's lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order's deadline because plaintiff "had all the information [she] needed" to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a "wait-and-see approach" instead of timely moving to amend).

OptumRx's Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to Grand Rapids City's geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson Decl. (0.05% market share for Grand Rapids City). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Grand Rapids City to add dispensing claims against OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Express Scripts' Mail Order Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of prescription opioid units shipped to Grand Rapids City's geographic jurisdiction during 2009 to 2019. See DeCarlo Decl., Exhibit C (0.34% market share). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Grand Rapids City to add dispensing claims against Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy entities. See Section III.A.2, above.

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Michigan law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Grand Rapids City's delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs' ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Michigan law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Grand Rapids City, a municipality in Michigan, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Grand Rapids City’s proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Grand Rapids City filed its original complaint on March 22, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See Grand Rapids, City of v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45406-DAP, ECF No. 1. It is therefore indisputable that Grand Rapids City knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend. Grand Rapids City’s RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO’s four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by “discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim” (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Grand Rapids City’s request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Grand Rapids City, a municipality in Michigan, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester’s complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

395. Chambers County, Alabama v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45408-DAP: Plaintiff Chambers County, Alabama

Chambers County’s untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Chambers County failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Chambers County also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, failure to implement a litigation hold, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Chambers County’s motion should be denied due to futility, as Chambers County does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its proposed public nuisance claim is barred by the statute of limitations, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Chambers County was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Chambers County filed its original complaint on March 20, 2018 and the case was transferred to the MDL on April 12, 2018. See Chambers County, Alabama v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45408-DAP, ECF No. 17. Chambers County could have amended its complaint, without leave, to add claims against the PBMs in 2019. See Section II.A.1, above. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Chambers County elected not to do so. Instead, Chambers County waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Chambers County's lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order's deadline because plaintiff "had all the information [she] needed" to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a "wait-and-see approach" instead of timely moving to amend).

OptumRx's Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to Chambers County's geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson Decl. (0.01% market share for Chambers County). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Chambers County to add dispensing claims against OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Express Scripts' Mail Order Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of prescription opioid units shipped to Chambers County's geographic jurisdiction during 2009 to 2019. See DeCarlo Decl., Exhibit C (0.14% market share). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Chambers County to add dispensing claims against Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy entities. See Section III.A.2, above.

Failure to Implement a Litigation Hold. Chambers County filed its original complaint on March, 20, 2018. See Chambers County, Alabama v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45408-DAP, ECF No. 1. Despite filing its case years ago, Chambers County never implemented a litigation hold, in violation of this Court's orders (ECF Nos. 232; 5455). See ECF No. 5687-1 (Date Litigation Hold Implemented: Never). Litigating Chambers County's case would force the parties and the Court to waste time and resources ascertaining the extent of Chambers County's document destruction and the appropriate sanctions—just as the parties were forced to do in the three PBM bellwethers that failed to implement litigation holds until 2024. The PBMs are prejudiced by Chambers County's disregard for its most basic discovery obligations as a litigant, compounded by the delay in seeking leave to amend, and Chambers County therefore lacks good cause for leave to amend its complaint. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28 (denying leave to amend in part because the passage of time resulted in significant prejudice due to the loss of documents or records); see also Section III.A.4, above.

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Alabama law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Chambers County's delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs' ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Alabama law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Chambers County, a municipality in Alabama, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Chambers County’s proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Chambers County filed its original complaint on March 20, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See Chambers County, Alabama v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45408-DAP, ECF No. 1. It is therefore indisputable that Chambers County knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend. Chambers County’s RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO’s four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by “discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim” (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Chambers County’s request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Public Nuisance Statute of Limitations. In Alabama, public-nuisance claims are subject to a two-year limitations period. Chambers County’s public-nuisance claim against the PBMs is therefore time-barred because Chambers County sought leave to amend its complaint on July 29, 2024—six years after filing its original complaint on March 20, 2018—and the proposed amendment does not relate back to the original filing for purposes of the applicable statute of limitations. See Zakora, 44 F.4th at 480 (“This court has repeatedly held that an amendment which adds a new party creates a new cause of action and there is no relation back to the original filing for purposes of limitations.” (cleaned up)).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Chambers County lacks statutory standing to assert a public nuisance claim under Alabama law because it “is clearly not an individual, nor a city, nor the [s]tate,” and thus amendment is futile. Lee County, 2022 WL 450810, at *4 (concluding an Alabama county lacked standing to bring a Ala. Code § 6-5-121 claim); see Section III.B.3, above.

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Chambers County, a municipality in Alabama, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester’s complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

396. Thurston County v. Purdue Pharma, L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45409-DAP: Plaintiff Thurston County, Washington

Thurston County’s untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Thurston County failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Thurston County also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, failure to timely implement a litigation hold, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Thurston County’s motion should be denied due to futility, as Thurston County does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its proposed public nuisance claim is barred by the statute of limitations, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Thurston County was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Thurston County amended its complaint on March 15, 2019, after transfer to the MDL on April 12, 2018, as well as on May 28, 2019 and December 30, 2020. See Thurston County v. Purdue

Pharma, L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45409-DAP, ECF Nos. 25, 27, 31. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Thurston County declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaints. See Section II.A.1, above. Thurston County's deadline to amend was in 2019. Thurston County waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Thurston County's lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order's deadline because plaintiff "had all the information [she] needed" to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a "wait-and-see approach" instead of timely moving to amend).

OptumRx's Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to Thurston County's geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson Decl. (0.06% market share for Thurston County). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Thurston County to add dispensing claims against OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Express Scripts' Mail Order Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of prescription opioid units shipped to Thurston County's geographic jurisdiction during 2009 to 2019. See DeCarlo Decl., Exhibit C (0.24% market share). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Thurston County to add dispensing claims against Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy entities. See Section III.A.2, above.

Failure to Timely Implement a Litigation Hold. Thurston County filed its original complaint on March, 26, 2018, but waited until July 10, 2018 to implement a litigation hold. See Thurston County v. Purdue Pharma, L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45409-DAP, ECF No. 1; see also ECF No. 5687-1 (Date Litigation Hold Implemented: July 10, 2018). Thurston County's violation of the Court's orders (ECF Nos. 232; 5455) and disregard for its discovery obligations is prejudicial to the PBMs and weighs heavily against any finding of good cause for leave to amend. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28 (denying leave to amend in part because the passage of time resulted in significant prejudice due to the loss of documents or records); see also Section III.A.4, above.

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Washington law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Thurston County's delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs' ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Washington law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Thurston County, a municipality in Washington, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Thurston County's proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Thurston County filed its original complaint on March, 26, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See Thurston County v. Purdue Pharma, L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45409-DAP, ECF No. 1. It is therefore indisputable that Thurston County knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend. Thurston County's RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO's four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by "discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim" (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Thurston County's request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Public Nuisance Statute of Limitations. In Washington, public-nuisance claims are subject to a two-year limitations period. Thurston County's public-nuisance claim against the PBMs is therefore time-barred because Thurston County sought leave to amend its complaint on July 29, 2024—six years after filing its original complaint on March, 26, 2018—and the proposed amendment does not relate back to the original filing for purposes of the applicable statute of limitations. See Zakora, 44 F.4th at 480 ("This court has repeatedly held that an amendment which adds a new party creates a new cause of action and there is no relation back to the original filing for purposes of limitations." (cleaned up)).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Thurston County, a municipality in Washington, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester's complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

397. Walthall County, Mississippi v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45411-DAP: Plaintiff Walthall County, Mississippi

Walthall County's untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Walthall County failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Walthall County also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, failure to implement a litigation hold, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Walthall County's motion should be denied due to futility, as Walthall County does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Walthall County was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Walthall County amended its complaint on March 12, 2019, after transfer to the MDL on April 12, 2018. See Walthall County, Mississippi v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45411-DAP, ECF No. 8. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Walthall County declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaint. See Section II.A.1, above. Walthall County's deadline to amend was in 2019. Walthall County waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Walthall County's lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order's deadline because plaintiff "had all the information [she] needed" to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a "wait-and-see approach" instead of timely moving to amend).

Prior Notice Through Counsel. Walthall County cannot meet the Rule 16 good cause standard because it is represented by the same counsel—McHugh Fuller Law Group, PLLC—that filed claims against the PBMs in 2019. See MDL ECF No. 2582. Walthall County, through its counsel, was on notice of potential claims against the PBMs and could readily have amended its complaint to add the PBMs much earlier. Walthall County fails to explain why it was unable to assert claims against the PBMs in 2019 when its own attorneys were already asserting those claims on behalf of other clients. See, e.g., Duggins, 195 F.3d at 834 (affirming denial of leave to amend after the close of discovery when the “plaintiff was obviously aware of the basis of the claim for many months, especially since some underlying facts were made a part of the complaint”); Thurmond, 649 F. App’x at 1006 (affirming denial of leave to amend for undue delay in part because plaintiff’s counsel had access to discovery in related cases and was previously aware of the proposed new defendants’ conduct).

OptumRx’s Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to Walthall County’s geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson Decl. (0.05% market share for Walthall County). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Walthall County to add dispensing claims against OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Express Scripts’ Mail Order Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. Express Scripts’ mail order pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of prescription opioid units shipped to Walthall County’s geographic jurisdiction during 2009 to 2019. See DeCarlo Decl., Exhibit C (0.23% market share). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Walthall County to add dispensing claims against Express Scripts’ mail order pharmacy entities. See Section III.A.2, above.

Failure to Implement a Litigation Hold. Walthall County filed its original complaint on March 26, 2018. See Walthall County, Mississippi v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45411-DAP, ECF No. 1. Despite filing its case years ago, Walthall County never implemented a litigation hold, in violation of this Court's orders (ECF Nos. 232; 5455). See ECF No. 5687-1 (Date Litigation Hold Implemented: Never). Litigating Walthall County's case would force the parties and the Court to waste time and resources ascertaining the extent of Walthall County's document destruction and the appropriate sanctions—just as the parties were forced to do in the three PBM bellwethers that failed to implement litigation holds until 2024. The PBMs are prejudiced by Walthall County's disregard for its most basic discovery obligations as a litigant, compounded by the delay in seeking leave to amend, and Walthall County therefore lacks good cause for leave to amend its complaint. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28 (denying leave to amend in part because the passage of time resulted in significant prejudice due to the loss of documents or records); see also Section III.A.4, above.

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Mississippi law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Walthall County's delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs' ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Mississippi law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Walthall County, a municipality in Mississippi, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Walthall County's proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Walthall County filed its amended complaint on March 12, 2019, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants.

See Walthall County, Mississippi v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45411-DAP, ECF No. 8. It is therefore indisputable that Walthall County knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, five years before seeking leave to amend. Walthall County's RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO's four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by "discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim" (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Walthall County's request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Walthall County, a municipality in Mississippi, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester's complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

398. Bibb County, Alabama v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45413-DAP: Plaintiff Bibb County, Alabama

Bibb County's untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Bibb County failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Bibb County also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, failure to submit a complete plaintiff fact sheet, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Bibb County's motion should be denied due to futility, as Bibb County does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its proposed public nuisance claim is barred by the statute of limitations, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Bibb County was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Bibb County amended its complaint on March 6, 2019, after transfer to the MDL on April 12, 2018. See Bibb County, Alabama v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45413-DAP, ECF No. 11. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Bibb County declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaint. See Section II.A.1, above. Bibb County's deadline to amend was in 2019. Bibb County waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Bibb County's lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order's deadline because plaintiff "had all the information [she] needed" to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a "wait-and-see approach" instead of timely moving to amend).

Prior Notice Through Counsel. Bibb County cannot meet the Rule 16 good cause standard because it is represented by the same counsel—Levin, Papantonio, Thomas, Mitchell, Rafferty & Proctor, P.A.—that filed claims against the PBMs in 2019. See MDL ECF No. 2582. Bibb County, through its counsel, was on notice of potential claims against the PBMs and could readily have amended its complaint to add the PBMs much earlier. Bibb County fails to explain why it was unable to assert claims against the PBMs in 2019 when its own attorneys were already asserting those claims on behalf of other clients. See, e.g., Duggins, 195 F.3d at 834 (affirming denial of leave to amend after the close of discovery when the "plaintiff was obviously aware of the basis of the claim for many months, especially since some underlying facts were made a part of the complaint"); Thurmond, 649 F. App'x at 1006 (affirming denial of leave to amend for undue delay in part because plaintiff's counsel had access to discovery in related cases and was previously aware of the proposed new defendants' conduct).

OptumRx's Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to Bibb County's geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson Decl. (0.04% market share for Bibb County). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Bibb County to add dispensing claims against OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Express Scripts' Mail Order Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of prescription opioid units shipped to Bibb County's geographic jurisdiction during 2009 to 2019. See DeCarlo Decl., Exhibit C (0.23% market share). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Bibb County to add dispensing claims against Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy entities. See Section III.A.2, above.

Failure to Prosecute. In its Plaintiff Fact Sheet, Bibb County failed to provide complete answers to Questions I.B.8 and I.B.9, relating to Bibb County's health plans, carriers, third party administrators, and pharmacy benefit managers throughout the relevant time period. The PBMs notified Bibb County of this deficiency on September 16, 2024 (see Exhibit B), but Bibb County refused to amend or supplement its Fact Sheet. Under this Court's orders, Bibb County's case is therefore subject to "dismiss[al] with prejudice" for failure to prosecute. ECF No. 4985 at 1 (emphasis in original); see Section III.A.5, above. Bibb County's refusal to provide basic information related to its health care plans prejudices the PBMs' ability to defend against Bibb County's potential claims against them. Bibb County's failure to diligently prosecute its case, coupled with the prejudice against the PBMs, negates any finding of good cause and leave to amend should be denied. See Final Amendment Order, ECF No. 5455 at 2 (directing counsel to dismiss, not seek leave to amend, in any case that “plaintiffs’ counsel does not intend to zealously pursue in litigation”); Range, 2017 WL 9477693, at *4 n.6 (denying motion for leave to amend as moot because claims were dismissed for failure to prosecute).

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Alabama law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Bibb County’s delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs’ ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Alabama law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Bibb County, a municipality in Alabama, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Bibb County’s proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Bibb County filed its original complaint on March 26, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See Bibb County, Alabama v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45413-DAP, ECF No. 1. It is therefore indisputable that Bibb County knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend. Bibb County’s RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO’s four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by “discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim” (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Bibb County’s request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Public Nuisance Statute of Limitations. In Alabama, public-nuisance claims are subject to a two-year limitations period. Bibb County’s public-nuisance claim against the PBMs is therefore time-barred because Bibb County sought leave to amend its complaint on July 29, 2024—six years after filing its original complaint on March 26, 2018—and the proposed amendment does not relate back to the original filing for purposes of the applicable statute of limitations. See Zakora, 44 F.4th at 480 (“This court has repeatedly held that an amendment which adds a new party creates a new cause of action and there is no relation back to the original filing for purposes of limitations.” (cleaned up)).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Bibb County lacks statutory standing to assert a public nuisance claim under Alabama law because it “is clearly not an individual, nor a city, nor the [s]tate,” and thus amendment is futile. Lee County, 2022 WL 450810, at *4 (concluding an Alabama county lacked standing to bring a Ala. Code § 6-5-121 claim); see Section III.B.3, above.

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Bibb County, a municipality in Alabama, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester’s complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

399. Shelby County Alabama v. Purdue Pharma LP et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45414-DAP: Plaintiff Shelby County, Alabama

Shelby County’s untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Shelby County failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Shelby County also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, failure to implement a litigation hold, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Shelby County’s motion should be denied due to futility, as Shelby County does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its proposed public nuisance claim is barred by the statute of limitations, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Shelby County was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Shelby County filed its original complaint on March 26, 2018 and the case was transferred to the MDL on April 12, 2018. See Shelby County Alabama v. Purdue Pharma LP et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45414-DAP, ECF No. 22. Shelby County could have amended its complaint, without leave, to add claims against the PBMs in 2019. See Section II.A.1, above. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Shelby County elected not to do so. Instead, Shelby County waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Shelby County's lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order's deadline because plaintiff "had all the information [she] needed" to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a "wait-and-see approach" instead of timely moving to amend).

OptumRx's Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to Shelby County's geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson Decl. (0.03% market share for Shelby County). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Shelby County to add dispensing claims against OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Express Scripts' Mail Order Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of prescription opioid units shipped to Shelby County's geographic jurisdiction during 2009 to 2019. See DeCarlo Decl., Exhibit C (0.26% market share). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Shelby County to add dispensing claims against Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy entities. See Section III.A.2, above.

Failure to Implement a Litigation Hold. Shelby County filed its original complaint on March 26, 2018. See Shelby County Alabama v. Purdue Pharma LP et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45414-DAP, ECF No. 1. Despite filing its case years ago, Shelby County never implemented a litigation hold, in violation of this Court's orders (ECF Nos. 232; 5455). See ECF No. 5687-1 (Date Litigation Hold Implemented: Never). Litigating Shelby County's case would force the parties and the Court to waste time and resources ascertaining the extent of Shelby County's document destruction and the appropriate sanctions—just as the parties were forced to do in the three PBM bellwethers that failed to implement litigation holds until 2024. The PBMs are prejudiced by Shelby County's disregard for its most basic discovery obligations as a litigant, compounded by the delay in seeking leave to amend, and Shelby County therefore lacks good cause for leave to amend its complaint. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28 (denying leave to amend in part because the passage of time resulted in significant prejudice due to the loss of documents or records); see also Section III.A.4, above.

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Alabama law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Shelby County's delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs' ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Alabama law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Shelby County, a municipality in Alabama, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Shelby County’s proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Shelby County filed its original complaint on March 26, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See Shelby County Alabama v. Purdue Pharma LP et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45414-DAP, ECF No. 1. It is therefore indisputable that Shelby County knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend. Shelby County’s RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO’s four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by “discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim” (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Shelby County’s request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Public Nuisance Statute of Limitations. In Alabama, public-nuisance claims are subject to a two-year limitations period. Shelby County’s public-nuisance claim against the PBMs is therefore time-barred because Shelby County sought leave to amend its complaint on July 29, 2024—six years after filing its original complaint on March 26, 2018—and the proposed amendment does not relate back to the original filing for purposes of the applicable statute of limitations. See Zakora, 44 F.4th at 480 (“This court has repeatedly held that an amendment which adds a new party creates a new cause of action and there is no relation back to the original filing for purposes of limitations.” (cleaned up)).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Shelby County lacks statutory standing to assert a public nuisance claim under Alabama law because it “is clearly not an individual, nor a city, nor the [s]tate,” and thus amendment is futile. Lee County, 2022 WL 450810, at *4 (concluding an Alabama county lacked standing to bring a Ala. Code § 6-5-121 claim); see Section III.B.3, above.

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Shelby County, a municipality in Alabama, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester’s complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

400. Blount County Alabama v. Purdue Pharma LP et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45415-DAP: Plaintiff Blount County, Alabama

Blount County’s untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Blount County failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Blount County also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, failure to implement a litigation hold, failure to submit a complete plaintiff fact sheet, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Blount County’s motion should be denied due to futility, as Blount County does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its proposed public nuisance claim is barred by the statute of limitations, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Blount County was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Blount County filed its original complaint on March 28, 2018 and the case was transferred to the MDL on April 12, 2018. See Blount County Alabama v. Purdue Pharma LP et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45415-DAP, ECF No. 8. Blount County could have amended its complaint, without leave, to add claims against the PBMs in 2019. See Section II.A.1, above. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Blount County elected not to do so. Instead, Blount County waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Blount County's lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order's deadline because plaintiff "had all the information [she] needed" to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a "wait-and-see approach" instead of timely moving to amend).

OptumRx's Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to Blount County's geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson Decl. (0.05% market share for Blount County). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Blount County to add dispensing claims against OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Express Scripts' Mail Order Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of prescription opioid units shipped to Blount County's geographic jurisdiction during 2009 to 2019. See DeCarlo Decl., Exhibit C (0.30% market share). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Blount County to add dispensing claims against Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy entities. See Section III.A.2, above.

Failure to Implement a Litigation Hold. Blount County filed its original complaint on March 28, 2018. See Blount County Alabama v. Purdue Pharma LP et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45415-DAP, ECF No. 1. Despite filing its case years ago, Blount County never implemented a litigation hold, in violation of this Court’s orders (ECF Nos. 232; 5455). See ECF No. 5687-1 (Date Litigation Hold Implemented: Never). Litigating Blount County’s case would force the parties and the Court to waste time and resources ascertaining the extent of Blount County’s document destruction and the appropriate sanctions—just as the parties were forced to do in the three PBM bellwethers that failed to implement litigation holds until 2024. The PBMs are prejudiced by Blount County’s disregard for its most basic discovery obligations as a litigant, compounded by the delay in seeking leave to amend, and Blount County therefore lacks good cause for leave to amend its complaint. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28 (denying leave to amend in part because the passage of time resulted in significant prejudice due to the loss of documents or records); see also Section III.A.4, above.

Failure to Prosecute. In its Plaintiff Fact Sheet, Blount County failed to provide complete answers to Questions I.B.8 and I.B.9, relating to Blount County’s health plans, carriers, third party administrators, and pharmacy benefit managers throughout the relevant time period. The PBMs notified Blount County of this deficiency on September 16, 2024 (see Exhibit B), but Blount County refused to amend or supplement its Fact Sheet. Under this Court’s orders, Blount County’s case is therefore subject to “dismiss[al] with prejudice” for failure to prosecute. ECF No. 4985 at 1 (emphasis in original); see Section III.A.5, above. Blount County’s refusal to provide basic information related to its health care plans prejudices the PBMs’ ability to defend against Blount County’s potential claims against them. Blount County’s failure to diligently prosecute its case, coupled with the prejudice against the PBMs, negates any finding of good cause and leave to amend should be denied. See Final Amendment Order, ECF No. 5455 at 2 (directing counsel to dismiss, not seek leave to amend, in any case that “plaintiffs’ counsel does not intend to zealously pursue in litigation”); Range, 2017 WL 9477693, at *4 n.6 (denying motion for leave to amend as moot because claims were dismissed for failure to prosecute).

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Alabama law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Blount County’s delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs’ ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Alabama law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Blount County, a municipality in Alabama, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Blount County’s proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Blount County filed its original complaint on March 28, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See Blount County Alabama v. Purdue Pharma LP et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45415-DAP, ECF No. 1. It is therefore indisputable that Blount County knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend. Blount County’s RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO’s four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by “discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim” (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Blount County’s request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Public Nuisance Statute of Limitations. In Alabama, public-nuisance claims are subject to a two-year limitations period. Blount County’s public-nuisance claim against the PBMs is therefore time-barred because Blount County sought leave to amend its complaint on July 29, 2024—six years after filing its original complaint on March 28, 2018—and the proposed amendment does not relate back to the original filing for purposes of the applicable statute of limitations. See Zakora, 44 F.4th at 480 (“This court has repeatedly held that an amendment which adds a new party creates a new cause of action and there is no relation back to the original filing for purposes of limitations.” (cleaned up)).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Blount County lacks statutory standing to assert a public nuisance claim under Alabama law because it “is clearly not an individual, nor a city, nor the [s]tate,” and thus amendment is futile. Lee County, 2022 WL 450810, at *4 (concluding an Alabama county lacked standing to bring a Ala. Code § 6-5-121 claim); see Section III.B.3, above.

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Blount County, a municipality in Alabama, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester’s complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

401. City of Midfield v. Purdue Pharma LP et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45416-DAP: Plaintiff Midfield City, Alabama

Midfield City’s untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Midfield City failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Midfield City also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, failure to implement a litigation hold, failure to submit a complete plaintiff fact sheet, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Midfield City’s motion should be denied due to futility, as Midfield City does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its proposed public nuisance claim is barred by the statute of limitations, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Midfield City was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Midfield City filed its original complaint on March 27, 2018 and the case was transferred to the MDL on April 11, 2018. See Midfield, City of v. Purdue Pharma LP et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45416-DAP, ECF No. 7. Midfield City could have amended its complaint, without leave, to add claims against the PBMs in 2019. See Section II.A.1, above. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Midfield City elected not to do so. Instead, Midfield City waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Midfield City's lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order's deadline because plaintiff "had all the information [she] needed" to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a "wait-and-see approach" instead of timely moving to amend).

OptumRx's Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to Midfield City's geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson Decl. (0.01% market share for Midfield City). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Midfield City to add dispensing claims against

OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Failure to Implement a Litigation Hold. Midfield City filed its original complaint on March 27, 2018. See Midfield, City of v. Purdue Pharma LP et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45416-DAP, ECF No. 1. Despite filing its case years ago, Midfield City never implemented a litigation hold, in violation of this Court's orders (ECF Nos. 232; 5455). See ECF No. 5687-1 (Date Litigation Hold Implemented: Never). Litigating Midfield City's case would force the parties and the Court to waste time and resources ascertaining the extent of Midfield City's document destruction and the appropriate sanctions—just as the parties were forced to do in the three PBM bellwethers that failed to implement litigation holds until 2024. The PBMs are prejudiced by Midfield City's disregard for its most basic discovery obligations as a litigant, compounded by the delay in seeking leave to amend, and Midfield City therefore lacks good cause for leave to amend its complaint. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28 (denying leave to amend in part because the passage of time resulted in significant prejudice due to the loss of documents or records); see also Section III.A.4, above.

Failure to Prosecute. In its Plaintiff Fact Sheet, Midfield City failed to provide complete answers to Questions I.B.8 and I.B.9, relating to Midfield City's health plans, carriers, third party administrators, and pharmacy benefit managers throughout the relevant time period. The PBMs notified Midfield City of this deficiency on September 16, 2024 (see Exhibit B), but Midfield City refused to amend or supplement its Fact Sheet. Under this Court's orders, Midfield City's case is therefore subject to “dismiss[al] with prejudice” for failure to prosecute. ECF No. 4985 at 1 (emphasis in original); see Section III.A.5, above. Midfield City's refusal to provide basic information related to its health care plans prejudices the PBMs' ability to defend against Midfield City's potential claims against them. Midfield City's failure to diligently prosecute its case, coupled with the prejudice against the PBMs, negates any finding of good cause and leave to amend should be denied. See Final Amendment Order, ECF No. 5455 at 2 (directing counsel to dismiss, not seek leave to amend, in any case that "plaintiffs' counsel does not intend to zealously pursue in litigation"); Range, 2017 WL 9477693, at *4 n.6 (denying motion for leave to amend as moot because claims were dismissed for failure to prosecute).

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Alabama law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Midfield City's delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs' ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Alabama law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Midfield City, a municipality in Alabama, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Midfield City's proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Midfield City filed its original complaint on March 27, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See Midfield, City of v. Purdue Pharma LP et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45416-DAP, ECF No. 1. It is therefore indisputable that Midfield City knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend. Midfield City's RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO's four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by "discovery of the injury, not discovery of

[the] other elements of a claim” (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Midfield City’s request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Public Nuisance Statute of Limitations. In Alabama, public-nuisance claims are subject to a two-year limitations period. Midfield City’s public-nuisance claim against the PBMs is therefore time-barred because Midfield City sought leave to amend its complaint on July 29, 2024—six years after filing its original complaint on March 27, 2018—and the proposed amendment does not relate back to the original filing for purposes of the applicable statute of limitations. See Zakora, 44 F.4th at 480 (“This court has repeatedly held that an amendment which adds a new party creates a new cause of action and there is no relation back to the original filing for purposes of limitations.” (cleaned up)).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Midfield City, a municipality in Alabama, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester’s complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

402. Montgomery County, Tennessee v. AmerisourceBergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45418-DAP: Plaintiff Montgomery County, Tennessee

Montgomery County’s untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Montgomery County failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Montgomery County also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, failure to timely implement a litigation hold, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Montgomery County’s motion should be denied due to futility, as Montgomery County does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Montgomery County was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Montgomery County amended its complaint on March 6, 2019, after transfer to the MDL on April 12, 2018. See Montgomery County, Tennessee v. AmerisourceBergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45418-DAP, ECF No. 11. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Montgomery County declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaint. See Section II.A.1, above. Montgomery County’s deadline to amend was in 2019. Montgomery County waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Montgomery County’s lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order’s deadline because plaintiff “had all the information [she] needed” to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a “wait-and-see approach” instead of timely moving to amend).

Prior Notice Through Counsel. Montgomery County cannot meet the Rule 16 good cause standard because it is represented by the same counsel—Greene, Ketchum, Farrell, Bailey & Tweel, LLP; Powell & Majestro; Baron & Budd, P.C.; Levin, Papantonio, Thomas, Mitchell, Rafferty & Proctor, P.A.; and McHugh Fuller Law Group, PLLC—that filed claims against the PBMs in 2019. See MDL ECF No. 2582. Montgomery County, through its counsel, was on notice of potential claims against the PBMs and could readily have amended its complaint to add the PBMs much earlier. Montgomery County fails to explain why it was unable to assert claims against the PBMs in 2019 when its own attorneys were already asserting those claims on behalf of other clients. See, e.g., Duggins, 195 F.3d at 834 (affirming denial of leave to amend after the close of discovery when the “plaintiff was obviously aware of the basis of the claim for many months, especially since some underlying facts were made a part of the complaint”); Thurmond, 649 F. App’x at 1006 (affirming denial of leave to amend for undue delay in part because plaintiff’s counsel had access to discovery in related cases and was previously aware of the proposed new defendants’ conduct).

OptumRx’s Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to Montgomery County’s geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson Decl. (0.01% market share for Montgomery County). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Montgomery County to add dispensing claims against OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Express Scripts’ Mail Order Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. Express Scripts’ mail order pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of prescription opioid units shipped to Montgomery County’s geographic jurisdiction during 2009 to 2019. See DeCarlo Decl., Exhibit C (0.17% market share). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Montgomery County to add dispensing claims against Express Scripts’ mail order pharmacy entities. See Section III.A.2, above.

Failure to Timely Implement a Litigation Hold. Montgomery County violated its basic duty to implement a timely litigation hold. Montgomery County filed its original complaint on March 26, 2018, but waited until January 9, 2020 to implement a litigation hold—over a year and a half later. See Montgomery County, Tennessee v. AmerisourceBergen Drug Corporation et al.,

Case No. 1:18-op-45418-DAP, ECF No. 1; see also ECF No. 5687-1 (Date Litigation Hold Implemented: January 9, 2020). This is a plain violation of this Court's orders. ECF Nos. 232; 5455. Litigating Montgomery County's case would force the parties and the Court to waste time and resources ascertaining the extent of Montgomery County's document destruction and the appropriate sanctions—just as the parties were forced to do in the three PBM bellwethers that failed to implement litigation holds until 2024. The PBMs are prejudiced by Montgomery County's disregard for its most basic discovery obligations as a litigant, compounded by the delay in seeking leave to amend, and Montgomery County therefore lacks good cause for leave to amend its complaint. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28 (denying leave to amend in part because the passage of time resulted in significant prejudice due to the loss of documents or records); see also Section III.A.4, above.

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Tennessee law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Montgomery County's delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs' ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Tennessee law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Montgomery County, a municipality in Tennessee, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Montgomery County's proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Montgomery County filed its original complaint on March 26, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See Montgomery County, Tennessee v. AmerisourceBergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45418-DAP, ECF No. 1. It is therefore indisputable that Montgomery County knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend. Montgomery County's RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO's four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by "discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim" (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Montgomery County's request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Montgomery County, a municipality in Tennessee, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester's complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

403. Fentress County, Tennessee v. AmerisourceBergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45419-DAP: Plaintiff Fentress County, Tennessee

Fentress County's untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Fentress County failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Fentress County also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Fentress County's motion should be denied due to futility, as Fentress County does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Fentress County was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Fentress County amended its complaint on March 8, 2019, after transfer to the MDL on April 12, 2018. See Fentress County, Tennessee v. AmerisourceBergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45419-DAP, ECF No. 11. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Fentress County declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaint. See Section II.A.1, above. Fentress County's deadline to amend was in 2019. Fentress County waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Fentress County's lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order's deadline because plaintiff "had all the information [she] needed" to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a "wait-and-see approach" instead of timely moving to amend).

Prior Notice Through Counsel. Fentress County cannot meet the Rule 16 good cause standard because it is represented by the same counsel—Greene, Ketchum, Farrell, Bailey & Tweel, LLP; Powell & Majestro; Baron & Budd, P.C.; Levin, Papantonio, Thomas, Mitchell, Rafferty & Proctor, P.A.; and McHugh Fuller Law Group, PLLC—that filed claims against the PBMs in 2019. See MDL ECF No. 2582. Fentress County, through its counsel, was on notice of potential claims against the PBMs and could readily have amended its complaint to add the PBMs much earlier. Fentress County fails to explain why it was unable to assert claims against the PBMs in 2019 when its own attorneys were already asserting those claims on behalf of other clients. See, e.g., Duggins, 195 F.3d at 834 (affirming denial of leave to amend after the close of discovery when the "plaintiff was obviously aware of the basis of the claim for many months, especially since some underlying facts were made a part of the complaint"); Thurmond, 649 F. App'x at 1006

(affirming denial of leave to amend for undue delay in part because plaintiff's counsel had access to discovery in related cases and was previously aware of the proposed new defendants' conduct).

OptumRx's Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to Fentress County's geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson Decl. (0.04% market share for Fentress County). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Fentress County to add dispensing claims against OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Express Scripts' Mail Order Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of prescription opioid units shipped to Fentress County's geographic jurisdiction during 2009 to 2019. See DeCarlo Decl., Exhibit C (0.19% market share). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Fentress County to add dispensing claims against Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy entities. See Section III.A.2, above.

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Tennessee law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Fentress County's delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs' ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Tennessee law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Fentress County, a municipality in Tennessee, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Fentress County’s proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Fentress County filed its original complaint on March 27, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See Fentress County, Tennessee v. AmerisourceBergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45419-DAP, ECF No. 1. It is therefore indisputable that Fentress County knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend. Fentress County’s RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO’s four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by “discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim” (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Fentress County’s request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Fentress County, a municipality in Tennessee, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester’s complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

404. Hale County, Alabama v. Actavis LLC et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45420-DAP: Plaintiff Hale County, Alabama

Hale County’s untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Hale County failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Hale County also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, failure to implement a litigation hold, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Hale County’s motion should be denied due to futility, as Hale County does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its proposed public nuisance claim is barred by the statute of limitations, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Hale County was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Hale County filed its original complaint on March 27, 2018 and the case was transferred to the MDL on April 13, 2018. See Hale County, Alabama v. Actavis LLC et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45420-DAP, ECF No. 8. Hale County could have amended its complaint, without leave, to add claims against the PBMs in 2019. See Section II.A.1, above. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Hale County elected not to do so. Instead, Hale County waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Hale County's lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order's deadline because plaintiff "had all the information [she] needed" to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a "wait-and-see approach" instead of timely moving to amend).

OptumRx's Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to Hale County's geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson Decl. (0.10% market share for Hale County). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Hale County to add dispensing claims against OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Failure to Implement a Litigation Hold. Hale County filed its original complaint on March 27, 2018. See Hale County, Alabama v. Actavis LLC et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45420-DAP, ECF No. 1. Despite filing its case years ago, Hale County never implemented a litigation hold, in violation of this Court’s orders (ECF Nos. 232; 5455). See ECF No. 5687-1 (Date Litigation Hold Implemented: Never). Litigating Hale County’s case would force the parties and the Court to waste time and resources ascertaining the extent of Hale County’s document destruction and the appropriate sanctions—just as the parties were forced to do in the three PBM bellwethers that failed to implement litigation holds until 2024. The PBMs are prejudiced by Hale County’s disregard for its most basic discovery obligations as a litigant, compounded by the delay in seeking leave to amend, and Hale County therefore lacks good cause for leave to amend its complaint. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28 (denying leave to amend in part because the passage of time resulted in significant prejudice due to the loss of documents or records); see also Section III.A.4, above.

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Alabama law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Hale County’s delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs’ ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Alabama law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Hale County, a municipality in Alabama, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Hale County’s proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Hale County filed its original complaint on March 27, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See Hale County, Alabama v. Actavis LLC et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45420-DAP, ECF No. 1. It is therefore indisputable that Hale County knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend. Hale County’s RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO’s four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by “discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim” (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Hale County’s request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Public Nuisance Statute of Limitations. In Alabama, public-nuisance claims are subject to a two-year limitations period. Hale County’s public-nuisance claim against the PBMs is therefore time-barred because Hale County sought leave to amend its complaint on July 29, 2024—six years after filing its original complaint on March 27, 2018—and the proposed amendment does not relate back to the original filing for purposes of the applicable statute of limitations. See Zakora, 44 F.4th at 480 (“This court has repeatedly held that an amendment which adds a new party creates a new cause of action and there is no relation back to the original filing for purposes of limitations.” (cleaned up)).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Hale County lacks statutory standing to assert a public nuisance claim under Alabama law because it “is clearly not an individual, nor a city, nor the [s]tate,” and thus amendment is futile. Lee County, 2022 WL 450810, at *4 (concluding an Alabama county lacked standing to bring a Ala. Code § 6-5-121 claim); see Section III.B.3, above.

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Hale County, a municipality in Alabama, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester's complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

405. City of Greensboro, Alabama v. Actavis LLC et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45421-DAP: Plaintiff Greensboro City, Alabama

Greensboro City's untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Greensboro City failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Greensboro City also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, failure to implement a litigation hold, failure to submit a complete plaintiff fact sheet, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Greensboro City's motion should be denied due to futility, as Greensboro City does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its proposed public nuisance claim is barred by the statute of limitations, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Greensboro City was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Greensboro City filed its original complaint on March 27, 2018 and the case was transferred to the MDL on April 13, 2018. See City of Greensboro, Alabama v. Actavis LLC et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45421-DAP, ECF No. 10. Greensboro City could have amended its complaint, without leave, to add claims against the PBMs in 2019. See Section II.A.1, above. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Greensboro City elected not to do so. Instead, Greensboro City waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Greensboro City's lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order’s deadline because plaintiff “had all the information [she] needed” to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a “wait-and-see approach” instead of timely moving to amend).

OptumRx’s Home-Delivery Pharmacy Had Zero Dispenses. OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy did not dispense a single opioid prescription to Greensboro City’s geographic jurisdiction over the period for which OptumRx has data (2010 to 2019). See Gustafson Decl. Because OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy “ha[s] no market share, they shouldn’t be in the case, period.” ECF No. 3685 at 6:9–14; see Section III.A.2, above. Thus, Greensboro City cannot show good cause to add claims against OptumRx in its capacity as a home delivery pharmacy.

Express Scripts’ Mail Order Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. Express Scripts’ mail order pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of prescription opioid units shipped to Greensboro City’s geographic jurisdiction during 2009 to 2019. See DeCarlo Decl., Exhibit C (0.37% market share). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Greensboro City to add dispensing claims against Express Scripts’ mail order pharmacy entities. See Section III.A.2, above.

Failure to Implement a Litigation Hold. Greensboro City filed its original complaint on March 27, 2018. See City of Greensboro, Alabama v. Actavis LLC et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45421-DAP, ECF No. 1. Despite filing its case years ago, Greensboro City never implemented a litigation hold, in violation of this Court’s orders (ECF Nos. 232; 5455). See ECF No. 5687-1 (Date Litigation Hold Implemented: Never). Litigating Greensboro City’s case would force the parties and the Court to waste time and resources ascertaining the extent of Greensboro City’s document destruction and the appropriate sanctions—just as the parties were forced to do in the three PBM bellwethers that failed to implement litigation holds until 2024. The PBMs are prejudiced by Greensboro City’s disregard for its most basic discovery obligations as a litigant, compounded by the delay in seeking leave to amend, and Greensboro City therefore lacks good cause for leave to amend its complaint. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28 (denying leave to amend in part because the passage of time resulted in significant prejudice due to the loss of documents or records); see also Section III.A.4, above.

Failure to Prosecute. In its Plaintiff Fact Sheet, Greensboro City failed to provide complete answers to Questions I.B.8 and I.B.9, relating to Greensboro City’s health plans, carriers, third party administrators, and pharmacy benefit managers throughout the relevant time period. The PBMs notified Greensboro City of this deficiency on September 16, 2024 (see Exhibit B), but Greensboro City refused to amend or supplement its Fact Sheet. Under this Court’s orders, Greensboro City’s case is therefore subject to “dismiss[al] with prejudice” for failure to prosecute. ECF No. 4985 at 1 (emphasis in original); see Section III.A.5, above. Greensboro City’s refusal to provide basic information related to its health care plans prejudices the PBMs’ ability to defend against Greensboro City’s potential claims against them. Greensboro City’s failure to diligently prosecute its case, coupled with the prejudice against the PBMs, negates any finding of good cause and leave to amend should be denied. See Final Amendment Order, ECF No. 5455 at 2 (directing counsel to dismiss, not seek leave to amend, in any case that “plaintiffs’ counsel does not intend to zealously pursue in litigation”); Range, 2017 WL 9477693, at *4 n.6 (denying motion for leave to amend as moot because claims were dismissed for failure to prosecute).

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Alabama law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Greensboro City’s delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs' ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Alabama law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Greensboro City, a municipality in Alabama, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Greensboro City's proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Greensboro City filed its original complaint on March 27, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See City of Greensboro, Alabama v. Actavis LLC et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45421-DAP, ECF No. 1. It is therefore indisputable that Greensboro City knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend. Greensboro City's RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO's four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by "discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim" (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Greensboro City's request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Public Nuisance Statute of Limitations. In Alabama, public-nuisance claims are subject to a two-year limitations period. Greensboro City's public-nuisance claim against the PBMs is therefore time-barred because Greensboro City sought leave to amend its complaint on July 29, 2024—six years after filing its original complaint on March 27, 2018—and the proposed amendment does not relate back to the original filing for purposes of the applicable statute of limitations. See Zakora, 44 F.4th at 480 (“This court has repeatedly held that an amendment which adds a new party creates a new cause of action and there is no relation back to the original filing for purposes of limitations.” (cleaned up)).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Greensboro City, a municipality in Alabama, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester’s complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

406. City of Evergreen, Alabama v. Purdue Pharma, L.P., Case No. 1:18-op-45422-DAP: Plaintiff Evergreen City, Alabama

Evergreen City’s untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Evergreen City failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Evergreen City also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, failure to implement a litigation hold, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Evergreen City’s motion should be denied due to futility, as Evergreen City does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its proposed public nuisance claim is barred by the statute of limitations, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Evergreen City was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Evergreen City filed its original complaint on March 15, 2018, and the case was transferred to the MDL on April 13, 2018. See City of Evergreen, Alabama v. Purdue Pharma, L.P., Case No. 1:18-op-45422-DAP, ECF No. 16. Evergreen City could have amended its complaint, without leave, to add claims against the PBMs in 2019. See Section II.A.1, above. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Evergreen City elected not to do so. Instead, Evergreen City waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Evergreen City's lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order's deadline because plaintiff "had all the information [she] needed" to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a "wait-and-see approach" instead of timely moving to amend).

OptumRx's Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to Evergreen City's geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson Decl. (0.02% market share for Evergreen City). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Evergreen City to add dispensing claims against OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Express Scripts' Mail Order Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of prescription opioid units shipped to Evergreen City's geographic jurisdiction during 2009 to 2019. See DeCarlo Decl., Exhibit C (0.07% market share). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Evergreen City to add dispensing claims against Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy entities. See Section III.A.2, above.

Failure to Implement a Litigation Hold. Evergreen City filed its original complaint on March 15, 2018. See City of Evergreen, Alabama v. Purdue Pharma, L.P., Case No. 1:18-op-45422-DAP, ECF No. 1. Despite filing its case years ago, Evergreen City never implemented a litigation hold, in violation of this Court's orders (ECF Nos. 232; 5455). See ECF No. 5687-1

(Date Litigation Hold Implemented: Never). Litigating Evergreen City's case would force the parties and the Court to waste time and resources ascertaining the extent of Evergreen City's document destruction and the appropriate sanctions—just as the parties were forced to do in the three PBM bellwethers that failed to implement litigation holds until 2024. The PBMs are prejudiced by Evergreen City's disregard for its most basic discovery obligations as a litigant, compounded by the delay in seeking leave to amend, and Evergreen City therefore lacks good cause for leave to amend its complaint. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28 (denying leave to amend in part because the passage of time resulted in significant prejudice due to the loss of documents or records); see also Section III.A.4, above.

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Alabama law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Evergreen City's delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs' ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Alabama law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Evergreen City, a municipality in Alabama, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Evergreen City's proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Evergreen City filed its original complaint on March 15, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See City of Evergreen, Alabama v. Purdue Pharma, L.P., Case No. 1:18-op-45422-DAP, ECF No. 1. It is therefore indisputable that Evergreen City knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend. Evergreen City's RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO's four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by "discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim" (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Evergreen City's request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Public Nuisance Statute of Limitations. In Alabama, public-nuisance claims are subject to a two-year limitations period. Evergreen City's public-nuisance claim against the PBMs is therefore time-barred because Evergreen City sought leave to amend its complaint on July 29, 2024—six years after filing its original complaint on March 15, 2018—and the proposed amendment does not relate back to the original filing for purposes of the applicable statute of limitations. See Zakora, 44 F.4th at 480 ("This court has repeatedly held that an amendment which adds a new party creates a new cause of action and there is no relation back to the original filing for purposes of limitations." (cleaned up)).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Evergreen City, a municipality in Alabama, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester's complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

407. Town of Yellow Bluff, Alabama v. Purdue Pharma, L.P., Case No. 1:18-op-45423-DAP: Plaintiff Yellow Bluff Town, Alabama

Yellow Bluff Town's untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Yellow Bluff Town failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Yellow Bluff Town also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, failure to implement a litigation hold, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Yellow Bluff Town's motion should be denied due to futility, as Yellow Bluff Town does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its proposed public nuisance claim is barred by the statute of limitations, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Yellow Bluff Town was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Yellow Bluff Town filed its original complaint on March 15, 2018, and the case was transferred to the MDL on April 13, 2018. See Town of Yellow Bluff, Alabama v. Purdue Pharma, L.P., Case No. 1:18-op-45423-DAP, ECF No. 17. Yellow Bluff Town could have amended its complaint, without leave, to add claims against the PBMs in 2019. See Section II.A.1, above. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Yellow Bluff Town elected not to do so. Instead, Yellow Bluff Town waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Yellow Bluff Town's lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order's deadline because plaintiff "had all the information [she] needed" to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a "wait-and-see approach" instead of timely moving to amend).

OptumRx's Home-Delivery Pharmacy Had Zero Dispenses. OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy did not dispense a single opioid prescription to Yellow Bluff Town's geographic jurisdiction over the period for which OptumRx has data (2010 to 2019). See Gustafson Decl.. Because OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy "ha[s] no market share, they shouldn't be in the case, period." ECF No. 3685 at 6:9–14; see Section III.A.2, above. Thus, Yellow Bluff Town cannot show good cause to add claims against OptumRx in its capacity as a home delivery pharmacy.

Express Scripts' PBM Has No Market Share. Express Scripts' PBM processed zero claims for prescription opioids in Yellow Bluff Town's geographic jurisdiction during 2009 to 2019. See DeCarlo Decl., Exhibit A. Because Express Scripts' PBM "ha[s] no market share, they shouldn't be in the case, period." ECF No. 3685 at 6:9–14; see Section III.A.2, above.

Failure to Implement a Litigation Hold. Yellow Bluff Town filed its original complaint on March 15, 2018. See Town of Yellow Bluff, Alabama v. Purdue Pharma, L.P., Case No. 1:18-op-45423-DAP, ECF No. 1. Despite filing its case years ago, Yellow Bluff Town never implemented a litigation hold, in violation of this Court's orders (ECF Nos. 232; 5455). See ECF No. 5687-1 (Date Litigation Hold Implemented: Never). Litigating Yellow Bluff Town's case would force the parties and the Court to waste time and resources ascertaining the extent of Yellow Bluff Town's document destruction and the appropriate sanctions—just as the parties were forced to do in the three PBM bellwethers that failed to implement litigation holds until 2024. The PBMs are prejudiced by Yellow Bluff Town's disregard for its most basic discovery obligations as a litigant, compounded by the delay in seeking leave to amend, and Yellow Bluff Town therefore lacks good cause for leave to amend its complaint. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28 (denying leave to amend in part because the passage of time resulted in significant prejudice due to the loss of documents or records); see also Section III.A.4, above.

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Alabama law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Yellow Bluff Town's delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs' ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Alabama law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Yellow Bluff Town, a municipality in Alabama, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Yellow Bluff Town's proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Yellow Bluff Town filed its original complaint on March 15, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See Town of Yellow Bluff, Alabama v. Purdue Pharma, L.P., Case No. 1:18-op-45423-DAP, ECF No. 1. It is therefore indisputable that Yellow Bluff Town knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend. Yellow Bluff Town's RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO's four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by "discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim" (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Yellow Bluff Town's request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Public Nuisance Statute of Limitations. In Alabama, public-nuisance claims are subject to a two-year limitations period. Yellow Bluff Town's public-nuisance claim against the PBMs is therefore time-barred because Yellow Bluff Town sought leave to amend its complaint on July 29, 2024—six years after filing its original complaint on March 15, 2018—and the proposed amendment does not relate back to the original filing for purposes of the applicable statute of limitations. See Zakora, 44 F.4th at 480 (“This court has repeatedly held that an amendment which adds a new party creates a new cause of action and there is no relation back to the original filing for purposes of limitations.” (cleaned up)).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Yellow Bluff Town, a municipality in Alabama, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester’s complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

408. City of North Royalton v. AmerisourceBergen Drug Corporation, et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45427-DAP: Plaintiff North Royalton City, Ohio

North Royalton City’s untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. North Royalton City failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. North Royalton City also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, failure to implement a litigation hold, failure to submit a complete plaintiff fact sheet, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, North Royalton City’s motion should be denied due to futility, as North Royalton City does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its proposed public nuisance claim is barred by state law in Ohio, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. North Royalton City was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, North Royalton City amended its complaint on March 15, 2019, after directly filing in the MDL. See City of North Royalton v. AmerisourceBergen Drug Corporation, et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45427-DAP, ECF No. 4. Unlike many other plaintiffs, North Royalton City declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaint. See Section II.A.1, above. North Royalton City’s deadline to amend was in 2019. North Royalton City waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. North Royalton City’s lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order’s deadline because plaintiff “had all the information [she] needed” to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a “wait-and-see approach” instead of timely moving to amend).

OptumRx’s Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to North Royalton City’s geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson Decl. (0.30% market share for North Royalton City). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for North Royalton City to add dispensing claims against OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Failure to Implement a Litigation Hold. North Royalton City filed its original complaint on April 13, 2018. See City of North Royalton v. AmerisourceBergen Drug Corporation, et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45427-DAP, ECF No. 1. Despite filing its case years ago, North Royalton City never implemented a litigation hold, in violation of this Court’s orders (ECF Nos. 232; 5455). See ECF No. 5687-1 (Date Litigation Hold Implemented: Never). Litigating North Royalton City’s case would force the parties and the Court to waste time and resources ascertaining the extent of North Royalton City’s document destruction and the appropriate sanctions—just as the parties were forced to do in the three PBM bellwethers that failed to implement litigation holds until 2024. The PBMs are prejudiced by North Royalton City’s disregard for its most basic discovery obligations as a litigant, compounded by the delay in seeking leave to amend, and North Royalton

City therefore lacks good cause for leave to amend its complaint. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28 (denying leave to amend in part because the passage of time resulted in significant prejudice due to the loss of documents or records); see also Section III.A.4, above.

Failure to Prosecute. In its Plaintiff Fact Sheet, North Royalton City failed to provide complete answers to Questions I.B.8 and I.B.9, relating to North Royalton City’s health plans, carriers, third party administrators, and pharmacy benefit managers throughout the relevant time period. The PBMs notified North Royalton City of this deficiency on September 16, 2024 (see Exhibit B), but North Royalton City refused to amend or supplement its Fact Sheet. Under this Court’s orders, North Royalton City’s case is therefore subject to “dismiss[al] with prejudice” for failure to prosecute. ECF No. 4985 at 1 (emphasis in original); see Section III.A.5, above. North Royalton City’s refusal to provide basic information related to its health care plans prejudices the PBMs’ ability to defend against North Royalton City’s potential claims against them. North Royalton City’s failure to diligently prosecute its case, coupled with the prejudice against the PBMs, negates any finding of good cause and leave to amend should be denied. See Final Amendment Order, ECF No. 5455 at 2 (directing counsel to dismiss, not seek leave to amend, in any case that “plaintiffs’ counsel does not intend to zealously pursue in litigation”); Range, 2017 WL 9477693, at *4 n.6 (denying motion for leave to amend as moot because claims were dismissed for failure to prosecute).

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Ohio law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But North Royalton City’s delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs’ ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Ohio law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. North Royalton City, a municipality in Ohio, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

Plaintiff's Public Nuisance Claim is Futile. North Royalton City is a plaintiff in Ohio. North Royalton City's request for leave to add the PBMs as defendants to a public nuisance claim should be denied as futile because "all common-law public-nuisance claims arising from the sale of a product have been abrogated by the Ohio Product Liability Act." In re Nat'l Prescription Opiate Litig., 2024 WL 5049302, at *1, 2024-OHIO-5744, ¶ 1; see Section III.B.3, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for North Royalton City's proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. North Royalton City filed its original complaint on April 13, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See City of North Royalton v. AmerisourceBergen Drug Corporation, et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45427-DAP, ECF No. 1. It is therefore indisputable that North Royalton City knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend. North Royalton City's RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO's four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by "discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim" (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. North Royalton City's request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. North Royalton City, a municipality in Ohio, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester’s complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

409. St. Louis County, Minnesota v. Purdue Pharma L.P., et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45430-DAP: Plaintiff St. Louis County, Minnesota

St. Louis County’s untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. St. Louis County failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. St. Louis County also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, St. Louis County’s motion should be denied due to futility, as St. Louis County does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. St. Louis County was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, St. Louis County amended its complaint on March 15, 2019, after transfer to the MDL on April 13, 2018. See St. Louis County, Minnesota v. Purdue Pharma L.P., et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45430-DAP, ECF No. 20. Unlike many other plaintiffs, St. Louis County declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaint. See Section II.A.1, above. St. Louis County’s deadline to amend was in 2019. St. Louis County waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. St. Louis County’s lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order’s deadline because plaintiff “had all the information [she] needed” to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a “wait-and-see approach” instead of timely moving to amend).

OptumRx’s Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to St. Louis County’s geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson Decl. (0.02% market share for St. Louis County). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for St. Louis County to add dispensing claims against OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Express Scripts’ Mail Order Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. Express Scripts’ mail order pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of prescription opioid units shipped to St. Louis County’s geographic jurisdiction during 2009 to 2019. See DeCarlo Decl., Exhibit C (0.25% market share). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for St. Louis County to add dispensing claims against Express Scripts’ mail order pharmacy entities. See Section III.A.2, above.

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Minnesota law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But St. Louis County’s delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs’ ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Minnesota law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. St. Louis County, a municipality in Minnesota, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for St. Louis County’s proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. St. Louis County filed its amended complaint on March 15, 2019, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See St. Louis County, Minnesota v. Purdue Pharma L.P., et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45430-DAP, ECF No. 20. It is therefore indisputable that St. Louis County knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, five years before seeking leave to amend. St. Louis County’s RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO’s four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by “discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim” (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. St. Louis County’s request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. St. Louis County, a municipality in Minnesota, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester’s complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

410. City of Huron v. Cardinal Health Inc. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45431-DAP: Plaintiff Huron City, Ohio

Huron City’s untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Huron City failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Huron City also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, failure to implement a litigation hold, failure to submit a complete plaintiff fact sheet, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Huron City’s motion should be denied due to futility, as Huron City does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its proposed public nuisance claim is barred by state law in Ohio, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Huron City was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Huron City amended its complaint on March 15, 2019, after directly filing in the MDL. See City of Huron v. Cardinal Health Inc. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45431-DAP, ECF No. 4. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Huron City declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaint. See Section II.A.1, above. Huron City’s deadline to amend was in 2019. Huron City waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Huron City’s lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order’s deadline because plaintiff “had all the information [she] needed” to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a “wait-and-see approach” instead of timely moving to amend).

OptumRx’s Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to Huron City’s geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson Decl. (0.06% market share for Huron City). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Huron City to add dispensing claims against OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Failure to Implement a Litigation Hold. Huron City filed its original complaint on April 13, 2018. See City of Huron v. Cardinal Health Inc. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45431-DAP, ECF

No. 1. Despite filing its case years ago, Huron City never implemented a litigation hold, in violation of this Court’s orders (ECF Nos. 232; 5455). See ECF No. 5687-1 (Date Litigation Hold Implemented: Never). Litigating Huron City’s case would force the parties and the Court to waste time and resources ascertaining the extent of Huron City’s document destruction and the appropriate sanctions—just as the parties were forced to do in the three PBM bellwethers that failed to implement litigation holds until 2024. The PBMs are prejudiced by Huron City’s disregard for its most basic discovery obligations as a litigant, compounded by the delay in seeking leave to amend, and Huron City therefore lacks good cause for leave to amend its complaint. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28 (denying leave to amend in part because the passage of time resulted in significant prejudice due to the loss of documents or records); see also Section III.A.4, above.

Failure to Prosecute. In its Plaintiff Fact Sheet, Huron City failed to provide complete answers to Questions I.B.8 and I.B.9, relating to Huron City’s health plans, carriers, third party administrators, and pharmacy benefit managers throughout the relevant time period. The PBMs notified Huron City of this deficiency on September 16, 2024 (see Exhibit B), but Huron City refused to amend or supplement its Fact Sheet. Under this Court’s orders, Huron City’s case is therefore subject to “dismiss[al] with prejudice” for failure to prosecute. ECF No. 4985 at 1 (emphasis in original); see Section III.A.5, above. Huron City’s refusal to provide basic information related to its health care plans prejudices the PBMs’ ability to defend against Huron City’s potential claims against them. Huron City’s failure to diligently prosecute its case, coupled with the prejudice against the PBMs, negates any finding of good cause and leave to amend should be denied. See Final Amendment Order, ECF No. 5455 at 2 (directing counsel to dismiss, not seek leave to amend, in any case that “plaintiffs’ counsel does not intend to zealously pursue in litigation”); Range, 2017 WL 9477693, at *4 n.6 (denying motion for leave to amend as moot because claims were dismissed for failure to prosecute).

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Ohio law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Huron City’s delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs’ ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Ohio law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Huron City, a municipality in Ohio, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

Plaintiff’s Public Nuisance Claim is Futile. Huron City is a plaintiff in Ohio. Huron City’s request for leave to add the PBMs as defendants to a public nuisance claim should be denied as futile because “all common-law public-nuisance claims arising from the sale of a product have been abrogated by the Ohio Product Liability Act.” In re Nat’l Prescription Opiate Litig., 2024 WL 5049302, at *1, 2024-OHIO-5744, ¶ 1; see Section III.B.3, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Huron City’s proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Huron City filed its original complaint on April 13, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See City of Huron v. Cardinal Health Inc. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45431-DAP, ECF No. 1. It is therefore indisputable that Huron City knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend. Huron City’s RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO’s four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by “discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim” (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Huron City’s request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Huron City, a municipality in Ohio, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester’s complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

411. City of Fostoria v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45433-DAP: Plaintiff Fostoria City, Ohio

Fostoria City’s untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Fostoria City failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Fostoria City also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, failure to implement a litigation hold, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Fostoria City’s motion should be denied due to futility, as Fostoria City does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its proposed public nuisance claim is barred by state law in Ohio, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Fostoria City was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Fostoria City filed its original complaint on March 12, 2018 and the case was transferred to the MDL on April 13, 2018. See City of Fostoria v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45433-DAP, ECF No. 1-3. Fostoria City could have amended its complaint, without leave, to add claims against the PBMs in 2019. See Section II.A.1, above. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Fostoria City elected not to do so. Instead, Fostoria City waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Fostoria City's lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order's deadline because plaintiff "had all the information [she] needed" to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a "wait-and-see approach" instead of timely moving to amend).

OptumRx's Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to Fostoria City's geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson Decl. (0.15% market share for Fostoria City). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Fostoria City to add dispensing claims against OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Prior Notice as an Express Scripts Client. Fostoria City previously entered into a contract with Express Scripts for PBM services related to utilization management and formulary development. See Achter Decl., Exhibit A. That contract notified Fostoria City of the PBM services Express Scripts provides and Fostoria City began receiving those services on January 3, 2006. See id. Inasmuch as Fostoria City seeks to add claims against Express Scripts entities related to utilization management or formulary placement (see, e.g., Rochester Am. Compl. ¶¶ 733, 741, 786–816, 821–22, 845), Fostoria City knew or should have known of the alleged wrongful conduct more than ten years before moving to amend. See Section III.A.3, above. Fostoria City's delay in seeking leave to amend negates any finding of good cause for leave to amend. Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (denying motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order’s deadline because plaintiff “had all the information [she] needed” to bring claims before the deadline).

Failure to Implement a Litigation Hold. Fostoria City filed its original complaint on March 12, 2018. See City of Fostoria v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45433-DAP, ECF No. 1-3. Despite filing its case years ago, Fostoria City never implemented a litigation hold and is instead purporting to rely on non-specific and unidentified document retention laws. See ECF No. 5687-1 (Date Litigation Hold Implemented: *(Never)). This is a plain violation of this Court’s orders. ECF Nos. 232; 5455. Litigating Fostoria City’s case would force the parties and the Court to waste time and resources ascertaining the extent of Fostoria City’s document destruction and the appropriate sanctions—just as the parties were forced to do in the three PBM bellwethers that failed to implement litigation holds until 2024. The PBMs are prejudiced by Fostoria City’s disregard for its most basic discovery obligations as a litigant, compounded by the delay in seeking leave to amend, and Fostoria City therefore lacks good cause for leave to amend its complaint. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28 (denying leave to amend in part because the passage of time resulted in significant prejudice due to the loss of documents or records); see also Section III.A.4, above.

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Ohio law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Fostoria City’s delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs’ ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Ohio law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Fostoria City, a municipality in Ohio, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

Plaintiff’s Public Nuisance Claim is Futile. Fostoria City is a plaintiff in Ohio. Fostoria City’s request for leave to add the PBMs as defendants to a public nuisance claim should be denied as futile because “all common-law public-nuisance claims arising from the sale of a product have been abrogated by the Ohio Product Liability Act.” In re Nat’l Prescription Opiate Litig., 2024 WL 5049302, at *1, 2024-OHIO-5744, ¶ 1; see Section III.B.3, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Fostoria City’s proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Fostoria City filed its original complaint on March 12, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries for which it now seeks to recover under RICO against the PBMs. See City of Fostoria v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45433-DAP, ECF No. 1-3. Even assuming arguendo that Fostoria City first learned of its injury on the day it filed its original complaint, RICO’s four-year statute of limitations expired, at the very latest, on March 12, 2022. Fostoria City’s RICO claim is therefore time-barred. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by “discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim” (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Fostoria City’s request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Fostoria City, a municipality in Ohio, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester’s complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

412. City of Warren v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45434-DAP: Plaintiff Warren City, Ohio

Warren City's untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Warren City failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Warren City also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, failure to submit a complete plaintiff fact sheet, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Warren City's motion should be denied due to futility, as Warren City does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its proposed public nuisance claim is barred by state law in Ohio, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Warren City was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Warren City amended its complaint on March 18, 2019, after transfer to the MDL on April 13, 2018. See City of Warren v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45434-DAP, ECF No. 1-8. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Warren City declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaint. See Section II.A.1, above. Warren City's deadline to amend was in 2019. Warren City waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Warren City's lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order's deadline because plaintiff "had all the information [she] needed" to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a "wait-and-see approach" instead of timely moving to amend).

Furthermore, in 2023, Warren City filed a separate complaint in this MDL asserting new claims for public nuisance and negligence against Express Scripts, Inc.; Express Scripts Holding Company, n/k/a Evernorth Health, Inc.; Merck-Medco, n/k/a Medco Health Solutions, Inc.; Medco Health Solutions, Inc.; UnitedHealth Group Incorporated; Optum, Inc.; OptumRx, Inc.; and other defendants. See Cuyahoga County et al. v. Mylan Pharms., Inc. et al., No. 1:23-op-45003 (N.D. Ohio), ECF No. 1. Warren City offers no good cause for its failure to bring its proposed claims against all PBMs in the 2023 case, which is still pending. In addition, Warren City’s improper claim-splitting between these two separate cases in the MDL should be rejected. See Waad, 762 F. App’x at 260–63 (affirming dismissal for improper claim splitting where the plaintiff’s claims in a later-filed case were “duplicative of and improperly split” from an earlier-filed case).

Prior Notice Through Counsel. Warren City cannot meet the Rule 16 good cause standard because it is represented by the same counsel—Napoli Shkolnik, PLLC—that have been bringing claims against the PBMs since 2019. Warren City—through its counsel—was on notice of potential claims against the PBMs and could readily have amended its complaint to add the PBMs much earlier. Warren City fails to explain why it was unable to assert claims against the PBMs in 2019 when its own attorneys were already asserting those claims on behalf of other clients. See, e.g., Duggins, 195 F.3d at 834 (affirming denial of leave to amend after the close of discovery when the “plaintiff was obviously aware of the basis of the claim for many months, especially since some underlying facts were made a part of the complaint”); Thurmond, 649 F. App’x at 1006 (affirming denial of leave to amend for undue delay in part because plaintiff’s counsel had access to discovery in related cases and was previously aware of the proposed new defendants’ conduct).

OptumRx’s Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to Warren City’s geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson Decl. (0.07% market share for Warren City). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Warren City to add dispensing claims against OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Failure to Prosecute. In its Plaintiff Fact Sheet, Warren City failed to provide complete answers to Questions I.B.8 and I.B.9, relating to Warren City's health plans, carriers, third party administrators, and pharmacy benefit managers throughout the relevant time period. The PBMs notified Warren City of this deficiency on September 16, 2024 (see Exhibit B), but Warren City refused to amend or supplement its Fact Sheet. Under this Court's orders, Warren City's case is therefore subject to "dismiss[al] with prejudice" for failure to prosecute. ECF No. 4985 at 1 (emphasis in original); see Section III.A.5, above. Warren City's refusal to provide basic information related to its health care plans prejudices the PBMs' ability to defend against Warren City's potential claims against them. Warren City's failure to diligently prosecute its case, coupled with the prejudice against the PBMs, negates any finding of good cause and leave to amend should be denied. See Final Amendment Order, ECF No. 5455 at 2 (directing counsel to dismiss, not seek leave to amend, in any case that "plaintiffs' counsel does not intend to zealously pursue in litigation"); Range, 2017 WL 9477693, at *4 n.6 (denying motion for leave to amend as moot because claims were dismissed for failure to prosecute).

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Ohio law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Warren City's delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs' ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Ohio law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Warren City, a municipality in Ohio, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

Plaintiff's Public Nuisance Claim is Futile. Warren City is a plaintiff in Ohio. Warren City's request for leave to add the PBMs as defendants to a public nuisance claim should be denied as futile because "all common-law public-nuisance claims arising from the sale of a product have been abrogated by the Ohio Product Liability Act." In re Nat'l Prescription Opiate Litig., 2024 WL 5049302, at *1, 2024-OHIO-5744, ¶ 1; see Section III.B.3, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Warren City's proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Warren City filed its amended complaint on March 18, 2019, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See City of Warren v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45434-DAP, ECF No. 8. It is therefore indisputable that Warren City knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, five years before seeking leave to amend. Warren City's RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO's four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by "discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim" (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Warren City's request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Warren City, a municipality in Ohio, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester's complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

413. Town of McKenzie, Alabama v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45435-DAP: Plaintiff McKenzie Town, Alabama

McKenzie Town's untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. McKenzie Town failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. McKenzie Town also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, failure to implement a litigation hold, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, McKenzie Town's motion should be denied due to futility, as McKenzie Town does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its proposed public nuisance claim is barred by the statute of limitations, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. McKenzie Town was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, McKenzie Town filed its original complaint on March 19, 2018 and the case was transferred to the MDL on April 17, 2018. See Town of McKenzie, Alabama v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45435-DAP, ECF No. 32. McKenzie Town could have amended its complaint, without leave, to add claims against the PBMs in 2019. See Section II.A.1, above. Unlike many other plaintiffs, McKenzie Town elected not to do so. Instead, McKenzie Town waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. McKenzie Town's lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order's deadline because plaintiff "had all the information [she] needed" to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704

F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a “wait-and-see approach” instead of timely moving to amend).

Express Scripts’ PBM Has No Market Share. Express Scripts’ PBM processed zero claims for prescription opioids in McKenzie Town’s geographic jurisdiction during 2009 to 2019. See DeCarlo Decl., Exhibit A. Because Express Scripts’ PBM “ha[s] no market share, they shouldn’t be in the case, period.” ECF No. 3685 at 6:9–14; see Section III.A.2, above.

Failure to Implement a Litigation Hold. McKenzie Town filed its original complaint on March 19, 2018. See Town of McKenzie, Alabama v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45435-DAP, ECF No. 1. Despite filing its case years ago, McKenzie Town never implemented a litigation hold, in violation of this Court’s orders (ECF Nos. 232; 5455). See ECF No. 5687-1 (Date Litigation Hold Implemented: Never). Litigating McKenzie Town’s case would force the parties and the Court to waste time and resources ascertaining the extent of McKenzie Town’s document destruction and the appropriate sanctions—just as the parties were forced to do in the three PBM bellwethers that failed to implement litigation holds until 2024. The PBMs are prejudiced by McKenzie Town’s disregard for its most basic discovery obligations as a litigant, compounded by the delay in seeking leave to amend, and McKenzie Town therefore lacks good cause for leave to amend its complaint. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28 (denying leave to amend in part because the passage of time resulted in significant prejudice due to the loss of documents or records); see also Section III.A.4, above.

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Alabama law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But McKenzie Town’s delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs’ ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Alabama law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. McKenzie Town, a municipality in Alabama, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for McKenzie Town’s proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. McKenzie Town filed its original complaint on March 19, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See Town of McKenzie, Alabama v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45435-DAP, ECF No. 1. It is therefore indisputable that McKenzie Town knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend. McKenzie Town’s RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO’s four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by “discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim” (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. McKenzie Town’s request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Public Nuisance Statute of Limitations. In Alabama, public-nuisance claims are subject to a two-year limitations period. McKenzie Town’s public-nuisance claim against the PBMs is therefore time-barred because McKenzie Town sought leave to amend its complaint on July 29, 2024—six years after filing its original complaint on March 19, 2018—and the proposed amendment does not relate back to the original filing for purposes of the applicable statute of limitations. See Zakora, 44 F.4th at 480 (“This court has repeatedly held that an amendment which adds a new party creates a new cause of action and there is no relation back to the original filing for purposes of limitations.” (cleaned up)).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. McKenzie Town, a municipality in Alabama, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester’s complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

414. City of Georgiana, Alabama v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45436-DAP: Plaintiff Georgiana Town, Alabama

Georgiana Town’s untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Georgiana Town failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Georgiana Town also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, failure to implement a litigation hold, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Georgiana Town’s motion should be denied due to futility, as Georgiana Town does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its proposed public nuisance claim is barred by the statute of limitations, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Georgiana Town was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Georgiana Town filed its original complaint on March 19, 2018 and the case was transferred to the MDL on April 17, 2018. See City of Georgiana, Alabama v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45436-DAP, ECF No. 22. Georgiana Town could have amended its complaint, without leave, to add claims against the PBMs in 2019. See Section II.A.1, above. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Georgiana Town elected not to do so. Instead, Georgiana Town waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Georgiana Town’s lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order’s deadline because plaintiff “had all the information [she] needed” to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a “wait-and-see approach” instead of timely moving to amend).

OptumRx’s Home-Delivery Pharmacy Had Zero Dispenses. OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy did not dispense a single opioid prescription to Georgiana Town’s geographic jurisdiction over the period for which OptumRx has data (2010 to 2019). See Gustafson Decl. Because OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy “ha[s] no market share, they shouldn’t be in the case, period.” ECF No. 3685 at 6:9–14; see Section III.A.2, above. Thus, Georgiana Town cannot show good cause to add claims against OptumRx in its capacity as a home delivery pharmacy.

Express Scripts’ Mail Order Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. Express Scripts’ mail order pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of prescription opioid units shipped to Georgiana Town’s geographic jurisdiction during 2009 to 2019. See DeCarlo Decl., Exhibit C (0.24% market share). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Georgiana Town to add dispensing claims against Express Scripts’ mail order pharmacy entities. See Section III.A.2, above.

Failure to Implement a Litigation Hold. Georgiana Town filed its original complaint on March 19, 2018. See City of Georgiana, Alabama v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45436-DAP, ECF No. 1. Despite filing its case years ago, Georgiana Town never implemented a litigation hold, in violation of this Court’s orders (ECF Nos. 232; 5455). See ECF No. 5687-1 (Date Litigation Hold Implemented: Never). Litigating Georgiana Town’s case would force the parties and the Court to waste time and resources ascertaining the extent of Georgiana Town’s document destruction and the appropriate sanctions—just as the parties were forced to do in the three PBM bellwethers that failed to implement litigation holds until 2024. The PBMs are prejudiced by Georgiana Town’s disregard for its most basic discovery obligations as a litigant, compounded by the delay in seeking leave to amend, and Georgiana Town therefore lacks good cause for leave to amend its complaint. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28 (denying leave to amend in part because the passage of time resulted in significant prejudice due to the loss of documents or records); see also Section III.A.4, above.

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Alabama law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Georgiana Town’s delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs’ ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Alabama law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Georgiana Town, a municipality in Alabama, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Georgiana Town’s proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Georgiana Town filed its original complaint on March 19, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See City of Georgiana, Alabama v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45436-DAP, ECF No. 1. It is therefore indisputable that Georgiana Town knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend. Georgiana Town’s RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO’s four-year limitations period.

ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by “discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim” (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Georgiana Town’s request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Public Nuisance Statute of Limitations. In Alabama, public-nuisance claims are subject to a two-year limitations period. Georgiana Town’s public-nuisance claim against the PBMs is therefore time-barred because Georgiana Town sought leave to amend its complaint on July 29, 2024—six years after filing its original complaint on March 19, 2018—and the proposed amendment does not relate back to the original filing for purposes of the applicable statute of limitations. See Zakora, 44 F.4th at 480 (“This court has repeatedly held that an amendment which adds a new party creates a new cause of action and there is no relation back to the original filing for purposes of limitations.” (cleaned up)).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Georgiana Town, a municipality in Alabama, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester’s complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

415. City of Abbeville, Alabama v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45437-DAP: Plaintiff Abbeville City, Alabama

Abbeville City’s untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Abbeville City failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Abbeville City also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, failure to implement a litigation hold, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Abbeville City’s motion should be denied due to futility, as Abbeville City does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its proposed public nuisance claim is barred by the statute of limitations, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Abbeville City was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Abbeville City filed its original complaint on March 20, 2018 and the case was transferred to the MDL on April 17, 2018. See City of Abbeville, Alabama v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45437-DAP, ECF No. 24. Abbeville City could have amended its complaint, without leave, to add claims against the PBMs in 2019. See Section II.A.1, above. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Abbeville City elected not to do so. Instead, Abbeville City waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Abbeville City's lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order's deadline because plaintiff "had all the information [she] needed" to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a "wait-and-see approach" instead of timely moving to amend).

OptumRx's Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to Abbeville City's geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson Decl. (0.01% market share for Abbeville City). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Abbeville City to add dispensing claims against OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Express Scripts' Mail Order Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of prescription opioid units shipped to Abbeville City's geographic jurisdiction during 2009 to 2019. See DeCarlo Decl., Exhibit C (0.34% market share). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Abbeville City to add dispensing claims against Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy entities. See Section III.A.2, above.

Failure to Implement a Litigation Hold. Abbeville City filed its original complaint on March 20, 2018. See City of Abbeville, Alabama v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45437-DAP, ECF No. 1. Despite filing its case years ago, Abbeville City never implemented a litigation hold, in violation of this Court's orders (ECF Nos. 232; 5455). See ECF No. 5687-1 (Date Litigation Hold Implemented: Never). Litigating Abbeville City's case would force the parties and the Court to waste time and resources ascertaining the extent of Abbeville City's document destruction and the appropriate sanctions—just as the parties were forced to do in the three PBM bellwethers that failed to implement litigation holds until 2024. The PBMs are prejudiced by Abbeville City's disregard for its most basic discovery obligations as a litigant, compounded by the delay in seeking leave to amend, and Abbeville City therefore lacks good cause for leave to amend its complaint. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28 (denying leave to amend in part because the passage of time resulted in significant prejudice due to the loss of documents or records); see also Section III.A.4, above.

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Alabama law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Abbeville City's delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs' ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Alabama law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Abbeville City, a municipality in Alabama, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Abbeville City’s proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Abbeville City filed its original complaint on March 20, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See City of Abbeville, Alabama v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45437-DAP, ECF No. 1. It is therefore indisputable that Abbeville City knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend. Abbeville City’s RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO’s four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by “discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim” (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Abbeville City’s request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Public Nuisance Statute of Limitations. In Alabama, public-nuisance claims are subject to a two-year limitations period. Abbeville City’s public-nuisance claim against the PBMs is therefore time-barred because Abbeville City sought leave to amend its complaint on July 29, 2024—six years after filing its original complaint on March 20, 2018—and the proposed amendment does not relate back to the original filing for purposes of the applicable statute of limitations. See Zakora, 44 F.4th at 480 (“This court has repeatedly held that an amendment which adds a new party creates a new cause of action and there is no relation back to the original filing for purposes of limitations.” (cleaned up)).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Abbeville City, a municipality in Alabama, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester’s complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

416. Butler County, Alabama v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45441-DAP: Plaintiff Butler County, Alabama

Butler County’s untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Butler County failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Butler County also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, failure to implement a litigation hold, failure to submit a complete plaintiff fact sheet, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Butler County’s motion should be denied due to futility, as Butler County does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its proposed public nuisance claim is barred by the statute of limitations, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Butler County was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Butler County filed its original complaint on March 20, 2018 and the case was transferred to the MDL on April 18, 2018. See Butler County, Alabama v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45441-DAP, ECF No. 33. Butler County could have amended its complaint, without leave, to add claims against the PBMs in 2019. See Section II.A.1, above. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Butler County elected not to do so. Instead, Butler County waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Butler County's lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order's deadline because plaintiff "had all the information [she] needed" to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a "wait-and-see approach" instead of timely moving to amend).

OptumRx's Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to Butler County's geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson Decl. (0.02% market share for Butler County). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Butler County to add dispensing claims against OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Express Scripts' Mail Order Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of prescription opioid units shipped to Butler County's geographic jurisdiction during 2009 to 2019. See DeCarlo Decl., Exhibit C (0.17% market share). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Butler County to add dispensing claims against Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy entities. See Section III.A.2, above.

Failure to Implement a Litigation Hold. Butler County filed its original complaint on March 20, 2018. See Butler County, Alabama v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45441-DAP, ECF No. 1. Despite filing its case years ago, Butler County never implemented a litigation hold, in violation of this Court's orders (ECF Nos. 232; 5455). See ECF No. 5687-1

(Date Litigation Hold Implemented: Never). Litigating Butler County’s case would force the parties and the Court to waste time and resources ascertaining the extent of Butler County’s document destruction and the appropriate sanctions—just as the parties were forced to do in the three PBM bellwethers that failed to implement litigation holds until 2024. The PBMs are prejudiced by Butler County’s disregard for its most basic discovery obligations as a litigant, compounded by the delay in seeking leave to amend, and Butler County therefore lacks good cause for leave to amend its complaint. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28 (denying leave to amend in part because the passage of time resulted in significant prejudice due to the loss of documents or records); see also Section III.A.4, above.

Failure to Prosecute. In its Plaintiff Fact Sheet, Butler County failed to provide complete answers to Questions I.B.8 and I.B.9, relating to Butler County’s health plans, carriers, third party administrators, and pharmacy benefit managers throughout the relevant time period. The PBMs notified Butler County of this deficiency on September 16, 2024 (see Exhibit B), but Butler County refused to amend or supplement its Fact Sheet. Under this Court’s orders, Butler County’s case is therefore subject to “dismiss[al] with prejudice” for failure to prosecute. ECF No. 4985 at 1 (emphasis in original); see Section III.A.5, above. Butler County’s refusal to provide basic information related to its health care plans prejudices the PBMs’ ability to defend against Butler County’s potential claims against them. Butler County’s failure to diligently prosecute its case, coupled with the prejudice against the PBMs, negates any finding of good cause and leave to amend should be denied. See Final Amendment Order, ECF No. 5455 at 2 (directing counsel to dismiss, not seek leave to amend, in any case that “plaintiffs’ counsel does not intend to zealously pursue in litigation”); Range, 2017 WL 9477693, at *4 n.6 (denying motion for leave to amend as moot because claims were dismissed for failure to prosecute).

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Alabama law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Butler County’s delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs’ ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Alabama law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Butler County, a municipality in Alabama, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Butler County’s proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Butler County filed its original complaint on March 20, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See Butler County, Alabama v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45441-DAP, ECF No. 1. It is therefore indisputable that Butler County knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend. Butler County’s RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO’s four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by “discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim” (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Butler County’s request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Public Nuisance Statute of Limitations. In Alabama, public-nuisance claims are subject to a two-year limitations period. Butler County’s public-nuisance claim against the PBMs is therefore time-barred because Butler County sought leave to amend its complaint on July 29, 2024—six years after filing its original complaint on March 20, 2018—and the proposed amendment does not relate back to the original filing for purposes of the applicable statute of limitations. See Zakora, 44 F.4th at 480 (“This court has repeatedly held that an amendment which adds a new party creates a new cause of action and there is no relation back to the original filing for purposes of limitations.” (cleaned up)).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Butler County lacks statutory standing to assert a public nuisance claim under Alabama law because it “is clearly not an individual, nor a city, nor the [s]tate,” and thus amendment is futile. Lee County, 2022 WL 450810, at *4 (concluding an Alabama county lacked standing to bring a Ala. Code § 6-5-121 claim); see Section III.B.3, above.

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Butler County, a municipality in Alabama, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester’s complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

417. County of Clackamas et al. v. Purdue Pharma, LP et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45442-DAP: Plaintiff Clackamas County, Oregon

Clackamas County’s untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Clackamas County failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Clackamas County also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, failure to implement a litigation hold, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Clackamas County’s motion should be denied due to futility, as Clackamas County does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Clackamas County was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Clackamas County first amended its complaint on June 8, 2018. See County of Clackamas et al. v. Purdue Pharma, LP et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45442-DAP, ECF No. 7. Clackamas County amended its complaint again on March 16, 2019. See County of Clackamas et al. v. Purdue Pharma, LP et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45442-DAP, ECF No. 9. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Clackamas County declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaints. See Section II.A.1, above. Clackamas County’s deadline to amend was in 2019. Clackamas County waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Clackamas County’s lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order’s deadline because plaintiff “had all the information [she] needed” to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a “wait-and-see approach” instead of timely moving to amend).

OptumRx’s Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to Clackamas County’s geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson Decl. (0.05% market share for Clackamas County). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Clackamas County to add dispensing claims against OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Express Scripts’ Mail Order Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. Express Scripts’ mail order pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of prescription opioid units shipped to Clackamas County's geographic jurisdiction during 2009 to 2019. See DeCarlo Decl., Exhibit C (0.20% market share). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Clackamas County to add dispensing claims against Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy entities. See Section III.A.2, above.

Failure to Implement a Litigation Hold. Clackamas County filed its original complaint on March 27, 2018. See County of Clackamas et al. v. Purdue Pharma, LP et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45442-DAP, ECF No. 1. Despite filing its case years ago, Clackamas County never implemented a litigation hold and is instead purporting to rely on non-specific and unidentified document retention laws. See ECF No. 5687-1 (Date Litigation Hold Implemented: *(Never)). This is a plain violation of this Court's orders. ECF Nos. 232; 5455. Litigating Clackamas County's case would force the parties and the Court to waste time and resources ascertaining the extent of Clackamas County's document destruction and the appropriate sanctions—just as the parties were forced to do in the three PBM bellwethers that failed to implement litigation holds until 2024. The PBMs are prejudiced by Clackamas County's disregard for its most basic discovery obligations as a litigant, compounded by the delay in seeking leave to amend, and Clackamas County therefore lacks good cause for leave to amend its complaint. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28 (denying leave to amend in part because the passage of time resulted in significant prejudice due to the loss of documents or records); see also Section III.A.4, above.

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Oregon law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Clackamas County's delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs' ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Oregon law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Clackamas County, a municipality in Oregon, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Clackamas County’s proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Clackamas County filed its second amended complaint on March 16, 2019, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See County of Clackamas et al. v. Purdue Pharma, LP et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45442-DAP, ECF No. 9. It is therefore indisputable that Clackamas County knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, five years before seeking leave to amend. Clackamas County’s RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO’s four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by “discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim” (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Clackamas County’s request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Clackamas County, a municipality in Oregon, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester’s complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

418. County of Clackamas et al. v. Purdue Pharma, LP et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45442-DAP: Plaintiff Clatsop County, Oregon

Clatsop County's untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Clatsop County failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Clatsop County also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, failure to implement a litigation hold, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Clatsop County's motion should be denied due to futility, as Clatsop County does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Clatsop County was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Clatsop County first joined its case on June 8, 2018.

See County of Clackamas et al. v. Purdue Pharma, LP et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45442-DAP, ECF No. 7. Clatsop County amended its complaint on March 16, 2019. See County of Clackamas et al. v. Purdue Pharma, LP et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45442-DAP, ECF No. 9. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Clatsop County declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaint. See Section II.A.1, above. Clatsop County's deadline to amend was in 2019. Clatsop County waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Clatsop County's lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order's deadline because plaintiff "had all the information [she] needed" to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a "wait-and-see approach" instead of timely moving to amend).

OptumRx's Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to Clatsop County's geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson Decl. (0.05% market share for Clatsop County). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Clatsop County to add dispensing claims against OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Express Scripts' Mail Order Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of prescription opioid units shipped to Clatsop County's geographic jurisdiction during 2009 to 2019. See DeCarlo Decl., Exhibit C (0.09% market share). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Clatsop County to add dispensing claims against Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy entities. See Section III.A.2, above.

Failure to Implement a Litigation Hold. Clatsop County joined its case on June 8, 2018. See County of Clackamas et al. v. Purdue Pharma, LP et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45442-DAP, ECF No. 7. Despite filing its case years ago, Clatsop County never implemented a litigation hold and is instead purporting to rely on non-specific and unidentified document retention laws. See ECF No. 5687-1 (Date Litigation Hold Implemented: *(Never)). This is a plain violation of this Court's orders. ECF Nos. 232; 5455. Litigating Clatsop County's case would force the parties and the Court to waste time and resources ascertaining the extent of Clatsop County's document destruction and the appropriate sanctions—just as the parties were forced to do in the three PBM bellwethers that failed to implement litigation holds until 2024. The PBMs are prejudiced by Clatsop County's disregard for its most basic discovery obligations as a litigant, compounded by the delay in seeking leave to amend, and Clatsop County therefore lacks good cause for leave to amend its complaint. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28 (denying leave to amend in part because the passage of time resulted in significant prejudice due to the loss of documents or records); see also Section III.A.4, above.

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Oregon law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Clatsop County's delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs' ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Oregon law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Clatsop County, a municipality in Oregon, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Clatsop County's proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Clatsop County amended its complaint on March 16, 2019, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See County of Clackamas et al. v. Purdue Pharma, LP et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45442-DAP, ECF No. 9. It is therefore indisputable that Clatsop County knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, five years before seeking leave to amend. Clatsop County's RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO's four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by "discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim" (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Clatsop County's request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Clatsop County, a municipality in Oregon, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester's complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

419. County of Clackamas et al. v. Purdue Pharma, LP et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45442-DAP: Plaintiff Columbia County, Oregon

Columbia County's untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Columbia County failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Columbia County also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, failure to implement a litigation hold, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Columbia County's motion should be denied due to futility, as Columbia County does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Columbia County was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Columbia County first amended its complaint on June 8, 2018. See County of Clackamas et al. v. Purdue Pharma, LP et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45442-DAP, ECF No. 7. Columbia County amended its complaint again on March 16, 2019. See County of Clackamas et al. v. Purdue Pharma, LP et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45442-DAP, ECF No. 9. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Columbia County declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaints. See Section II.A.1, above. Columbia County's deadline to amend was in 2019. Columbia County waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs.

Columbia County’s lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order’s deadline because plaintiff “had all the information [she] needed” to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a “wait-and-see approach” instead of timely moving to amend).

OptumRx’s Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to Columbia County’s geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson Decl. (0.08% market share for Columbia County). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Columbia County to add dispensing claims against OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Failure to Implement a Litigation Hold. Columbia County filed its original complaint on March 27, 2018. See County of Clackamas et al. v. Purdue Pharma, LP et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45442-DAP, ECF No. 1. Despite filing its case years ago, Columbia County never implemented a litigation hold and is instead purporting to rely on non-specific and unidentified document retention laws. See ECF No. 5687-1 (Date Litigation Hold Implemented: *(Never)). This is a plain violation of this Court’s orders. ECF Nos. 232; 5455. Litigating Columbia County’s case would force the parties and the Court to waste time and resources ascertaining the extent of Columbia County’s document destruction and the appropriate sanctions—just as the parties were forced to do in the three PBM bellwethers that failed to implement litigation holds until 2024. The PBMs are prejudiced by Columbia County’s disregard for its most basic discovery obligations as a litigant, compounded by the delay in seeking leave to amend, and Columbia County therefore lacks good cause for leave to amend its complaint. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28 (denying leave to amend in part because the passage of time resulted in significant prejudice due to the loss of documents or records); see also Section III.A.4, above.

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Oregon law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Columbia County's delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs' ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Oregon law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Columbia County, a municipality in Oregon, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Columbia County's proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Columbia County filed its second amended complaint on March 16, 2019, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See County of Clackamas et al. v. Purdue Pharma, LP et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45442-DAP, ECF No. 9. It is therefore indisputable that Columbia County knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, five years before seeking leave to amend. Columbia County's RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO's four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by "discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim" (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Columbia County's request for leave to amend to add a

RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Columbia County, a municipality in Oregon, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester's complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

420. County of Clackamas et al. v. Purdue Pharma, LP et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45442-DAP: Plaintiff Jackson County, Oregon

Jackson County's untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Jackson County failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Jackson County also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, failure to implement a litigation hold, failure to submit a complete plaintiff fact sheet, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Jackson County's motion should be denied due to futility, as Jackson County does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Jackson County was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Jackson County first amended its complaint on June 8, 2018. See County of Clackamas et al. v. Purdue Pharma, LP et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45442-DAP, ECF No. 7. Jackson County amended its complaint again on March 16, 2019. See County of Clackamas et al. v. Purdue Pharma, LP et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45442-DAP, ECF No. 9. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Jackson County declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaints. See Section II.A.1, above. Jackson County's deadline to amend was in 2019. Jackson County waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Jackson County's lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order’s deadline because plaintiff “had all the information [she] needed” to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a “wait-and-see approach” instead of timely moving to amend).

OptumRx’s Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to Jackson County’s geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson Decl. (0.09% market share for Jackson County). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Jackson County to add dispensing claims against OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Express Scripts’ Mail Order Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. Express Scripts’ mail order pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of prescription opioid units shipped to Jackson County’s geographic jurisdiction during 2009 to 2019. See DeCarlo Decl., Exhibit C (0.37% market share). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Jackson County to add dispensing claims against Express Scripts’ mail order pharmacy entities. See Section III.A.2, above.

Failure to Implement a Litigation Hold. Jackson County filed its original complaint on March 27, 2018. See County of Clackamas et al. v. Purdue Pharma, LP et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45442-DAP, ECF No. 1. Despite filing its case years ago, Jackson County never implemented a litigation hold and is instead purporting to rely on non-specific and unidentified document retention laws. See ECF No. 5687-1 (Date Litigation Hold Implemented: *(Never)). This is a plain violation of this Court's orders. ECF Nos. 232; 5455. Litigating Jackson County's case would force the parties and the Court to waste time and resources ascertaining the extent of Jackson County's document destruction and the appropriate sanctions—just as the parties were forced to do in the three PBM bellwethers that failed to implement litigation holds until 2024. The PBMs are prejudiced by Jackson County's disregard for its most basic discovery obligations as a litigant, compounded by the delay in seeking leave to amend, and Jackson County therefore lacks good cause for leave to amend its complaint. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28 (denying leave to amend in part because the passage of time resulted in significant prejudice due to the loss of documents or records); see also Section III.A.4, above.

Failure to Prosecute. In its Plaintiff Fact Sheet, Jackson County failed to provide complete answers to Questions I.B.8 and I.B.9, relating to Jackson County's health plans, carriers, third party administrators, and pharmacy benefit managers throughout the relevant time period. The PBMs notified Jackson County of this deficiency on September 16, 2024 (see Exhibit B), but Jackson County refused to amend or supplement its Fact Sheet. Under this Court's orders, Jackson County's case is therefore subject to “dismiss[al] with prejudice” for failure to prosecute. ECF No. 4985 at 1 (emphasis in original); see Section III.A.5, above. Jackson County's refusal to provide basic information related to its health care plans prejudices the PBMs' ability to defend against Jackson County's potential claims against them. Jackson County's failure to diligently prosecute its case, coupled with the prejudice against the PBMs, negates any finding of good cause and leave to amend should be denied. See Final Amendment Order, ECF No. 5455 at 2 (directing counsel to dismiss, not seek leave to amend, in any case that “plaintiffs' counsel does not intend to zealously pursue in litigation”); Range, 2017 WL 9477693, at *4 n.6 (denying motion for leave to amend as moot because claims were dismissed for failure to prosecute).

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Oregon law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Jackson County’s delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs’ ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Oregon law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Jackson County, a municipality in Oregon, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Jackson County’s proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Jackson County filed its second amended complaint on March 16, 2019, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See County of Clackamas et al. v. Purdue Pharma, LP et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45442-DAP, ECF No. 9. It is therefore indisputable that Jackson County knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, five years before seeking leave to amend. Jackson County’s RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO’s four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by “discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim” (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Jackson County’s request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Jackson County, a municipality in Oregon, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester's complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

421. County of Clackamas et al. v. Purdue Pharma, LP et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45442-DAP: Plaintiff Josephine County, Oregon

Josephine County's untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Josephine County failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Josephine County also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, failure to implement a litigation hold, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Josephine County's motion should be denied due to futility, as Josephine County does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Josephine County was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Josephine County first amended its complaint on June 8, 2018. See County of Clackamas et al. v. Purdue Pharma, LP et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45442-DAP, ECF No. 7. Josephine County amended its complaint again on March 16, 2019. See County of Clackamas et al. v. Purdue Pharma, LP et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45442-DAP, ECF No. 9. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Josephine County declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaints. See Section II.A.1, above. Josephine County's deadline to amend was in 2019. Josephine County waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Josephine County's lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order's deadline because plaintiff "had all the information [she] needed" to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a "wait-and-see approach" instead of timely moving to amend).

OptumRx's Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to Josephine County's geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson Decl. (0.13% market share for Josephine County). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Josephine County to add dispensing claims against OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Express Scripts' Mail Order Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of prescription opioid units shipped to Josephine County's geographic jurisdiction during 2009 to 2019. See DeCarlo Decl., Exhibit C (0.40% market share). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Josephine County to add dispensing claims against Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy entities. See Section III.A.2, above.

Failure to Implement a Litigation Hold. Josephine County filed its original complaint on March 27, 2018. See County of Clackamas et al. v. Purdue Pharma, LP et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45442-DAP, ECF No. 1. Despite filing its case years ago, Josephine County never implemented a litigation hold and is instead purporting to rely on non-specific and unidentified document retention laws. See ECF No. 5687-1 (Date Litigation Hold Implemented: *(Never)). This is a plain violation of this Court's orders. ECF Nos. 232; 5455. Litigating Josephine County's case would force the parties and the Court to waste time and resources ascertaining the extent of Josephine County's document destruction and the appropriate sanctions—just as the parties were forced to do in the three PBM bellwethers that failed to implement litigation holds until 2024. The PBMs are prejudiced by Josephine County's disregard for its most basic discovery obligations as a litigant, compounded by the delay in seeking leave to amend, and Josephine County therefore lacks good cause for leave to amend its complaint. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28 (denying leave to amend in part because the passage of time resulted in significant prejudice due to the loss of documents or records); see also Section III.A.4, above.

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Oregon law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Josephine County's delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs' ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Oregon law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Josephine County, a municipality in Oregon, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Josephine County's proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Josephine County filed its second amended complaint on March 16, 2019, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See County of Clackamas et al. v. Purdue Pharma, LP et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45442-DAP, ECF No. 9. It is therefore indisputable that Josephine County knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, five years before seeking leave to amend. Josephine County's RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO's four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by "discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim" (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Josephine County's request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Josephine County, a municipality in Oregon, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester's complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

422. County of Clackamas et al. v. Purdue Pharma, LP et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45442-DAP: Plaintiff Lane County, Oregon

Lane County's untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Lane County failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Lane County also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, failure to implement a litigation hold, failure to submit a complete plaintiff fact sheet, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Lane County's motion should be denied due to futility, as Lane County does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Lane County was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Lane County first amended its complaint on June 8, 2018. See County of Clackamas et al. v. Purdue Pharma, LP et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45442-DAP, ECF No. 7. Lane County amended its complaint again on March 16, 2019. See County of Clackamas et al. v. Purdue Pharma, LP et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45442-DAP, ECF No. 9. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Lane County declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaints. See Section II.A.1, above. Lane County's deadline to amend was in 2019. Lane County waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Lane County's lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order's deadline because plaintiff "had all the information [she] needed" to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a "wait-and-see approach" instead of timely moving to amend).

OptumRx's Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to Lane County's geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson Decl. (0.05% market share for Lane County). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Lane County to add dispensing claims against OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Express Scripts' Mail Order Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of prescription opioid units shipped to Lane County's geographic jurisdiction during 2009 to 2019. See DeCarlo Decl., Exhibit C (0.25% market share). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Lane County to add dispensing claims against Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy entities. See Section III.A.2, above.

Failure to Implement a Litigation Hold. Lane County filed its original complaint on March 27, 2018. See County of Clackamas et al. v. Purdue Pharma, LP et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45442-DAP, ECF No. 1. Despite filing its case years ago, Lane County never implemented a litigation hold and is instead purporting to rely on non-specific and unidentified document retention laws. See ECF No. 5687-1 (Date Litigation Hold Implemented: *(Never)). This is a plain violation of this Court’s orders. ECF Nos. 232; 5455. Litigating Lane County’s case would force the parties and the Court to waste time and resources ascertaining the extent of Lane County’s document destruction and the appropriate sanctions—just as the parties were forced to do in the three PBM bellwethers that failed to implement litigation holds until 2024. The PBMs are prejudiced by Lane County’s disregard for its most basic discovery obligations as a litigant, compounded by the delay in seeking leave to amend, and Lane County therefore lacks good cause for leave to amend its complaint. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28 (denying leave to amend in part because the passage of time resulted in significant prejudice due to the loss of documents or records); see also Section III.A.4, above.

Failure to Prosecute. In its Plaintiff Fact Sheet, Lane County failed to provide complete answers to Questions I.B.8 and I.B.9, relating to Lane County’s health plans, carriers, third party administrators, and pharmacy benefit managers throughout the relevant time period. The PBMs notified Lane County of this deficiency on September 16, 2024 (see Exhibit B), but Lane County refused to amend or supplement its Fact Sheet. Under this Court’s orders, Lane County’s case is therefore subject to “dismiss[al] with prejudice” for failure to prosecute. ECF No. 4985 at 1 (emphasis in original); see Section III.A.5, above. Lane County’s refusal to provide basic information related to its health care plans prejudices the PBMs’ ability to defend against Lane County’s potential claims against them. Lane County’s failure to diligently prosecute its case, coupled with the prejudice against the PBMs, negates any finding of good cause and leave to amend should be denied. See Final Amendment Order, ECF No. 5455 at 2 (directing counsel to dismiss, not seek leave to amend, in any case that “plaintiffs’ counsel does not intend to zealously pursue in litigation”); Range, 2017 WL 9477693, at *4 n.6 (denying motion for leave to amend as moot because claims were dismissed for failure to prosecute).

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Oregon law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Lane County’s delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs’ ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Oregon law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Lane County, a municipality in Oregon, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Lane County’s proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Lane County filed its second amended complaint on March 16, 2019, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See County of Clackamas et al. v. Purdue Pharma, LP et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45442-DAP, ECF No. 9. It is therefore indisputable that Lane County knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, five years before seeking leave to amend. Lane County’s RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO’s four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by “discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim” (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555));

see Section III.B.4, above. Lane County's request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Lane County, a municipality in Oregon, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester's complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

423. County of Clackamas et al. v. Purdue Pharma, LP et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45442-DAP: Plaintiff Washington County, Oregon

Washington County's untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Washington County failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Washington County also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, failure to implement a litigation hold, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Washington County's motion should be denied due to futility, as Washington County does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Washington County was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Washington County first amended its complaint on June 8, 2018. See County of Clackamas et al. v. Purdue Pharma, LP et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45442-DAP, ECF No. 7. Washington County amended its complaint again on March 16, 2019. See County of Clackamas et al. v. Purdue Pharma, LP et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45442-DAP, ECF No. 9. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Washington County declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaints. See Section II.A.1, above. Washington County's deadline to amend was in 2019. Washington County waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Washington County's lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order's deadline because plaintiff "had all the information [she] needed" to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a "wait-and-see approach" instead of timely moving to amend).

OptumRx's Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to Washington County's geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson Decl. (0.06% market share for Washington County). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Washington County to add dispensing claims against OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Express Scripts' Mail Order Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of prescription opioid units shipped to Washington County's geographic jurisdiction during 2009 to 2019. See DeCarlo Decl., Exhibit C (0.19% market share). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Washington County to add dispensing claims against Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy entities. See Section III.A.2, above.

Failure to Implement a Litigation Hold. Washington County filed its original complaint on March 27, 2018. See County of Clackamas et al. v. Purdue Pharma, LP et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45442-DAP, ECF No. 1. Despite filing its case years ago, Washington County never implemented a litigation hold and is instead purporting to rely on non-specific and unidentified document retention laws. See ECF No. 5687-1 (Date Litigation Hold Implemented: *(Never)). This is a plain violation of this Court's orders. ECF Nos. 232; 5455. Litigating Washington County's case would force the parties and the Court to waste time and resources ascertaining the extent of Washington County's document destruction and the appropriate sanctions—just as the parties were forced to do in the three PBM bellwethers that failed to implement litigation holds until 2024. The PBMs are prejudiced by Washington County's disregard for its most basic discovery obligations as a litigant, compounded by the delay in seeking leave to amend, and Washington County therefore lacks good cause for leave to amend its complaint. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28 (denying leave to amend in part because the passage of time resulted in significant prejudice due to the loss of documents or records); see also Section III.A.4, above.

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Oregon law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Washington County's delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs' ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Oregon law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Washington County, a municipality in Oregon, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Washington County's proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Washington County filed its second amended complaint on March 16, 2019, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See County of Clackamas et al. v. Purdue Pharma, LP et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45442-DAP, ECF No. 9. It is therefore indisputable that Washington County knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, five years before seeking leave to amend. Washington County's RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO's four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by "discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim" (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Washington County's request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Washington County, a municipality in Oregon, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester's complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

424. County of Clackamas et al. v. Purdue Pharma, LP et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45442-DAP: Plaintiff Yamhill County, Oregon

Yamhill County's untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Yamhill County failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Yamhill County also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, failure to implement a litigation hold, failure to submit a complete plaintiff fact sheet, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Yamhill County's motion should be denied due to futility, as Yamhill County does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Yamhill County was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Yamhill County first amended its complaint on June 8, 2018. See County of Clackamas et al. v. Purdue Pharma, LP et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45442-DAP, ECF No. 7. Yamhill County amended its complaint again on March 16, 2019. See County of Clackamas et al. v. Purdue Pharma, LP et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45442-DAP, ECF No. 9. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Yamhill County declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaints. See Section II.A.1, above. Yamhill County’s deadline to amend was in 2019. Yamhill County waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Yamhill County’s lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order’s deadline because plaintiff “had all the information [she] needed” to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a “wait-and-see approach” instead of timely moving to amend).

OptumRx’s Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to Yamhill County’s geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson Decl. (0.04% market share for Yamhill County). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Yamhill County to add dispensing claims against OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Express Scripts’ Mail Order Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. Express Scripts’ mail order pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of prescription opioid units shipped to Yamhill County’s geographic jurisdiction during 2009 to 2019. See DeCarlo Decl., Exhibit C (0.17% market share). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Yamhill County to add dispensing claims against Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy entities. See Section III.A.2, above.

Failure to Implement a Litigation Hold. Yamhill County filed its original complaint on March 27, 2018. See County of Clackamas et al. v. Purdue Pharma, LP et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45442-DAP, ECF No. 1. Despite filing its case years ago, Yamhill County never implemented a litigation hold and is instead purporting to rely on non-specific and unidentified document retention laws. See ECF No. 5687-1 (Date Litigation Hold Implemented: *(Never)). This is a plain violation of this Court's orders. ECF Nos. 232; 5455. Litigating Yamhill County's case would force the parties and the Court to waste time and resources ascertaining the extent of Yamhill County's document destruction and the appropriate sanctions—just as the parties were forced to do in the three PBM bellwethers that failed to implement litigation holds until 2024. The PBMs are prejudiced by Yamhill County's disregard for its most basic discovery obligations as a litigant, compounded by the delay in seeking leave to amend, and Yamhill County therefore lacks good cause for leave to amend its complaint. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28 (denying leave to amend in part because the passage of time resulted in significant prejudice due to the loss of documents or records); see also Section III.A.4, above.

Failure to Prosecute. In its Plaintiff Fact Sheet, Yamhill County failed to provide complete answers to Questions I.B.8 and I.B.9, relating to Yamhill County's health plans, carriers, third party administrators, and pharmacy benefit managers throughout the relevant time period. The PBMs notified Yamhill County of this deficiency on September 16, 2024 (see Exhibit B), but Yamhill County refused to amend or supplement its Fact Sheet. Under this Court's orders, Yamhill County's case is therefore subject to “dismiss[al] with prejudice” for failure to prosecute. ECF No. 4985 at 1 (emphasis in original); see Section III.A.5, above. Yamhill County's refusal to provide basic information related to its health care plans prejudices the PBMs' ability to defend against Yamhill County's potential claims against them. Yamhill County's failure to diligently prosecute its case, coupled with the prejudice against the PBMs, negates any finding of good cause and leave to amend should be denied. See Final Amendment Order, ECF No. 5455 at 2 (directing counsel to dismiss, not seek leave to amend, in any case that "plaintiffs' counsel does not intend to zealously pursue in litigation"); Range, 2017 WL 9477693, at *4 n.6 (denying motion for leave to amend as moot because claims were dismissed for failure to prosecute).

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Oregon law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Yamhill County's delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs' ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Oregon law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Yamhill County, a municipality in Oregon, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Yamhill County's proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Yamhill County filed its second amended complaint on March 16, 2019, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See County of Clackamas et al. v. Purdue Pharma, LP et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45442-DAP, ECF No. 9. It is therefore indisputable that Yamhill County knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, five years before seeking leave to amend. Yamhill County's RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO's four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by “discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim” (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Yamhill County’s request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Yamhill County, a municipality in Oregon, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester’s complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

425. City of Macedonia, Ohio v. Amerisource Bergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45447-DAP: Plaintiff Macedonia City, Ohio

Macedonia City’s untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Macedonia City failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Macedonia City also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, failure to implement a litigation hold, failure to submit a complete plaintiff fact sheet, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Macedonia City’s motion should be denied due to futility, as Macedonia City does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its proposed public nuisance claim is barred by state law in Ohio, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Macedonia City was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Macedonia City amended its complaint on March 15, 2019, after directly filing in the MDL. See City of Macedonia, Ohio v. Amerisource Bergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45447-DAP, ECF No. 3. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Macedonia City declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaint. See Section II.A.1, above. Macedonia City’s deadline to amend was in 2019. Macedonia City waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Macedonia City’s lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order’s deadline because plaintiff “had all the information [she] needed” to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a “wait-and-see approach” instead of timely moving to amend).

OptumRx’s Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to Macedonia City’s geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson Decl. (0.19% market share for Macedonia City). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Macedonia City to add dispensing claims against OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Failure to Implement a Litigation Hold. Macedonia City filed its original complaint on April 17, 2018. See City of Macedonia, Ohio v. Amerisource Bergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45447-DAP, ECF No. 1. Despite filing its case years ago, Macedonia City never implemented a litigation hold, in violation of this Court’s orders (ECF Nos. 232; 5455). See ECF No. 5687-1 (Date Litigation Hold Implemented: Never). Litigating Macedonia City’s case would force the parties and the Court to waste time and resources ascertaining the extent of Macedonia City’s document destruction and the appropriate sanctions—just as the parties were forced to do in the three PBM bellwethers that failed to implement litigation holds until 2024. The PBMs are prejudiced by Macedonia City's disregard for its most basic discovery obligations as a litigant, compounded by the delay in seeking leave to amend, and Macedonia City therefore lacks good cause for leave to amend its complaint. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28 (denying leave to amend in part because the passage of time resulted in significant prejudice due to the loss of documents or records); see also Section III.A.4, above.

Failure to Prosecute. In its Plaintiff Fact Sheet, Macedonia City failed to provide complete answers to Questions I.B.8 and I.B.9, relating to Macedonia City's health plans, carriers, third party administrators, and pharmacy benefit managers throughout the relevant time period. The PBMs notified Macedonia City of this deficiency on September 16, 2024 (see Exhibit B), but Macedonia City refused to amend or supplement its Fact Sheet. Under this Court's orders, Macedonia City's case is therefore subject to "dismiss[al] with prejudice" for failure to prosecute. ECF No. 4985 at 1 (emphasis in original); see Section III.A.5, above. Macedonia City's refusal to provide basic information related to its health care plans prejudices the PBMs' ability to defend against Macedonia City's potential claims against them. Macedonia City's failure to diligently prosecute its case, coupled with the prejudice against the PBMs, negates any finding of good cause and leave to amend should be denied. See Final Amendment Order, ECF No. 5455 at 2 (directing counsel to dismiss, not seek leave to amend, in any case that "plaintiffs' counsel does not intend to zealously pursue in litigation"); Range, 2017 WL 9477693, at *4 n.6 (denying motion for leave to amend as moot because claims were dismissed for failure to prosecute).

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Ohio law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Macedonia City's delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs' ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Ohio law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Macedonia City, a municipality in Ohio, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

Plaintiff's Public Nuisance Claim is Futile. Macedonia City is a plaintiff in Ohio. Macedonia City's request for leave to add the PBMs as defendants to a public nuisance claim should be denied as futile because "all common-law public-nuisance claims arising from the sale of a product have been abrogated by the Ohio Product Liability Act." In re Nat'l Prescription Opiate Litig., 2024 WL 5049302, at *1, 2024-OHIO-5744, ¶ 1; see Section III.B.3, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Macedonia City's proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Macedonia City filed its original complaint on April 17, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See City of Macedonia, Ohio v. Amerisource Bergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45447-DAP, ECF No. 1. It is therefore indisputable that Macedonia City knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend. Macedonia City's RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO's four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by "discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim" (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Macedonia City's request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Macedonia City, a municipality in Ohio, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester's complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

426. City of East Cleveland, Ohio v. AmerisourceBergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45448-DAP: Plaintiff East Cleveland City, Ohio

East Cleveland City's untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. East Cleveland City failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. East Cleveland City also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, failure to implement a litigation hold, failure to submit a complete plaintiff fact sheet, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, East Cleveland City's motion should be denied due to futility, as East Cleveland City does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its proposed public nuisance claim is barred by state law in Ohio, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. East Cleveland City was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, East Cleveland City amended its complaint on March 15, 2019, after directly filing in the MDL. See City of East Cleveland, Ohio v. AmerisourceBergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45448-DAP, ECF No. 3. Unlike many other plaintiffs, East Cleveland City declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaint. See Section II.A.1, above. East Cleveland City's deadline to amend was in 2019. East Cleveland City waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. East Cleveland City's lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order's deadline because plaintiff “had all the information [she] needed” to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a “wait-and-see approach” instead of timely moving to amend).

OptumRx’s Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to East Cleveland City’s geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson Decl. (0.03% market share for East Cleveland City). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for East Cleveland City to add dispensing claims against OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Failure to Implement a Litigation Hold. East Cleveland City filed its original complaint on April 17, 2018. See City of East Cleveland, Ohio v. AmerisourceBergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45448-DAP, ECF No. 1. Despite filing its case years ago, East Cleveland City never implemented a litigation hold, in violation of this Court’s orders (ECF Nos. 232; 5455). See ECF No. 5687-1 (Date Litigation Hold Implemented: Never). Litigating East Cleveland City’s case would force the parties and the Court to waste time and resources ascertaining the extent of East Cleveland City’s document destruction and the appropriate sanctions—just as the parties were forced to do in the three PBM bellwethers that failed to implement litigation holds until 2024. The PBMs are prejudiced by East Cleveland City’s disregard for its most basic discovery obligations as a litigant, compounded by the delay in seeking leave to amend, and East Cleveland City therefore lacks good cause for leave to amend its complaint. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28 (denying leave to amend in part because the passage of time resulted in significant prejudice due to the loss of documents or records); see also Section III.A.4, above.

Failure to Prosecute. In its Plaintiff Fact Sheet, East Cleveland City failed to provide complete answers to Questions I.B.8 and I.B.9, relating to East Cleveland City’s health plans, carriers, third party administrators, and pharmacy benefit managers throughout the relevant time period. The PBMs notified East Cleveland City of this deficiency on September 16, 2024 (see Exhibit B), but East Cleveland City refused to amend or supplement its Fact Sheet. Under this Court’s orders, East Cleveland City’s case is therefore subject to “dismiss[al] with prejudice” for failure to prosecute. ECF No. 4985 at 1 (emphasis in original); see Section III.A.5, above. East Cleveland City’s refusal to provide basic information related to its health care plans prejudices the PBMs’ ability to defend against East Cleveland City’s potential claims against them. East Cleveland City’s failure to diligently prosecute its case, coupled with the prejudice against the PBMs, negates any finding of good cause and leave to amend should be denied. See Final Amendment Order, ECF No. 5455 at 2 (directing counsel to dismiss, not seek leave to amend, in any case that “plaintiffs’ counsel does not intend to zealously pursue in litigation”); Range, 2017 WL 9477693, at *4 n.6 (denying motion for leave to amend as moot because claims were dismissed for failure to prosecute).

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Ohio law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But East Cleveland City’s delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs’ ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Ohio law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. East Cleveland City, a municipality in Ohio, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

Plaintiff's Public Nuisance Claim is Futile. East Cleveland City is a plaintiff in Ohio. East Cleveland City's request for leave to add the PBMs as defendants to a public nuisance claim should be denied as futile because "all common-law public-nuisance claims arising from the sale of a product have been abrogated by the Ohio Product Liability Act." In re Nat'l Prescription Opiate Litig., 2024 WL 5049302, at *1, 2024-OHIO-5744, ¶ 1; see Section III.B.3, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for East Cleveland City's proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. East Cleveland City filed its original complaint on April 17, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See City of East Cleveland, Ohio v. AmerisourceBergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45448-DAP, ECF No. 1. It is therefore indisputable that East Cleveland City knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend. East Cleveland City's RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO's four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by "discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim" (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. East Cleveland City's request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. East Cleveland City, a municipality in Ohio, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester's complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

427. Village of Newburgh Heights, Ohio v. AmerisourceBergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45449-DAP: Plaintiff Newburgh Heights Village, Ohio

Newburgh Heights Village’s untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Newburgh Heights Village failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Newburgh Heights Village also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, failure to implement a litigation hold, failure to submit a complete plaintiff fact sheet, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Newburgh Heights Village’s motion should be denied due to futility, as Newburgh Heights Village does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its proposed public nuisance claim is barred by state law in Ohio, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Newburgh Heights Village was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Newburgh Heights Village amended its complaint on March 15, 2019, after directly filing in the MDL. See Village of Newburgh Heights, Ohio v. AmerisourceBergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45449-DAP, ECF No. 3. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Newburgh Heights Village declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaint. See Section II.A.1, above. Newburgh Heights Village’s deadline to amend was in 2019. Newburgh Heights Village waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Newburgh Heights Village’s lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order’s deadline because plaintiff “had all the information [she] needed” to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a “wait-and-see approach” instead of timely moving to amend).

OptumRx's Home-Delivery Pharmacy Had Zero Dispenses. OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy did not dispense a single opioid prescription to Newburgh Heights Village's geographic jurisdiction over the period for which OptumRx has data (2010 to 2019). See Gustafson Decl.. Because OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy "ha[s] no market share, they shouldn't be in the case, period." ECF No. 3685 at 6:9–14; see Section III.A.2, above. Thus, Newburgh Heights Village cannot show good cause to add claims against OptumRx in its capacity as a home delivery pharmacy.

Express Scripts' Mail Order Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of prescription opioid units shipped to Newburgh Heights Village's geographic jurisdiction during 2009 to 2019. See DeCarlo Decl., Exhibit C (0.42% market share). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Newburgh Heights Village to add dispensing claims against Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy entities. See Section III.A.2, above.

Failure to Implement a Litigation Hold. Newburgh Heights Village filed its original complaint on April 17, 2018. See Village of Newburgh Heights, Ohio v. AmerisourceBergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45449-DAP, ECF No. 1. Despite filing its case years ago, Newburgh Heights Village never implemented a litigation hold, in violation of this Court's orders (ECF Nos. 232; 5455). See ECF No. 5687-1 (Date Litigation Hold Implemented: Never). Litigating Newburgh Heights Village's case would force the parties and the Court to waste time and resources ascertaining the extent of Newburgh Heights Village's document destruction and the appropriate sanctions—just as the parties were forced to do in the three PBM bellwethers that failed to implement litigation holds until 2024. The PBMs are prejudiced by Newburgh Heights Village's disregard for its most basic discovery obligations as a litigant, compounded by the delay in seeking leave to amend, and Newburgh Heights Village therefore lacks good cause for leave to amend its complaint. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28 (denying leave to amend in part because the passage of time resulted in significant prejudice due to the loss of documents or records); see also Section III.A.4, above.

Failure to Prosecute. In its Plaintiff Fact Sheet, Newburgh Heights Village failed to provide complete answers to Questions I.B.8 and I.B.9, relating to Newburgh Heights Village’s health plans, carriers, third party administrators, and pharmacy benefit managers throughout the relevant time period. The PBMs notified Newburgh Heights Village of this deficiency on September 16, 2024 (see Exhibit B), but Newburgh Heights Village refused to amend or supplement its Fact Sheet. Under this Court’s orders, Newburgh Heights Village’s case is therefore subject to “dismiss[al] with prejudice” for failure to prosecute. ECF No. 4985 at 1 (emphasis in original); see Section III.A.5, above. Newburgh Heights Village’s refusal to provide basic information related to its health care plans prejudices the PBMs’ ability to defend against Newburgh Heights Village’s potential claims against them. Newburgh Heights Village’s failure to diligently prosecute its case, coupled with the prejudice against the PBMs, negates any finding of good cause and leave to amend should be denied. See Final Amendment Order, ECF No. 5455 at 2 (directing counsel to dismiss, not seek leave to amend, in any case that “plaintiffs’ counsel does not intend to zealously pursue in litigation”); Range, 2017 WL 9477693, at *4 n.6 (denying motion for leave to amend as moot because claims were dismissed for failure to prosecute).

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Ohio law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Newburgh Heights Village’s delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs’ ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Ohio law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Newburgh Heights Village, a municipality in Ohio, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

Plaintiff's Public Nuisance Claim is Futile. Newburgh Heights Village is a plaintiff in Ohio. Newburgh Heights Village's request for leave to add the PBMs as defendants to a public nuisance claim should be denied as futile because "all common-law public-nuisance claims arising from the sale of a product have been abrogated by the Ohio Product Liability Act." In re Nat'l Prescription Opiate Litig., 2024 WL 5049302, at *1, 2024-OHIO-5744, ¶ 1; see Section III.B.3, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Newburgh Heights Village's proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Newburgh Heights Village filed its original complaint on April 17, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See Village of Newburgh Heights, Ohio v. AmerisourceBergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45449-DAP, ECF No. 1. It is therefore indisputable that Newburgh Heights Village knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend. Newburgh Heights Village's RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO's four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by "discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim" (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Newburgh Heights Village's request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Newburgh Heights Village, a municipality in Ohio, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester's complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

428. Village of Brooklyn Heights v. AmerisourceBergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45450-DAP: Plaintiff Brooklyn Heights Village, Ohio

Brooklyn Heights Village's untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Brooklyn Heights Village failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Brooklyn Heights Village also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, failure to implement a litigation hold, failure to submit a complete plaintiff fact sheet, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Brooklyn Heights Village's motion should be denied due to futility, as Brooklyn Heights Village does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its proposed public nuisance claim is barred by state law in Ohio, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Brooklyn Heights Village was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Brooklyn Heights Village amended its complaint on March 15, 2019, after directly filing in the MDL. See Village of Brooklyn Heights v. AmerisourceBergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45450-DAP, ECF No. 3. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Brooklyn Heights Village declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaint. See Section II.A.1, above. Brooklyn Heights Village's deadline to amend was in 2019. Brooklyn Heights Village waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs.

Brooklyn Heights Village’s lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order’s deadline because plaintiff “had all the information [she] needed” to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a “wait-and-see approach” instead of timely moving to amend).

OptumRx’s Home-Delivery Pharmacy Had Zero Dispenses. OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy did not dispense a single opioid prescription to Brooklyn Heights Village’s geographic jurisdiction over the period for which OptumRx has data (2010 to 2019). See Gustafson Decl. Because OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy “ha[s] no market share, they shouldn’t be in the case, period.” ECF No. 3685 at 6:9–14; see Section III.A.2, above. Thus, Brooklyn Heights Village cannot show good cause to add claims against OptumRx in its capacity as a home delivery pharmacy.

Express Scripts’ Mail Order Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. Express Scripts’ mail order pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of prescription opioid units shipped to Brooklyn Heights Village’s geographic jurisdiction during 2009 to 2019. See DeCarlo Decl., Exhibit C (0.19% market share). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Brooklyn Heights Village to add dispensing claims against Express Scripts’ mail order pharmacy entities. See Section III.A.2, above.

Failure to Implement a Litigation Hold. Brooklyn Heights Village filed its original complaint on April 17, 2018. See Village of Brooklyn Heights v. AmerisourceBergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45450-DAP, ECF No. 1. Despite filing its case years ago, Brooklyn Heights Village never implemented a litigation hold, in violation of this Court’s orders (ECF Nos. 232; 5455). See ECF No. 5687-1 (Date Litigation Hold Implemented: Never).

Litigating Brooklyn Heights Village's case would force the parties and the Court to waste time and resources ascertaining the extent of Brooklyn Heights Village's document destruction and the appropriate sanctions—just as the parties were forced to do in the three PBM bellwethers that failed to implement litigation holds until 2024. The PBMs are prejudiced by Brooklyn Heights Village's disregard for its most basic discovery obligations as a litigant, compounded by the delay in seeking leave to amend, and Brooklyn Heights Village therefore lacks good cause for leave to amend its complaint. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28 (denying leave to amend in part because the passage of time resulted in significant prejudice due to the loss of documents or records); see also Section III.A.4, above.

Failure to Prosecute. In its Plaintiff Fact Sheet, Brooklyn Heights Village failed to provide complete answers to Questions I.B.8 and I.B.9, relating to Brooklyn Heights Village's health plans, carriers, third party administrators, and pharmacy benefit managers throughout the relevant time period. The PBMs notified Brooklyn Heights Village of this deficiency on September 16, 2024 (see Exhibit B), but Brooklyn Heights Village refused to amend or supplement its Fact Sheet. Under this Court's orders, Brooklyn Heights Village's case is therefore subject to “dismiss[al] with prejudice” for failure to prosecute. ECF No. 4985 at 1 (emphasis in original); see Section III.A.5, above. Brooklyn Heights Village's refusal to provide basic information related to its health care plans prejudices the PBMs' ability to defend against Brooklyn Heights Village's potential claims against them. Brooklyn Heights Village's failure to diligently prosecute its case, coupled with the prejudice against the PBMs, negates any finding of good cause and leave to amend should be denied. See Final Amendment Order, ECF No. 5455 at 2 (directing counsel to dismiss, not seek leave to amend, in any case that “plaintiffs’ counsel does not intend to zealously pursue in litigation”); Range, 2017 WL 9477693, at *4 n.6 (denying motion for leave to amend as moot because claims were dismissed for failure to prosecute).

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Ohio law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Brooklyn Heights Village’s delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs’ ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Ohio law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Brooklyn Heights Village, a municipality in Ohio, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

Plaintiff’s Public Nuisance Claim is Futile. Brooklyn Heights Village is a plaintiff in Ohio. Brooklyn Heights Village’s request for leave to add the PBMs as defendants to a public nuisance claim should be denied as futile because “all common-law public-nuisance claims arising from the sale of a product have been abrogated by the Ohio Product Liability Act.” In re Nat’l Prescription Opiate Litig., 2024 WL 5049302, at *1, 2024-OHIO-5744, ¶ 1; see Section III.B.3, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Brooklyn Heights Village’s proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Brooklyn Heights Village filed its original complaint on April 17, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries for which it now seeks to recover under RICO against the PBMs. See Village of Brooklyn Heights v. AmerisourceBergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45450-DAP, ECF No. 1. Even assuming arguendo that Brooklyn Heights Village first learned of its injury on the day it filed its original complaint, RICO's four-year statute of limitations expired, at the very latest, on April 17, 2022. Brooklyn Heights Village's RICO claim is therefore time-barred. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by "discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim" (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Brooklyn Heights Village's request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Brooklyn Heights Village, a municipality in Ohio, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester's complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

429. Cherokee County, Kansas, Board of Commissioners v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45452-DAP: Plaintiff Cherokee County, Kansas

Cherokee County's untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Cherokee County failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Cherokee County also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, failure to implement a litigation hold, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Cherokee County's motion should be denied due to futility, as Cherokee County does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Cherokee County was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Cherokee County amended its complaint on March 13, 2019, after transfer to the MDL on April 19, 2018. See Cherokee County, Kansas, Board of Commissioners v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45452-DAP, ECF No. 8. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Cherokee County declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaint. See Section II.A.1, above. Cherokee County’s deadline to amend was in 2019. Cherokee County waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Cherokee County’s lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order’s deadline because plaintiff “had all the information [she] needed” to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a “wait-and-see approach” instead of timely moving to amend).

Prior Notice Through Counsel. Cherokee County cannot meet the Rule 16 good cause standard because it is represented by the same counsel—Greene, Ketchum, Farrell, Bailey & Tweel, LLP; Powell & Majestro; Baron & Budd, P.C.; Levin, Papantonio, Thomas, Mitchell, Rafferty & Proctor, P.A.; and McHugh Fuller Law Group, PLLC—that filed claims against the PBMs in 2019. See MDL ECF No. 2582. Cherokee County, through its counsel, was on notice of potential claims against the PBMs and could readily have amended its complaint to add the PBMs much earlier. Cherokee County fails to explain why it was unable to assert claims against the PBMs in 2019 when its own attorneys were already asserting those claims on behalf of other clients. See, e.g., Duggins, 195 F.3d at 834 (affirming denial of leave to amend after the close of discovery when the “plaintiff was obviously aware of the basis of the claim for many months, especially since some underlying facts were made a part of the complaint”); Thurmond, 649 F. App’x at 1006 (affirming denial of leave to amend for undue delay in part because plaintiff’s counsel had access to discovery in related cases and was previously aware of the proposed new defendants' conduct).

OptumRx's Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to Cherokee County's geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson Decl. (0.09% market share for Cherokee County). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Cherokee County to add dispensing claims against OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Express Scripts' Mail Order Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of prescription opioid units shipped to Cherokee County's geographic jurisdiction during 2009 to 2019. See DeCarlo Decl., Exhibit C (0.28% market share). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Cherokee County to add dispensing claims against Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy entities. See Section III.A.2, above.

Failure to Implement a Litigation Hold. Cherokee County filed its original complaint on April 5, 2018. See Cherokee County, Kansas, Board of Commissioners v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45452-DAP, ECF No. 1. Despite filing its case years ago, Cherokee County never implemented a litigation hold, in violation of this Court's orders (ECF Nos. 232; 5455). See ECF No. 5687-1 (Date Litigation Hold Implemented: Never). Litigating Cherokee County's case would force the parties and the Court to waste time and resources ascertaining the extent of Cherokee County's document destruction and the appropriate sanctions—just as the parties were forced to do in the three PBM bellwethers that failed to implement litigation holds until 2024. The PBMs are prejudiced by Cherokee County's disregard for its most basic discovery obligations as a litigant, compounded by the delay in seeking leave to amend, and Cherokee County therefore lacks good cause for leave to amend its complaint. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28 (denying leave to amend in part because the passage of time resulted in significant prejudice due to the loss of documents or records); see also Section III.A.4, above.

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Kansas law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Cherokee County's delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs' ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Kansas law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Cherokee County, a municipality in Kansas, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Cherokee County's proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Cherokee County filed its original complaint on April 5, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See Cherokee County, Kansas, Board of Commissioners v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45452-DAP, ECF No. 1. It is therefore indisputable that Cherokee County knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend. Cherokee County's RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO's four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by "discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim" (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Cherokee County's request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Cherokee County, a municipality in Kansas, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester's complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

430. Bay County, Florida v. AmerisourceBergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45455-DAP: Plaintiff Bay County, Florida

Bay County's untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Bay County failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Bay County also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Bay County's motion should be denied due to futility, as Bay County does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its proposed public nuisance claim is barred by the statute of limitations, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Bay County was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Bay County amended its complaint on March 8, 2019, after transfer to the MDL on April 26, 2018. See Bay County, Florida v. AmerisourceBergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45455-DAP, ECF No. 14. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Bay County declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaint. See Section II.A.1, above. Bay County's deadline to amend was in 2019. Bay County waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Bay County's lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order's deadline because plaintiff "had all the information [she] needed" to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a "wait-and-see approach" instead of timely moving to amend).

Prior Notice Through Counsel. Bay County cannot meet the Rule 16 good cause standard because it is represented by the same counsel—Levin, Papantonio, Thomas, Mitchell, Rafferty & Proctor, P.A.—that filed claims against the PBMs in 2019. See MDL ECF No. 2582. Bay County, through its counsel, was on notice of potential claims against the PBMs and could readily have amended its complaint to add the PBMs much earlier. Bay County fails to explain why it was unable to assert claims against the PBMs in 2019 when its own attorneys were already asserting those claims on behalf of other clients. See, e.g., Duggins, 195 F.3d at 834 (affirming denial of leave to amend after the close of discovery when the "plaintiff was obviously aware of the basis of the claim for many months, especially since some underlying facts were made a part of the complaint"); Thurmond, 649 F. App'x at 1006 (affirming denial of leave to amend for undue delay in part because plaintiff's counsel had access to discovery in related cases and was previously aware of the proposed new defendants' conduct).

OptumRx's Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to Bay County's geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson Decl. (0.05% market share for Bay County). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Bay County to add dispensing claims against OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Express Scripts' Mail Order Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of prescription opioid units shipped to Bay County's geographic jurisdiction during 2009 to 2019. See DeCarlo Decl., Exhibit C (0.29% market share). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Bay County to add dispensing claims against Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy entities. See Section III.A.2, above.

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Florida law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Bay County's delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs' ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Florida law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Bay County, a municipality in Florida, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Bay County's proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Bay County filed its original complaint on April 4, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See Bay County, Florida v. AmerisourceBergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45455-DAP, ECF No. 1. It is therefore indisputable that Bay County knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend. Bay County's RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO's four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by "discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim" (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Bay County's request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Public Nuisance Statute of Limitations. In Florida, public-nuisance claims are subject to a four-year limitations period. Bay County's public-nuisance claim against the PBMs is therefore time-barred because Bay County sought leave to amend its complaint on July 29, 2024—six years after filing its original complaint on April 4, 2018—and the proposed amendment does not relate back to the original filing for purposes of the applicable statute of limitations. See Zakora, 44 F.4th at 480 ("This court has repeatedly held that an amendment which adds a new party creates a new cause of action and there is no relation back to the original filing for purposes of limitations." (cleaned up)).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Bay County, a municipality in Florida, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester's complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

431. City of Guin, Alabama v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45457-DAP: Plaintiff Guin City, Alabama

Guin City's untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Guin City failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Guin City also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, failure to implement a litigation hold, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Guin City's motion should be denied due to futility, as Guin City does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its proposed public nuisance claim is barred by the statute of limitations, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Guin City was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Guin City amended its complaint on March 7, 2019, after transfer to the MDL on April 26, 2018. See City of Guin, Alabama v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45457-DAP, ECF No. 19. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Guin City declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaint. See Section II.A.1, above. Guin City’s deadline to amend was in 2019. Guin City waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Guin City’s lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order’s deadline because plaintiff “had all the information [she] needed” to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a “wait-and-see approach” instead of timely moving to amend).

Prior Notice Through Counsel. Guin City cannot meet the Rule 16 good cause standard because it is represented by the same counsel—Levin, Papantonio, Thomas, Mitchell, Rafferty & Proctor, P.A.—that filed claims against the PBMs in 2019. See MDL ECF No. 2582. Guin City, through its counsel, was on notice of potential claims against the PBMs and could readily have amended its complaint to add the PBMs much earlier. Guin City fails to explain why it was unable to assert claims against the PBMs in 2019 when its own attorneys were already asserting those claims on behalf of other clients. See, e.g., Duggins, 195 F.3d at 834 (affirming denial of leave to amend after the close of discovery when the “plaintiff was obviously aware of the basis of the claim for many months, especially since some underlying facts were made a part of the complaint”); Thurmond, 649 F. App’x at 1006 (affirming denial of leave to amend for undue delay in part because plaintiff’s counsel had access to discovery in related cases and was previously aware of the proposed new defendants’ conduct).

OptumRx’s Home-Delivery Pharmacy Had Zero Dispenses. OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy did not dispense a single opioid prescription to Guin City’s geographic jurisdiction over the period for which OptumRx has data (2010 to 2019). See Gustafson Decl.. Because OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy “ha[s] no market share, they shouldn’t be in the case, period.” ECF No. 3685 at 6:9–14; see Section III.A.2, above. Thus, Guin City cannot show good cause to add claims against OptumRx in its capacity as a home delivery pharmacy.

Express Scripts’ Mail Order Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. Express Scripts’ mail order pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of prescription opioid units shipped to Guin City’s geographic jurisdiction during 2009 to 2019. See DeCarlo Decl., Exhibit C (0.08% market share). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Guin City to add dispensing claims against Express Scripts’ mail order pharmacy entities. See Section III.A.2, above.

Failure to Implement a Litigation Hold. Guin City filed its original complaint on April 4, 2018. See City of Guin, Alabama v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45457-DAP, ECF No. 1. Despite filing its case years ago, Guin City never implemented a litigation hold and is instead purporting to rely on non-specific and unidentified document retention laws. See ECF No. 5687-1 (Date Litigation Hold Implemented: *(Never)). This is a plain violation of this Court’s orders. ECF Nos. 232; 5455. Litigating Guin City’s case would force the parties and the Court to waste time and resources ascertaining the extent of Guin City’s document destruction and the appropriate sanctions—just as the parties were forced to do in the three PBM bellwethers that failed to implement litigation holds until 2024. The PBMs are prejudiced by Guin City’s disregard for its most basic discovery obligations as a litigant, compounded by the delay in seeking leave to amend, and Guin City therefore lacks good cause for leave to amend its complaint. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28 (denying leave to amend in part because the passage of time resulted in significant prejudice due to the loss of documents or records); see also Section III.A.4, above.

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Alabama law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Guin City’s delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs’ ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Alabama law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Guin City, a municipality in Alabama, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Guin City’s proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Guin City filed its original complaint on April 4, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See City of Guin, Alabama v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45457-DAP, ECF No. 1. It is therefore indisputable that Guin City knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend. Guin City’s RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO’s four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by “discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim” (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Guin City’s request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Public Nuisance Statute of Limitations. In Alabama, public-nuisance claims are subject to a two-year limitations period. Guin City’s public-nuisance claim against the PBMs is therefore time-barred because Guin City sought leave to amend its complaint on July 29, 2024—six years after filing its original complaint on April 4, 2018—and the proposed amendment does not relate back to the original filing for purposes of the applicable statute of limitations. See Zakora, 44 F.4th at 480 (“This court has repeatedly held that an amendment which adds a new party creates a new cause of action and there is no relation back to the original filing for purposes of limitations.” (cleaned up)).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Guin City, a municipality in Alabama, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester’s complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

432. Lexington, Tennessee v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45458-DAP: Plaintiff Lexington City, Tennessee

Lexington City’s untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Lexington City failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Lexington City also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, failure to submit a complete plaintiff fact sheet, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Lexington City’s motion should be denied due to futility, as Lexington City does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Lexington City was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Lexington City amended its complaint on March 8, 2019, after transfer to the MDL on April 26, 2018. See Lexington, Tennessee v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45458-DAP, ECF No. 11. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Lexington City declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaint. See Section II.A.1, above. Lexington City’s deadline to amend was in 2019. Lexington City waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Lexington City’s lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order’s deadline because plaintiff “had all the information [she] needed” to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a “wait-and-see approach” instead of timely moving to amend).

Prior Notice Through Counsel. Lexington City cannot meet the Rule 16 good cause standard because it is represented by the same counsel—Greene, Ketchum, Farrell, Bailey & Tweel, LLP; Powell & Majestro; Baron & Budd, P.C.; Levin, Papantonio, Thomas, Mitchell, Rafferty & Proctor, P.A.; and McHugh Fuller Law Group, PLLC—that filed claims against the PBMs in 2019. See MDL ECF No. 2582. Lexington City, through its counsel, was on notice of potential claims against the PBMs and could readily have amended its complaint to add the PBMs much earlier. Lexington City fails to explain why it was unable to assert claims against the PBMs in 2019 when its own attorneys were already asserting those claims on behalf of other clients. See, e.g., Duggins, 195 F.3d at 834 (affirming denial of leave to amend after the close of discovery when the “plaintiff was obviously aware of the basis of the claim for many months, especially since some underlying facts were made a part of the complaint”); Thurmond, 649 F. App’x at 1006 (affirming denial of leave to amend for undue delay in part because plaintiff’s counsel had access to discovery in related cases and was previously aware of the proposed new defendants’ conduct).

OptumRx’s Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to Lexington City’s geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson Decl. (0.0009% market share for Lexington City). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Lexington City to add dispensing claims against OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Express Scripts’ Mail Order Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. Express Scripts’ mail order pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of prescription opioid units shipped to Lexington City’s geographic jurisdiction during 2009 to 2019. See DeCarlo Decl., Exhibit C (0.08% market share). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Lexington City to add dispensing claims against Express Scripts’ mail order pharmacy entities. See Section III.A.2, above.

Failure to Prosecute. In its Plaintiff Fact Sheet, Lexington City failed to provide complete answers to Questions I.B.8 and I.B.9, relating to Lexington City’s health plans, carriers, third party administrators, and pharmacy benefit managers throughout the relevant time period. The PBMs notified Lexington City of this deficiency on September 16, 2024 (see Exhibit B), but Lexington City refused to amend or supplement its Fact Sheet. Under this Court’s orders, Lexington City’s case is therefore subject to “dismiss[al] with prejudice” for failure to prosecute. ECF No. 4985 at 1 (emphasis in original); see Section III.A.5, above. Lexington City’s refusal to provide basic information related to its health care plans prejudices the PBMs’ ability to defend against Lexington City’s potential claims against them. Lexington City’s failure to diligently prosecute its case, coupled with the prejudice against the PBMs, negates any finding of good cause and leave to amend should be denied. See Final Amendment Order, ECF No. 5455 at 2 (directing counsel to dismiss, not seek leave to amend, in any case that “plaintiffs’ counsel does not intend to zealously pursue in litigation”); Range, 2017 WL 9477693, at *4 n.6 (denying motion for leave to amend as moot because claims were dismissed for failure to prosecute).

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Tennessee law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Lexington City’s delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs’ ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Tennessee law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Lexington City, a municipality in Tennessee, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Lexington City’s proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Lexington City filed its original complaint on April 3, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See Lexington, Tennessee v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45458-DAP, ECF No. 1. It is therefore indisputable that Lexington City knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend. Lexington City's RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO's four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by "discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim" (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Lexington City's request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Lexington City, a municipality in Tennessee, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester's complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

433. City of Warwick, RI v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45460-DAP: Plaintiff Warwick City, Rhode Island

Warwick City's untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Warwick City failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Warwick City also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Warwick City's motion should be denied due to futility, as Warwick City does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Warwick City was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Warwick City amended its complaint on March 7, 2019, after transfer to the MDL on April 26, 2018. See City of Warwick, RI v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45460-DAP, ECF No. 23. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Warwick City declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaint. See Section II.A.1, above. Warwick City’s deadline to amend was in 2019. Warwick City waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Warwick City’s lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order’s deadline because plaintiff “had all the information [she] needed” to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a “wait-and-see approach” instead of timely moving to amend).

Prior Notice Through Counsel. Warwick City cannot meet the Rule 16 good cause standard because it is represented by the same counsel—Levin, Papantonio, Thomas, Mitchell, Rafferty & Proctor, P.A.—that filed claims against the PBMs in 2019. See MDL ECF No. 2582. Warwick City, through its counsel, was on notice of potential claims against the PBMs and could readily have amended its complaint to add the PBMs much earlier. Warwick City fails to explain why it was unable to assert claims against the PBMs in 2019 when its own attorneys were already asserting those claims on behalf of other clients. See, e.g., Duggins, 195 F.3d at 834 (affirming denial of leave to amend after the close of discovery when the “plaintiff was obviously aware of the basis of the claim for many months, especially since some underlying facts were made a part of the complaint”); Thurmond, 649 F. App’x at 1006 (affirming denial of leave to amend for undue delay in part because plaintiff’s counsel had access to discovery in related cases and was previously aware of the proposed new defendants’ conduct).

OptumRx’s Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to Warwick City’s geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson Decl. (0.03% market share for Warwick City). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Warwick City to add dispensing claims against OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Express Scripts' Mail Order Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of prescription opioid units shipped to Warwick City's geographic jurisdiction during 2009 to 2019. See DeCarlo Decl., Exhibit C (0.05% market share). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Warwick City to add dispensing claims against Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy entities. See Section III.A.2, above.

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Rhode Island law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Warwick City's delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs' ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Rhode Island law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Warwick City, a municipality in Rhode Island, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Warwick City's proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Warwick City filed its original complaint on March 26, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See City of Warwick, RI v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45460-

DAP, ECF No. 1. It is therefore indisputable that Warwick City knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend. Warwick City's RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO's four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by "discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim" (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Warwick City's request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Warwick City, a municipality in Rhode Island, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester's complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

434. Town of North Providence v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45461-DAP: Plaintiff North Providence Town, Rhode Island

North Providence Town's untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. North Providence Town failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. North Providence Town also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, failure to implement a litigation hold, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, North Providence Town's motion should be denied due to futility, as North Providence Town does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. North Providence Town was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, North Providence Town amended its complaint on March 7, 2019, after transfer to the MDL on April 26, 2018. See Town of North Providence v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45461-DAP, ECF No. 23. Unlike many other plaintiffs, North Providence Town declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaint. See Section II.A.1, above. North Providence Town’s deadline to amend was in 2019. North Providence Town waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. North Providence Town’s lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order’s deadline because plaintiff “had all the information [she] needed” to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a “wait-and-see approach” instead of timely moving to amend).

Prior Notice Through Counsel. North Providence Town cannot meet the Rule 16 good cause standard because it is represented by the same counsel—Levin, Papantonio, Thomas, Mitchell, Rafferty & Proctor, P.A.—that filed claims against the PBMs in 2019. See MDL ECF No. 2582. North Providence Town, through its counsel, was on notice of potential claims against the PBMs and could readily have amended its complaint to add the PBMs much earlier. North Providence Town fails to explain why it was unable to assert claims against the PBMs in 2019 when its own attorneys were already asserting those claims on behalf of other clients. See, e.g., Duggins, 195 F.3d at 834 (affirming denial of leave to amend after the close of discovery when the “plaintiff was obviously aware of the basis of the claim for many months, especially since some underlying facts were made a part of the complaint”); Thurmond, 649 F. App’x at 1006 (affirming denial of leave to amend for undue delay in part because plaintiff’s counsel had access to discovery in related cases and was previously aware of the proposed new defendants’ conduct).

OptumRx's Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to North Providence Town's geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson Decl. (0.02% market share for North Providence Town). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for North Providence Town to add dispensing claims against OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Express Scripts' Mail Order Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of prescription opioid units shipped to North Providence Town's geographic jurisdiction during 2009 to 2019. See DeCarlo Decl., Exhibit C (0.03% market share). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for North Providence Town to add dispensing claims against Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy entities. See Section III.A.2, above.

Failure to Implement a Litigation Hold. North Providence Town filed its original complaint on March 26, 2018. See Town of North Providence v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45461-DAP, ECF No. 1. Despite filing its case years ago, North Providence Town never implemented a litigation hold, in violation of this Court's orders (ECF Nos. 232; 5455). See ECF No. 5687-1 (Date Litigation Hold Implemented: Never). Litigating North Providence Town's case would force the parties and the Court to waste time and resources ascertaining the extent of North Providence Town's document destruction and the appropriate sanctions—just as the parties were forced to do in the three PBM bellwethers that failed to implement litigation holds until 2024. The PBMs are prejudiced by North Providence Town's disregard for its most basic discovery obligations as a litigant, compounded by the delay in seeking leave to amend, and North Providence Town therefore lacks good cause for leave to amend its complaint. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28 (denying leave to amend in part because the passage of time resulted in significant prejudice due to the loss of documents or records); see also Section III.A.4, above.

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Rhode Island law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But North Providence Town's delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs' ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Rhode Island law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. North Providence Town, a municipality in Rhode Island, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for North Providence Town's proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. North Providence Town filed its original complaint on March 26, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See Town of North Providence v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45461-DAP, ECF No. 1. It is therefore indisputable that North Providence Town knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend. North Providence Town's RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO's four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by "discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim” (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. North Providence Town’s request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. North Providence Town, a municipality in Rhode Island, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester’s complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

435. Town of Johnston v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation, et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45462-DAP: Plaintiff Johnston Town, Rhode Island

Johnston Town’s untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Johnston Town failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Johnston Town also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, failure to implement a litigation hold, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Johnston Town’s motion should be denied due to futility, as Johnston Town does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Johnston Town was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Johnston Town amended its complaint on March 7, 2019, after transfer to the MDL on April 26, 2018. See Town of Johnston v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation, et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45462-DAP, ECF No. 23. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Johnston Town declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaint. See Section II.A.1, above. Johnston Town’s deadline to amend was in 2019. Johnston Town waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Johnston Town’s lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order’s deadline because plaintiff “had all the information [she] needed” to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a “wait-and-see approach” instead of timely moving to amend).

Prior Notice Through Counsel. Johnston Town cannot meet the Rule 16 good cause standard because it is represented by the same counsel—Levin, Papantonio, Thomas, Mitchell, Rafferty & Proctor, P.A.—that filed claims against the PBMs in 2019. See MDL ECF No. 2582. Johnston Town, through its counsel, was on notice of potential claims against the PBMs and could readily have amended its complaint to add the PBMs much earlier. Johnston Town fails to explain why it was unable to assert claims against the PBMs in 2019 when its own attorneys were already asserting those claims on behalf of other clients. See, e.g., Duggins, 195 F.3d at 834 (affirming denial of leave to amend after the close of discovery when the “plaintiff was obviously aware of the basis of the claim for many months, especially since some underlying facts were made a part of the complaint”); Thurmond, 649 F. App’x at 1006 (affirming denial of leave to amend for undue delay in part because plaintiff’s counsel had access to discovery in related cases and was previously aware of the proposed new defendants’ conduct).

OptumRx’s Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to Johnston Town’s geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson Decl. (0.03% market share for Johnston Town). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Johnston Town to add dispensing claims against OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Express Scripts' Mail Order Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of prescription opioid units shipped to Johnston Town's geographic jurisdiction during 2009 to 2019. See DeCarlo Decl., Exhibit C (0.05% market share). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Johnston Town to add dispensing claims against Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy entities. See Section III.A.2, above.

Failure to Implement a Litigation Hold. Johnston Town filed its original complaint on March 26, 2018. See Town of Johnston v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation, et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45462-DAP, ECF No. 1. Despite filing its case years ago, Johnston Town never implemented a litigation hold and is instead purporting to rely on non-specific and unidentified document retention laws. See ECF No. 5687-1 (Date Litigation Hold Implemented: *(Never)). This is a plain violation of this Court's orders. ECF Nos. 232; 5455. Litigating Johnston Town's case would force the parties and the Court to waste time and resources ascertaining the extent of Johnston Town's document destruction and the appropriate sanctions—just as the parties were forced to do in the three PBM bellwethers that failed to implement litigation holds until 2024. The PBMs are prejudiced by Johnston Town's disregard for its most basic discovery obligations as a litigant, compounded by the delay in seeking leave to amend, and Johnston Town therefore lacks good cause for leave to amend its complaint. See Pethel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28 (denying leave to amend in part because the passage of time resulted in significant prejudice due to the loss of documents or records); see also Section III.A.4, above.

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Rhode Island law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Johnston Town's delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs' ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Rhode Island law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Johnston Town, a municipality in Rhode Island, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Johnston Town’s proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Johnston Town filed its original complaint on March 26, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See Town of Johnston v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation, et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45462-DAP, ECF No. 1. It is therefore indisputable that Johnston Town knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend. Johnston Town’s RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO’s four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by “discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim” (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Johnston Town’s request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Johnston Town, a municipality in Rhode Island, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester’s complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

436. City of Pawtucket, RI v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45463-DAP: Plaintiff Pawtucket City, Rhode Island

Pawtucket City’s untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Pawtucket City failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Pawtucket City also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, failure to timely implement a litigation hold, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Pawtucket City’s motion should be denied due to futility, as Pawtucket City does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Pawtucket City was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Pawtucket City amended its complaint on March 7, 2019, after transfer to the MDL on April 26, 2018. See City of Pawtucket, RI v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45463-DAP, ECF No. 17. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Pawtucket City declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaint. See Section II.A.1, above. Pawtucket City’s deadline to amend was in 2019. Pawtucket City waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Pawtucket City’s lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order’s deadline because plaintiff “had all the information [she] needed” to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a “wait-and-see approach” instead of timely moving to amend).

Prior Notice Through Counsel. Pawtucket City cannot meet the Rule 16 good cause standard because it is represented by the same counsel—Levin, Papantonio, Thomas, Mitchell, Rafferty & Proctor, P.A.—that filed claims against the PBMs in 2019. See MDL ECF No. 2582.

Pawtucket City, through its counsel, was on notice of potential claims against the PBMs and could readily have amended its complaint to add the PBMs much earlier. Pawtucket City fails to explain why it was unable to assert claims against the PBMs in 2019 when its own attorneys were already asserting those claims on behalf of other clients. See, e.g., Duggins, 195 F.3d at 834 (affirming denial of leave to amend after the close of discovery when the “plaintiff was obviously aware of the basis of the claim for many months, especially since some underlying facts were made a part of the complaint”); Thurmond, 649 F. App’x at 1006 (affirming denial of leave to amend for undue delay in part because plaintiff’s counsel had access to discovery in related cases and was previously aware of the proposed new defendants’ conduct).

OptumRx’s Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to Pawtucket City’s geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson Decl. (0.02% market share for Pawtucket City). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Pawtucket City to add dispensing claims against OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Express Scripts’ Mail Order Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. Express Scripts’ mail order pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of prescription opioid units shipped to Pawtucket City’s geographic jurisdiction during 2009 to 2019. See DeCarlo Decl., Exhibit C (0.09% market share). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Pawtucket City to add dispensing claims against Express Scripts’ mail order pharmacy entities. See Section III.A.2, above.

Failure to Timely Implement a Litigation Hold. Pawtucket City violated its basic duty to implement a timely litigation hold. Pawtucket City filed its original complaint on March 29, 2018, but waited until September 11, 2024 to implement a litigation hold—six years later. See City of Pawtucket, RI v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45463-DAP, ECF No. 1; see also ECF No. 5687-1 (Date Litigation Hold Implemented: September 11, 2024). This is a plain violation of this Court’s orders. ECF Nos. 232; 5455. Litigating Pawtucket City’s case would force the parties and the Court to waste time and resources ascertaining the extent of Pawtucket City’s document destruction and the appropriate sanctions—just as the parties were forced to do in the three PBM bellwethers that failed to implement litigation holds until 2024. The PBMs are prejudiced by Pawtucket City’s disregard for its most basic discovery obligations as a litigant, compounded by the delay in seeking leave to amend, and Pawtucket City therefore lacks good cause for leave to amend its complaint. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28 (denying leave to amend in part because the passage of time resulted in significant prejudice due to the loss of documents or records); see also Section III.A.4, above.

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Rhode Island law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Pawtucket City’s delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs’ ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Rhode Island law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Pawtucket City, a municipality in Rhode Island, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Pawtucket City’s proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Pawtucket City filed its original complaint on March 26, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See City of Pawtucket, RI v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45463-DAP, ECF No. 1. It is therefore indisputable that Pawtucket City knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend. Pawtucket City’s RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO’s four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by “discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim” (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Pawtucket City’s request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Pawtucket City, a municipality in Rhode Island, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester’s complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

437. City of East Providence v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45464-DAP: Plaintiff East Providence City, Rhode Island

East Providence City’s untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. East Providence City failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. East Providence City also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, failure to implement a litigation hold, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, East Providence City’s motion should be denied due to futility, as East Providence City does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. East Providence City was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, East Providence City amended its complaint on March 13, 2019, after transfer to the MDL on April 26, 2018. See City of East Providence v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45464-DAP, ECF No. 18. Unlike many other plaintiffs, East Providence City declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaint. See Section II.A.1, above. East Providence City’s deadline to amend was in 2019. East Providence City waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. East Providence City’s lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order’s deadline because plaintiff “had all the information [she] needed” to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a “wait-and-see approach” instead of timely moving to amend).

Prior Notice Through Counsel. East Providence City cannot meet the Rule 16 good cause standard because it is represented by the same counsel—Levin, Papantonio, Thomas, Mitchell, Rafferty & Proctor, P.A.—that filed claims against the PBMs in 2019. See MDL ECF No. 2582. East Providence City, through its counsel, was on notice of potential claims against the PBMs and could readily have amended its complaint to add the PBMs much earlier. East Providence City fails to explain why it was unable to assert claims against the PBMs in 2019 when its own attorneys were already asserting those claims on behalf of other clients. See, e.g., Duggins, 195 F.3d at 834

(affirming denial of leave to amend after the close of discovery when the “plaintiff was obviously aware of the basis of the claim for many months, especially since some underlying facts were made a part of the complaint”); Thurmond, 649 F. App’x at 1006 (affirming denial of leave to amend for undue delay in part because plaintiff’s counsel had access to discovery in related cases and was previously aware of the proposed new defendants’ conduct).

OptumRx’s Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to East Providence City’s geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson Decl. (0.06% market share for East Providence City). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for East Providence City to add dispensing claims against OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Express Scripts’ Mail Order Pharmacy Has Low Market Share. Express Scripts’ mail order pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of prescription opioid units shipped to East Providence City’s geographic jurisdiction during 2009 to 2019. See DeCarlo Decl., Exhibit C (0.03% market share). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for East Providence City to add dispensing claims against Express Scripts’ mail order pharmacy entities. See Section III.A.2, above.

Failure to Implement a Litigation Hold. East Providence City filed its original complaint on March 26, 2018. See City of East Providence v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45464-DAP, ECF No. 1. Despite filing its case years ago, East Providence City never implemented a litigation hold and is instead purporting to rely on non-specific and unidentified document retention laws. See ECF No. 5687-1 (Date Litigation Hold Implemented:

*(Never)). This is a plain violation of this Court's orders. ECF Nos. 232; 5455. Litigating East Providence City's case would force the parties and the Court to waste time and resources ascertaining the extent of East Providence City's document destruction and the appropriate sanctions—just as the parties were forced to do in the three PBM bellwethers that failed to implement litigation holds until 2024. The PBMs are prejudiced by East Providence City's disregard for its most basic discovery obligations as a litigant, compounded by the delay in seeking leave to amend, and East Providence City therefore lacks good cause for leave to amend its complaint. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28 (denying leave to amend in part because the passage of time resulted in significant prejudice due to the loss of documents or records); see also Section III.A.4, above.

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Rhode Island law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But East Providence City's delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs' ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Rhode Island law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. East Providence City, a municipality in Rhode Island, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for East Providence City's proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. East Providence City filed its original complaint on March 26, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See City of East Providence v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45464-DAP, ECF No. 1. It is therefore indisputable that East Providence City knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend. East Providence City's RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO's four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by "discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim" (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. East Providence City's request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. East Providence City, a municipality in Rhode Island, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester's complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

438. Town of Cumberland, Rhode Island v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45465-DAP: Plaintiff Cumberland Town, Rhode Island

Cumberland Town's untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Cumberland Town failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Cumberland Town also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Cumberland Town's motion should be denied due to futility, as Cumberland Town does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Cumberland Town was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Cumberland Town amended its complaint on March 14, 2019, after transfer to the MDL on April 26, 2018. See Town of Cumberland, Rhode Island v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45465-DAP, ECF No. 17. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Cumberland Town declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaint. See Section II.A.1, above. Cumberland Town’s deadline to amend was in 2019. Cumberland Town waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Cumberland Town’s lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order’s deadline because plaintiff “had all the information [she] needed” to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a “wait-and-see approach” instead of timely moving to amend).

Prior Notice Through Counsel. Cumberland Town cannot meet the Rule 16 good cause standard because it is represented by the same counsel—Levin, Papantonio, Thomas, Mitchell, Rafferty & Proctor, P.A.—that filed claims against the PBMs in 2019. See MDL ECF No. 2582. Cumberland Town, through its counsel, was on notice of potential claims against the PBMs and could readily have amended its complaint to add the PBMs much earlier. Cumberland Town fails to explain why it was unable to assert claims against the PBMs in 2019 when its own attorneys were already asserting those claims on behalf of other clients. See, e.g., Duggins, 195 F.3d at 834 (affirming denial of leave to amend after the close of discovery when the “plaintiff was obviously aware of the basis of the claim for many months, especially since some underlying facts were made a part of the complaint”); Thurmond, 649 F. App’x at 1006 (affirming denial of leave to amend for undue delay in part because plaintiff’s counsel had access to discovery in related cases and was previously aware of the proposed new defendants’ conduct).

OptumRx's Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to Cumberland Town's geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson Decl. (0.05% market share for Cumberland Town). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Cumberland Town to add dispensing claims against OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Express Scripts' Mail Order Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of prescription opioid units shipped to Cumberland Town's geographic jurisdiction during 2009 to 2019. See DeCarlo Decl., Exhibit C (0.24% market share). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Cumberland Town to add dispensing claims against Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy entities. See Section III.A.2, above.

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Rhode Island law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Cumberland Town's delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs' ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Rhode Island law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Cumberland Town, a municipality in Rhode Island, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Cumberland Town’s proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Cumberland Town filed its original complaint on March 26, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See Town of Cumberland, Rhode Island v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45465-DAP, ECF No. 1. It is therefore indisputable that Cumberland Town knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend. Cumberland Town’s RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO’s four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by “discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim” (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Cumberland Town’s request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Cumberland Town, a municipality in Rhode Island, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester’s complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

439. City of Central Falls, Rhode Island v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45466-DAP: Plaintiff Central Falls City, Rhode Island

Central Falls City’s untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Central Falls City failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Central Falls City also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Central Falls City’s motion should be denied due to futility, as Central Falls City does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Central Falls City was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Central Falls City amended its complaint on March 17, 2019, after transfer to the MDL on April 26, 2018. See City of Central Falls, Rhode Island v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45466-DAP, ECF No. 18. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Central Falls City declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaint. See Section II.A.1, above. Central Falls City’s deadline to amend was in 2019. Central Falls City waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Central Falls City’s lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order’s deadline because plaintiff “had all the information [she] needed” to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a “wait-and-see approach” instead of timely moving to amend).

Prior Notice Through Counsel. Central Falls City cannot meet the Rule 16 good cause standard because it is represented by the same counsel—Levin, Papantonio, Thomas, Mitchell, Rafferty & Proctor, P.A.—that filed claims against the PBMs in 2019. See MDL ECF No. 2582. Central Falls City, through its counsel, was on notice of potential claims against the PBMs and could readily have amended its complaint to add the PBMs much earlier. Central Falls City fails to explain why it was unable to assert claims against the PBMs in 2019 when its own attorneys were already asserting those claims on behalf of other clients. See, e.g., Duggins, 195 F.3d at 834 (affirming denial of leave to amend after the close of discovery when the “plaintiff was obviously aware of the basis of the claim for many months, especially since some underlying facts were made a part of the complaint”); Thurmond, 649 F. App’x at 1006 (affirming denial of leave to amend for undue delay in part because plaintiff's counsel had access to discovery in related cases and was previously aware of the proposed new defendants' conduct).

OptumRx's Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to Central Falls City's geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson Decl. (0.001% market share for Central Falls City). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Central Falls City to add dispensing claims against OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Express Scripts' Mail Order Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of prescription opioid units shipped to Central Falls City's geographic jurisdiction during 2009 to 2019. See DeCarlo Decl., Exhibit C (0.02% market share). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Central Falls City to add dispensing claims against Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy entities. See Section III.A.2, above.

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Rhode Island law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Central Falls City's delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs' ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Rhode Island law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Central Falls City, a municipality in Rhode Island, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Central Falls City’s proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Central Falls City filed its original complaint on March 26, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See City of Central Falls, Rhode Island v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45466-DAP, ECF No. 1. It is therefore indisputable that Central Falls City knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend. Central Falls City’s RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO’s four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by “discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim” (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Central Falls City’s request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Central Falls City, a municipality in Rhode Island, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester’s complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

440. Town of Charlestown Rhode Island v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45467-DAP: Plaintiff Charlestown Town, Rhode Island

Charlestown Town’s untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Charlestown Town failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Charlestown Town also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, failure to implement a litigation hold, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Charlestown Town’s motion should be denied due to futility, as Charlestown Town does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Charlestown Town was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Charlestown Town amended its complaint on March 7, 2019, after transfer to the MDL on April 26, 2018. See Town of Charlestown Rhode Island v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45467-DAP, ECF No. 17. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Charlestown Town declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaint. See Section II.A.1, above. Charlestown Town’s deadline to amend was in 2019. Charlestown Town waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Charlestown Town’s lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order’s deadline because plaintiff “had all the information [she] needed” to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a “wait-and-see approach” instead of timely moving to amend).

Prior Notice Through Counsel. Charlestown Town cannot meet the Rule 16 good cause standard because it is represented by the same counsel—Levin, Papantonio, Thomas, Mitchell, Rafferty & Proctor, P.A.—that filed claims against the PBMs in 2019. See MDL ECF No. 2582. Charlestown Town, through its counsel, was on notice of potential claims against the PBMs and could readily have amended its complaint to add the PBMs much earlier. Charlestown Town fails to explain why it was unable to assert claims against the PBMs in 2019 when its own attorneys were already asserting those claims on behalf of other clients. See, e.g., Duggins, 195 F.3d at 834

(affirming denial of leave to amend after the close of discovery when the “plaintiff was obviously aware of the basis of the claim for many months, especially since some underlying facts were made a part of the complaint”); Thurmond, 649 F. App’x at 1006 (affirming denial of leave to amend for undue delay in part because plaintiff’s counsel had access to discovery in related cases and was previously aware of the proposed new defendants’ conduct).

OptumRx’s Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to Charlestown Town’s geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson Decl. (0.14% market share for Charlestown Town). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Charlestown Town to add dispensing claims against OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Express Scripts’ Mail Order Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. Express Scripts’ mail order pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of prescription opioid units shipped to Charlestown Town’s geographic jurisdiction during 2009 to 2019. See DeCarlo Decl., Exhibit C (0.21% market share). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Charlestown Town to add dispensing claims against Express Scripts’ mail order pharmacy entities. See Section III.A.2, above.

Failure to Implement a Litigation Hold. Charlestown Town filed its original complaint on March 26, 2018. See Town of Charlestown Rhode Island v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45467-DAP, ECF No. 1. Despite filing its case years ago, Charlestown Town never implemented a litigation hold and is instead purporting to rely on non-specific and unidentified document retention laws. See ECF No. 5687-1 (Date Litigation Hold Implemented: *(Never)). This is a plain violation of this Court's orders. ECF Nos. 232; 5455. Litigating Charlestown Town's case would force the parties and the Court to waste time and resources ascertaining the extent of Charlestown Town's document destruction and the appropriate sanctions—just as the parties were forced to do in the three PBM bellwethers that failed to implement litigation holds until 2024. The PBMs are prejudiced by Charlestown Town's disregard for its most basic discovery obligations as a litigant, compounded by the delay in seeking leave to amend, and Charlestown Town therefore lacks good cause for leave to amend its complaint. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28 (denying leave to amend in part because the passage of time resulted in significant prejudice due to the loss of documents or records); see also Section III.A.4, above.

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Rhode Island law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Charlestown Town's delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs' ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Rhode Island law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Charlestown Town, a municipality in Rhode Island, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Charlestown Town's proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Charlestown Town filed its original complaint on March 26, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See Town of Charlestown Rhode Island v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45467-DAP, ECF No. 1. It is therefore indisputable that Charlestown Town knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend. Charlestown Town's RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO's four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by "discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim" (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Charlestown Town's request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Charlestown Town, a municipality in Rhode Island, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester's complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

441. Town of Bristol v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45468-DAP: Plaintiff Bristol Town, Rhode Island

Bristol Town's untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Bristol Town failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Bristol Town also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Bristol Town's motion should be denied due to futility, as Bristol Town does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Bristol Town was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Bristol Town amended its complaint on March 7, 2019, after transfer to the MDL on April 26, 2018. See Town of Bristol v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45468-DAP, ECF No. 17. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Bristol Town declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaint. See Section II.A.1, above. Bristol Town’s deadline to amend was in 2019. Bristol Town waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Bristol Town’s lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order’s deadline because plaintiff “had all the information [she] needed” to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a “wait-and-see approach” instead of timely moving to amend).

Prior Notice Through Counsel. Bristol Town cannot meet the Rule 16 good cause standard because it is represented by the same counsel—Levin, Papantonio, Thomas, Mitchell, Rafferty & Proctor, P.A.—that filed claims against the PBMs in 2019. See MDL ECF No. 2582. Bristol Town, through its counsel, was on notice of potential claims against the PBMs and could readily have amended its complaint to add the PBMs much earlier. Bristol Town fails to explain why it was unable to assert claims against the PBMs in 2019 when its own attorneys were already asserting those claims on behalf of other clients. See, e.g., Duggins, 195 F.3d at 834 (affirming denial of leave to amend after the close of discovery when the “plaintiff was obviously aware of the basis of the claim for many months, especially since some underlying facts were made a part of the complaint”); Thurmond, 649 F. App’x at 1006 (affirming denial of leave to amend for undue delay in part because plaintiff’s counsel had access to discovery in related cases and was previously aware of the proposed new defendants’ conduct).

OptumRx’s Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to Bristol Town's geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson Decl. (0.01% market share for Bristol Town). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Bristol Town to add dispensing claims against OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Express Scripts' Mail Order Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of prescription opioid units shipped to Bristol Town's geographic jurisdiction during 2009 to 2019. See DeCarlo Decl., Exhibit C (0.06% market share). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Bristol Town to add dispensing claims against Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy entities. See Section III.A.2, above.

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Rhode Island law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Bristol Town's delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs' ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Rhode Island law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Bristol Town, a municipality in Rhode Island, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Bristol Town's proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Bristol Town filed its original complaint on March 26, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See Town of Bristol v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45468-DAP, ECF No. 1. It is therefore indisputable that Bristol Town knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend. Bristol Town's RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO's four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by "discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim" (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Bristol Town's request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Bristol Town, a municipality in Rhode Island, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester's complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

442. Town of Barrington v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45469-DAP: Plaintiff Barrington Town, Rhode Island

Barrington Town's untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Barrington Town failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Barrington Town also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Barrington Town's motion should be denied due to futility, as Barrington Town does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Barrington Town was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above.

Moreover, Barrington Town amended its complaint on March 7, 2019, after transfer to the MDL on April 26, 2018. See Town of Barrington v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45469-DAP, ECF No. 17. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Barrington Town declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaint. See Section II.A.1, above. Barrington Town’s deadline to amend was in 2019. Barrington Town waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Barrington Town’s lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order’s deadline because plaintiff “had all the information [she] needed” to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a “wait-and-see approach” instead of timely moving to amend).

Prior Notice Through Counsel. Barrington Town cannot meet the Rule 16 good cause standard because it is represented by the same counsel—Levin, Papantonio, Thomas, Mitchell, Rafferty & Proctor, P.A.—that filed claims against the PBMs in 2019. See MDL ECF No. 2582. Barrington Town, through its counsel, was on notice of potential claims against the PBMs and could readily have amended its complaint to add the PBMs much earlier. Barrington Town fails to explain why it was unable to assert claims against the PBMs in 2019 when its own attorneys were already asserting those claims on behalf of other clients. See, e.g., Duggins, 195 F.3d at 834 (affirming denial of leave to amend after the close of discovery when the “plaintiff was obviously aware of the basis of the claim for many months, especially since some underlying facts were made a part of the complaint”); Thurmond, 649 F. App’x at 1006 (affirming denial of leave to amend for undue delay in part because plaintiff’s counsel had access to discovery in related cases and was previously aware of the proposed new defendants’ conduct).

OptumRx's Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to Barrington Town's geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson Decl. (0.06% market share for Barrington Town). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Barrington Town to add dispensing claims against OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Express Scripts' Mail Order Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of prescription opioid units shipped to Barrington Town's geographic jurisdiction during 2009 to 2019. See DeCarlo Decl., Exhibit C (0.18% market share). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Barrington Town to add dispensing claims against Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy entities. See Section III.A.2, above.

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Rhode Island law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Barrington Town's delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs' ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Rhode Island law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Barrington Town, a municipality in Rhode Island, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Barrington Town’s proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Barrington Town filed its original complaint on March 26, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See Town of Barrington v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45469-DAP, ECF No. 1. It is therefore indisputable that Barrington Town knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend. Barrington Town’s RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO’s four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by “discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim” (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Barrington Town’s request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Barrington Town, a municipality in Rhode Island, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester’s complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

443. Town of Burrillville v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45470-DAP: Plaintiff Burrillville Town, Rhode Island

Burrillville Town’s untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Burrillville Town failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Burrillville Town also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Burrillville Town’s motion should be denied due to futility, as Burrillville Town does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Burrillville Town was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Burrillville Town amended its complaint on March 13, 2019, after transfer to the MDL on April 27, 2018. See Town of Burrillville v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45470-DAP, ECF No. 17. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Burrillville Town declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaint. See Section II.A.1, above. Burrillville Town’s deadline to amend was in 2019. Burrillville Town waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Burrillville Town’s lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order’s deadline because plaintiff “had all the information [she] needed” to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a “wait-and-see approach” instead of timely moving to amend).

Prior Notice Through Counsel. Burrillville Town cannot meet the Rule 16 good cause standard because it is represented by the same counsel—Levin, Papantonio, Thomas, Mitchell, Rafferty & Proctor, P.A.—that filed claims against the PBMs in 2019. See MDL ECF No. 2582. Burrillville Town, through its counsel, was on notice of potential claims against the PBMs and could readily have amended its complaint to add the PBMs much earlier. Burrillville Town fails to explain why it was unable to assert claims against the PBMs in 2019 when its own attorneys were already asserting those claims on behalf of other clients. See, e.g., Duggins, 195 F.3d at 834 (affirming denial of leave to amend after the close of discovery when the “plaintiff was obviously aware of the basis of the claim for many months, especially since some underlying facts were made a part of the complaint”); Thurmond, 649 F. App’x at 1006 (affirming denial of leave to amend for undue delay in part because plaintiff's counsel had access to discovery in related cases and was previously aware of the proposed new defendants' conduct).

OptumRx's Home-Delivery Pharmacy Had Zero Dispenses. OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy did not dispense a single opioid prescription to Burrillville Town's geographic jurisdiction over the period for which OptumRx has data (2010 to 2019). See Gustafson Decl.. Because OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy "ha[s] no market share, they shouldn't be in the case, period." ECF No. 3685 at 6:9–14; see Section III.A.2, above. Thus, Burrillville Town cannot show good cause to add claims against OptumRx in its capacity as a home delivery pharmacy.

Express Scripts' Mail Order Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of prescription opioid units shipped to Burrillville Town's geographic jurisdiction during 2009 to 2019. See DeCarlo Decl., Exhibit C (0.05% market share). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Burrillville Town to add dispensing claims against Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy entities. See Section III.A.2, above.

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Rhode Island law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Burrillville Town's delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs' ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Rhode Island law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Burrillville Town, a municipality in Rhode Island, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Burrillville Town’s proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Burrillville Town filed its original complaint on March 26, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See Town of Burrillville v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45470-DAP, ECF No. 1. It is therefore indisputable that Burrillville Town knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend. Burrillville Town’s RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO’s four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by “discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim” (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Burrillville Town’s request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Burrillville Town, a municipality in Rhode Island, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester’s complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

444. Town of Coventry Rhode Island v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45471-DAP: Plaintiff Coventry Town, Rhode Island

Coventry Town’s untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Coventry Town failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Coventry Town also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, failure to implement a litigation hold, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Coventry Town’s motion should be denied due to futility, as Coventry Town does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Coventry Town was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Coventry Town amended its complaint on March 11, 2019, after transfer to the MDL on April 27, 2018. See Town of Coventry Rhode Island v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45471-DAP, ECF No. 17. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Coventry Town declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaint. See Section II.A.1, above. Coventry Town’s deadline to amend was in 2019. Coventry Town waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Coventry Town’s lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order’s deadline because plaintiff “had all the information [she] needed” to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a “wait-and-see approach” instead of timely moving to amend).

Prior Notice Through Counsel. Coventry Town cannot meet the Rule 16 good cause standard because it is represented by the same counsel—Levin, Papantonio, Thomas, Mitchell, Rafferty & Proctor, P.A.—that filed claims against the PBMs in 2019. See MDL ECF No. 2582. Coventry Town, through its counsel, was on notice of potential claims against the PBMs and could readily have amended its complaint to add the PBMs much earlier. Coventry Town fails to explain why it was unable to assert claims against the PBMs in 2019 when its own attorneys were already asserting those claims on behalf of other clients. See, e.g., Duggins, 195 F.3d at 834 (affirming denial of leave to amend after the close of discovery when the “plaintiff was obviously aware of the basis of the claim for many months, especially since some underlying facts were made a part of the complaint”); Thurmond, 649 F. App’x at 1006 (affirming denial of leave to amend for undue delay in part because plaintiff’s counsel had access to discovery in related cases and was previously aware of the proposed new defendants’ conduct).

OptumRx’s Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to Coventry Town’s geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson Decl. (0.01% market share for Coventry Town). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Coventry Town to add dispensing claims against OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Express Scripts’ Mail Order Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. Express Scripts’ mail order pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of prescription opioid units shipped to Coventry Town’s geographic jurisdiction during 2009 to 2019. See DeCarlo Decl., Exhibit C (0.03% market share). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Coventry Town to add dispensing claims against Express Scripts’ mail order pharmacy entities. See Section III.A.2, above.

Failure to Implement a Litigation Hold. Coventry Town filed its original complaint on March 26, 2018. See Town of Coventry Rhode Island v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45471-DAP, ECF No. 1. Despite filing its case years ago, Coventry Town never implemented a litigation hold, in violation of this Court’s orders (ECF Nos. 232; 5455). See ECF No. 5687-1 (Date Litigation Hold Implemented: Never). Litigating Coventry Town’s case would force the parties and the Court to waste time and resources ascertaining the extent of Coventry Town's document destruction and the appropriate sanctions—just as the parties were forced to do in the three PBM bellwethers that failed to implement litigation holds until 2024. The PBMs are prejudiced by Coventry Town's disregard for its most basic discovery obligations as a litigant, compounded by the delay in seeking leave to amend, and Coventry Town therefore lacks good cause for leave to amend its complaint. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28 (denying leave to amend in part because the passage of time resulted in significant prejudice due to the loss of documents or records); see also Section III.A.4, above.

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Rhode Island law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Coventry Town's delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs' ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Rhode Island law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Coventry Town, a municipality in Rhode Island, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Coventry Town's proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Coventry Town filed its original complaint on March 26, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See Town of Coventry Rhode Island v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45471-DAP, ECF No. 1. It is therefore indisputable that Coventry Town knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend. Coventry Town's RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO's four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by "discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim" (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Coventry Town's request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Coventry Town, a municipality in Rhode Island, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester's complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

445. City of Cranston, Rhode Island v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45472-DAP: Plaintiff Cranston City, Rhode Island

Cranston City's untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Cranston City failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Cranston City also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Cranston City's motion should be denied due to futility, as Cranston City does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Cranston City was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Cranston City amended its complaint on March 7, 2019, after transfer to the MDL on April 27, 2018. See City of Cranston, Rhode Island v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45472-DAP, ECF No. 18. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Cranston City declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaint. See Section II.A.1, above. Cranston City’s deadline to amend was in 2019. Cranston City waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Cranston City’s lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order’s deadline because plaintiff “had all the information [she] needed” to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a “wait-and-see approach” instead of timely moving to amend).

Prior Notice Through Counsel. Cranston City cannot meet the Rule 16 good cause standard because it is represented by the same counsel—Levin, Papantonio, Thomas, Mitchell, Rafferty & Proctor, P.A.—that filed claims against the PBMs in 2019. See MDL ECF No. 2582. Cranston City, through its counsel, was on notice of potential claims against the PBMs and could readily have amended its complaint to add the PBMs much earlier. Cranston City fails to explain why it was unable to assert claims against the PBMs in 2019 when its own attorneys were already asserting those claims on behalf of other clients. See, e.g., Duggins, 195 F.3d at 834 (affirming denial of leave to amend after the close of discovery when the “plaintiff was obviously aware of the basis of the claim for many months, especially since some underlying facts were made a part of the complaint”); Thurmond, 649 F. App’x at 1006 (affirming denial of leave to amend for undue delay in part because plaintiff’s counsel had access to discovery in related cases and was previously aware of the proposed new defendants’ conduct).

OptumRx’s Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to Cranston City’s geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson

Decl. (0.02% market share for Cranston City). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Cranston City to add dispensing claims against OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Express Scripts' Mail Order Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of prescription opioid units shipped to Cranston City's geographic jurisdiction during 2009 to 2019. See DeCarlo Decl., Exhibit C (0.05% market share). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Cranston City to add dispensing claims against Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy entities. See Section III.A.2, above.

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Rhode Island law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Cranston City's delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs' ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Rhode Island law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Cranston City, a municipality in Rhode Island, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Cranston City's proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Cranston City filed its original complaint on March 26, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants.

See City of Cranston, Rhode Island v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45472-DAP, ECF No. 1. It is therefore indisputable that Cranston City knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend. Cranston City's RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO's four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by "discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim" (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Cranston City's request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Cranston City, a municipality in Rhode Island, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester's complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

446. Town of Foster v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45473-DAP: Plaintiff Foster Town, Rhode Island

Foster Town's untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Foster Town failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Foster Town also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Foster Town's motion should be denied due to futility, as Foster Town does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Foster Town was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Foster Town amended its complaint on March 7, 2019, after transfer to the MDL on April 27, 2018. See Town of Foster v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45473-DAP, ECF No. 21. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Foster Town declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaint. See Section II.A.1, above. Foster Town’s deadline to amend was in 2019. Foster Town waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Foster Town’s lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order’s deadline because plaintiff “had all the information [she] needed” to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a “wait-and-see approach” instead of timely moving to amend).

Prior Notice Through Counsel. Foster Town cannot meet the Rule 16 good cause standard because it is represented by the same counsel—Levin, Papantonio, Thomas, Mitchell, Rafferty & Proctor, P.A.—that filed claims against the PBMs in 2019. See MDL ECF No. 2582. Foster Town, through its counsel, was on notice of potential claims against the PBMs and could readily have amended its complaint to add the PBMs much earlier. Foster Town fails to explain why it was unable to assert claims against the PBMs in 2019 when its own attorneys were already asserting those claims on behalf of other clients. See, e.g., Duggins, 195 F.3d at 834 (affirming denial of leave to amend after the close of discovery when the “plaintiff was obviously aware of the basis of the claim for many months, especially since some underlying facts were made a part of the complaint”); Thurmond, 649 F. App’x at 1006 (affirming denial of leave to amend for undue delay in part because plaintiff’s counsel had access to discovery in related cases and was previously aware of the proposed new defendants’ conduct).

OptumRx’s Home-Delivery Pharmacy Had Zero Dispenses. OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy did not dispense a single opioid prescription to Foster Town’s geographic jurisdiction over the period for which OptumRx has data (2010 to 2019). See Gustafson Decl.. Because OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy “ha[s] no market share, they shouldn’t be in the case, period.” ECF No. 3685 at 6:9–14; see Section III.A.2, above. Thus, Foster Town cannot show good cause to add claims against OptumRx in its capacity as a home delivery pharmacy.

Express Scripts’ PBM Has No Market Share. Express Scripts’ PBM processed zero claims for prescription opioids in Foster Town’s geographic jurisdiction during 2009 to 2019. See DeCarlo Decl., Exhibit A. Because Express Scripts’ PBM “ha[s] no market share, they shouldn’t be in the case, period.” ECF No. 3685 at 6:9–14; see Section III.A.2, above.

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Rhode Island law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Foster Town’s delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs’ ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Rhode Island law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Foster Town, a municipality in Rhode Island, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Foster Town’s proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Foster Town filed its original complaint on March 26, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See Town of Foster v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45473-DAP, ECF No. 1. It is therefore indisputable that Foster Town knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend. Foster Town's RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO's four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by "discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim" (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Foster Town's request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Foster Town, a municipality in Rhode Island, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester's complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

447. Town of Glocester v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45474-DAP: Plaintiff Glocester Town, Rhode Island

Glocester Town's untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Glocester Town failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Glocester Town also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Glocester Town's motion should be denied due to futility, as Glocester Town does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Glocester Town was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Glocester Town amended its complaint on March 13, 2019, after transfer to the MDL on April 19, 2018. See Town of Glocester v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45474-DAP, ECF No. 18. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Glocester Town declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaint. See Section II.A.1, above. Gloucester Town’s deadline to amend was in 2019. Gloucester Town waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Gloucester Town’s lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order’s deadline because plaintiff “had all the information [she] needed” to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a “wait-and-see approach” instead of timely moving to amend).

Prior Notice Through Counsel. Gloucester Town cannot meet the Rule 16 good cause standard because it is represented by the same counsel—Levin, Papantonio, Thomas, Mitchell, Rafferty & Proctor, P.A.—that filed claims against the PBMs in 2019. See MDL ECF No. 2582. Gloucester Town, through its counsel, was on notice of potential claims against the PBMs and could readily have amended its complaint to add the PBMs much earlier. Gloucester Town fails to explain why it was unable to assert claims against the PBMs in 2019 when its own attorneys were already asserting those claims on behalf of other clients. See, e.g., Duggins, 195 F.3d at 834 (affirming denial of leave to amend after the close of discovery when the “plaintiff was obviously aware of the basis of the claim for many months, especially since some underlying facts were made a part of the complaint”); Thurmond, 649 F. App’x at 1006 (affirming denial of leave to amend for undue delay in part because plaintiff’s counsel had access to discovery in related cases and was previously aware of the proposed new defendants’ conduct).

OptumRx’s Home-Delivery Pharmacy Had Zero Dispenses. OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy did not dispense a single opioid prescription to Gloucester Town’s geographic jurisdiction over the period for which OptumRx has data (2010 to 2019). See Gustafson Decl..

Because OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy “ha[s] no market share, they shouldn’t be in the case, period.” ECF No. 3685 at 6:9–14; see Section III.A.2, above. Thus, Gloucester Town cannot show good cause to add claims against OptumRx in its capacity as a home delivery pharmacy.

Express Scripts’ Mail Order Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. Express Scripts’ mail order pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of prescription opioid units shipped to Gloucester Town’s geographic jurisdiction during 2009 to 2019. See DeCarlo Decl., Exhibit C (0.09% market share). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Gloucester Town to add dispensing claims against Express Scripts’ mail order pharmacy entities. See Section III.A.2, above.

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Rhode Island law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Gloucester Town’s delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs’ ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Rhode Island law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Gloucester Town, a municipality in Rhode Island, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Gloucester Town’s proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Gloucester Town filed its original complaint on March 26, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See Town of Gloucester v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45474-

DAP, ECF No. 1. It is therefore indisputable that Gloucester Town knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend. Gloucester Town's RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO's four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by "discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim" (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Gloucester Town's request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Gloucester Town, a municipality in Rhode Island, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester's complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

448. Town of Hopkinton Rhode Island v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45475-DAP: Plaintiff Hopkinton Town, Rhode Island

Hopkinton Town's untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Hopkinton Town failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Hopkinton Town also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, failure to implement a litigation hold, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Hopkinton Town's motion should be denied due to futility, as Hopkinton Town does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Hopkinton Town was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Hopkinton Town amended its complaint on March 11, 2019, after transfer to the MDL on April 19, 2018. See Town of Hopkinton Rhode Island v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45475-DAP, ECF No. 17. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Hopkinton Town declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaint. See Section II.A.1, above. Hopkinton Town’s deadline to amend was in 2019. Hopkinton Town waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Hopkinton Town’s lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order’s deadline because plaintiff “had all the information [she] needed” to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a “wait-and-see approach” instead of timely moving to amend).

Prior Notice Through Counsel. Hopkinton Town cannot meet the Rule 16 good cause standard because it is represented by the same counsel—Levin, Papantonio, Thomas, Mitchell, Rafferty & Proctor, P.A.—that filed claims against the PBMs in 2019. See MDL ECF No. 2582. Hopkinton Town, through its counsel, was on notice of potential claims against the PBMs and could readily have amended its complaint to add the PBMs much earlier. Hopkinton Town fails to explain why it was unable to assert claims against the PBMs in 2019 when its own attorneys were already asserting those claims on behalf of other clients. See, e.g., Duggins, 195 F.3d at 834 (affirming denial of leave to amend after the close of discovery when the “plaintiff was obviously aware of the basis of the claim for many months, especially since some underlying facts were made a part of the complaint”); Thurmond, 649 F. App’x at 1006 (affirming denial of leave to amend for undue delay in part because plaintiff’s counsel had access to discovery in related cases and was previously aware of the proposed new defendants’ conduct).

OptumRx's Home-Delivery Pharmacy Had Zero Dispenses. OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy did not dispense a single opioid prescription to Hopkinton Town's geographic jurisdiction over the period for which OptumRx has data (2010 to 2019). See Gustafson Decl.. Because OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy "ha[s] no market share, they shouldn't be in the case, period." ECF No. 3685 at 6:9–14; see Section III.A.2, above. Thus, Hopkinton Town cannot show good cause to add claims against OptumRx in its capacity as a home delivery pharmacy.

Express Scripts' Mail Order Pharmacy Has No Market Share. Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy shipped zero opioid prescriptions to Hopkinton Town's geographic jurisdiction during 2009 to 2019. See DeCarlo Decl., Exhibit B. Because Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy "ha[s] no market share, they shouldn't be in the case, period." ECF No. 3685 at 6:9–14; see Section III.A.2, above.

Express Scripts' PBM Has No Market Share. Express Scripts' PBM processed zero claims for prescription opioids in Hopkinton Town's geographic jurisdiction during 2009 to 2019. See DeCarlo Decl., Exhibit A. Because Express Scripts' PBM "ha[s] no market share, they shouldn't be in the case, period." ECF No. 3685 at 6:9–14; see Section III.A.2, above.

Failure to Implement a Litigation Hold. Hopkinton Town filed its original complaint on March 26, 2018. See Town of Hopkinton Rhode Island v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45475-DAP, ECF No. 1. Despite filing its case years ago, Hopkinton Town never implemented a litigation hold and is instead purporting to rely on non-specific and unidentified document retention laws. See ECF No. 5687-1 (Date Litigation Hold Implemented: *(Never)). This is a plain violation of this Court's orders. ECF Nos. 232; 5455. Litigating Hopkinton Town's case would force the parties and the Court to waste time and resources ascertaining the extent of Hopkinton Town's document destruction and the appropriate sanctions—just as the parties were forced to do in the three PBM bellwethers that failed to implement litigation holds until 2024. The PBMs are prejudiced by Hopkinton Town’s disregard for its most basic discovery obligations as a litigant, compounded by the delay in seeking leave to amend, and Hopkinton Town therefore lacks good cause for leave to amend its complaint. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28 (denying leave to amend in part because the passage of time resulted in significant prejudice due to the loss of documents or records); see also Section III.A.4, above.

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Rhode Island law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Hopkinton Town’s delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs’ ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Rhode Island law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Hopkinton Town, a municipality in Rhode Island, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Hopkinton Town’s proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Hopkinton Town filed its original complaint on March 26, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See Town of Hopkinton Rhode Island v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45475-DAP, ECF No. 1. It is therefore indisputable that Hopkinton Town knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend. Hopkinton Town's RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO's four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by "discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim" (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Hopkinton Town's request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Hopkinton Town, a municipality in Rhode Island, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester's complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

449. Town of Jamestown, a municipal corporation v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45476-DAP: Plaintiff Jamestown Town, Rhode Island

Jamestown Town's untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Jamestown Town failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Jamestown Town also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Jamestown Town's motion should be denied due to futility, as Jamestown Town does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Jamestown Town was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Jamestown Town amended its complaint on March 7, 2019, after transfer to the MDL on April 19, 2018. See Town of Jamestown, a municipal corporation v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45476-DAP, ECF No. 18. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Jamestown Town declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaint. See Section II.A.1, above. Jamestown Town’s deadline to amend was in 2019. Jamestown Town waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Jamestown Town’s lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order’s deadline because plaintiff “had all the information [she] needed” to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a “wait-and-see approach” instead of timely moving to amend).

Prior Notice Through Counsel. Jamestown Town cannot meet the Rule 16 good cause standard because it is represented by the same counsel—Levin, Papantonio, Thomas, Mitchell, Rafferty & Proctor, P.A.—that filed claims against the PBMs in 2019. See MDL ECF No. 2582. Jamestown Town, through its counsel, was on notice of potential claims against the PBMs and could readily have amended its complaint to add the PBMs much earlier. Jamestown Town fails to explain why it was unable to assert claims against the PBMs in 2019 when its own attorneys were already asserting those claims on behalf of other clients. See, e.g., Duggins, 195 F.3d at 834 (affirming denial of leave to amend after the close of discovery when the “plaintiff was obviously aware of the basis of the claim for many months, especially since some underlying facts were made a part of the complaint”); Thurmond, 649 F. App’x at 1006 (affirming denial of leave to amend for undue delay in part because plaintiff’s counsel had access to discovery in related cases and was previously aware of the proposed new defendants’ conduct).

OptumRx’s Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to Jamestown Town’s geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson Decl. (0.04% market share for Jamestown Town). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Jamestown Town to add dispensing claims against OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Express Scripts' Mail Order Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of prescription opioid units shipped to Jamestown Town's geographic jurisdiction during 2009 to 2019. See DeCarlo Decl., Exhibit C (0.36% market share). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Jamestown Town to add dispensing claims against Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy entities. See Section III.A.2, above.

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Rhode Island law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Jamestown Town's delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs' ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Rhode Island law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Jamestown Town, a municipality in Rhode Island, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Jamestown Town's proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Jamestown Town filed its original complaint on March 26, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See Town of Jamestown, a municipal corporation v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45476-DAP, ECF No. 1. It is therefore indisputable that Jamestown Town knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend. Jamestown Town's RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO's four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by "discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim" (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Jamestown Town's request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Jamestown Town, a municipality in Rhode Island, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester's complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

450. Town of North Kingstown v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45477-DAP: Plaintiff North Kingstown Town, Rhode Island

North Kingstown Town's untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. North Kingstown Town failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. North Kingstown Town also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, failure to implement a litigation hold, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, North Kingstown Town's motion should be denied due to futility, as North Kingstown Town does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. North Kingstown Town was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, North Kingstown Town amended its complaint on March 7, 2019, after transfer to the MDL on April 19, 2018. See Town of North Kingstown v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45477-DAP, ECF No. 17. Unlike many other plaintiffs, North Kingstown Town declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaint. See Section II.A.1, above. North Kingstown Town’s deadline to amend was in 2019. North Kingstown Town waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. North Kingstown Town’s lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order’s deadline because plaintiff “had all the information [she] needed” to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a “wait-and-see approach” instead of timely moving to amend).

Prior Notice Through Counsel. North Kingstown Town cannot meet the Rule 16 good cause standard because it is represented by the same counsel—Levin, Papantonio, Thomas, Mitchell, Rafferty & Proctor, P.A.—that filed claims against the PBMs in 2019. See MDL ECF No. 2582. North Kingstown Town, through its counsel, was on notice of potential claims against the PBMs and could readily have amended its complaint to add the PBMs much earlier. North Kingstown Town fails to explain why it was unable to assert claims against the PBMs in 2019 when its own attorneys were already asserting those claims on behalf of other clients. See, e.g., Duggins, 195 F.3d at 834 (affirming denial of leave to amend after the close of discovery when the “plaintiff was obviously aware of the basis of the claim for many months, especially since some underlying facts were made a part of the complaint”); Thurmond, 649 F. App’x at 1006 (affirming denial of leave to amend for undue delay in part because plaintiff’s counsel had access to discovery in related cases and was previously aware of the proposed new defendants’ conduct).

OptumRx's Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to North Kingstown Town's geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson Decl. (0.02% market share for North Kingstown Town). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for North Kingstown Town to add dispensing claims against OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Express Scripts' Mail Order Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of prescription opioid units shipped to North Kingstown Town's geographic jurisdiction during 2009 to 2019. See DeCarlo Decl., Exhibit C (0.10% market share). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for North Kingstown Town to add dispensing claims against Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy entities. See Section III.A.2, above.

Failure to Implement a Litigation Hold. North Kingstown Town filed its original complaint on March 26, 2018. See Town of North Kingstown v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45477-DAP, ECF No. 1. Despite filing its case years ago, North Kingstown Town never implemented a litigation hold and is instead purporting to rely on non-specific and unidentified document retention laws. See ECF No. 5687-1 (Date Litigation Hold Implemented: *(Never)). This is a plain violation of this Court's orders. ECF Nos. 232; 5455. Litigating North Kingstown Town's case would force the parties and the Court to waste time and resources ascertaining the extent of North Kingstown Town's document destruction and the appropriate sanctions—just as the parties were forced to do in the three PBM bellwethers that failed to implement litigation holds until 2024. The PBMs are prejudiced by North Kingstown

Town's disregard for its most basic discovery obligations as a litigant, compounded by the delay in seeking leave to amend, and North Kingstown Town therefore lacks good cause for leave to amend its complaint. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28 (denying leave to amend in part because the passage of time resulted in significant prejudice due to the loss of documents or records); see also Section III.A.4, above.

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Rhode Island law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But North Kingstown Town's delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs' ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Rhode Island law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. North Kingstown Town, a municipality in Rhode Island, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for North Kingstown Town's proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. North Kingstown Town filed its original complaint on March 26, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See Town of North Kingstown v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45477-DAP, ECF No. 1. It is therefore indisputable that North Kingstown Town knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend. North Kingstown Town's RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO's four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by “discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim” (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. North Kingstown Town’s request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. North Kingstown Town, a municipality in Rhode Island, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester’s complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

451. Town of Narragansett v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45478-DAP: Plaintiff Narragansett Town, Rhode Island

Narragansett Town’s untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Narragansett Town failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Narragansett Town also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, failure to implement a litigation hold, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Narragansett Town’s motion should be denied due to futility, as Narragansett Town does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Narragansett Town was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Narragansett Town amended its complaint on March 7, 2019, after transfer to the MDL on April 19, 2018. See Town of Narragansett v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45478-DAP, ECF No. 21. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Narragansett Town declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaint. See Section II.A.1, above. Narragansett Town’s deadline to amend was in 2019. Narragansett Town waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Narragansett Town’s lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order’s deadline because plaintiff “had all the information [she] needed” to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a “wait-and-see approach” instead of timely moving to amend).

Prior Notice Through Counsel. Narragansett Town cannot meet the Rule 16 good cause standard because it is represented by the same counsel—Levin, Papantonio, Thomas, Mitchell, Rafferty & Proctor, P.A.—that filed claims against the PBMs in 2019. See MDL ECF No. 2582. Narragansett Town, through its counsel, was on notice of potential claims against the PBMs and could readily have amended its complaint to add the PBMs much earlier. Narragansett Town fails to explain why it was unable to assert claims against the PBMs in 2019 when its own attorneys were already asserting those claims on behalf of other clients. See, e.g., Duggins, 195 F.3d at 834 (affirming denial of leave to amend after the close of discovery when the “plaintiff was obviously aware of the basis of the claim for many months, especially since some underlying facts were made a part of the complaint”); Thurmond, 649 F. App’x at 1006 (affirming denial of leave to amend for undue delay in part because plaintiff’s counsel had access to discovery in related cases and was previously aware of the proposed new defendants’ conduct).

OptumRx’s Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to Narragansett Town’s geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson Decl. (0.04% market share for Narragansett Town). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Narragansett Town to add dispensing claims against OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Express Scripts' Mail Order Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of prescription opioid units shipped to Narragansett Town's geographic jurisdiction during 2009 to 2019. See DeCarlo Decl., Exhibit C (0.05% market share). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Narragansett Town to add dispensing claims against Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy entities. See Section III.A.2, above.

Failure to Implement a Litigation Hold. Narragansett Town filed its original complaint on March 26, 2018. See Town of Narragansett v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45478-DAP, ECF No. 1. Despite filing its case years ago, Narragansett Town never implemented a litigation hold and is instead purporting to rely on non-specific and unidentified document retention laws. See ECF No. 5687-1 (Date Litigation Hold Implemented: *(Never)). This is a plain violation of this Court's orders. ECF Nos. 232; 5455. Litigating Narragansett Town's case would force the parties and the Court to waste time and resources ascertaining the extent of Narragansett Town's document destruction and the appropriate sanctions—just as the parties were forced to do in the three PBM bellwethers that failed to implement litigation holds until 2024. The PBMs are prejudiced by Narragansett Town's disregard for its most basic discovery obligations as a litigant, compounded by the delay in seeking leave to amend, and Narragansett Town therefore lacks good cause for leave to amend its complaint. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28 (denying leave to amend in part because the passage of time resulted in significant prejudice due to the loss of documents or records); see also Section III.A.4, above.

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Rhode Island law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Narragansett Town's delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs' ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Rhode Island law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Narragansett Town, a municipality in Rhode Island, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Narragansett Town's proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Narragansett Town filed its original complaint on March 26, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See Town of Narragansett v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45478-DAP, ECF No. 1. It is therefore indisputable that Narragansett Town knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend. Narragansett Town's RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO's four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by "discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim" (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Narragansett Town's request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Narragansett Town, a municipality in Rhode Island, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester’s complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

452. City of Newport, Rhode Island v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45479-DAP: Plaintiff Newport City, Rhode Island

Newport City’s untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Newport City failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Newport City also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Newport City’s motion should be denied due to futility, as Newport City does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Newport City was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Newport City amended its complaint on March 13, 2019, after transfer to the MDL on April 19, 2018. See City of Newport, Rhode Island v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45479-DAP, ECF No. 18. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Newport City declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaint. See Section II.A.1, above. Newport City’s deadline to amend was in 2019. Newport City waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Newport City’s lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order’s deadline because plaintiff “had all the information [she] needed” to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a “wait-and-see approach” instead of timely moving to amend).

Prior Notice Through Counsel. Newport City cannot meet the Rule 16 good cause standard because it is represented by the same counsel—Levin, Papantonio, Thomas, Mitchell, Rafferty & Proctor, P.A.—that filed claims against the PBMs in 2019. See MDL ECF No. 2582. Newport City, through its counsel, was on notice of potential claims against the PBMs and could readily have amended its complaint to add the PBMs much earlier. Newport City fails to explain why it was unable to assert claims against the PBMs in 2019 when its own attorneys were already asserting those claims on behalf of other clients. See, e.g., Duggins, 195 F.3d at 834 (affirming denial of leave to amend after the close of discovery when the “plaintiff was obviously aware of the basis of the claim for many months, especially since some underlying facts were made a part of the complaint”); Thurmond, 649 F. App’x at 1006 (affirming denial of leave to amend for undue delay in part because plaintiff’s counsel had access to discovery in related cases and was previously aware of the proposed new defendants’ conduct).

OptumRx’s Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to Newport City’s geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson Decl. (0.02% market share for Newport City). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Newport City to add dispensing claims against OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Express Scripts’ Mail Order Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. Express Scripts’ mail order pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of prescription opioid units shipped to Newport City's geographic jurisdiction during 2009 to 2019. See DeCarlo Decl., Exhibit C (0.08% market share). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Newport City to add dispensing claims against Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy entities. See Section III.A.2, above.

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Rhode Island law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Newport City's delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs' ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Rhode Island law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Newport City, a municipality in Rhode Island, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Newport City's proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Newport City filed its original complaint on March 26, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See City of Newport, Rhode Island v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45479-DAP, ECF No. 1. It is therefore indisputable that Newport City knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend. Newport City's RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO's four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by "discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim" (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555));

see Section III.B.4, above. Newport City's request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Newport City, a municipality in Rhode Island, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester's complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

453. Town of Richmond v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45480-DAP: Plaintiff Richmond Town, Rhode Island

Richmond Town's untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Richmond Town failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Richmond Town also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Richmond Town's motion should be denied due to futility, as Richmond Town does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Richmond Town was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Richmond Town amended its complaint on March 7, 2019, after transfer to the MDL on April 19, 2018. See Town of Richmond v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45480-DAP, ECF No. 21. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Richmond Town declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaint. See Section II.A.1, above. Richmond Town's deadline to amend was in 2019. Richmond Town waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Richmond Town's lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order’s deadline because plaintiff “had all the information [she] needed” to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a “wait-and-see approach” instead of timely moving to amend).

Prior Notice Through Counsel. Richmond Town cannot meet the Rule 16 good cause standard because it is represented by the same counsel—Levin, Papantonio, Thomas, Mitchell, Rafferty & Proctor, P.A.—that filed claims against the PBMs in 2019. See MDL ECF No. 2582. Richmond Town, through its counsel, was on notice of potential claims against the PBMs and could readily have amended its complaint to add the PBMs much earlier. Richmond Town fails to explain why it was unable to assert claims against the PBMs in 2019 when its own attorneys were already asserting those claims on behalf of other clients. See, e.g., Duggins, 195 F.3d at 834 (affirming denial of leave to amend after the close of discovery when the “plaintiff was obviously aware of the basis of the claim for many months, especially since some underlying facts were made a part of the complaint”); Thurmond, 649 F. App’x at 1006 (affirming denial of leave to amend for undue delay in part because plaintiff’s counsel had access to discovery in related cases and was previously aware of the proposed new defendants’ conduct).

OptumRx’s Home-Delivery Pharmacy Had Zero Dispenses. OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy did not dispense a single opioid prescription to Richmond Town’s geographic jurisdiction over the period for which OptumRx has data (2010 to 2019). See Gustafson Decl.. Because OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy “ha[s] no market share, they shouldn’t be in the case, period.” ECF No. 3685 at 6:9–14; see Section III.A.2, above. Thus, Richmond Town cannot show good cause to add claims against OptumRx in its capacity as a home delivery pharmacy.

Express Scripts' Mail Order Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of prescription opioid units shipped to Richmond Town's geographic jurisdiction during 2009 to 2019. See DeCarlo Decl., Exhibit C (0.12% market share). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Richmond Town to add dispensing claims against Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy entities. See Section III.A.2, above.

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Rhode Island law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Richmond Town's delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs' ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Rhode Island law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Richmond Town, a municipality in Rhode Island, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Richmond Town's proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Richmond Town filed its original complaint on March 26, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See Town of Richmond v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45480-DAP, ECF No. 1. It is therefore indisputable that Richmond Town knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend. Richmond Town's RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO's four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by “discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim” (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Richmond Town’s request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Richmond Town, a municipality in Rhode Island, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester’s complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

454. Town of Smithfield v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45481-DAP: Plaintiff Smithfield Town, Rhode Island

Smithfield Town’s untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Smithfield Town failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Smithfield Town also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Smithfield Town’s motion should be denied due to futility, as Smithfield Town does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Smithfield Town was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Smithfield Town amended its complaint on March 7, 2019, after transfer to the MDL on April 19, 2018. See Town of Smithfield v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45481-DAP, ECF No. 17. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Smithfield Town declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaint. See Section II.A.1, above. Smithfield Town’s deadline to amend was in 2019. Smithfield Town waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Smithfield Town’s lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order’s deadline because plaintiff “had all the information [she] needed” to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a “wait-and-see approach” instead of timely moving to amend).

Prior Notice Through Counsel. Smithfield Town cannot meet the Rule 16 good cause standard because it is represented by the same counsel—Levin, Papantonio, Thomas, Mitchell, Rafferty & Proctor, P.A.—that filed claims against the PBMs in 2019. See MDL ECF No. 2582. Smithfield Town, through its counsel, was on notice of potential claims against the PBMs and could readily have amended its complaint to add the PBMs much earlier. Smithfield Town fails to explain why it was unable to assert claims against the PBMs in 2019 when its own attorneys were already asserting those claims on behalf of other clients. See, e.g., Duggins, 195 F.3d at 834 (affirming denial of leave to amend after the close of discovery when the “plaintiff was obviously aware of the basis of the claim for many months, especially since some underlying facts were made a part of the complaint”); Thurmond, 649 F. App’x at 1006 (affirming denial of leave to amend for undue delay in part because plaintiff’s counsel had access to discovery in related cases and was previously aware of the proposed new defendants’ conduct).

OptumRx’s Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to Smithfield Town’s geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson Decl. (0.29% market share for Smithfield Town). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Smithfield Town to add dispensing claims against

OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Express Scripts' Mail Order Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of prescription opioid units shipped to Smithfield Town's geographic jurisdiction during 2009 to 2019. See DeCarlo Decl., Exhibit C (0.06% market share). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Smithfield Town to add dispensing claims against Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy entities. See Section III.A.2, above.

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Rhode Island law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Smithfield Town's delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs' ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Rhode Island law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Smithfield Town, a municipality in Rhode Island, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Smithfield Town's proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Smithfield Town filed its original complaint on March 27, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See Town of Smithfield v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45481-DAP, ECF No. 1. It is therefore indisputable that Smithfield Town knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend. Smithfield Town's RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO's four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by "discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim" (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Smithfield Town's request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Smithfield Town, a municipality in Rhode Island, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester's complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

455. Town of South Kingstown Municipal Corporation v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45482-DAP: Plaintiff South Kingstown Town, Rhode Island

South Kingstown Town's untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. South Kingstown Town failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. South Kingstown Town also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, South Kingstown Town's motion should be denied due to futility, as South Kingstown Town does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. South Kingstown Town was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, South Kingstown Town amended its complaint on March 7, 2019, after transfer to the MDL on April 19, 2018. See Town of South Kingstown Municipal Corporation v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45482-DAP, ECF No. 17. Unlike many other plaintiffs, South Kingstown Town declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaint. See Section II.A.1, above. South Kingstown Town’s deadline to amend was in 2019. South Kingstown Town waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. South Kingstown Town’s lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order’s deadline because plaintiff “had all the information [she] needed” to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a “wait-and-see approach” instead of timely moving to amend).

Prior Notice Through Counsel. South Kingstown Town cannot meet the Rule 16 good cause standard because it is represented by the same counsel—Levin, Papantonio, Thomas, Mitchell, Rafferty & Proctor, P.A.—that filed claims against the PBMs in 2019. See MDL ECF No. 2582. South Kingstown Town, through its counsel, was on notice of potential claims against the PBMs and could readily have amended its complaint to add the PBMs much earlier. South Kingstown Town fails to explain why it was unable to assert claims against the PBMs in 2019 when its own attorneys were already asserting those claims on behalf of other clients. See, e.g., Duggins, 195 F.3d at 834 (affirming denial of leave to amend after the close of discovery when the “plaintiff was obviously aware of the basis of the claim for many months, especially since some underlying facts were made a part of the complaint”); Thurmond, 649 F. App’x at 1006 (affirming denial of leave to amend for undue delay in part because plaintiff’s counsel had access to discovery in related cases and was previously aware of the proposed new defendants’ conduct).

OptumRx’s Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to South Kingstown Town's geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson Decl. (0.05% market share for South Kingstown Town). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for South Kingstown Town to add dispensing claims against OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Express Scripts' Mail Order Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of prescription opioid units shipped to South Kingstown Town's geographic jurisdiction during 2009 to 2019. See DeCarlo Decl., Exhibit C (0.04% market share). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for South Kingstown Town to add dispensing claims against Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy entities. See Section III.A.2, above.

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Rhode Island law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But South Kingstown Town's delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs' ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Rhode Island law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. South Kingstown Town, a municipality in Rhode Island, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for South Kingstown Town's proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. South Kingstown Town filed its original complaint on March 27, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See Town of South Kingstown Municipal Corporation v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45482-DAP, ECF No. 1. It is therefore indisputable that South Kingstown Town knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend. South Kingstown Town's RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO's four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by "discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim" (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. South Kingstown Town's request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. South Kingstown Town, a municipality in Rhode Island, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester's complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

456. Town of West Greenwich v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45483-DAP: Plaintiff West Greenwich Town, Rhode Island

West Greenwich Town's untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. West Greenwich Town failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. West Greenwich Town also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, West Greenwich Town's motion should be denied due to futility, as West Greenwich Town does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. West Greenwich Town was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, West Greenwich Town amended its complaint on March 11, 2019, after transfer to the MDL on April 19, 2018. See Town of West Greenwich v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45483-DAP, ECF No. 17. Unlike many other plaintiffs, West Greenwich Town declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaint. See Section II.A.1, above. West Greenwich Town’s deadline to amend was in 2019. West Greenwich Town waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. West Greenwich Town’s lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order’s deadline because plaintiff “had all the information [she] needed” to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a “wait-and-see approach” instead of timely moving to amend).

Prior Notice Through Counsel. West Greenwich Town cannot meet the Rule 16 good cause standard because it is represented by the same counsel—Levin, Papantonio, Thomas, Mitchell, Rafferty & Proctor, P.A.—that filed claims against the PBMs in 2019. See MDL ECF No. 2582. West Greenwich Town, through its counsel, was on notice of potential claims against the PBMs and could readily have amended its complaint to add the PBMs much earlier. West Greenwich Town fails to explain why it was unable to assert claims against the PBMs in 2019 when its own attorneys were already asserting those claims on behalf of other clients. See, e.g., Duggins, 195 F.3d at 834 (affirming denial of leave to amend after the close of discovery when the “plaintiff was obviously aware of the basis of the claim for many months, especially since some underlying facts were made a part of the complaint”); Thurmond, 649 F. App’x at 1006

(affirming denial of leave to amend for undue delay in part because plaintiff's counsel had access to discovery in related cases and was previously aware of the proposed new defendants' conduct).

Express Scripts' PBM Has No Market Share. Express Scripts' PBM processed zero claims for prescription opioids in West Greenwich Town's geographic jurisdiction during 2009 to 2019. See DeCarlo Decl., Exhibit A. Because Express Scripts' PBM "ha[s] no market share, they shouldn't be in the case, period." ECF No. 3685 at 6:9–14; see Section III.A.2, above.

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Rhode Island law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But West Greenwich Town's delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs' ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Rhode Island law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. West Greenwich Town, a municipality in Rhode Island, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for West Greenwich Town's proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. West Greenwich Town filed its original complaint on March 27, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See Town of West Greenwich v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45483-DAP, ECF No. 1. It is therefore indisputable that West Greenwich Town knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend. West Greenwich Town's RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO's four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by "discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the other elements of a claim]") (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555); see Section III.B.4, above. West Greenwich Town's request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. West Greenwich Town, a municipality in Rhode Island, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester's complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

457. Town of West Warwick, Rhode Island v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45484-DAP: Plaintiff West Warwick Town, Rhode Island

West Warwick Town's untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. West Warwick Town failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. West Warwick Town also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, failure to implement a litigation hold, failure to submit a complete plaintiff fact sheet, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, West Warwick Town's motion should be denied due to futility, as West Warwick Town does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. West Warwick Town was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, West Warwick Town amended its complaint on March 7, 2019, after transfer to the MDL on April 19, 2018. See Town of West Warwick, Rhode Island v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45484-DAP, ECF No. 17. Unlike many other plaintiffs, West Warwick Town declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaint. See Section II.A.1, above. West Warwick Town’s deadline to amend was in 2019. West Warwick Town waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. West Warwick Town’s lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order’s deadline because plaintiff “had all the information [she] needed” to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a “wait-and-see approach” instead of timely moving to amend).

Prior Notice Through Counsel. West Warwick Town cannot meet the Rule 16 good cause standard because it is represented by the same counsel—Levin, Papantonio, Thomas, Mitchell, Rafferty & Proctor, P.A.—that filed claims against the PBMs in 2019. See MDL ECF No. 2582. West Warwick Town, through its counsel, was on notice of potential claims against the PBMs and could readily have amended its complaint to add the PBMs much earlier. West Warwick Town fails to explain why it was unable to assert claims against the PBMs in 2019 when its own attorneys were already asserting those claims on behalf of other clients. See, e.g., Duggins, 195 F.3d at 834 (affirming denial of leave to amend after the close of discovery when the “plaintiff was obviously aware of the basis of the claim for many months, especially since some underlying facts were made a part of the complaint”); Thurmond, 649 F. App’x at 1006 (affirming denial of leave to amend for undue delay in part because plaintiff’s counsel had access to discovery in related cases and was previously aware of the proposed new defendants’ conduct).

OptumRx’s Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to West Warwick Town’s geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson Decl. (0.02% market share for West Warwick Town). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for West Warwick Town to add dispensing claims against OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Express Scripts' Mail Order Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of prescription opioid units shipped to West Warwick Town's geographic jurisdiction during 2009 to 2019. See DeCarlo Decl., Exhibit C (0.06% market share). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for West Warwick Town to add dispensing claims against Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy entities. See Section III.A.2, above.

Failure to Implement a Litigation Hold. West Warwick Town filed its original complaint on March 27, 2018. See Town of West Warwick, Rhode Island v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45484-DAP, ECF No. 1. Despite filing its case years ago, West Warwick Town never implemented a litigation hold and is instead purporting to rely on non-specific and unidentified document retention laws. See ECF No. 5687-1 (Date Litigation Hold Implemented: *(Never)). This is a plain violation of this Court's orders. ECF Nos. 232; 5455. Litigating West Warwick Town's case would force the parties and the Court to waste time and resources ascertaining the extent of West Warwick Town's document destruction and the appropriate sanctions—just as the parties were forced to do in the three PBM bellwethers that failed to implement litigation holds until 2024. The PBMs are prejudiced by West Warwick Town's disregard for its most basic discovery obligations as a litigant, compounded by the delay in seeking leave to amend, and West Warwick Town therefore lacks good cause for leave to amend its complaint. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28 (denying leave to amend in part because the passage of time resulted in significant prejudice due to the loss of documents or records); see also Section III.A.4, above.

Failure to Prosecute. In its Plaintiff Fact Sheet, West Warwick Town failed to provide complete answers to Questions I.B.8 and I.B.9, relating to West Warwick Town’s health plans, carriers, third party administrators, and pharmacy benefit managers throughout the relevant time period. The PBMs notified West Warwick Town of this deficiency on September 16, 2024 (see Exhibit B), but West Warwick Town refused to amend or supplement its Fact Sheet. Under this Court’s orders, West Warwick Town’s case is therefore subject to “dismiss[al] with prejudice” for failure to prosecute. ECF No. 4985 at 1 (emphasis in original); see Section III.A.5, above. West Warwick Town’s refusal to provide basic information related to its health care plans prejudices the PBMs’ ability to defend against West Warwick Town’s potential claims against them. West Warwick Town’s failure to diligently prosecute its case, coupled with the prejudice against the PBMs, negates any finding of good cause and leave to amend should be denied. See Final Amendment Order, ECF No. 5455 at 2 (directing counsel to dismiss, not seek leave to amend, in any case that “plaintiffs’ counsel does not intend to zealously pursue in litigation”); Range, 2017 WL 9477693, at *4 n.6 (denying motion for leave to amend as moot because claims were dismissed for failure to prosecute).

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Rhode Island law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But West Warwick Town’s delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs’ ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Rhode Island law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. West Warwick Town, a municipality in Rhode Island, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for West Warwick Town's proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. West Warwick Town filed its original complaint on March 27, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See Town of West Warwick, Rhode Island v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45484-DAP, ECF No. 1. It is therefore indisputable that West Warwick Town knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend. West Warwick Town's RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO's four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by "discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim" (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. West Warwick Town's request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. West Warwick Town, a municipality in Rhode Island, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester's complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

458. Town of Westerly v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45485-DAP: Plaintiff Westerly Town, Rhode Island

Westerly Town's untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Westerly Town failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint.

Westerly Town also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, failure to implement a litigation hold, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Westerly Town's motion should be denied due to futility, as Westerly Town does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Westerly Town was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Westerly Town amended its complaint on March 7, 2019, after transfer to the MDL on April 19, 2018. See Town of Westerly v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45485-DAP, ECF No. 21. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Westerly Town declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaint. See Section II.A.1, above. Westerly Town's deadline to amend was in 2019. Westerly Town waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Westerly Town's lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order's deadline because plaintiff "had all the information [she] needed" to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a "wait-and-see approach" instead of timely moving to amend).

Prior Notice Through Counsel. Westerly Town cannot meet the Rule 16 good cause standard because it is represented by the same counsel—Levin, Papantonio, Thomas, Mitchell, Rafferty & Proctor, P.A.—that filed claims against the PBMs in 2019. See MDL ECF No. 2582. Westerly Town, through its counsel, was on notice of potential claims against the PBMs and could readily have amended its complaint to add the PBMs much earlier. Westerly Town fails to explain why it was unable to assert claims against the PBMs in 2019 when its own attorneys were already asserting those claims on behalf of other clients. See, e.g., Duggins, 195 F.3d at 834 (affirming denial of leave to amend after the close of discovery when the “plaintiff was obviously aware of the basis of the claim for many months, especially since some underlying facts were made a part of the complaint”); Thurmond, 649 F. App’x at 1006 (affirming denial of leave to amend for undue delay in part because plaintiff’s counsel had access to discovery in related cases and was previously aware of the proposed new defendants’ conduct).

OptumRx’s Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to Westerly Town’s geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson Decl. (0.05% market share for Westerly Town). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Westerly Town to add dispensing claims against OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Express Scripts’ Mail Order Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. Express Scripts’ mail order pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of prescription opioid units shipped to Westerly Town’s geographic jurisdiction during 2009 to 2019. See DeCarlo Decl., Exhibit C (0.04% market share). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Westerly Town to add dispensing claims against Express Scripts’ mail order pharmacy entities. See Section III.A.2, above.

Failure to Implement a Litigation Hold. Westerly Town filed its original complaint on March 27, 2018. See Town of Westerly v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45485-DAP, ECF No. 1. Despite filing its case years ago, Westerly Town never implemented a litigation hold and is instead purporting to rely on non-specific and unidentified document retention laws. See ECF No. 5687-1 (Date Litigation Hold Implemented: *(Never)). This is a plain violation of this Court's orders. ECF Nos. 232; 5455. Litigating Westerly Town's case would force the parties and the Court to waste time and resources ascertaining the extent of Westerly Town's document destruction and the appropriate sanctions—just as the parties were forced to do in the three PBM bellwethers that failed to implement litigation holds until 2024. The PBMs are prejudiced by Westerly Town's disregard for its most basic discovery obligations as a litigant, compounded by the delay in seeking leave to amend, and Westerly Town therefore lacks good cause for leave to amend its complaint. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28 (denying leave to amend in part because the passage of time resulted in significant prejudice due to the loss of documents or records); see also Section III.A.4, above.

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Rhode Island law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Westerly Town's delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs' ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Rhode Island law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Westerly Town, a municipality in Rhode Island, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Westerly Town's proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Westerly Town filed its original complaint on March 27, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants.

See Town of Westerly v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45485-DAP, ECF No. 1. It is therefore indisputable that Westerly Town knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend. Westerly Town's RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO's four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by "discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim" (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Westerly Town's request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Westerly Town, a municipality in Rhode Island, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester's complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

459. City of Malden v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45487-DAP: Plaintiff Malden City, Massachusetts

Malden City's untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Malden City failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Malden City also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Malden City's motion should be denied due to futility, as Malden City does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its proposed public nuisance claim is barred by the statute of limitations, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Malden City was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Malden City amended its complaint on March 6, 2019, after transfer to the MDL on April 27, 2018. See City of Malden v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45487-DAP, ECF No. 9. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Malden City declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaint. See Section II.A.1, above. Malden City’s deadline to amend was in 2019. Malden City waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Malden City’s lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order’s deadline because plaintiff “had all the information [she] needed” to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a “wait-and-see approach” instead of timely moving to amend).

Prior Notice Through Counsel. Malden City cannot meet the Rule 16 good cause standard because it is represented by the same counsel—Greene, Ketchum, Farrell, Bailey & Tweel, LLP; Powell & Majestro; Baron & Budd, P.C.; Levin, Papantonio, Thomas, Mitchell, Rafferty & Proctor, P.A.; and McHugh Fuller Law Group, PLLC—that filed claims against the PBMs in 2019. See MDL ECF No. 2582. Malden City, through its counsel, was on notice of potential claims against the PBMs and could readily have amended its complaint to add the PBMs much earlier. Malden City fails to explain why it was unable to assert claims against the PBMs in 2019 when its own attorneys were already asserting those claims on behalf of other clients. See, e.g., Duggins, 195 F.3d at 834 (affirming denial of leave to amend after the close of discovery when the “plaintiff was obviously aware of the basis of the claim for many months, especially since some underlying facts were made a part of the complaint”); Thurmond, 649 F. App’x at 1006 (affirming denial of leave to amend for undue delay in part because plaintiff’s counsel had access to discovery in related cases and was previously aware of the proposed new defendants’ conduct).

OptumRx's Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to Malden City's geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson Decl. (0.0005% market share for Malden City). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Malden City to add dispensing claims against OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Express Scripts' Mail Order Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of prescription opioid units shipped to Malden City's geographic jurisdiction during 2009 to 2019. See DeCarlo Decl., Exhibit C (0.25% market share). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Malden City to add dispensing claims against Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy entities. See Section III.A.2, above.

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Massachusetts law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Malden City's delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs' ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Massachusetts law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Malden City, a municipality in Massachusetts, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Malden City’s proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Malden City filed its original complaint on March 27, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See City of Malden v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45487-DAP, ECF No. 1. It is therefore indisputable that Malden City knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend. Malden City’s RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO’s four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by “discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim” (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Malden City’s request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Public Nuisance Statute of Limitations. In Massachusetts, public-nuisance claims are subject to a three-year limitations period. Malden City’s public-nuisance claim against the PBMs is therefore time-barred because Malden City sought leave to amend its complaint on July 29, 2024—six years after filing its original complaint on March 27, 2018—and the proposed amendment does not relate back to the original filing for purposes of the applicable statute of limitations. See Zakora, 44 F.4th at 480 (“This court has repeatedly held that an amendment which adds a new party creates a new cause of action and there is no relation back to the original filing for purposes of limitations.” (cleaned up)).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Malden City, a municipality in Massachusetts, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester’s complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

460. Big Bend Community Based Care, Inc. et al. v. Purdue Pharma LP et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45493-DAP: Plaintiff Big Bend Community Based Care, Florida

Big Bend Community Based Care's untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. The Court previously dismissed Big Bend Community Based Care's case. Moreover, Big Bend Community Based Care failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Big Bend Community Based Care also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, failure to implement a litigation hold, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Big Bend Community Based Care's motion should be denied due to futility, as Big Bend Community Based Care does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its proposed public nuisance claim is barred by the statute of limitations, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Jurisdiction. This Court previously dismissed Big Bend Community Based Care's case on June 14, 2024. See Big Bend Community Based Care, Inc. et al. v. Purdue Pharma LP et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45493-DAP, ECF No. 44. "Following entry of final judgment, a party may not seek to amend their complaint without first moving to alter, set aside or vacate judgment pursuant to either Rule 59 or Rule 60 of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure." In re Ferro Corp. Derivative Litig., 511 F.3d 611, 624 (6th Cir. 2008) (citation omitted). Without such post-judgment relief, the "district court lacks power to grant a motion to amend the complaint" because there is no "live case or controversy before the district court." Id. (quoting Acevedo-Villalobos v. Hernandez, 22 F.3d 384, 389 (1st Cir. 1994)). Big Bend Community Based Care has neither moved for post-judgment relief nor met the heightened requirements for reopening a case. See Leisure Caviar, 616 F.3d at 617 ("A claimant who seeks to amend a complaint after losing the case must provide a compelling explanation to the district court for granting the motion."). Big Bend

Community Based Care has not offered any basis to reopen its case, so its motion for leave to amend must be denied. See id. (affirming denial of leave to amend after judgment, in part, because the plaintiff was previously on notice of the alleged “newly discovered evidence” offered in support of the motion).

Lack of Diligence. Big Bend Community Based Care was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Big Bend Community Based Care amended its complaint on March 16, 2019, after transfer to the MDL on April 23, 2018. See Big Bend Community Based Care, Inc. et al. v. Purdue Pharma LP et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45493-DAP, ECF No. 32. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Big Bend Community Based Care declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaint. See Section II.A.1, above. Big Bend Community Based Care’s deadline to amend was in 2019. Big Bend Community Based Care waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Big Bend Community Based Care’s lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order’s deadline because plaintiff “had all the information [she] needed” to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a “wait-and-see approach” instead of timely moving to amend).

Failure to Implement a Litigation Hold. Big Bend Community Based Care filed its original complaint on April 4, 2018. See Big Bend Community Based Care, Inc. et al. v. Purdue Pharma LP et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45493-DAP, ECF No. 1. Despite filing its case years ago, Big Bend Community Based Care never implemented a litigation hold and is instead purporting to rely on non-specific and unidentified document retention laws. See ECF No. 5687-1 (Date Litigation Hold Implemented: *(Never)). This is a plain violation of this Court's orders. ECF Nos. 232; 5455. Litigating Big Bend Community Based Care's case would force the parties and the Court to waste time and resources ascertaining the extent of Big Bend Community Based Care's document destruction and the appropriate sanctions—just as the parties were forced to do in the three PBM bellwethers that failed to implement litigation holds until 2024. The PBMs are prejudiced by Big Bend Community Based Care's disregard for its most basic discovery obligations as a litigant, compounded by the delay in seeking leave to amend, and Big Bend Community Based Care therefore lacks good cause for leave to amend its complaint. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28 (denying leave to amend in part because the passage of time resulted in significant prejudice due to the loss of documents or records); see also Section III.A.4, above.

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Florida law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Big Bend Community Based Care's delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs' ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Florida law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Big Bend Community Based Care, a hospital in Florida, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Big Bend Community Based Care's proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Big Bend Community Based Care filed its original complaint on April 4, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See Big Bend Community Based Care, Inc. et al. v. Purdue Pharma LP et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45493-DAP, ECF No. 1. It is therefore indisputable that Big Bend Community Based Care knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend. Big Bend Community Based Care’s RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO’s four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by “discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim” (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Big Bend Community Based Care’s request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Public Nuisance Statute of Limitations. In Florida, public-nuisance claims are subject to a four-year limitations period. Big Bend Community Based Care’s public-nuisance claim against the PBMs is therefore time-barred because Big Bend Community Based Care sought leave to amend its complaint on July 29, 2024—six years after filing its original complaint on April 4, 2018—and the proposed amendment does not relate back to the original filing for purposes of the applicable statute of limitations. See Zakora, 44 F.4th at 480 (“This court has repeatedly held that an amendment which adds a new party creates a new cause of action and there is no relation back to the original filing for purposes of limitations.” (cleaned up)).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Big Bend Community Based Care, a hospital in Florida, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester’s complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

461. Big Bend Community Based Care, Inc. et al. v. Purdue Pharma LP et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45493-DAP: Plaintiff Central Florida Behavioral Health Network, Florida

Central Florida Behavioral Health Network's untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. The Court previously dismissed Central Florida Behavioral Health Network's case. Moreover, Central Florida Behavioral Health Network failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Central Florida Behavioral Health Network also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, failure to implement a litigation hold, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Central Florida Behavioral Health Network's motion should be denied due to futility, as Central Florida Behavioral Health Network does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its proposed public nuisance claim is barred by the statute of limitations, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Jurisdiction. This Court previously dismissed Central Florida Behavioral Health Network's case on June 14, 2024. See Big Bend Community Based Care, Inc. et al. v. Purdue Pharma LP et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45493-DAP, ECF No. 44. "Following entry of final judgment, a party may not seek to amend their complaint without first moving to alter, set aside or vacate judgment pursuant to either Rule 59 or Rule 60 of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure." In re Ferro Corp., 511 F.3d at 624 (citation omitted). Without such post-judgment relief, the "district court lacks power to grant a motion to amend the complaint" because there is no "live case or controversy before the district court." Id. (quoting Acevedo-Villalobos, 22 F.3d at 389). Central Florida Behavioral Health Network has neither moved for post-judgment relief nor met the heightened requirements for reopening a case. See Leisure Caviar, 616 F.3d at 617 ("A claimant who seeks to amend a complaint after losing the case must provide a compelling explanation to the district court for granting the motion.”). Central Florida Behavioral Health Network has not offered any basis to reopen its case, so its motion for leave to amend must be denied. See id. (affirming denial of leave to amend after judgment, in part, because the plaintiff was previously on notice of the alleged “newly discovered evidence” offered in support of the motion).

Lack of Diligence. Central Florida Behavioral Health Network was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Central Florida Behavioral Health Network amended its complaint on March 16, 2019, after transfer to the MDL on April 27, 2018. See Big Bend Community Based Care, Inc. et al. v. Purdue Pharma LP et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45493-DAP, ECF No. 32. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Central Florida Behavioral Health Network declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaint. See Section II.A.1, above. Central Florida Behavioral Health Network’s deadline to amend was in 2019. Central Florida Behavioral Health Network waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Central Florida Behavioral Health Network’s lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order’s deadline because plaintiff “had all the information [she] needed” to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a “wait-and-see approach” instead of timely moving to amend).

Failure to Implement a Litigation Hold. Central Florida Behavioral Health Network filed its original complaint on April 4, 2018. See Big Bend Community Based Care, Inc. et al. v. Purdue Pharma LP et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45493-DAP, ECF No. 1. Despite filing its case years ago, Central Florida Behavioral Health Network never implemented a litigation hold and is instead purporting to rely on non-specific and unidentified document retention laws. See ECF No. 5687-1

(Date Litigation Hold Implemented: *(Never)). This is a plain violation of this Court's orders. ECF Nos. 232; 5455. Litigating Central Florida Behavioral Health Network's case would force the parties and the Court to waste time and resources ascertaining the extent of Central Florida Behavioral Health Network's document destruction and the appropriate sanctions—just as the parties were forced to do in the three PBM bellwethers that failed to implement litigation holds until 2024. The PBMs are prejudiced by Central Florida Behavioral Health Network's disregard for its most basic discovery obligations as a litigant, compounded by the delay in seeking leave to amend, and Central Florida Behavioral Health Network therefore lacks good cause for leave to amend its complaint. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28 (denying leave to amend in part because the passage of time resulted in significant prejudice due to the loss of documents or records); see also Section III.A.4, above.

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Florida law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Central Florida Behavioral Health Network's delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs' ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Florida law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Central Florida Behavioral Health Network, a hospital in Florida, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Central Florida Behavioral Health Network's proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Central Florida Behavioral Health Network filed its original complaint on April 4, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See Big Bend Community Based Care, Inc. et al. v. Purdue Pharma LP et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45493-DAP, ECF No. 1. It is therefore indisputable that Central Florida Behavioral Health Network knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend. Central Florida Behavioral Health Network’s RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO’s four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by “discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim” (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Central Florida Behavioral Health Network’s request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Public Nuisance Statute of Limitations. In Florida, public-nuisance claims are subject to a four-year limitations period. Central Florida Behavioral Health Network’s public-nuisance claim against the PBMs is therefore time-barred because Central Florida Behavioral Health Network sought leave to amend its complaint on July 29, 2024—six years after filing its original complaint on April 4, 2018—and the proposed amendment does not relate back to the original filing for purposes of the applicable statute of limitations. See Zakora, 44 F.4th at 480 (“This court has repeatedly held that an amendment which adds a new party creates a new cause of action and there is no relation back to the original filing for purposes of limitations.” (cleaned up)).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Central Florida Behavioral Health Network, a hospital in Florida, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester’s complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

462. Big Bend Community Based Care, Inc. et al. v. Purdue Pharma LP et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45493-DAP: Plaintiff Central Florida Cares Health System, Florida

Central Florida Cares Health System's untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. The Court previously dismissed Central Florida Cares Health System's case. Moreover, Central Florida Cares Health System failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Central Florida Cares Health System also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, failure to implement a litigation hold, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Central Florida Cares Health System's motion should be denied due to futility, as Central Florida Cares Health System does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its proposed public nuisance claim is barred by the statute of limitations, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Jurisdiction. This Court previously dismissed Central Florida Cares Health System's case on June 14, 2024. See Big Bend Community Based Care, Inc. et al. v. Purdue Pharma LP et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45493-DAP, ECF No. 44. "Following entry of final judgment, a party may not seek to amend their complaint without first moving to alter, set aside or vacate judgment pursuant to either Rule 59 or Rule 60 of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure." In re Ferro Corp., 511 F.3d at 624 (citation omitted). Without such post-judgment relief, the "district court lacks power to grant a motion to amend the complaint" because there is no "live case or controversy before the district court." Id. (quoting Acevedo-Villalobos, 22 F.3d at 389). Central Florida Cares Health System has neither moved for post-judgment relief nor met the heightened requirements for reopening a case. See Leisure Caviar, 616 F.3d at 617 ("A claimant who seeks to amend a complaint after losing the case must provide a compelling explanation to the district court for granting the motion."). Central Florida Cares Health System has not offered any basis to reopen its case, so its motion for leave to amend must be denied. See id. (affirming denial of leave to amend after judgment, in part, because the plaintiff was previously on notice of the alleged “newly discovered evidence” offered in support of the motion).

Lack of Diligence. Central Florida Cares Health System was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Central Florida Cares Health System amended its complaint on March 16, 2019, after transfer to the MDL on April 27, 2018. See Big Bend Community Based Care, Inc. et al. v. Purdue Pharma LP et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45493-DAP, ECF No. 32. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Central Florida Cares Health System declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaint. See Section II.A.1, above. Central Florida Cares Health System’s deadline to amend was in 2019. Central Florida Cares Health System waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Central Florida Cares Health System’s lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order’s deadline because plaintiff “had all the information [she] needed” to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a “wait-and-see approach” instead of timely moving to amend).

Failure to Implement a Litigation Hold. Central Florida Cares Health System filed its original complaint on April 4, 2018. See Big Bend Community Based Care, Inc. et al. v. Purdue Pharma LP et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45493-DAP, ECF No. 1. Despite filing its case years ago, Central Florida Cares Health System never implemented a litigation hold and is instead purporting to rely on non-specific and unidentified document retention laws. See ECF No. 5687-1 (Date Litigation Hold Implemented: *(Never)). This is a plain violation of this Court’s orders. ECF Nos.

232; 5455. Litigating Central Florida Cares Health System’s case would force the parties and the Court to waste time and resources ascertaining the extent of Central Florida Cares Health System’s document destruction and the appropriate sanctions—just as the parties were forced to do in the three PBM bellwethers that failed to implement litigation holds until 2024. The PBMs are prejudiced by Central Florida Cares Health System’s disregard for its most basic discovery obligations as a litigant, compounded by the delay in seeking leave to amend, and Central Florida Cares Health System therefore lacks good cause for leave to amend its complaint. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28 (denying leave to amend in part because the passage of time resulted in significant prejudice due to the loss of documents or records); see also Section III.A.4, above.

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Florida law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Central Florida Cares Health System’s delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs’ ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Florida law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Central Florida Cares Health System, a hospital in Florida, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Central Florida Cares Health System’s proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Central Florida Cares Health System filed its original complaint on April 4, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See Big Bend Community Based Care, Inc. et al. v. Purdue

Pharma LP et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45493-DAP, ECF No. 1. It is therefore indisputable that Central Florida Cares Health System knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend. Central Florida Cares Health System’s RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO’s four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by “discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim” (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Central Florida Cares Health System’s request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Public Nuisance Statute of Limitations. In Florida, public-nuisance claims are subject to a four-year limitations period. Central Florida Cares Health System’s public-nuisance claim against the PBMs is therefore time-barred because Central Florida Cares Health System sought leave to amend its complaint on July 29, 2024—six years after filing its original complaint on April 4, 2018—and the proposed amendment does not relate back to the original filing for purposes of the applicable statute of limitations. See Zakora, 44 F.4th at 480 (“This court has repeatedly held that an amendment which adds a new party creates a new cause of action and there is no relation back to the original filing for purposes of limitations.” (cleaned up)).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Central Florida Cares Health System, a hospital in Florida, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester’s complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

463. Big Bend Community Based Care, Inc. et al. v. Purdue Pharma LP et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45493-DAP: Plaintiff Lutheran Services Florida, Florida

Lutheran Services Florida’s untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. The Court previously dismissed Lutheran Services Florida’s case. Moreover, Lutheran Services Florida failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Lutheran Services Florida also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, failure to implement a litigation hold, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Lutheran Services Florida's motion should be denied due to futility, as Lutheran Services Florida does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its proposed public nuisance claim is barred by the statute of limitations, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Jurisdiction. This Court previously dismissed Lutheran Services Florida's case on June 14, 2024. See Big Bend Community Based Care, Inc. et al. v. Purdue Pharma LP et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45493-DAP, ECF No. 44. "Following entry of final judgment, a party may not seek to amend their complaint without first moving to alter, set aside or vacate judgment pursuant to either Rule 59 or Rule 60 of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure." In re Ferro Corp., 511 F.3d at 624 (citation omitted). Without such post-judgment relief, the "district court lacks power to grant a motion to amend the complaint" because there is no "live case or controversy before the district court." Id. (quoting Acevedo-Villalobos, 22 F.3d at 389). Lutheran Services Florida has neither moved for post-judgment relief nor met the heightened requirements for reopening a case. See Leisure Caviar, 616 F.3d at 617 ("A claimant who seeks to amend a complaint after losing the case must provide a compelling explanation to the district court for granting the motion."). Lutheran Services Florida has not offered any basis to reopen its case, so its motion for leave to amend must be denied. See id. (affirming denial of leave to amend after judgment, in part, because the plaintiff was previously on notice of the alleged "newly discovered evidence" offered in support of the motion).

Lack of Diligence. Lutheran Services Florida was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Lutheran Services Florida amended its complaint on March 16, 2019, after transfer to the MDL on April 27, 2018. See Big Bend Community Based Care, Inc. et al. v. Purdue Pharma LP et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45493-DAP, ECF No. 32. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Lutheran Services Florida declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaint. See Section II.A.1, above. Lutheran Services Florida’s deadline to amend was in 2019. Lutheran Services Florida waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Lutheran Services Florida’s lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order’s deadline because plaintiff “had all the information [she] needed” to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a “wait-and-see approach” instead of timely moving to amend).

Prior Notice as an Express Scripts Client. Lutheran Services Florida previously entered into a contract with Express Scripts for PBM services related to utilization management and formulary development. See Achter Decl., Exhibit A. That contract notified Lutheran Services Florida of the PBM services Express Scripts provides and Lutheran Services Florida began receiving those services on July 2, 2018. See id. Inasmuch as Lutheran Services Florida seeks to add claims against Express Scripts entities related to utilization management or formulary placement (see, e.g., Rochester Am. Compl. ¶¶ 733, 741, 786–816, 821–22, 845), Lutheran Services Florida knew or should have known of the alleged wrongful conduct six years before moving to amend. See Section III.A.3, above. Lutheran Services Florida’s delay in seeking leave to amend negates any finding of good cause for leave to amend. Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (denying motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order’s deadline because plaintiff “had all the information [she] needed” to bring claims before the deadline).

Failure to Implement a Litigation Hold. Lutheran Services Florida filed its original complaint on April 4, 2018. See Big Bend Community Based Care, Inc. et al. v. Purdue Pharma LP et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45493-DAP, ECF No. 1. Despite filing its case years ago, Lutheran Services Florida never implemented a litigation hold and is instead purporting to rely on non-specific and unidentified document retention laws. See ECF No. 5687-1 (Date Litigation Hold Implemented: *(Never)). This is a plain violation of this Court’s orders. ECF Nos. 232; 5455. Litigating Lutheran Services Florida’s case would force the parties and the Court to waste time and resources ascertaining the extent of Lutheran Services Florida’s document destruction and the appropriate sanctions—just as the parties were forced to do in the three PBM bellwethers that failed to implement litigation holds until 2024. The PBMs are prejudiced by Lutheran Services Florida’s disregard for its most basic discovery obligations as a litigant, compounded by the delay in seeking leave to amend, and Lutheran Services Florida therefore lacks good cause for leave to amend its complaint. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28 (denying leave to amend in part because the passage of time resulted in significant prejudice due to the loss of documents or records); see also Section III.A.4, above.

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Florida law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Lutheran Services Florida’s delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs’ ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Florida law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Lutheran Services Florida, a hospital in Florida, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Lutheran Services Florida’s proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Lutheran Services Florida filed its original complaint on April 4, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See Big Bend Community Based Care, Inc. et al. v. Purdue Pharma LP et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45493-DAP, ECF No. 1. It is therefore indisputable that Lutheran Services Florida knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend. Lutheran Services Florida’s RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO’s four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by “discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim” (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Lutheran Services Florida’s request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Public Nuisance Statute of Limitations. In Florida, public-nuisance claims are subject to a four-year limitations period. Lutheran Services Florida’s public-nuisance claim against the PBMs is therefore time-barred because Lutheran Services Florida sought leave to amend its complaint on July 29, 2024—six years after filing its original complaint on April 4, 2018—and the proposed amendment does not relate back to the original filing for purposes of the applicable statute of limitations. See Zakora, 44 F.4th at 480 (“This court has repeatedly held that an amendment which adds a new party creates a new cause of action and there is no relation back to the original filing for purposes of limitations.” (cleaned up)).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Lutheran Services Florida, a hospital in Florida, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester’s complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

464. Big Bend Community Based Care, Inc. et al. v. Purdue Pharma LP et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45493-DAP: Plaintiff Southeast Florida Behavioral Health Network, Florida

Southeast Florida Behavioral Health Network’s untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. The Court previously dismissed Southeast Florida Behavioral Health Network’s case. Moreover, Southeast Florida Behavioral Health Network failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Southeast Florida Behavioral Health Network also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, failure to implement a litigation hold, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Southeast Florida Behavioral Health Network’s motion should be denied due to futility, as Southeast Florida Behavioral Health Network does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its proposed public nuisance claim is barred by the statute of limitations, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Jurisdiction. This Court previously dismissed Southeast Florida Behavioral Health Network’s case on June 14, 2024. See Big Bend Community Based Care, Inc. et al. v. Purdue Pharma LP et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45493-DAP, ECF No. 44. “Following entry of final judgment, a party may not seek to amend their complaint without first moving to alter, set aside or vacate judgment pursuant to either Rule 59 or Rule 60 of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure.” In re Ferro Corp, 511 F.3d at 624 (citation omitted). Without such post-judgment relief, the “district court lacks power to grant a motion to amend the complaint” because there is no “live case or controversy before the district court.” Id. (quoting Acevedo-Villalobos, 22 F.3d at 389). Southeast Florida Behavioral Health Network has neither moved for post-judgment relief nor met the heightened requirements for reopening a case. See Leisure Caviar, 616 F.3d at 617 (“A claimant who seeks to amend a complaint after losing the case must provide a compelling explanation to the district court for granting the motion.”). Southeast Florida Behavioral Health Network has not offered any basis to reopen its case, so its motion for leave to amend must be denied. See id. (affirming denial of leave to amend after judgment, in part, because the plaintiff was previously on notice of the alleged “newly discovered evidence” offered in support of the motion).

Lack of Diligence. Southeast Florida Behavioral Health Network was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Southeast Florida Behavioral Health Network amended its complaint on March 16, 2019, after transfer to the MDL on April 27, 2018. See Big Bend Community Based Care, Inc. et al. v. Purdue Pharma LP et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45493-DAP, ECF No. 32. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Southeast Florida Behavioral Health Network declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaint. See Section II.A.1, above. Southeast Florida Behavioral Health Network’s deadline to amend was in 2019. Southeast Florida Behavioral Health Network waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Southeast Florida Behavioral Health Network’s lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order’s deadline because plaintiff “had all the information [she] needed” to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a “wait-and-see approach” instead of timely moving to amend).

Failure to Implement a Litigation Hold. Southeast Florida Behavioral Health Network filed its original complaint on April 4, 2018. See Big Bend Community Based Care, Inc. et al. v. Purdue Pharma LP et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45493-DAP, ECF No. 1. Despite filing its case years ago, Southeast Florida Behavioral Health Network never implemented a litigation hold and is instead purporting to rely on non-specific and unidentified document retention laws. See ECF No. 5687-1 (Date Litigation Hold Implemented: *(Never)). This is a plain violation of this Court’s orders. ECF Nos. 232; 5455. Litigating Southeast Florida Behavioral Health Network’s case would force the parties and the Court to waste time and resources ascertaining the extent of Southeast Florida Behavioral Health Network’s document destruction and the appropriate sanctions—just as the parties were forced to do in the three PBM bellwethers that failed to implement litigation holds until 2024. The PBMs are prejudiced by Southeast Florida Behavioral Health Network’s disregard for its most basic discovery obligations as a litigant, compounded by the delay in seeking leave to amend, and Southeast Florida Behavioral Health Network therefore lacks good cause for leave to amend its complaint. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28 (denying leave to amend in part because the passage of time resulted in significant prejudice due to the loss of documents or records); see also Section III.A.4, above.

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Florida law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Southeast Florida Behavioral Health Network’s delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs’ ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Florida law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Southeast Florida Behavioral Health Network, a hospital in Florida, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Southeast Florida Behavioral Health Network's proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Southeast Florida Behavioral Health Network filed its original complaint on April 4, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See Big Bend Community Based Care, Inc. et al. v. Purdue Pharma LP et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45493-DAP, ECF No. 1. It is therefore indisputable that Southeast Florida Behavioral Health Network knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend. Southeast Florida Behavioral Health Network's RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO's four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by "discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim" (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Southeast Florida Behavioral Health Network's request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Public Nuisance Statute of Limitations. In Florida, public-nuisance claims are subject to a four-year limitations period. Southeast Florida Behavioral Health Network's public-nuisance claim against the PBMs is therefore time-barred because Southeast Florida Behavioral Health Network sought leave to amend its complaint on July 29, 2024—six years after filing its original complaint on April 4, 2018—and the proposed amendment does not relate back to the original filing for purposes of the applicable statute of limitations. See Zakora, 44 F.4th at 480 (“This court has repeatedly held that an amendment which adds a new party creates a new cause of action and there is no relation back to the original filing for purposes of limitations.” (cleaned up)).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Southeast Florida Behavioral Health Network, a hospital in Florida, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester’s complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

465. Catoosa County, Georgia v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45497-DAP: Plaintiff Catoosa County, Georgia

Catoosa County’s untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Catoosa County failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Catoosa County also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, failure to implement a litigation hold, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Catoosa County’s motion should be denied due to futility, as Catoosa County does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Catoosa County was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Catoosa County amended its complaint on March 15, 2019, after transfer to the MDL on April 27, 2018. See Catoosa County, Georgia v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45497-DAP, ECF No. 35. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Catoosa County declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaint. See Section II.A.1, above. Catoosa County’s deadline to amend was in 2019. Catoosa County waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Catoosa County's lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order's deadline because plaintiff "had all the information [she] needed" to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a "wait-and-see approach" instead of timely moving to amend).

OptumRx's Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to Catoosa County's geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson Decl. (0.05% market share for Catoosa County). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Catoosa County to add dispensing claims against OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Express Scripts' Mail Order Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of prescription opioid units shipped to Catoosa County's geographic jurisdiction during 2009 to 2019. See DeCarlo Decl., Exhibit C (0.24% market share). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Catoosa County to add dispensing claims against Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy entities. See Section III.A.2, above.

Failure to Implement a Litigation Hold. Catoosa County filed its original complaint on April 10, 2018. See Catoosa County, Georgia v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45497-DAP, ECF No. 6. Despite filing its case years ago, Catoosa County never implemented a litigation hold and is instead purporting to rely on non-specific and unidentified document retention laws. See ECF No. 5687-1 (Date Litigation Hold Implemented: *(Never)). This is a plain violation of this Court's orders. ECF Nos. 232; 5455. Litigating Catoosa County's case would force the parties and the Court to waste time and resources ascertaining the extent of Catoosa County's document destruction and the appropriate sanctions—just as the parties were forced to do in the three PBM bellwethers that failed to implement litigation holds until 2024. The PBMs are prejudiced by Catoosa County's disregard for its most basic discovery obligations as a litigant, compounded by the delay in seeking leave to amend, and Catoosa County therefore lacks good cause for leave to amend its complaint. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28 (denying leave to amend in part because the passage of time resulted in significant prejudice due to the loss of documents or records); see also Section III.A.4, above.

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Georgia law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Catoosa County's delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs' ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Georgia law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Catoosa County, a municipality in Georgia, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Catoosa County's proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Catoosa County filed its original complaint on April 10, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See Catoosa County, Georgia v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45497-DAP, ECF

No. 6. It is therefore indisputable that Catoosa County knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend. Catoosa County's RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO's four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by "discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim" (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Catoosa County's request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Catoosa County, a municipality in Georgia, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester's complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

466. People of the State of Illinois et al. v. AmerisourceBergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45499-DAP: Plaintiff Effingham County, Illinois

Effingham County's untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Effingham County failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Effingham County also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Effingham County's motion should be denied due to futility, as Effingham County does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Effingham County was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Effingham County amended its complaint on March 14, 2019, after directly filing in the MDL. See People of the State of Illinois et al. v. AmerisourceBergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45499-DAP, ECF No. 3. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Effingham County declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaint. See Section II.A.1, above. Effingham County’s deadline to amend was in 2019. Effingham County waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Effingham County’s lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order’s deadline because plaintiff “had all the information [she] needed” to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a “wait-and-see approach” instead of timely moving to amend).

Prior Notice Through Counsel. Effingham County cannot meet the Rule 16 good cause standard because it is represented by the same counsel—Greene, Ketchum, Farrell, Bailey & Tweel, LLP; Powell & Majestro; Baron & Budd, P.C.; Levin, Papantonio, Thomas, Mitchell, Rafferty & Proctor, P.A.; and McHugh Fuller Law Group, PLLC—that filed claims against the PBMs in 2019. See MDL ECF No. 2582. Effingham County, through its counsel, was on notice of potential claims against the PBMs and could readily have amended its complaint to add the PBMs much earlier. Effingham County fails to explain why it was unable to assert claims against the PBMs in 2019 when its own attorneys were already asserting those claims on behalf of other clients. See, e.g., Duggins, 195 F.3d at 834 (affirming denial of leave to amend after the close of discovery when the “plaintiff was obviously aware of the basis of the claim for many months, especially since some underlying facts were made a part of the complaint”); Thurmond, 649 F. App’x at 1006 (affirming denial of leave to amend for undue delay in part because plaintiff’s counsel had access to discovery in related cases and was previously aware of the proposed new defendants’ conduct).

OptumRx's Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to Effingham County's geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson Decl. (0.04% market share for Effingham County). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Effingham County to add dispensing claims against OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Express Scripts' Mail Order Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of prescription opioid units shipped to Effingham County's geographic jurisdiction during 2009 to 2019. See DeCarlo Decl., Exhibit C (0.27% market share). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Effingham County to add dispensing claims against Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy entities. See Section III.A.2, above.

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Illinois law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Effingham County's delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs' ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Illinois law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Effingham County, a municipality in Illinois, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Effingham County’s proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Effingham County filed its original complaint on April 19, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See People of the State of Illinois et al. v. AmerisourceBergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45499-DAP, ECF No. 1. It is therefore indisputable that Effingham County knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend. Effingham County’s RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO’s four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by “discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim” (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Effingham County’s request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Effingham County, a municipality in Illinois, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester’s complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

467. Prince George’s County Maryland v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45501-DAP: Plaintiff Prince Georges County, Maryland

Prince Georges County’s untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Prince Georges County failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Prince Georges County also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, failure to timely implement a litigation hold, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Prince Georges County’s motion should be denied due to futility, as Prince Georges County does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its proposed public nuisance claim is barred by the statute of limitations, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Prince Georges County was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Prince Georges County amended its complaint on March 18, 2019, after transfer to the MDL on April 30, 2018. See Prince George’s County Maryland v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45501-DAP, ECF No. 36. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Prince Georges County declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaint. See Section II.A.1, above. Prince Georges County’s deadline to amend was in 2019. Prince Georges County waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Prince Georges County’s lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order’s deadline because plaintiff “had all the information [she] needed” to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a “wait-and-see approach” instead of timely moving to amend).

Prior Notice Through Counsel. Prince Georges County cannot meet the Rule 16 good cause standard because it is represented by the same counsel—Napoli Shkolnik, PLLC—that have been bringing claims against the PBMs since 2019. Prince Georges County—through its counsel—was on notice of potential claims against the PBMs and could readily have amended its complaint to add the PBMs much earlier. Prince Georges County fails to explain why it was unable to assert claims against the PBMs in 2019 when its own attorneys were already asserting those claims on behalf of other clients. See, e.g., Duggins, 195 F.3d at 834 (affirming denial of leave to amend after the close of discovery when the “plaintiff was obviously aware of the basis of the claim for many months, especially since some underlying facts were made a part of the complaint”); Thurmond, 649 F. App’x at 1006 (affirming denial of leave to amend for undue delay in part because plaintiff’s counsel had access to discovery in related cases and was previously aware of the proposed new defendants’ conduct).

OptumRx’s Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to Prince Georges County’s geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson Decl. (0.05% market share for Prince Georges County). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Prince Georges County to add dispensing claims against OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Express Scripts’ Mail Order Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. Express Scripts’ mail order pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of prescription opioid units shipped to Prince Georges County’s geographic jurisdiction during 2009 to 2019. See DeCarlo Decl., Exhibit C (0.41% market share). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Prince Georges County to add dispensing claims against Express Scripts’ mail order pharmacy entities. See Section III.A.2, above.

Prior Notice as an Express Scripts Client. Prince Georges County previously entered into a contract with Express Scripts for PBM services related to utilization management and formulary development. See Achter Decl., Exhibit A. That contract notified Prince Georges County of the PBM services Express Scripts provides and Prince Georges County began receiving those services on January 5, 2006. See id. Inasmuch as Prince Georges County seeks to add claims against Express Scripts entities related to utilization management or formulary placement (see, e.g., Rochester Am. Compl. ¶¶ 733, 741, 786–816, 821–22, 845), Prince Georges County knew or should have known of the alleged wrongful conduct more than ten years before moving to amend. See Section III.A.3, above. Prince Georges County’s delay in seeking leave to amend negates any finding of good cause for leave to amend. Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (denying motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order’s deadline because plaintiff “had all the information [she] needed” to bring claims before the deadline).

Failure to Timely Implement a Litigation Hold. Prince Georges County violated its basic duty to implement a timely litigation hold. Prince Georges County filed its original complaint on March 26, 2018, but waited until September 26, 2018 to implement a litigation hold—184 days later. See Prince George’s County Maryland v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45501-DAP, ECF No. 2; see also ECF No. 5687-1 (Date Litigation Hold Implemented: September 26, 2018). This is a plain violation of this Court’s orders. ECF Nos. 232; 5455. Litigating Prince Georges County’s case would force the parties and the Court to waste time and resources ascertaining the extent of Prince Georges County’s document destruction and the appropriate sanctions—just as the parties were forced to do in the three PBM bellwethers that failed to implement litigation holds until 2024. The PBMs are prejudiced by Prince Georges County’s disregard for its most basic discovery obligations as a litigant, compounded by the delay in seeking leave to amend, and Prince Georges County therefore lacks good cause for leave to amend its complaint. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28 (denying leave to amend in part because the passage of time resulted in significant prejudice due to the loss of documents or records); see also Section III.A.4, above.

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Maryland law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Prince Georges County’s delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs' ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Maryland law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Prince Georges County, a municipality in Maryland, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Prince Georges County's proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Prince Georges County filed its original complaint on March 26, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See Prince George's County Maryland v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45501-DAP, ECF No. 2. It is therefore indisputable that Prince Georges County knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend. Prince Georges County's RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO's four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by "discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim" (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Prince Georges County's request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Public Nuisance Statute of Limitations. In Maryland, public-nuisance claims are subject to a three-year limitations period. Prince Georges County's public-nuisance claim against the PBMs is therefore time-barred because Prince Georges County sought leave to amend its complaint on July 29, 2024—six years after filing its original complaint on March 26, 2018—and the proposed amendment does not relate back to the original filing for purposes of the applicable statute of limitations. See Zakora, 44 F.4th at 480 (“This court has repeatedly held that an amendment which adds a new party creates a new cause of action and there is no relation back to the original filing for purposes of limitations.” (cleaned up)).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Prince Georges County, a municipality in Maryland, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester’s complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

468. Lac du Flambeau Band of Chippewa Indians v. McKesson Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45502-DAP: Plaintiff Lac du Flambeau Band of Chippewa Indians, Wisconsin

Lac du Flambeau Band of Chippewa Indians’ untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Lac du Flambeau Band of Chippewa Indians failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Lac du Flambeau Band of Chippewa Indians also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, failure to implement a litigation hold, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Lac du Flambeau Band of Chippewa Indians’ motion should be denied due to futility, as Lac du Flambeau Band of Chippewa Indians does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Lac du Flambeau Band of Chippewa Indians was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Lac du Flambeau Band of Chippewa Indians amended its complaint on August 12, 2019, after transfer to the MDL on April 30, 2018. See Lac du Flambeau Band of Chippewa Indians v. McKesson Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45502-DAP, ECF

No. 33. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Lac du Flambeau Band of Chippewa Indians declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaint. See Section II.A.1, above. Lac du Flambeau Band of Chippewa Indians’ deadline to amend was in 2019. Lac du Flambeau Band of Chippewa Indians waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Lac du Flambeau Band of Chippewa Indians’ lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order’s deadline because plaintiff “had all the information [she] needed” to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a “wait-and-see approach” instead of timely moving to amend).

Express Scripts’ Mail Order Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. Express Scripts’ mail order pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of prescription opioid units shipped to Lac du Flambeau Band of Chippewa Indians’ geographic jurisdiction during 2009 to 2019. See DeCarlo Decl., Exhibit C (0.05% market share). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Lac du Flambeau Band of Chippewa Indians to add dispensing claims against Express Scripts’ mail order pharmacy entities. See Section III.A.2, above.

Failure to Implement a Litigation Hold. Lac du Flambeau Band of Chippewa Indians filed its original complaint on March 30, 2018. See Lac du Flambeau Band of Chippewa Indians v. McKesson Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45502-DAP, ECF No. 1. Despite filing its case years ago, Lac du Flambeau Band of Chippewa Indians never implemented a litigation hold, in violation of this Court’s orders (ECF Nos. 232; 5455). See ECF No. 5687-1 (Date Litigation Hold Implemented: Never). Litigating Lac du Flambeau Band of Chippewa Indians’ case would force the parties and the Court to waste time and resources ascertaining the extent of Lac du Flambeau Band of Chippewa Indians' document destruction and the appropriate sanctions—just as the parties were forced to do in the three PBM bellwethers that failed to implement litigation holds until 2024. The PBMs are prejudiced by Lac du Flambeau Band of Chippewa Indians' disregard for its most basic discovery obligations as a litigant, compounded by the delay in seeking leave to amend, and Lac du Flambeau Band of Chippewa Indians therefore lacks good cause for leave to amend its complaint. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28 (denying leave to amend in part because the passage of time resulted in significant prejudice due to the loss of documents or records); see also Section III.A.4, above.

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Wisconsin law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Lac du Flambeau Band of Chippewa Indians' delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs' ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Wisconsin law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Lac du Flambeau Band of Chippewa Indians, a native tribe in Wisconsin, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Lac du Flambeau Band of Chippewa Indians' proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Lac du Flambeau Band of Chippewa Indians filed its original complaint on March 30, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See Lac du Flambeau Band of Chippewa Indians v. McKesson Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45502-DAP, ECF No. 1. It is therefore indisputable that Lac du Flambeau Band of Chippewa Indians knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend. Lac du Flambeau Band of Chippewa Indians' RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO's four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by "discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim" (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Lac du Flambeau Band of Chippewa Indians' request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Lac du Flambeau Band of Chippewa Indians, a native tribe in Wisconsin, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester's complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

469. DeKalb County, Georgia v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45503-DAP: Plaintiff DeKalb County, Georgia

DeKalb County's untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. DeKalb County failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. DeKalb County also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, DeKalb County's motion should be denied due to futility, as DeKalb County does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. DeKalb County was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, DeKalb County amended its complaint on March 15, 2019, after transfer to the MDL on April 30, 2018 See DeKalb County, Georgia v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45503-DAP, ECF No. 14. Unlike many other plaintiffs, DeKalb County declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaint. See Section II.A.1, above. DeKalb County’s deadline to amend was in 2019. DeKalb County waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. DeKalb County’s lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order’s deadline because plaintiff “had all the information [she] needed” to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a “wait-and-see approach” instead of timely moving to amend).

Prior Notice Through Counsel. DeKalb County cannot meet the Rule 16 good cause standard because it is represented by the same counsel—Napoli Shkolnik, PLLC—that have been bringing claims against the PBMs since 2019. DeKalb County—through its counsel—was on notice of potential claims against the PBMs and could readily have amended its complaint to add the PBMs much earlier. DeKalb County fails to explain why it was unable to assert claims against the PBMs in 2019 when its own attorneys were already asserting those claims on behalf of other clients. See, e.g., Duggins, 195 F.3d at 834 (affirming denial of leave to amend after the close of discovery when the “plaintiff was obviously aware of the basis of the claim for many months, especially since some underlying facts were made a part of the complaint”); Thurmond, 649 F. App’x at 1006 (affirming denial of leave to amend for undue delay in part because plaintiff’s counsel had access to discovery in related cases and was previously aware of the proposed new defendants’ conduct).

OptumRx's Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to DeKalb County's geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson Decl. (0.06% market share for DeKalb County). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for DeKalb County to add dispensing claims against OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Express Scripts' Mail Order Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of prescription opioid units shipped to DeKalb County's geographic jurisdiction during 2009 to 2019. See DeCarlo Decl., Exhibit C (0.24% market share). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for DeKalb County to add dispensing claims against Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy entities. See Section III.A.2, above.

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Georgia law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But DeKalb County's delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs' ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Georgia law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. DeKalb County, a municipality in Georgia, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

Plaintiff Filed a Separate PBM Case. DeKalb County previously filed an opioid case outside the MDL against the PBMs on March 21, 2023. See City of Atlanta et al. v. Mylan Pharms., Inc. et al., Case No. 1:23-cv-01193 (N.D. Ga.), ECF No. 1. DeKalb County also voluntarily dismissed its claims against the PBMs in that case. Id., ECF Nos. 147, 148, 150, 151. By suing the PBMs outside the MDL in 2023, DeKalb County shows that it possessed facts to assert claims against the PBMs before it moved to amend in the MDL, precluding a showing of good cause here. See Profitt, 2024 WL 3622448, at *4 (affirming denial of leave to amend where plaintiff previously possessed documents showing underlying factual basis for proposed claim).

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for DeKalb County's proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. DeKalb County filed its original complaint on April 6, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See DeKalb County, Georgia v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45503-DAP, ECF No. 1. It is therefore indisputable that DeKalb County knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend. DeKalb County's RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO's four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by "discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim" (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. DeKalb County's request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. DeKalb County, a municipality in Georgia, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester's complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

470. County of Wilcox, Georgia v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45506-DAP: Plaintiff Wilcox County, Georgia

Wilcox County's untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Wilcox County failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Wilcox County also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, failure to implement a litigation hold, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Wilcox County's motion should be denied due to futility, as Wilcox County does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Wilcox County was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Wilcox County amended its complaint on March 15, 2019, after directly filing in the MDL. See County of Wilcox, Georgia v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45506-DAP, ECF No. 2. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Wilcox County declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaint. See Section II.A.1, above. Wilcox County's deadline to amend was in 2019. Wilcox County waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Wilcox County's lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order's deadline because plaintiff "had all the information [she] needed" to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a "wait-and-see approach" instead of timely moving to amend).

OptumRx's Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to Wilcox County's geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson

Decl. (0.14% market share for Wilcox County). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Wilcox County to add dispensing claims against OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Failure to Implement a Litigation Hold. Wilcox County filed its original complaint on April 27, 2018. See County of Wilcox, Georgia v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45506-DAP, ECF No. 1. Despite filing its case years ago, Wilcox County never implemented a litigation hold, in violation of this Court's orders (ECF Nos. 232; 5455). See ECF No. 5687-1 (Date Litigation Hold Implemented: Never). Litigating Wilcox County's case would force the parties and the Court to waste time and resources ascertaining the extent of Wilcox County's document destruction and the appropriate sanctions—just as the parties were forced to do in the three PBM bellwethers that failed to implement litigation holds until 2024. The PBMs are prejudiced by Wilcox County's disregard for its most basic discovery obligations as a litigant, compounded by the delay in seeking leave to amend, and Wilcox County therefore lacks good cause for leave to amend its complaint. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28 (denying leave to amend in part because the passage of time resulted in significant prejudice due to the loss of documents or records); see also Section III.A.4, above.

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Georgia law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Wilcox County's delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs' ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Georgia law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Wilcox County, a municipality in Georgia, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Wilcox County's proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Wilcox County filed its original complaint on April 27, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See County of Wilcox, Georgia v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45506-DAP, ECF No. 1. It is therefore indisputable that Wilcox County knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend. Wilcox County's RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO's four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by "discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim" (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Wilcox County's request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Wilcox County, a municipality in Georgia, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester's complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

471. City of Hattiesburg, Mississippi v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45512-DAP: Plaintiff Hattiesburg City, Mississippi

Hattiesburg City's untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Hattiesburg City failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Hattiesburg City also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, failure to implement a litigation hold, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Hattiesburg City’s motion should be denied due to futility, as Hattiesburg City does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Hattiesburg City was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Hattiesburg City amended its complaint on March 7, 2019, after transfer to the MDL on April 30, 2018. See City of Hattiesburg, Mississippi v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45512-DAP, ECF No. 8. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Hattiesburg City declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaint. See Section II.A.1, above. Hattiesburg City’s deadline to amend was in 2019. Hattiesburg City waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Hattiesburg City’s lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order’s deadline because plaintiff “had all the information [she] needed” to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a “wait-and-see approach” instead of timely moving to amend).

Prior Notice Through Counsel. Hattiesburg City cannot meet the Rule 16 good cause standard because it is represented by the same counsel—McHugh Fuller Law Group, PLLC—that filed claims against the PBMs in 2019. See MDL ECF No. 2582. Hattiesburg City, through its counsel, was on notice of potential claims against the PBMs and could readily have amended its complaint to add the PBMs much earlier. Hattiesburg City fails to explain why it was unable to assert claims against the PBMs in 2019 when its own attorneys were already asserting those claims on behalf of other clients. See, e.g., Duggins, 195 F.3d at 834 (affirming denial of leave to amend after the close of discovery when the “plaintiff was obviously aware of the basis of the claim for many months, especially since some underlying facts were made a part of the complaint”); Thurmond, 649 F. App’x at 1006 (affirming denial of leave to amend for undue delay in part because plaintiff’s counsel had access to discovery in related cases and was previously aware of the proposed new defendants’ conduct).

OptumRx’s Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to Hattiesburg City’s geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson Decl. (0.02% market share for Hattiesburg City). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Hattiesburg City to add dispensing claims against OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Express Scripts’ Mail Order Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. Express Scripts’ mail order pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of prescription opioid units shipped to Hattiesburg City’s geographic jurisdiction during 2009 to 2019. See DeCarlo Decl., Exhibit C (0.13% market share). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Hattiesburg City to add dispensing claims against Express Scripts’ mail order pharmacy entities. See Section III.A.2, above.

Failure to Implement a Litigation Hold. Hattiesburg City filed its original complaint on April 17, 2018. See City of Hattiesburg, Mississippi v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45512-DAP, ECF No. 1. Despite filing its case years ago, Hattiesburg City never implemented a litigation hold, in violation of this Court’s orders (ECF Nos. 232; 5455). See ECF No. 5687-1 (Date Litigation Hold Implemented: Never). Litigating Hattiesburg City’s case would force the parties and the Court to waste time and resources ascertaining the extent of Hattiesburg City’s document destruction and the appropriate sanctions—just as the parties were forced to do in the three PBM bellwethers that failed to implement litigation holds until 2024. The PBMs are prejudiced by Hattiesburg City’s disregard for its most basic discovery obligations as a litigant, compounded by the delay in seeking leave to amend, and Hattiesburg City therefore lacks good cause for leave to amend its complaint. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28 (denying leave to amend in part because the passage of time resulted in significant prejudice due to the loss of documents or records); see also Section III.A.4, above.

Failure to Prosecute. In its Plaintiff Fact Sheet, Hattiesburg City failed to provide complete answers to Questions I.B.8 and I.B.9, relating to Hattiesburg City’s health plans, carriers, third party administrators, and pharmacy benefit managers throughout the relevant time period. The PBMs notified Hattiesburg City of this deficiency on September 16, 2024 (see Exhibit B), but Hattiesburg City refused to amend or supplement its Fact Sheet. Under this Court’s orders, Hattiesburg City’s case is therefore subject to “dismiss[al] with prejudice” for failure to prosecute. ECF No. 4985 at 1 (emphasis in original); see Section III.A.5, above. Hattiesburg City’s refusal to provide basic information related to its health care plans prejudices the PBMs’ ability to defend against Hattiesburg City’s potential claims against them. Hattiesburg City’s failure to diligently prosecute its case, coupled with the prejudice against the PBMs, negates any finding of good cause and leave to amend should be denied. See Final Amendment Order, ECF No. 5455 at 2 (directing counsel to dismiss, not seek leave to amend, in any case that “plaintiffs’ counsel does not intend to zealously pursue in litigation”); Range, 2017 WL 9477693, at *4 n.6 (denying motion for leave to amend as moot because claims were dismissed for failure to prosecute).

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Mississippi law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Hattiesburg City’s delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs’ ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Mississippi law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Hattiesburg City, a municipality in Mississippi, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Hattiesburg City’s proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Hattiesburg City filed its original complaint on April 18, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See City of Hattiesburg, Mississippi v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45512-DAP, ECF No. 1. It is therefore indisputable that Hattiesburg City knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend. Hattiesburg City’s RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO’s four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by “discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim” (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Hattiesburg City’s request for leave to amend to add a

RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Hattiesburg City, a municipality in Mississippi, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester's complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

472. City of Sarasota v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45513-DAP: Plaintiff Sarasota City, Florida

Sarasota City's untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Sarasota City failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Sarasota City also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, failure to implement a litigation hold, failure to submit a plaintiff fact sheet, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Sarasota City's motion should be denied due to futility, as Sarasota City does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its proposed public nuisance claim is barred by the statute of limitations, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Sarasota City was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Sarasota City amended its complaint on March 14, 2019, after transfer to the MDL on May 1, 2018. See City of Sarasota v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45513-DAP, ECF No. 9. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Sarasota City declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaint. See Section II.A.1, above. Sarasota City's deadline to amend was in 2019. Sarasota City waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Sarasota City's lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order's deadline because plaintiff "had all the information [she] needed" to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a "wait-and-see approach" instead of timely moving to amend).

OptumRx's Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to Sarasota City's geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson Decl. (0.41% market share for Sarasota City). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Sarasota City to add dispensing claims against OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Failure to Implement a Litigation Hold. Sarasota City filed its original complaint on April 11, 2018. See City of Sarasota v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45513-DAP, ECF No. 1. Despite filing its case years ago, Sarasota City never implemented a litigation hold and is instead purporting to rely on non-specific and unidentified document retention laws. See ECF No. 5687-1 (Date Litigation Hold Implemented: *(Never)). This is a plain violation of this Court's orders. ECF Nos. 232; 5455. Litigating Sarasota City's case would force the parties and the Court to waste time and resources ascertaining the extent of Sarasota City's document destruction and the appropriate sanctions—just as the parties were forced to do in the three PBM bellwethers that failed to implement litigation holds until 2024. The PBMs are prejudiced by Sarasota City's disregard for its most basic discovery obligations as a litigant, compounded by the delay in seeking leave to amend, and Sarasota City therefore lacks good cause for leave to amend its complaint. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28 (denying leave to amend in part because the passage of time resulted in significant prejudice due to the loss of documents or records); see also Section III.A.4, above.

Failure to Prosecute. Despite the Court’s repeated instructions to the contrary, Sarasota City has never served a Plaintiff Fact Sheet. Sarasota City’s case is therefore subject to “dismiss[al] with prejudice” for failure to prosecute. ECF No. 4985 at 1 (emphasis in original); see Section III.A.5, above. Sarasota City’s failure to diligently prosecute its case negates any finding of good cause and leave to amend should be denied. See Final Amendment Order, ECF No. 5455 at 2 (directing counsel to dismiss, not seek leave to amend, in any case that “plaintiffs’ counsel does not intend to zealously pursue in litigation”); Range, 2017 WL 9477693, at *4 n.6 (denying motion for leave to amend as moot because claims were dismissed for failure to prosecute).

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Florida law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Sarasota City’s delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs’ ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Florida law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Sarasota City, a municipality in Florida, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Sarasota City’s proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Sarasota City filed its original complaint on April 11, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See City of Sarasota v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45513-DAP, ECF No. 1. It is therefore indisputable that Sarasota City knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend. Sarasota City's RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO's four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by "discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim" (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Sarasota City's request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Public Nuisance Statute of Limitations. In Florida, public-nuisance claims are subject to a four-year limitations period. Sarasota City's public-nuisance claim against the PBMs is therefore time-barred because Sarasota City sought leave to amend its complaint on July 29, 2024—six years after filing its original complaint on April 11, 2018—and the proposed amendment does not relate back to the original filing for purposes of the applicable statute of limitations. See Zakora, 44 F.4th at 480 ("This court has repeatedly held that an amendment which adds a new party creates a new cause of action and there is no relation back to the original filing for purposes of limitations." (cleaned up)).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Sarasota City, a municipality in Florida, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester's complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

473. City of Lowell v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45514-DAP: Plaintiff Lowell City, Massachusetts

Lowell City's untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Lowell City failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Lowell City also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, failure to implement a litigation hold, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Lowell City's motion should be denied due to futility, as Lowell City does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its proposed public nuisance claim is barred by the statute of limitations, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Lowell City was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Lowell City amended its complaint on March 6, 2019, after transfer to the MDL on May 1, 2018. See City of Lowell v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45514-DAP, ECF No. 9. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Lowell City declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaint. See Section II.A.1, above. Lowell City's deadline to amend was in 2019. Lowell City waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Lowell City's lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order's deadline because plaintiff "had all the information [she] needed" to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a "wait-and-see approach" instead of timely moving to amend).

Prior Notice Through Counsel. Lowell City cannot meet the Rule 16 good cause standard because it is represented by the same counsel—Greene, Ketchum, Farrell, Bailey & Tweel, LLP; Powell & Majestro; Baron & Budd, P.C.; Levin, Papantonio, Thomas, Mitchell, Rafferty & Proctor, P.A.; and McHugh Fuller Law Group, PLLC—that filed claims against the PBMs in 2019. See MDL ECF No. 2582. Lowell City, through its counsel, was on notice of potential claims against the PBMs and could readily have amended its complaint to add the PBMs much earlier.

Lowell City fails to explain why it was unable to assert claims against the PBMs in 2019 when its own attorneys were already asserting those claims on behalf of other clients. See, e.g., Duggins, 195 F.3d at 834 (affirming denial of leave to amend after the close of discovery when the “plaintiff was obviously aware of the basis of the claim for many months, especially since some underlying facts were made a part of the complaint”); Thurmond, 649 F. App’x at 1006 (affirming denial of leave to amend for undue delay in part because plaintiff’s counsel had access to discovery in related cases and was previously aware of the proposed new defendants’ conduct).

OptumRx’s Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to Lowell City’s geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson Decl. (0.005% market share for Lowell City). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Lowell City to add dispensing claims against OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Express Scripts’ Mail Order Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. Express Scripts’ mail order pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of prescription opioid units shipped to Lowell City’s geographic jurisdiction during 2009 to 2019. See DeCarlo Decl., Exhibit C (0.09% market share). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Lowell City to add dispensing claims against Express Scripts’ mail order pharmacy entities. See Section III.A.2, above.

Failure to Implement a Litigation Hold. Lowell City filed its original complaint on April 16, 2018. See City of Lowell v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45514-DAP, ECF No. 1. Despite filing its case years ago, Lowell City never implemented a litigation hold and is instead purporting to rely on non-specific and unidentified document retention laws. See ECF No. 5687-1 (Date Litigation Hold Implemented: *(Never)). This is a plain violation of this Court's orders. ECF Nos. 232; 5455. Litigating Lowell City's case would force the parties and the Court to waste time and resources ascertaining the extent of Lowell City's document destruction and the appropriate sanctions—just as the parties were forced to do in the three PBM bellwethers that failed to implement litigation holds until 2024. The PBMs are prejudiced by Lowell City's disregard for its most basic discovery obligations as a litigant, compounded by the delay in seeking leave to amend, and Lowell City therefore lacks good cause for leave to amend its complaint. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28 (denying leave to amend in part because the passage of time resulted in significant prejudice due to the loss of documents or records); see also Section III.A.4, above.

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Massachusetts law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Lowell City's delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs' ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Massachusetts law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Lowell City, a municipality in Massachusetts, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Lowell City's proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Lowell City filed its original complaint on April 16, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See City of Lowell v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45514-DAP, ECF No.

1. It is therefore indisputable that Lowell City knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend. Lowell City's RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO's four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by "discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim" (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Lowell City's request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Public Nuisance Statute of Limitations. In Massachusetts, public-nuisance claims are subject to a three-year limitations period. Lowell City's public-nuisance claim against the PBMs is therefore time-barred because Lowell City sought leave to amend its complaint on July 29, 2024—six years after filing its original complaint on April 16, 2018—and the proposed amendment does not relate back to the original filing for purposes of the applicable statute of limitations. See Zakora, 44 F.4th at 480 ("This court has repeatedly held that an amendment which adds a new party creates a new cause of action and there is no relation back to the original filing for purposes of limitations." (cleaned up)).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Lowell City, a municipality in Massachusetts, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester's complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

474. Town of East Greenwich v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45515-DAP: Plaintiff East Greenwich Town, Rhode Island

East Greenwich Town's untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. East Greenwich Town failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. East Greenwich Town also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, East Greenwich Town’s motion should be denied due to futility, as East Greenwich Town does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. East Greenwich Town was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, East Greenwich Town amended its complaint on March 7, 2019, after transfer to the MDL on May 1, 2018. See Town of East Greenwich v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45515-DAP, ECF No. 17. Unlike many other plaintiffs, East Greenwich Town declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaint. See Section II.A.1, above. East Greenwich Town’s deadline to amend was in 2019. East Greenwich Town waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. East Greenwich Town’s lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order’s deadline because plaintiff “had all the information [she] needed” to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a “wait-and-see approach” instead of timely moving to amend).

Prior Notice Through Counsel. East Greenwich Town cannot meet the Rule 16 good cause standard because it is represented by the same counsel—Levin, Papantonio, Thomas, Mitchell, Rafferty & Proctor, P.A.—that filed claims against the PBMs in 2019. See MDL ECF No. 2582. East Greenwich Town, through its counsel, was on notice of potential claims against the PBMs and could readily have amended its complaint to add the PBMs much earlier. East Greenwich Town fails to explain why it was unable to assert claims against the PBMs in 2019 when its own attorneys were already asserting those claims on behalf of other clients. See, e.g., Duggins, 195 F.3d at 834 (affirming denial of leave to amend after the close of discovery when the “plaintiff was obviously aware of the basis of the claim for many months, especially since some underlying facts were made a part of the complaint”); Thurmond, 649 F. App’x at 1006 (affirming denial of leave to amend for undue delay in part because plaintiff’s counsel had access to discovery in related cases and was previously aware of the proposed new defendants’ conduct).

OptumRx’s Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to East Greenwich Town’s geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson Decl. (0.04% market share for East Greenwich Town). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for East Greenwich Town to add dispensing claims against OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Express Scripts’ Mail Order Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. Express Scripts’ mail order pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of prescription opioid units shipped to East Greenwich Town’s geographic jurisdiction during 2009 to 2019. See DeCarlo Decl., Exhibit C (0.06% market share). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for East Greenwich Town to add dispensing claims against Express Scripts’ mail order pharmacy entities. See Section III.A.2, above.

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Rhode Island law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But East Greenwich Town’s delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs’ ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Rhode Island law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. East Greenwich Town, a municipality in Rhode Island, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for East Greenwich Town's proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. East Greenwich Town filed its original complaint on April 16, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See Town of East Greenwich v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45515-DAP, ECF No. 1. It is therefore indisputable that East Greenwich Town knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend. East Greenwich Town's RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO's four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by "discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim" (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. East Greenwich Town's request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. East Greenwich Town, a municipality in Rhode Island, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester's complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

475. City of Sandy Springs, Georgia v. AmerisourceBergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45516-DAP: Plaintiff Sandy Springs City, Georgia

Sandy Springs City’s untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Sandy Springs City failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Sandy Springs City also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, failure to implement a litigation hold, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Sandy Springs City’s motion should be denied due to futility, as Sandy Springs City does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Sandy Springs City was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Sandy Springs City amended its complaint on March 15, 2019, after directly filing in the MDL. See City of Sandy Springs, Georgia v. AmerisourceBergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45516-DAP, ECF No. 4. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Sandy Springs City declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaint. See Section II.A.1, above. Sandy Springs City’s deadline to amend was in 2019. Sandy Springs City waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Sandy Springs City’s lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order’s deadline because plaintiff “had all the information [she] needed” to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a “wait-and-see approach” instead of timely moving to amend).

OptumRx's Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to Sandy Springs City's geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson Decl. (0.01% market share for Sandy Springs City). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Sandy Springs City to add dispensing claims against OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Express Scripts' Mail Order Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of prescription opioid units shipped to Sandy Springs City's geographic jurisdiction during 2009 to 2019. See DeCarlo Decl., Exhibit C (0.25% market share). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Sandy Springs City to add dispensing claims against Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy entities. See Section III.A.2, above.

Failure to Implement a Litigation Hold. Sandy Springs City filed its original complaint on May 1, 2018. See City of Sandy Springs, Georgia v. AmerisourceBergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45516-DAP, ECF No. 1. Despite filing its case years ago, Sandy Springs City never implemented a litigation hold, in violation of this Court's orders (ECF Nos. 232; 5455). See ECF No. 5687-1 (Date Litigation Hold Implemented: Never). Litigating Sandy Springs City's case would force the parties and the Court to waste time and resources ascertaining the extent of Sandy Springs City's document destruction and the appropriate sanctions—just as the parties were forced to do in the three PBM bellwethers that failed to implement litigation holds until 2024. The PBMs are prejudiced by Sandy Springs City's disregard for its most basic discovery obligations as a litigant, compounded by the delay in seeking leave to amend, and Sandy Springs City therefore lacks good cause for leave to amend its complaint. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28 (denying leave to amend in part because the passage of time resulted in significant prejudice due to the loss of documents or records); see also Section III.A.4, above.

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Georgia law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Sandy Springs City’s delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs’ ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Georgia law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Sandy Springs City, a municipality in Georgia, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Sandy Springs City’s proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Sandy Springs City filed its original complaint on May 1, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See City of Sandy Springs, Georgia v. AmerisourceBergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45516-DAP, ECF No. 1. It is therefore indisputable that Sandy Springs City knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend. Sandy Springs City’s RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO’s four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by “discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim” (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Sandy Springs City’s request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Sandy Springs City, a municipality in Georgia, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester's complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

476. City of Clarksville, Tennessee v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45517-DAP: Plaintiff Clarksville City, Tennessee

Clarksville City's untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Clarksville City failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Clarksville City also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, failure to implement a litigation hold, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Clarksville City's motion should be denied due to futility, as Clarksville City does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Clarksville City was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Clarksville City amended its complaint on March 15, 2019, after directly filing in the MDL. See City of Clarksville, Tennessee v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45517-DAP, ECF No. 3. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Clarksville City declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaint. See Section II.A.1, above. Clarksville City's deadline to amend was in 2019. Clarksville City waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Clarksville City's lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order’s deadline because plaintiff “had all the information [she] needed” to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a “wait-and-see approach” instead of timely moving to amend).

OptumRx’s Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to Clarksville City’s geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson Decl. (0.01% market share for Clarksville City). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Clarksville City to add dispensing claims against OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Express Scripts’ Mail Order Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. Express Scripts’ mail order pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of prescription opioid units shipped to Clarksville City’s geographic jurisdiction during 2009 to 2019. See DeCarlo Decl., Exhibit C (0.14% market share). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Clarksville City to add dispensing claims against Express Scripts’ mail order pharmacy entities. See Section III.A.2, above.

Prior Notice as an Express Scripts Client. Clarksville City previously entered into a contract with Express Scripts for PBM services related to utilization management and formulary development. See Achter Decl., Exhibit A. That contract notified Clarksville City of the PBM services Express Scripts provides and Clarksville City began receiving those services on January 2, 2009. See id. Inasmuch as Clarksville City seeks to add claims against Express Scripts entities related to utilization management or formulary placement (see, e.g., Rochester Am. Compl. ¶¶ 733, 741, 786–816, 821–22, 845), Clarksville City knew or should have known of the alleged wrongful conduct more than ten years before moving to amend. See Section III.A.3, above. Clarksville City’s delay in seeking leave to amend negates any finding of good cause for leave to amend. Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (denying motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order’s deadline because plaintiff “had all the information [she] needed” to bring claims before the deadline).

Failure to Implement a Litigation Hold. Clarksville City filed its original complaint on May 1, 2018. See City of Clarksville, Tennessee v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45517-DAP, ECF No. 1. Despite filing its case years ago, Clarksville City never implemented a litigation hold, in violation of this Court’s orders (ECF Nos. 232; 5455). See ECF No. 5687-1 (Date Litigation Hold Implemented: Never). Litigating Clarksville City’s case would force the parties and the Court to waste time and resources ascertaining the extent of Clarksville City’s document destruction and the appropriate sanctions—just as the parties were forced to do in the three PBM bellwethers that failed to implement litigation holds until 2024. The PBMs are prejudiced by Clarksville City’s disregard for its most basic discovery obligations as a litigant, compounded by the delay in seeking leave to amend, and Clarksville City therefore lacks good cause for leave to amend its complaint. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28 (denying leave to amend in part because the passage of time resulted in significant prejudice due to the loss of documents or records); see also Section III.A.4, above.

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Tennessee law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Clarksville City’s delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs’ ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Tennessee law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Clarksville City, a municipality in Tennessee, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Clarksville City's proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Clarksville City filed its original complaint on May 1, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See City of Clarksville, Tennessee v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45517-DAP, ECF No. 1. It is therefore indisputable that Clarksville City knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend. Clarksville City's RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO's four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by "discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim" (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Clarksville City's request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Clarksville City, a municipality in Tennessee, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester's complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

477. People of the State of Illinois et al. v. AmerisourceBergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45518-DAP: Plaintiff Lawrence County, Illinois

Lawrence County's untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Lawrence County failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Lawrence County also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Lawrence County's motion should be denied due to futility, as Lawrence County does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Lawrence County was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Lawrence County amended its complaint on March 6, 2019, after directly filing in the MDL. See People of the State of Illinois et al. v. AmerisourceBergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45518-DAP, ECF No. 3. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Lawrence County declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaint. See Section II.A.1, above. Lawrence County's deadline to amend was in 2019. Lawrence County waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Lawrence County's lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order's deadline because plaintiff "had all the information [she] needed" to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a "wait-and-see approach" instead of timely moving to amend).

Prior Notice Through Counsel. Lawrence County cannot meet the Rule 16 good cause standard because it is represented by the same counsel—Greene, Ketchum, Farrell, Bailey &

Tweel, LLP; Powell & Majestro; Baron & Budd, P.C.; Levin, Papantonio, Thomas, Mitchell, Rafferty & Proctor, P.A.; and McHugh Fuller Law Group, PLLC—that filed claims against the PBMs in 2019. See MDL ECF No. 2582. Lawrence County, through its counsel, was on notice of potential claims against the PBMs and could readily have amended its complaint to add the PBMs much earlier. Lawrence County fails to explain why it was unable to assert claims against the PBMs in 2019 when its own attorneys were already asserting those claims on behalf of other clients. See, e.g., Duggins, 195 F.3d at 834 (affirming denial of leave to amend after the close of discovery when the “plaintiff was obviously aware of the basis of the claim for many months, especially since some underlying facts were made a part of the complaint”); Thurmond, 649 F. App’x at 1006 (affirming denial of leave to amend for undue delay in part because plaintiff’s counsel had access to discovery in related cases and was previously aware of the proposed new defendants’ conduct).

OptumRx’s Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to Lawrence County’s geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson Decl. (0.21% market share for Lawrence County). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Lawrence County to add dispensing claims against OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Illinois law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Lawrence County’s delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs’ ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Illinois law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Lawrence County, a municipality in Illinois, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Lawrence County's proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Lawrence County filed its original complaint on May 1, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See People of the State of Illinois et al. v. AmerisourceBergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45518-DAP, ECF No. 1. It is therefore indisputable that Lawrence County knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend. Lawrence County's RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO's four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by "discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim" (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Lawrence County's request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Lawrence County, a municipality in Illinois, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester's complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

478. People of the State of Illinois et al. v. AmerisourceBergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45519-DAP: Plaintiff Massac County, Illinois

Massac County's untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Massac County failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Massac County also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Massac County's motion should be denied due to futility, as Massac County does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Massac County was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Massac County amended its complaint on March 13, 2019, after directly filing in the MDL. See People of the State of Illinois et al. v. AmerisourceBergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45519-DAP, ECF No. 2. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Massac County declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaint. See Section II.A.1, above. Massac County's deadline to amend was in 2019. Massac County waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Massac County's lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order's deadline because plaintiff "had all the information [she] needed" to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a "wait-and-see approach" instead of timely moving to amend).

Prior Notice Through Counsel. Massac County cannot meet the Rule 16 good cause standard because it is represented by the same counsel—Greene, Ketchum, Farrell, Bailey & Tweel, LLP; Powell & Majestro; Baron & Budd, P.C.; Levin, Papantonio, Thomas, Mitchell,

Rafferty & Proctor, P.A.; and McHugh Fuller Law Group, PLLC—that filed claims against the PBMs in 2019. See MDL ECF No. 2582. Massac County, through its counsel, was on notice of potential claims against the PBMs and could readily have amended its complaint to add the PBMs much earlier. Massac County fails to explain why it was unable to assert claims against the PBMs in 2019 when its own attorneys were already asserting those claims on behalf of other clients. See, e.g., Duggins, 195 F.3d at 834 (affirming denial of leave to amend after the close of discovery when the “plaintiff was obviously aware of the basis of the claim for many months, especially since some underlying facts were made a part of the complaint”); Thurmond, 649 F. App’x at 1006 (affirming denial of leave to amend for undue delay in part because plaintiff’s counsel had access to discovery in related cases and was previously aware of the proposed new defendants’ conduct).

OptumRx’s Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to Massac County’s geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson Decl. (0.10% market share for Massac County). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Massac County to add dispensing claims against OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Express Scripts’ Mail Order Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. Express Scripts’ mail order pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of prescription opioid units shipped to Massac County’s geographic jurisdiction during 2009 to 2019. See DeCarlo Decl., Exhibit C (0.43% market share). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Massac County to add dispensing claims against Express Scripts’ mail order pharmacy entities. See Section III.A.2, above.

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Illinois law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Massac County’s delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs’ ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Illinois law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Massac County, a municipality in Illinois, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Massac County’s proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Massac County filed its original complaint on May 1, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See People of the State of Illinois et al. v. AmerisourceBergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45519-DAP, ECF No. 1. It is therefore indisputable that Massac County knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend. Massac County’s RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO’s four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by “discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim” (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Massac County’s request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Massac County, a municipality in Illinois, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester’s complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

479. Martin County, NC v. AmerisourceBergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45522-DAP: Plaintiff Martin County, North Carolina

Martin County’s untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Martin County failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Martin County also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, failure to implement a litigation hold, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Martin County’s motion should be denied due to futility, as Martin County does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Martin County was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Martin County amended its complaint on March 11, 2019, after transfer to the MDL on May 3, 2018. See Martin County, NC v. AmerisourceBergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45522-DAP, ECF No. 8. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Martin County declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaint. See Section II.A.1, above. Martin County’s deadline to amend was in 2019. Martin County waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Martin County’s lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order’s deadline because plaintiff “had all the information [she] needed” to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a “wait-and-see approach” instead of timely moving to amend).

Prior Notice Through Counsel. Martin County cannot meet the Rule 16 good cause standard because it is represented by the same counsel—Greene, Ketchum, Farrell, Bailey & Tweel, LLP; Powell & Majestro; Baron & Budd, P.C.; Levin, Papantonio, Thomas, Mitchell, Rafferty & Proctor, P.A.; and McHugh Fuller Law Group, PLLC—that filed claims against the PBMs in 2019. See MDL ECF No. 2582. Martin County, through its counsel, was on notice of potential claims against the PBMs and could readily have amended its complaint to add the PBMs much earlier. Martin County fails to explain why it was unable to assert claims against the PBMs in 2019 when its own attorneys were already asserting those claims on behalf of other clients. See, e.g., Duggins, 195 F.3d at 834 (affirming denial of leave to amend after the close of discovery when the “plaintiff was obviously aware of the basis of the claim for many months, especially since some underlying facts were made a part of the complaint”); Thurmond, 649 F. App’x at 1006 (affirming denial of leave to amend for undue delay in part because plaintiff’s counsel had access to discovery in related cases and was previously aware of the proposed new defendants’ conduct).

OptumRx’s Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to Martin County’s geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson Decl. (0.12% market share for Martin County). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Martin County to add dispensing claims against OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Express Scripts’ Mail Order Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. Express Scripts’ mail order pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of prescription opioid units shipped to Martin County’s geographic jurisdiction during 2009 to 2019. See DeCarlo Decl.,

Exhibit C (0.21% market share). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Martin County to add dispensing claims against Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy entities. See Section III.A.2, above.

Failure to Implement a Litigation Hold. Martin County filed its original complaint on April 16, 2018. See Martin County, NC v. AmerisourceBergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45522-DAP, ECF No. 1. Despite filing its case years ago, Martin County never implemented a litigation hold and is instead purporting to rely on non-specific and unidentified document retention laws. See ECF No. 5687-1 (Date Litigation Hold Implemented: *(Never)). This is a plain violation of this Court's orders. ECF Nos. 232; 5455. Litigating Martin County's case would force the parties and the Court to waste time and resources ascertaining the extent of Martin County's document destruction and the appropriate sanctions—just as the parties were forced to do in the three PBM bellwethers that failed to implement litigation holds until 2024. The PBMs are prejudiced by Martin County's disregard for its most basic discovery obligations as a litigant, compounded by the delay in seeking leave to amend, and Martin County therefore lacks good cause for leave to amend its complaint. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28 (denying leave to amend in part because the passage of time resulted in significant prejudice due to the loss of documents or records); see also Section III.A.4, above.

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under North Carolina law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Martin County's delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs' ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under North Carolina law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Martin County, a municipality in North Carolina, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Martin County's proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Martin County filed its original complaint on April 16, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See Martin County, NC v. AmerisourceBergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45522-DAP, ECF No. 1. It is therefore indisputable that Martin County knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend. Martin County's RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO's four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by "discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim" (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Martin County's request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Martin County, a municipality in North Carolina, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester's complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

480. McDowell County v. AmerisourceBergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45524-DAP: Plaintiff McDowell County, North Carolina

McDowell County's untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. McDowell County failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. McDowell County also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, McDowell County's motion should be denied due to futility, as McDowell County does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. McDowell County was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, McDowell County amended its complaint on March 11, 2019, after transfer to the MDL on May 7, 2018. See McDowell County v. AmerisourceBergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45524-DAP, ECF No. 6. Unlike many other plaintiffs, McDowell County declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaint. See Section II.A.1, above. McDowell County's deadline to amend was in 2019. McDowell County waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. McDowell County's lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order's deadline because plaintiff "had all the information [she] needed" to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a "wait-and-see approach" instead of timely moving to amend).

Prior Notice Through Counsel. McDowell County cannot meet the Rule 16 good cause standard because it is represented by the same counsel—Greene, Ketchum, Farrell, Bailey & Tweel, LLP; Powell & Majestro; Baron & Budd, P.C.; Levin, Papantonio, Thomas, Mitchell, Rafferty & Proctor, P.A.; and McHugh Fuller Law Group, PLLC—that filed claims against the PBMs in 2019. See MDL ECF No. 2582. McDowell County, through its counsel, was on notice of potential claims against the PBMs and could readily have amended its complaint to add the PBMs much earlier. McDowell County fails to explain why it was unable to assert claims against the PBMs in 2019 when its own attorneys were already asserting those claims on behalf of other clients. See, e.g., Duggins, 195 F.3d at 834 (affirming denial of leave to amend after the close of discovery when the “plaintiff was obviously aware of the basis of the claim for many months, especially since some underlying facts were made a part of the complaint”); Thurmond, 649 F. App’x at 1006 (affirming denial of leave to amend for undue delay in part because plaintiff’s counsel had access to discovery in related cases and was previously aware of the proposed new defendants’ conduct).

OptumRx’s Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to McDowell County’s geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson Decl. (0.06% market share for McDowell County). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for McDowell County to add dispensing claims against OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Express Scripts’ Mail Order Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. Express Scripts’ mail order pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of prescription opioid units shipped to McDowell County’s geographic jurisdiction during 2009 to 2019. See DeCarlo Decl., Exhibit C (0.29% market share). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for McDowell County to add dispensing claims against Express Scripts’ mail order pharmacy entities. See Section III.A.2, above.

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under North Carolina law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But McDowell County’s delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs' ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under North Carolina law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. McDowell County, a municipality in North Carolina, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for McDowell County's proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. McDowell County filed its original complaint on April 17, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See McDowell County v. AmerisourceBergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45524-DAP, ECF No. 1. It is therefore indisputable that McDowell County knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend. McDowell County's RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO's four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by "discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim" (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. McDowell County's request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. McDowell County, a municipality in North Carolina, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester's complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

481. Watauga County v. AmerisourceBergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45525-DAP: Plaintiff Watauga County, North Carolina

Watauga County's untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Watauga County failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Watauga County also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, failure to implement a litigation hold, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Watauga County's motion should be denied due to futility, as Watauga County does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Watauga County was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Watauga County amended its complaint on March 12, 2019, after transfer to the MDL on May 7, 2018. See Watauga County v. AmerisourceBergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45525-DAP, ECF No. 5. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Watauga County declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaint. See Section II.A.1, above. Watauga County's deadline to amend was in 2019. Watauga County waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Watauga County's lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order's deadline because plaintiff "had all the information [she] needed" to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a "wait-and-see approach" instead of timely moving to amend).

Prior Notice Through Counsel. Watauga County cannot meet the Rule 16 good cause standard because it is represented by the same counsel—Greene, Ketchum, Farrell, Bailey & Tweel, LLP; Powell & Majestro; Baron & Budd, P.C.; Levin, Papantonio, Thomas, Mitchell, Rafferty & Proctor, P.A.; and McHugh Fuller Law Group, PLLC—that filed claims against the PBMs in 2019. See MDL ECF No. 2582. Watauga County, through its counsel, was on notice of potential claims against the PBMs and could readily have amended its complaint to add the PBMs much earlier. Watauga County fails to explain why it was unable to assert claims against the PBMs in 2019 when its own attorneys were already asserting those claims on behalf of other clients. See, e.g., Duggins, 195 F.3d at 834 (affirming denial of leave to amend after the close of discovery when the “plaintiff was obviously aware of the basis of the claim for many months, especially since some underlying facts were made a part of the complaint”); Thurmond, 649 F. App’x at 1006 (affirming denial of leave to amend for undue delay in part because plaintiff’s counsel had access to discovery in related cases and was previously aware of the proposed new defendants’ conduct).

OptumRx’s Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to Watauga County’s geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson Decl. (0.10% market share for Watauga County). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Watauga County to add dispensing claims against OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Express Scripts’ Mail Order Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. Express Scripts’ mail order pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of prescription opioid units shipped to Watauga County’s geographic jurisdiction during 2009 to 2019. See DeCarlo

Decl., Exhibit C (0.23% market share). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Watauga County to add dispensing claims against Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy entities. See Section III.A.2, above.

Failure to Implement a Litigation Hold. Watauga County filed its original complaint on April 17, 2018. See Watauga County v. AmerisourceBergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45525-DAP, ECF No. 1. Despite filing its case years ago, Watauga County never implemented a litigation hold and is instead purporting to rely on non-specific and unidentified document retention laws. See ECF No. 5687-1 (Date Litigation Hold Implemented: *(Never)). This is a plain violation of this Court's orders. ECF Nos. 232; 5455. Litigating Watauga County's case would force the parties and the Court to waste time and resources ascertaining the extent of Watauga County's document destruction and the appropriate sanctions—just as the parties were forced to do in the three PBM bellwethers that failed to implement litigation holds until 2024. The PBMs are prejudiced by Watauga County's disregard for its most basic discovery obligations as a litigant, compounded by the delay in seeking leave to amend, and Watauga County therefore lacks good cause for leave to amend its complaint. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28 (denying leave to amend in part because the passage of time resulted in significant prejudice due to the loss of documents or records); see also Section III.A.4, above.

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under North Carolina law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Watauga County's delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs' ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under North Carolina law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Watauga County, a municipality in North Carolina, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Watauga County's proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Watauga County filed its original complaint on April 17, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See Watauga County v. AmerisourceBergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45525-DAP, ECF No. 1. It is therefore indisputable that Watauga County knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend. Watauga County's RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO's four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by "discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim" (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Watauga County's request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Watauga County, a municipality in North Carolina, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester's complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

482. People of the State of Illinois et al. v. AmerisourceBergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45527-DAP: Plaintiff Livingston County, Illinois

Livingston County's untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Livingston County failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Livingston County also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, failure to timely implement a litigation hold, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Livingston County's motion should be denied due to futility, as Livingston County does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Livingston County was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Livingston County amended its complaint on March 6, 2019, after directly filing in the MDL. See People of the State of Illinois et al. v. AmerisourceBergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45527-DAP, ECF No. 2. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Livingston County declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaint. See Section II.A.1, above. Livingston County's deadline to amend was in 2019. Livingston County waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Livingston County's lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order's deadline because plaintiff "had all the information [she] needed" to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a "wait-and-see approach" instead of timely moving to amend).

Prior Notice Through Counsel. Livingston County cannot meet the Rule 16 good cause standard because it is represented by the same counsel—Greene, Ketchum, Farrell, Bailey & Tweel, LLP; Powell & Majestro; Baron & Budd, P.C.; Levin, Papantonio, Thomas, Mitchell, Rafferty & Proctor, P.A.; and McHugh Fuller Law Group, PLLC—that filed claims against the PBMs in 2019. See MDL ECF No. 2582. Livingston County, through its counsel, was on notice of potential claims against the PBMs and could readily have amended its complaint to add the PBMs much earlier. Livingston County fails to explain why it was unable to assert claims against the PBMs in 2019 when its own attorneys were already asserting those claims on behalf of other clients. See, e.g., Duggins, 195 F.3d at 834 (affirming denial of leave to amend after the close of discovery when the “plaintiff was obviously aware of the basis of the claim for many months, especially since some underlying facts were made a part of the complaint”); Thurmond, 649 F. App’x at 1006 (affirming denial of leave to amend for undue delay in part because plaintiff’s counsel had access to discovery in related cases and was previously aware of the proposed new defendants’ conduct).

OptumRx’s Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to Livingston County’s geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson Decl. (0.01% market share for Livingston County). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Livingston County to add dispensing claims against OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Express Scripts’ Mail Order Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. Express Scripts’ mail order pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of prescription opioid units shipped to Livingston County’s geographic jurisdiction during 2009 to 2019. See DeCarlo Decl., Exhibit C (0.16% market share). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Livingston County to add dispensing claims against Express Scripts’ mail order pharmacy entities. See Section III.A.2, above.

Failure to Timely Implement a Litigation Hold. Livingston County violated its basic duty to implement a timely litigation hold. Livingston County filed its original complaint on May 3, 2018, but waited until September 18, 2024 to implement a litigation hold—six years later. See People of the State of Illinois et al. v. AmerisourceBergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45527-DAP, ECF No. 1; see also ECF No. 5687-1 (Date Litigation Hold Implemented: September 18, 2024). This is a plain violation of this Court’s orders. ECF Nos. 232; 5455. Litigating Livingston County’s case would force the parties and the Court to waste time and resources ascertaining the extent of Livingston County’s document destruction and the appropriate sanctions—just as the parties were forced to do in the three PBM bellwethers that failed to implement litigation holds until 2024. The PBMs are prejudiced by Livingston County’s disregard for its most basic discovery obligations as a litigant, compounded by the delay in seeking leave to amend, and Livingston County therefore lacks good cause for leave to amend its complaint. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28 (denying leave to amend in part because the passage of time resulted in significant prejudice due to the loss of documents or records); see also Section III.A.4, above.

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Illinois law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Livingston County’s delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs’ ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Illinois law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Livingston County, a municipality in Illinois, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Livingston County’s proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Livingston County filed its original complaint on May 3, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See People of the State of Illinois et al. v. AmerisourceBergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45527-DAP, ECF No. 1. It is therefore indisputable that Livingston County knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend. Livingston County’s RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO’s four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by “discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim” (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Livingston County’s request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Livingston County, a municipality in Illinois, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester’s complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

483. People of the State of Illinois et al. v. AmerisourceBergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45528-DAP: Plaintiff Saline County, Illinois

Saline County’s untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Saline County failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Saline County also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, failure to implement a litigation hold, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Saline County’s motion should be denied due to futility, as Saline County does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Saline County was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Saline County amended its complaint on March 13, 2019, after directly filing in the MDL. See People of the State of Illinois et al. v. AmerisourceBergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45528-DAP, ECF No. 2. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Saline County declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaint. See Section II.A.1, above. Saline County’s deadline to amend was in 2019. Saline County waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Saline County’s lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order’s deadline because plaintiff “had all the information [she] needed” to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a “wait-and-see approach” instead of timely moving to amend).

Prior Notice Through Counsel. Saline County cannot meet the Rule 16 good cause standard because it is represented by the same counsel—Greene, Ketchum, Farrell, Bailey & Tweel, LLP; Powell & Majestro; Baron & Budd, P.C.; Levin, Papantonio, Thomas, Mitchell, Rafferty & Proctor, P.A.; and McHugh Fuller Law Group, PLLC—that filed claims against the PBMs in 2019. See MDL ECF No. 2582. Saline County, through its counsel, was on notice of potential claims against the PBMs and could readily have amended its complaint to add the PBMs much earlier. Saline County fails to explain why it was unable to assert claims against the PBMs in 2019 when its own attorneys were already asserting those claims on behalf of other clients. See, e.g., Duggins, 195 F.3d at 834 (affirming denial of leave to amend after the close of discovery when the “plaintiff was obviously aware of the basis of the claim for many months, especially since some underlying facts were made a part of the complaint”); Thurmond, 649 F. App’x at 1006 (affirming denial of leave to amend for undue delay in part because plaintiff’s counsel had access to discovery in related cases and was previously aware of the proposed new defendants’ conduct).

OptumRx’s Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to Saline County’s geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson Decl. (0.05% market share for Saline County). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Saline County to add dispensing claims against OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Express Scripts’ Mail Order Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. Express Scripts’ mail order pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of prescription opioid units shipped to Saline County’s geographic jurisdiction during 2009 to 2019. See DeCarlo Decl., Exhibit C (0.24% market share). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Saline County to add dispensing claims against Express Scripts’ mail order pharmacy entities. See Section III.A.2, above.

Failure to Implement a Litigation Hold. Saline County filed its original complaint on May 3, 2018. See People of the State of Illinois et al. v. AmerisourceBergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45528-DAP, ECF No. 1. Despite filing its case years ago, Saline County never implemented a litigation hold and is instead purporting to rely on non-specific and unidentified document retention laws. See ECF No. 5687-1 (Date Litigation Hold Implemented: *(Never)). This is a plain violation of this Court’s orders. ECF Nos. 232; 5455. Litigating Saline County's case would force the parties and the Court to waste time and resources ascertaining the extent of Saline County's document destruction and the appropriate sanctions—just as the parties were forced to do in the three PBM bellwethers that failed to implement litigation holds until 2024. The PBMs are prejudiced by Saline County's disregard for its most basic discovery obligations as a litigant, compounded by the delay in seeking leave to amend, and Saline County therefore lacks good cause for leave to amend its complaint. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28 (denying leave to amend in part because the passage of time resulted in significant prejudice due to the loss of documents or records); see also Section III.A.4, above.

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Illinois law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Saline County's delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs' ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Illinois law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Saline County, a municipality in Illinois, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Saline County's proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Saline County filed its original complaint on May 3, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See People of the State of Illinois et al. v. AmerisourceBergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45528-DAP, ECF No. 1. It is therefore indisputable that Saline County knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend. Saline County's RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO's four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by "discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim" (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Saline County's request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Saline County, a municipality in Illinois, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester's complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

484. Marion County Board of County Commissioners v. AmerisourceBergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45529-DAP: Plaintiff Marion County, Ohio

Marion County's untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Marion County failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Marion County also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Marion County's motion should be denied due to futility, as Marion County does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its proposed public nuisance claim is barred by state law in Ohio, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Marion County was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Marion County amended its complaint on March 11, 2019, after directly filing in the MDL. See Marion County Board of County Commissioners v. AmerisourceBergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45529-DAP, ECF No. 24. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Marion County declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaint. See Section II.A.1, above. Marion County’s deadline to amend was in 2019. Marion County waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Marion County’s lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order’s deadline because plaintiff “had all the information [she] needed” to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a “wait-and-see approach” instead of timely moving to amend).

Prior Notice Through Counsel. Marion County cannot meet the Rule 16 good cause standard because it is represented by the same counsel—Greene, Ketchum, Farrell, Bailey & Tweel, LLP; Powell & Majestro; Baron & Budd, P.C.; Levin, Papantonio, Thomas, Mitchell, Rafferty & Proctor, P.A.; and McHugh Fuller Law Group, PLLC—that filed claims against the PBMs in 2019. See MDL ECF No. 2582. Marion County, through its counsel, was on notice of potential claims against the PBMs and could readily have amended its complaint to add the PBMs much earlier. Marion County fails to explain why it was unable to assert claims against the PBMs in 2019 when its own attorneys were already asserting those claims on behalf of other clients. See, e.g., Duggins, 195 F.3d at 834 (affirming denial of leave to amend after the close of discovery when the “plaintiff was obviously aware of the basis of the claim for many months, especially since some underlying facts were made a part of the complaint”); Thurmond, 649 F. App’x at 1006 (affirming denial of leave to amend for undue delay in part because plaintiff’s counsel had access to discovery in related cases and was previously aware of the proposed new defendants’ conduct).

OptumRx’s Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to Marion County's geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson Decl. (0.04% market share for Marion County). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Marion County to add dispensing claims against OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Express Scripts' Mail Order Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of prescription opioid units shipped to Marion County's geographic jurisdiction during 2009 to 2019. See DeCarlo Decl., Exhibit C (0.25% market share). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Marion County to add dispensing claims against Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy entities. See Section III.A.2, above.

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Ohio law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Marion County's delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs' ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Ohio law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Marion County, a municipality in Ohio, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

Plaintiff's Public Nuisance Claim is Futile. Marion County is a plaintiff in Ohio. Marion County's request for leave to add the PBMs as defendants to a public nuisance claim should be denied as futile because "all common-law public-nuisance claims arising from the sale of a product have been abrogated by the Ohio Product Liability Act.” In re Nat’l Prescription Opiate Litig., 2024 WL 5049302, at *1, 2024-OHIO-5744, ¶ 1; see Section III.B.3, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Marion County’s proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Marion County filed its original complaint on May 3, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See Marion County Board of County Commissioners v. AmerisourceBergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45529-DAP, ECF No. 1. It is therefore indisputable that Marion County knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend. Marion County’s RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO’s four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by “discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim” (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Marion County’s request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Marion County, a municipality in Ohio, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester’s complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

485. People of the State of Illinois et al. v. AmerisourceBergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45532-DAP: Plaintiff Marion County, Illinois

Marion County’s untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Marion County failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Marion County also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, failure to timely implement a litigation hold, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Marion County’s motion should be denied due to futility, as Marion County does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its proposed public nuisance claim is barred by the statute of limitations, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Marion County was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Marion County amended its complaint on March 13, 2019, after directly filing in the MDL. See People of the State of Illinois et al. v. AmerisourceBergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45532-DAP, ECF No. 2. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Marion County declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaint. See Section II.A.1, above. Marion County’s deadline to amend was in 2019. Marion County waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Marion County’s lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order’s deadline because plaintiff “had all the information [she] needed” to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a “wait-and-see approach” instead of timely moving to amend).

Prior Notice Through Counsel. Marion County cannot meet the Rule 16 good cause standard because it is represented by the same counsel—Greene, Ketchum, Farrell, Bailey & Tweel, LLP; Powell & Majestro; Baron & Budd, P.C.; Levin, Papantonio, Thomas, Mitchell, Rafferty & Proctor, P.A.; and McHugh Fuller Law Group, PLLC—that filed claims against the PBMs in 2019. See MDL ECF No. 2582. Marion County, through its counsel, was on notice of potential claims against the PBMs and could readily have amended its complaint to add the PBMs much earlier. Marion County fails to explain why it was unable to assert claims against the PBMs in 2019 when its own attorneys were already asserting those claims on behalf of other clients. See,

e.g., Duggins, 195 F.3d at 834 (affirming denial of leave to amend after the close of discovery when the “plaintiff was obviously aware of the basis of the claim for many months, especially since some underlying facts were made a part of the complaint”); Thurmond, 649 F. App’x at 1006 (affirming denial of leave to amend for undue delay in part because plaintiff’s counsel had access to discovery in related cases and was previously aware of the proposed new defendants’ conduct).

OptumRx’s Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to Marion County’s geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson Decl. (0.05% market share for Marion County). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Marion County to add dispensing claims against OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Express Scripts’ Mail Order Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. Express Scripts’ mail order pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of prescription opioid units shipped to Marion County’s geographic jurisdiction during 2009 to 2019. See DeCarlo Decl., Exhibit C (0.28% market share). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Marion County to add dispensing claims against Express Scripts’ mail order pharmacy entities. See Section III.A.2, above.

Failure to Timely Implement a Litigation Hold. Marion County violated its basic duty to implement a timely litigation hold. Marion County filed its original complaint on May 4, 2018, but waited until July 10, 2024 to implement a litigation hold—six years later. See People of the State of Illinois et al. v. AmerisourceBergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45532-DAP, ECF No. 1; see also ECF No. 5687-1 (Date Litigation Hold Implemented: July 10, 2024).

This is a plain violation of this Court's orders. ECF Nos. 232; 5455. Litigating Marion County's case would force the parties and the Court to waste time and resources ascertaining the extent of Marion County's document destruction and the appropriate sanctions—just as the parties were forced to do in the three PBM bellwethers that failed to implement litigation holds until 2024. The PBMs are prejudiced by Marion County's disregard for its most basic discovery obligations as a litigant, compounded by the delay in seeking leave to amend, and Marion County therefore lacks good cause for leave to amend its complaint. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28 (denying leave to amend in part because the passage of time resulted in significant prejudice due to the loss of documents or records); see also Section III.A.4, above.

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Illinois law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Marion County's delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs' ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Illinois law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Marion County, a municipality in Illinois, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Marion County's proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Marion County filed its original complaint on May 4, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See People of the State of Illinois et al. v. AmerisourceBergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45532-DAP, ECF No. 1. It is therefore indisputable that Marion County knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend. Marion County's RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO's four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by "discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim" (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Marion County's request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Marion County, a municipality in Illinois, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester's complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

486. Fiscal Court of Bourbon County, Kentucky v. Purdue Pharma, L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45533-DAP: Plaintiff Bourbon County, Kentucky

Bourbon County's untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Bourbon County failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Bourbon County also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, failure to implement a litigation hold, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Bourbon County's motion should be denied due to futility, as Bourbon County does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Bourbon County was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Bourbon County amended its complaint on March 15, 2019, after directly filing in the MDL. See Fiscal Court of Bourbon County, Kentucky v. Purdue Pharma, L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45533-DAP, ECF No. 25. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Bourbon County declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaint. See Section II.A.1, above. Bourbon County’s deadline to amend was in 2019. Bourbon County waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Bourbon County’s lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order’s deadline because plaintiff “had all the information [she] needed” to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a “wait-and-see approach” instead of timely moving to amend).

OptumRx’s Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to Bourbon County’s geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson Decl. (0.02% market share for Bourbon County). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Bourbon County to add dispensing claims against OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Express Scripts’ Mail Order Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. Express Scripts’ mail order pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of prescription opioid units shipped to Bourbon County’s geographic jurisdiction during 2009 to 2019. See DeCarlo Decl., Exhibit C (0.18% market share). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Bourbon County to add dispensing claims against Express Scripts’ mail order pharmacy entities. See Section III.A.2, above.

Failure to Implement a Litigation Hold. Bourbon County filed its original complaint on May 4, 2018. See Fiscal Court of Bourbon County, Kentucky v. Purdue Pharma, L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45533-DAP, ECF No. 1. Despite filing its case years ago, Bourbon County never implemented a litigation hold and is instead purporting to rely on non-specific and unidentified document retention laws. See ECF No. 5687-1 (Date Litigation Hold Implemented: *(Never)). This is a plain violation of this Court's orders. ECF Nos. 232; 5455. Litigating Bourbon County's case would force the parties and the Court to waste time and resources ascertaining the extent of Bourbon County's document destruction and the appropriate sanctions—just as the parties were forced to do in the three PBM bellwethers that failed to implement litigation holds until 2024. The PBMs are prejudiced by Bourbon County's disregard for its most basic discovery obligations as a litigant, compounded by the delay in seeking leave to amend, and Bourbon County therefore lacks good cause for leave to amend its complaint. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28 (denying leave to amend in part because the passage of time resulted in significant prejudice due to the loss of documents or records); see also Section III.A.4, above.

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Kentucky law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Bourbon County's delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs' ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Kentucky law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Bourbon County, a municipality in Kentucky, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Bourbon County’s proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Bourbon County filed its original complaint on May 4, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See Fiscal Court of Bourbon County, Kentucky v. Purdue Pharma, L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45533-DAP, ECF No. 1. It is therefore indisputable that Bourbon County knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend. Bourbon County’s RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO’s four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by “discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim” (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Bourbon County’s request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Bourbon County, a municipality in Kentucky, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester’s complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

487. Fiscal Court of Owen County, Kentucky v. Purdue Pharma, L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45534-DAP: Plaintiff Owen County, Kentucky

Owen County’s untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Owen County failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Owen County also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, failure to implement a litigation hold, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Owen County’s motion should be denied due to futility, as Owen County does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Owen County was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Owen County amended its complaint on March 15, 2019, after directly filing in the MDL. See Fiscal Court of Owen County, Kentucky v. Purdue Pharma, L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45534-DAP, ECF No. 25. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Owen County declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaint. See Section II.A.1, above. Owen County’s deadline to amend was in 2019. Owen County waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Owen County’s lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order’s deadline because plaintiff “had all the information [she] needed” to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a “wait-and-see approach” instead of timely moving to amend).

OptumRx’s Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to Owen County’s geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson Decl. (0.02% market share for Owen County). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Owen County to add dispensing claims against OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Express Scripts’ Mail Order Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. Express Scripts’ mail order pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of prescription opioid units shipped to Owen County’s geographic jurisdiction during 2009 to 2019. See DeCarlo Decl., Exhibit C (0.25% market share). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Owen County to add dispensing claims against Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy entities. See Section III.A.2, above.

Failure to Implement a Litigation Hold. Owen County filed its original complaint on May 4, 2018. See Fiscal Court of Owen County, Kentucky v. Purdue Pharma, L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45534-DAP, ECF No. 1. Despite filing its case years ago, Owen County never implemented a litigation hold and is instead purporting to rely on non-specific and unidentified document retention laws. See ECF No. 5687-1 (Date Litigation Hold Implemented: *(Never)). This is a plain violation of this Court's orders. ECF Nos. 232; 5455. Litigating Owen County's case would force the parties and the Court to waste time and resources ascertaining the extent of Owen County's document destruction and the appropriate sanctions—just as the parties were forced to do in the three PBM bellwethers that failed to implement litigation holds until 2024. The PBMs are prejudiced by Owen County's disregard for its most basic discovery obligations as a litigant, compounded by the delay in seeking leave to amend, and Owen County therefore lacks good cause for leave to amend its complaint. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28 (denying leave to amend in part because the passage of time resulted in significant prejudice due to the loss of documents or records); see also Section III.A.4, above.

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Kentucky law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Owen County's delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs' ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Kentucky law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Owen County, a municipality in Kentucky, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Owen County’s proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Owen County filed its original complaint on May 4, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See Fiscal Court of Owen County, Kentucky v. Purdue Pharma, L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45534-DAP, ECF No. 1. It is therefore indisputable that Owen County knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend. Owen County’s RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO’s four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by “discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim” (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Owen County’s request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Owen County, a municipality in Kentucky, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester’s complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

488. Warren County v. AmerisourceBergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45536-DAP: Plaintiff Warren County, North Carolina

Warren County’s untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Warren County failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Warren County also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, failure to implement a litigation hold, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Warren County’s motion should be denied due to futility, as Warren County does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Warren County was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Warren County amended its complaint on March 12, 2019, after transfer to the MDL on May 8, 2018. See Warren County v. AmerisourceBergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45536-DAP, ECF No. 7. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Warren County declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaint. See Section II.A.1, above. Warren County’s deadline to amend was in 2019. Warren County waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Warren County’s lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order’s deadline because plaintiff “had all the information [she] needed” to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a “wait-and-see approach” instead of timely moving to amend).

Prior Notice Through Counsel. Warren County cannot meet the Rule 16 good cause standard because it is represented by the same counsel—Greene, Ketchum, Farrell, Bailey & Tweel, LLP; Powell & Majestro; Baron & Budd, P.C.; Levin, Papantonio, Thomas, Mitchell, Rafferty & Proctor, P.A.; and McHugh Fuller Law Group, PLLC—that filed claims against the PBMs in 2019. See MDL ECF No. 2582. Warren County, through its counsel, was on notice of potential claims against the PBMs and could readily have amended its complaint to add the PBMs much earlier. Warren County fails to explain why it was unable to assert claims against the PBMs in 2019 when its own attorneys were already asserting those claims on behalf of other clients. See, e.g., Duggins, 195 F.3d at 834 (affirming denial of leave to amend after the close of discovery when the “plaintiff was obviously aware of the basis of the claim for many months, especially since some underlying facts were made a part of the complaint”); Thurmond, 649 F. App’x at 1006 (affirming denial of leave to amend for undue delay in part because plaintiff’s counsel had access to discovery in related cases and was previously aware of the proposed new defendants’ conduct).

OptumRx’s Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to Warren County’s geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson Decl. (0.34% market share for Warren County). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Warren County to add dispensing claims against OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Failure to Implement a Litigation Hold. Warren County filed its original complaint on April 17, 2018. See Warren County v. AmerisourceBergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45536-DAP, ECF No. 1. Despite filing its case years ago, Warren County never implemented a litigation hold, in violation of this Court’s orders (ECF Nos. 232; 5455). See ECF No. 5687-1 (Date Litigation Hold Implemented: Never). Litigating Warren County’s case would force the parties and the Court to waste time and resources ascertaining the extent of Warren County’s document destruction and the appropriate sanctions—just as the parties were forced to do in the three PBM bellwethers that failed to implement litigation holds until 2024. The PBMs are prejudiced by Warren County’s disregard for its most basic discovery obligations as a litigant, compounded by the delay in seeking leave to amend, and Warren County therefore lacks good cause for leave to amend its complaint. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28 (denying leave to amend in part because the passage of time resulted in significant prejudice due to the loss of documents or records); see also Section III.A.4, above.

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under North Carolina law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Warren County's delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs' ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under North Carolina law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Warren County, a municipality in North Carolina, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Warren County's proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Warren County filed its original complaint on April 17, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See Warren County v. AmerisourceBergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45536-DAP, ECF No. 1. It is therefore indisputable that Warren County knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend. Warren County's RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO's four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by "discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim" (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Warren County's request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Warren County, a municipality in North Carolina, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester's complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

489. City of Metropolis, Illinois v. AmerisourceBergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45537-DAP: Plaintiff Metropolis City, Illinois

Metropolis City's untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Metropolis City failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Metropolis City also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, failure to timely implement a litigation hold, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Metropolis City's motion should be denied due to futility, as Metropolis City does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Metropolis City was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Metropolis City amended its complaint on March 6, 2019, after directly filing in the MDL. See City of Metropolis, Illinois v. AmerisourceBergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45537-DAP, ECF No. 2. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Metropolis City declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaint. See Section II.A.1, above. Metropolis City's deadline to amend was in 2019. Metropolis City waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Metropolis City's lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order’s deadline because plaintiff “had all the information [she] needed” to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a “wait-and-see approach” instead of timely moving to amend).

Prior Notice Through Counsel. Metropolis City cannot meet the Rule 16 good cause standard because it is represented by the same counsel—Greene, Ketchum, Farrell, Bailey & Tweel, LLP; Powell & Majestro; Baron & Budd, P.C.; Levin, Papantonio, Thomas, Mitchell, Rafferty & Proctor, P.A.; and McHugh Fuller Law Group, PLLC—that filed claims against the PBMs in 2019. See MDL ECF No. 2582. Metropolis City, through its counsel, was on notice of potential claims against the PBMs and could readily have amended its complaint to add the PBMs much earlier. Metropolis City fails to explain why it was unable to assert claims against the PBMs in 2019 when its own attorneys were already asserting those claims on behalf of other clients. See, e.g., Duggins, 195 F.3d at 834 (affirming denial of leave to amend after the close of discovery when the “plaintiff was obviously aware of the basis of the claim for many months, especially since some underlying facts were made a part of the complaint”); Thurmond, 649 F. App’x at 1006 (affirming denial of leave to amend for undue delay in part because plaintiff’s counsel had access to discovery in related cases and was previously aware of the proposed new defendants’ conduct).

OptumRx’s Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to Metropolis City’s geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson Decl. (0.04% market share for Metropolis City). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Metropolis City to add dispensing claims against

OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Express Scripts' Mail Order Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of prescription opioid units shipped to Metropolis City's geographic jurisdiction during 2009 to 2019. See DeCarlo Decl., Exhibit C (0.41% market share). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Metropolis City to add dispensing claims against Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy entities. See Section III.A.2, above.

Failure to Timely Implement a Litigation Hold. Metropolis City violated its basic duty to implement a timely litigation hold. Metropolis City filed its original complaint on May 7, 2018, but waited until September 25, 2024 to implement a litigation hold—six years later. See City of Metropolis, Illinois v. AmerisourceBergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45537-DAP, ECF No. 1; see also ECF No. 5687-1 (Date Litigation Hold Implemented: September 25, 2024). This is a plain violation of this Court's orders. ECF Nos. 232; 5455. Litigating Metropolis City's case would force the parties and the Court to waste time and resources ascertaining the extent of Metropolis City's document destruction and the appropriate sanctions—just as the parties were forced to do in the three PBM bellwethers that failed to implement litigation holds until 2024. The PBMs are prejudiced by Metropolis City's disregard for its most basic discovery obligations as a litigant, compounded by the delay in seeking leave to amend, and Metropolis City therefore lacks good cause for leave to amend its complaint. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28 (denying leave to amend in part because the passage of time resulted in significant prejudice due to the loss of documents or records); see also Section III.A.4, above.

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Illinois law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Metropolis City’s delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs’ ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Illinois law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Metropolis City, a municipality in Illinois, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Metropolis City’s proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Metropolis City filed its original complaint on May 7, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See City of Metropolis, Illinois v. AmerisourceBergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45537-DAP, ECF No. 1. It is therefore indisputable that Metropolis City knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend. Metropolis City’s RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO’s four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by “discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim” (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Metropolis City’s request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Metropolis City, a municipality in Illinois, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester's complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

490. Marshall County Health Care Authority v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45538-DAP: Plaintiff Marshall County Health Care Authority, Alabama

Marshall County Health Care Authority's untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Marshall County Health Care Authority failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Marshall County Health Care Authority also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, failure to implement a litigation hold, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Marshall County Health Care Authority's motion should be denied due to futility, as Marshall County Health Care Authority does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its proposed public nuisance claim is barred by the statute of limitations, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Marshall County Health Care Authority was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Marshall County Health Care Authority filed its original complaint directly into the MDL on May 7, 2018. See Marshall County Health Care Authority v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45538-DAP, ECF No. 1. Marshall County Health Care Authority could have amended its complaint, without leave, to add claims against the PBMs in 2019. See Section II.A.1, above. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Marshall County Health Care Authority elected not to do so. Marshall County Health Care Authority waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Marshall County Health Care Authority's lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order’s deadline because plaintiff “had all the information [she] needed” to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a “wait-and-see approach” instead of timely moving to amend).

Failure to Implement a Litigation Hold. Marshall County Health Care Authority filed its original complaint on May 7, 2018. See Marshall County Health Care Authority v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45538-DAP, ECF No. 1. Despite filing its case years ago, Marshall County Health Care Authority never implemented a litigation hold, in violation of this Court’s orders (ECF Nos. 232; 5455). See ECF No. 5687-1 (Date Litigation Hold Implemented: Never). Litigating Marshall County Health Care Authority’s case would force the parties and the Court to waste time and resources ascertaining the extent of Marshall County Health Care Authority’s document destruction and the appropriate sanctions—just as the parties were forced to do in the three PBM bellwethers that failed to implement litigation holds until 2024. The PBMs are prejudiced by Marshall County Health Care Authority’s disregard for its most basic discovery obligations as a litigant, compounded by the delay in seeking leave to amend, and Marshall County Health Care Authority therefore lacks good cause for leave to amend its complaint. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28 (denying leave to amend in part because the passage of time resulted in significant prejudice due to the loss of documents or records); see also Section III.A.4, above.

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Alabama law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Marshall County Health Care Authority’s delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs’ ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Alabama law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time.

That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Marshall County Health Care Authority, a hospital in Alabama, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Marshall County Health Care Authority’s proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Marshall County Health Care Authority filed its original complaint on May 7, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See Marshall County Health Care Authority v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45538-DAP, ECF No. 1. It is therefore indisputable that Marshall County Health Care Authority knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend. Marshall County Health Care Authority’s RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO’s four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by “discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim” (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Marshall County Health Care Authority’s request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Public Nuisance Statute of Limitations. In Alabama, public-nuisance claims are subject to a two-year limitations period. Marshall County Health Care Authority’s public-nuisance claim against the PBMs is therefore time-barred because Marshall County Health Care Authority sought leave to amend its complaint on July 29, 2024—six years after filing its original complaint on May 7, 2018—and the proposed amendment does not relate back to the original filing for purposes of the applicable statute of limitations. See Zakora, 44 F.4th at 480 (“This court has repeatedly held that an amendment which adds a new party creates a new cause of action and there is no relation back to the original filing for purposes of limitations.” (cleaned up)).

Duplicative Recovery. Marshall County Health Care Authority, a municipal health care authority, seeks leave to add the same claims and recover the same alleged damages as the related municipality, Marshall County, Alabama, a plaintiff in Marshall County, Alabama et al. v. Purdue Pharma L P et al., 1:18-op-45230-DAP. These duplicative claims are subject to dismissal and leave to amend should be denied as futile. See Section III.B.2, above; cf. Firestone Laser & Mfg. LLC v. Bristow, __ F. Supp. 3d __, 2024 WL 3819623, at *12 (N.D. Ohio Aug. 14, 2024) (dismissing claim because otherwise it would produce an impermissible double recovery).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Marshall County Health Care Authority, a hospital in Alabama, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester’s complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

491. People of the State of Illinois et al. v. AmerisourceBergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45539-DAP: Plaintiff Jefferson County, Illinois

Jefferson County’s untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Jefferson County failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Jefferson County also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, failure to timely implement a litigation hold, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Jefferson County’s motion should be denied due to futility, as Jefferson County does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Jefferson County was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Jefferson County amended its complaint on March 6, 2019, after directly filing in the MDL. See People of the State of Illinois et al. v. AmerisourceBergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45539-DAP, ECF No. 2. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Jefferson County declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaint. See Section II.A.1, above. Jefferson County’s deadline to amend was in 2019. Jefferson County waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Jefferson County’s lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order’s deadline because plaintiff “had all the information [she] needed” to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a “wait-and-see approach” instead of timely moving to amend).

Prior Notice Through Counsel. Jefferson County cannot meet the Rule 16 good cause standard because it is represented by the same counsel—Greene, Ketchum, Farrell, Bailey & Tweel, LLP; Powell & Majestro; Baron & Budd, P.C.; Levin, Papantonio, Thomas, Mitchell, Rafferty & Proctor, P.A.; and McHugh Fuller Law Group, PLLC—that filed claims against the PBMs in 2019. See MDL ECF No. 2582. Jefferson County, through its counsel, was on notice of potential claims against the PBMs and could readily have amended its complaint to add the PBMs much earlier. Jefferson County fails to explain why it was unable to assert claims against the PBMs in 2019 when its own attorneys were already asserting those claims on behalf of other clients. See, e.g., Duggins, 195 F.3d at 834 (affirming denial of leave to amend after the close of discovery when the “plaintiff was obviously aware of the basis of the claim for many months, especially since some underlying facts were made a part of the complaint”); Thurmond, 649 F. App’x at 1006 (affirming denial of leave to amend for undue delay in part because plaintiff’s counsel had access to discovery in related cases and was previously aware of the proposed new defendants’ conduct).

OptumRx’s Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to Jefferson County’s geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson Decl. (0.07% market share for Jefferson County). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Jefferson County to add dispensing claims against OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Express Scripts’ Mail Order Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. Express Scripts’ mail order pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of prescription opioid units shipped to Jefferson County’s geographic jurisdiction during 2009 to 2019. See DeCarlo Decl., Exhibit C (0.27% market share). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Jefferson County to add dispensing claims against Express Scripts’ mail order pharmacy entities. See Section III.A.2, above.

Failure to Timely Implement a Litigation Hold. Jefferson County violated its basic duty to implement a timely litigation hold. Jefferson County filed its original complaint on May 7, 2018, but waited until September 27, 2024 to implement a litigation hold—six years later. See People of the State of Illinois et al. v. AmerisourceBergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45539-DAP, ECF No. 1; see also ECF No. 5687-1 (Date Litigation Hold Implemented: September 27, 2024). This is a plain violation of this Court’s orders. ECF Nos. 232; 5455. Litigating Jefferson County’s case would force the parties and the Court to waste time and resources ascertaining the extent of Jefferson County's document destruction and the appropriate sanctions—just as the parties were forced to do in the three PBM bellwethers that failed to implement litigation holds until 2024. The PBMs are prejudiced by Jefferson County's disregard for its most basic discovery obligations as a litigant, compounded by the delay in seeking leave to amend, and Jefferson County therefore lacks good cause for leave to amend its complaint. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28 (denying leave to amend in part because the passage of time resulted in significant prejudice due to the loss of documents or records); see also Section III.A.4, above.

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Illinois law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Jefferson County's delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs' ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Illinois law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Jefferson County, a municipality in Illinois, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Jefferson County's proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Jefferson County filed its original complaint on May 7, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See People of the State of Illinois et al. v. AmerisourceBergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45539-DAP, ECF No. 1. It is therefore indisputable that Jefferson County knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend. Jefferson County's RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO's four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by "discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim" (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Jefferson County's request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Jefferson County, a municipality in Illinois, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester's complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

492. Henry County, Alabama v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45543-DAP: Plaintiff Henry County, Alabama

Henry County's untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Henry County failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Henry County also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, failure to implement a litigation hold, failure to submit a complete plaintiff fact sheet, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Henry County's motion should be denied due to futility, as Henry County does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its proposed public nuisance claim is barred by the statute of limitations, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Henry County was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Henry County filed its original complaint on April 17, 2018 and the case was transferred to the MDL on May 8, 2018. See Henry County, Alabama v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45543-DAP, ECF No. 27. Henry County could have amended its complaint, without leave, to add claims against the PBMs in 2019. See Section II.A.1, above. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Henry County elected not to do so. Instead, Henry County waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Henry County's lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order's deadline because plaintiff "had all the information [she] needed" to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a "wait-and-see approach" instead of timely moving to amend).

OptumRx's Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to Henry County's geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson Decl. (0.01% market share for Henry County). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Henry County to add dispensing claims against OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Failure to Implement a Litigation Hold. Henry County filed its original complaint on April 17, 2018. See Henry County, Alabama v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45543-DAP, ECF No. 1. Despite filing its case years ago, Henry County never implemented a litigation hold, in violation of this Court's orders (ECF Nos. 232; 5455). See ECF No. 5687-1 (Date Litigation Hold Implemented: Never). Litigating Henry County's case would force the parties and the Court to waste time and resources ascertaining the extent of Henry County's document destruction and the appropriate sanctions—just as the parties were forced to do in the three PBM bellwethers that failed to implement litigation holds until 2024. The PBMs are prejudiced by Henry County's disregard for its most basic discovery obligations as a litigant, compounded by the delay in seeking leave to amend, and Henry County therefore lacks good cause for leave to amend its complaint. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28 (denying leave to amend in part because the passage of time resulted in significant prejudice due to the loss of documents or records); see also Section III.A.4, above.

Failure to Prosecute. In its Plaintiff Fact Sheet, Henry County failed to provide complete answers to Questions I.B.8 and I.B.9, relating to Henry County's health plans, carriers, third party administrators, and pharmacy benefit managers throughout the relevant time period. The PBMs notified Henry County of this deficiency on September 16, 2024 (see Exhibit B), but Henry County refused to amend or supplement its Fact Sheet. Under this Court's orders, Henry County's case is therefore subject to "dismiss[al] with prejudice" for failure to prosecute. ECF No. 4985 at 1 (emphasis in original); see Section III.A.5, above. Henry County's refusal to provide basic information related to its health care plans prejudices the PBMs' ability to defend against Henry County's potential claims against them. Henry County's failure to diligently prosecute its case, coupled with the prejudice against the PBMs, negates any finding of good cause and leave to amend should be denied. See Final Amendment Order, ECF No. 5455 at 2 (directing counsel to dismiss, not seek leave to amend, in any case that "plaintiffs' counsel does not intend to zealously pursue in litigation"); Range, 2017 WL 9477693, at *4 n.6 (denying motion for leave to amend as moot because claims were dismissed for failure to prosecute).

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Alabama law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Henry County's delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs' ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Alabama law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Henry County, a municipality in Alabama, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Henry County’s proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Henry County filed its original complaint on April 17, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See Henry County, Alabama v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45543-DAP, ECF No. 1. It is therefore indisputable that Henry County knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend. Henry County’s RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO’s four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by “discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim” (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Henry County’s request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Public Nuisance Statute of Limitations. In Alabama, public-nuisance claims are subject to a two-year limitations period. Henry County’s public-nuisance claim against the PBMs is therefore time-barred because Henry County sought leave to amend its complaint on July 29, 2024—six years after filing its original complaint on April 17, 2018—and the proposed amendment does not relate back to the original filing for purposes of the applicable statute of limitations. See Zakora, 44 F.4th at 480 (“This court has repeatedly held that an amendment which adds a new party creates a new cause of action and there is no relation back to the original filing for purposes of limitations.” (cleaned up)).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Henry County lacks statutory standing to assert a public nuisance claim under Alabama law because it “is clearly not an individual, nor a city, nor the [s]tate,” and thus amendment is futile. Lee County, 2022 WL 450810, at *4 (concluding an Alabama county lacked standing to bring a Ala. Code § 6-5-121 claim); see Section III.B.3, above.

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Henry County, a municipality in Alabama, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester’s complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

493. City of Tuskegee, Alabama v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45544-DAP: Plaintiff Tuskegee City, Alabama

Tuskegee City’s untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Tuskegee City failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Tuskegee City also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, failure to implement a litigation hold, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Tuskegee City’s motion should be denied due to futility, as Tuskegee City does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its proposed public nuisance claim is barred by the statute of limitations, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Tuskegee City was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Tuskegee City filed its original complaint on April 19, 2018 and the case was transferred to the MDL on May 8, 2018. See City of Tuskegee, Alabama v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No.

1:18-op-45544-DAP, ECF No. 23. Tuskegee City could have amended its complaint, without leave, to add claims against the PBMs in 2019. See Section II.A.1, above. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Tuskegee City elected not to do so. Instead, Tuskegee City waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Tuskegee City's lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order's deadline because plaintiff "had all the information [she] needed" to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a "wait-and-see approach" instead of timely moving to amend).

OptumRx's Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to Tuskegee City's geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson Decl. (0.21% market share for Tuskegee City). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Tuskegee City to add dispensing claims against OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Express Scripts' Mail Order Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of prescription opioid units shipped to Tuskegee City's geographic jurisdiction during 2009 to 2019. See DeCarlo Decl., Exhibit C (0.01% market share). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Tuskegee City to add dispensing claims against Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy entities. See Section III.A.2, above.

Failure to Implement a Litigation Hold. Tuskegee City filed its original complaint on April 19, 2018. See City of Tuskegee, Alabama v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45544-DAP, ECF No. 1. Despite filing its case years ago, Tuskegee City never implemented a litigation hold, in violation of this Court’s orders (ECF Nos. 232; 5455). See ECF No. 5687-1 (Date Litigation Hold Implemented: Never). Litigating Tuskegee City’s case would force the parties and the Court to waste time and resources ascertaining the extent of Tuskegee City’s document destruction and the appropriate sanctions—just as the parties were forced to do in the three PBM bellwethers that failed to implement litigation holds until 2024. The PBMs are prejudiced by Tuskegee City’s disregard for its most basic discovery obligations as a litigant, compounded by the delay in seeking leave to amend, and Tuskegee City therefore lacks good cause for leave to amend its complaint. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28 (denying leave to amend in part because the passage of time resulted in significant prejudice due to the loss of documents or records); see also Section III.A.4, above.

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Alabama law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Tuskegee City’s delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs’ ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Alabama law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Tuskegee City, a municipality in Alabama, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Tuskegee City’s proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Tuskegee City filed its original complaint on April 19, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See City of Tuskegee, Alabama v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45544-DAP, ECF No. 1. It is therefore indisputable that Tuskegee City knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend. Tuskegee City’s RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO’s four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by “discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim” (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Tuskegee City’s request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Public Nuisance Statute of Limitations. In Alabama, public-nuisance claims are subject to a two-year limitations period. Tuskegee City’s public-nuisance claim against the PBMs is therefore time-barred because Tuskegee City sought leave to amend its complaint on July 29, 2024—six years after filing its original complaint on April 19, 2018—and the proposed amendment does not relate back to the original filing for purposes of the applicable statute of limitations. See Zakora, 44 F.4th at 480 (“This court has repeatedly held that an amendment which adds a new party creates a new cause of action and there is no relation back to the original filing for purposes of limitations.” (cleaned up)).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Tuskegee City, a municipality in Alabama, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester’s complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

494. City of Wilkes Barre, Pennsylvania v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45545-DAP: Plaintiff Wilkes-Barre City, Pennsylvania

Wilkes-Barre City's untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Wilkes-Barre City failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Wilkes-Barre City also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Wilkes-Barre City's motion should be denied due to futility, as Wilkes-Barre City does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Wilkes-Barre City was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Wilkes-Barre City amended its complaint on March 5, 2019, after transfer to the MDL on May 8, 2018. See City of Wilkes Barre, Pennsylvania v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45545-DAP, ECF No. 6. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Wilkes-Barre City declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaint. See Section II.A.1, above. Wilkes-Barre City's deadline to amend was in 2019. Wilkes-Barre City waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Wilkes-Barre City's lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order's deadline because plaintiff "had all the information [she] needed" to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a "wait-and-see approach" instead of timely moving to amend).

Prior Notice Through Counsel. Wilkes-Barre City cannot meet the Rule 16 good cause standard because it is represented by the same counsel—Greene, Ketchum, Farrell, Bailey &

Tweel, LLP; Powell & Majestro; Baron & Budd, P.C.; Levin, Papantonio, Thomas, Mitchell, Rafferty & Proctor, P.A.; and McHugh Fuller Law Group, PLLC—that filed claims against the PBMs in 2019. See MDL ECF No. 2582. Wilkes-Barre City, through its counsel, was on notice of potential claims against the PBMs and could readily have amended its complaint to add the PBMs much earlier. Wilkes-Barre City fails to explain why it was unable to assert claims against the PBMs in 2019 when its own attorneys were already asserting those claims on behalf of other clients. See, e.g., Duggins, 195 F.3d at 834 (affirming denial of leave to amend after the close of discovery when the “plaintiff was obviously aware of the basis of the claim for many months, especially since some underlying facts were made a part of the complaint”); Thurmond, 649 F. App’x at 1006 (affirming denial of leave to amend for undue delay in part because plaintiff’s counsel had access to discovery in related cases and was previously aware of the proposed new defendants’ conduct).

OptumRx’s Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to Wilkes-Barre City’s geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson Decl. (0.004% market share for Wilkes-Barre City). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Wilkes-Barre City to add dispensing claims against OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Express Scripts’ Mail Order Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. Express Scripts’ mail order pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of prescription opioid units shipped to Wilkes-Barre City’s geographic jurisdiction during 2009 to 2019. See DeCarlo Decl., Exhibit C (0.12% market share). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Wilkes-Barre City to add dispensing claims against Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy entities. See Section III.A.2, above.

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Pennsylvania law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Wilkes-Barre City's delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs' ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Pennsylvania law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Wilkes-Barre City, a municipality in Pennsylvania, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Wilkes-Barre City's proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Wilkes-Barre City filed its original complaint on April 20, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See City of Wilkes Barre, Pennsylvania v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45545-DAP, ECF No. 1. It is therefore indisputable that Wilkes-Barre City knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend. Wilkes-Barre City's RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO's four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by "discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim" (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Wilkes-Barre City's request for leave to amend to add a

RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Wilkes-Barre City, a municipality in Pennsylvania, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester’s complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

495. Harrison County Board of Commissioners v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45547-DAP: Plaintiff Harrison County, Ohio

Harrison County’s untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Harrison County previously dismissed its claims against some of the PBMs with prejudice in another case. Moreover, Harrison County failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Harrison County also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, failure to submit a complete plaintiff fact sheet, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Harrison County’s motion should be denied due to futility, as Harrison County does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its proposed public nuisance claim is barred by state law in Ohio, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Prior Dismissal with Prejudice. Harrison County previously dismissed its claims against Express Scripts Holding Company, n/k/a Evernorth Health, Inc.; Express Scripts, Inc.; Medco Health Solutions, Inc.; Merck-Medco, n/k/a Medco Health Solutions, Inc.; UnitedHealth Group Incorporated; Optum, Inc.; and OptumRx, Inc.; with prejudice in another case. See County of Cuyahoga et al. v. Mylan Pharms., Inc. et al., Case No. 1:23-op-45003 (N.D. Ohio), ECF No. 50. That dismissal “operates as a final adjudication on the merits and has a res judicata effect.” Warfield, 267 F.3d at 542; see also Taylor, 21 F. App’x at 266 (“A dismissal with prejudice [by stipulation of the parties] operates as a rejection of the plaintiff’s claims on the merits and the doctrine of claim preclusion bars further litigation.”). Harrison County’s proposed claims against Express Scripts Holding Company, n/k/a Evernorth Health, Inc.; Express Scripts, Inc.; Medco Health Solutions, Inc.; Merck-Medco, n/k/a Medco Health Solutions, Inc.; UnitedHealth Group Incorporated; Optum, Inc.; and OptumRx, Inc.; are therefore barred by res judicata and leave to amend should be denied as futile. See Gale, 142 F. Supp. 3d at 554–55 (“[A] stipulated dismissal with prejudice constitutes an adjudication on the merits” and denying motion for leave to amend complaint when “[p]laintiffs fail to allege any claim within this Court’s federal question jurisdiction that would not be barred by res judicata.”).

Lack of Diligence. Harrison County was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Harrison County amended its complaint on March 18, 2019, after transfer to the MDL on May 9, 2018. See Harrison County Board of Commissioners v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45547-DAP, ECF No. 15. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Harrison County declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaint. See Section II.A.1, above. Harrison County’s deadline to amend was in 2019. Harrison County waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Harrison County’s lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order’s deadline because plaintiff “had all the information [she] needed” to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a “wait-and-see approach” instead of timely moving to amend).

Prior Notice Through Counsel. Harrison County cannot meet the Rule 16 good cause standard because it is represented by the same counsel—Napoli Shkolnik, PLLC—that have been bringing claims against the PBMs since 2019. Harrison County—through its counsel—was on notice of potential claims against the PBMs and could readily have amended its complaint to add the PBMs much earlier. Harrison County fails to explain why it was unable to assert claims against the PBMs in 2019 when its own attorneys were already asserting those claims on behalf of other clients. See, e.g., Duggins, 195 F.3d at 834 (affirming denial of leave to amend after the close of discovery when the “plaintiff was obviously aware of the basis of the claim for many months, especially since some underlying facts were made a part of the complaint”); Thurmond, 649 F. App’x at 1006 (affirming denial of leave to amend for undue delay in part because plaintiff’s counsel had access to discovery in related cases and was previously aware of the proposed new defendants’ conduct).

OptumRx’s Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to Harrison County’s geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson Decl. (0.12% market share for Harrison County). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Harrison County to add dispensing claims against OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Express Scripts’ Mail Order Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. Express Scripts’ mail order pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of prescription opioid units shipped to Harrison County’s geographic jurisdiction during 2009 to 2019. See DeCarlo Decl., Exhibit C (0.45% market share). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Harrison County to add dispensing claims against Express Scripts’ mail order pharmacy entities. See Section III.A.2, above.

Failure to Prosecute. In its Plaintiff Fact Sheet, Harrison County failed to provide complete answers to Questions I.B.8 and I.B.9, relating to Harrison County’s health plans, carriers, third party administrators, and pharmacy benefit managers throughout the relevant time period. The PBMs notified Harrison County of this deficiency on September 16, 2024 (see Exhibit B), but Harrison County refused to amend or supplement its Fact Sheet. Under this Court’s orders, Harrison County’s case is therefore subject to “dismiss[al] with prejudice” for failure to prosecute. ECF No. 4985 at 1 (emphasis in original); see Section III.A.5, above. Harrison County’s refusal to provide basic information related to its health care plans prejudices the PBMs’ ability to defend against Harrison County’s potential claims against them. Harrison County’s failure to diligently prosecute its case, coupled with the prejudice against the PBMs, negates any finding of good cause and leave to amend should be denied. See Final Amendment Order, ECF No. 5455 at 2 (directing counsel to dismiss, not seek leave to amend, in any case that “plaintiffs’ counsel does not intend to zealously pursue in litigation”); Range, 2017 WL 9477693, at *4 n.6 (denying motion for leave to amend as moot because claims were dismissed for failure to prosecute).

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Ohio law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Harrison County’s delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs’ ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Ohio law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Harrison County, a municipality in Ohio, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

Plaintiff's Public Nuisance Claim is Futile. Harrison County is a plaintiff in Ohio. Harrison County's request for leave to add the PBMs as defendants to a public nuisance claim should be denied as futile because "all common-law public-nuisance claims arising from the sale of a product have been abrogated by the Ohio Product Liability Act." In re Nat'l Prescription Opiate Litig., 2024 WL 5049302, at *1, 2024-OHIO-5744, ¶ 1; see Section III.B.3, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Harrison County's proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Harrison County filed its amended complaint on March 18, 2019, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See Harrison County Board of Commissioners v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45547-DAP, ECF No. 15. It is therefore indisputable that Harrison County knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, five years before seeking leave to amend. Harrison County's RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO's four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by "discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim" (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Harrison County's request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Harrison County, a municipality in Ohio, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester's complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

496. Mayor and Alderman of the City of Savannah v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45550-DAP: Plaintiff Savannah City, Georgia

Savannah City's untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Savannah City failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint.

Savannah City also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, failure to implement a litigation hold, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Savannah City's motion should be denied due to futility, as Savannah City does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Savannah City was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Savannah City amended its complaint on March 15, 2019, after transfer to the MDL on May 9, 2018. See Mayor and Alderman of the City of Savannah v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45550-DAP, ECF No. 24. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Savannah City declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaint. See Section II.A.1, above. Savannah City's deadline to amend was in 2019. Savannah City waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Savannah City's lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order's deadline because plaintiff "had all the information [she] needed" to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a "wait-and-see approach" instead of timely moving to amend).

Prior Notice Through Counsel. Savannah City cannot meet the Rule 16 good cause standard because it is represented by the same counsel—Motley Rice LLC—that filed claims against the PBMs in 2019. See MDL ECF No. 2582. Savannah City, through its counsel, was on notice of potential claims against the PBMs and could readily have amended its complaint to add the PBMs much earlier. Savannah City fails to explain why it was unable to assert claims against the PBMs in 2019 when its own attorneys were already asserting those claims on behalf of other clients. See, e.g., Duggins, 195 F.3d at 834 (affirming denial of leave to amend after the close of discovery when the “plaintiff was obviously aware of the basis of the claim for many months, especially since some underlying facts were made a part of the complaint”); Thurmond, 649 F. App’x at 1006 (affirming denial of leave to amend for undue delay in part because plaintiff’s counsel had access to discovery in related cases and was previously aware of the proposed new defendants’ conduct).

OptumRx’s Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to Savannah City’s geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson Decl. (0.06% market share for Savannah City). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Savannah City to add dispensing claims against OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Express Scripts’ Mail Order Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. Express Scripts’ mail order pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of prescription opioid units shipped to Savannah City’s geographic jurisdiction during 2009 to 2019. See DeCarlo Decl., Exhibit C (0.21% market share). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Savannah City to add dispensing claims against Express Scripts’ mail order pharmacy entities. See Section III.A.2, above.

Prior Notice as an Express Scripts Client. Savannah City previously entered into a contract with Express Scripts for PBM services related to utilization management and formulary development. See Achter Decl., Exhibit A. That contract notified Savannah City of the PBM services Express Scripts provides and Savannah City began receiving those services on January 1, 2010. See id. Inasmuch as Savannah City seeks to add claims against Express Scripts entities related to utilization management or formulary placement (see, e.g., Rochester Am. Compl. ¶¶ 733, 741, 786–816, 821–22, 845), Savannah City knew or should have known of the alleged wrongful conduct more than ten years before moving to amend. See Section III.A.3, above. Savannah City’s delay in seeking leave to amend negates any finding of good cause for leave to amend. Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (denying motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order’s deadline because plaintiff “had all the information [she] needed” to bring claims before the deadline).

Failure to Implement a Litigation Hold. Savannah City filed its original complaint on April 17, 2018. See Mayor and Alderman of the City of Savannah v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45550-DAP, ECF No. 1. Despite filing its case years ago, Savannah City never implemented a litigation hold, in violation of this Court’s orders (ECF Nos. 232; 5455). See ECF No. 5687-1 (Date Litigation Hold Implemented: Never). Litigating Savannah City’s case would force the parties and the Court to waste time and resources ascertaining the extent of Savannah City’s document destruction and the appropriate sanctions—just as the parties were forced to do in the three PBM bellwethers that failed to implement litigation holds until 2024. The PBMs are prejudiced by Savannah City’s disregard for its most basic discovery obligations as a litigant, compounded by the delay in seeking leave to amend, and Savannah City therefore lacks good cause for leave to amend its complaint. See Pethel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28 (denying leave to amend in part because the passage of time resulted in significant prejudice due to the loss of documents or records); see also Section III.A.4, above.

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Georgia law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Savannah City’s delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs’ ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Georgia law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Savannah City, a municipality in Georgia, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Savannah City’s proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Savannah City filed its original complaint on April 17, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See Mayor and Alderman of the City of Savannah v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45550-DAP, ECF No. 1. It is therefore indisputable that Savannah City knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend. Savannah City’s RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO’s four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by “discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim” (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Savannah City’s request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Savannah City, a municipality in Georgia, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester's complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

497. Miami-Dade County, Florida v. AmerisourceBergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45552-DAP: Plaintiff Miami-Dade County, Florida

Miami-Dade County's untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Miami-Dade County failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Miami-Dade County also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Miami-Dade County's motion should be denied due to futility, as Miami-Dade County does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its proposed public nuisance claim is barred by the statute of limitations, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Miami-Dade County was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Miami-Dade County amended its complaint on March 15, 2019, after transfer to the MDL on May 9, 2018. See Miami-Dade County, Florida v. AmerisourceBergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45552-DAP, ECF No. 7. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Miami-Dade County declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaint. See Section II.A.1, above. Miami-Dade County's deadline to amend was in 2019. Miami-Dade County waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Miami-Dade County's lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order's deadline because plaintiff "had all the information [she] needed" to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a “wait-and-see approach” instead of timely moving to amend).

Prior Notice Through Counsel. Miami-Dade County cannot meet the Rule 16 good cause standard because it is represented by the same counsel—Levin, Papantonio, Thomas, Mitchell, Rafferty & Proctor, P.A., and McHugh Fuller Law Group, PLLC—that filed claims against the PBMs in 2019. See MDL ECF No. 2582. Miami-Dade County, through its counsel, was on notice of potential claims against the PBMs and could readily have amended its complaint to add the PBMs much earlier. Miami-Dade County fails to explain why it was unable to assert claims against the PBMs in 2019 when its own attorneys were already asserting those claims on behalf of other clients. See, e.g., Duggins, 195 F.3d at 834 (affirming denial of leave to amend after the close of discovery when the “plaintiff was obviously aware of the basis of the claim for many months, especially since some underlying facts were made a part of the complaint”); Thurmond, 649 F. App’x at 1006 (affirming denial of leave to amend for undue delay in part because plaintiff’s counsel had access to discovery in related cases and was previously aware of the proposed new defendants’ conduct).

Express Scripts’ Mail Order Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. Express Scripts’ mail order pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of prescription opioid units shipped to Miami-Dade County’s geographic jurisdiction during 2009 to 2019. See DeCarlo Decl., Exhibit C (0.45% market share). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Miami-Dade County to add dispensing claims against Express Scripts’ mail order pharmacy entities. See Section III.A.2, above.

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Florida law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Miami-Dade County’s delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs' ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Florida law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Miami-Dade County, a municipality in Florida, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Miami-Dade County's proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Miami-Dade County filed its original complaint on April 23, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See Miami-Dade County, Florida v. AmerisourceBergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45552-DAP, ECF No. 1. It is therefore indisputable that Miami-Dade County knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend. Miami-Dade County's RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO's four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by "discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim" (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Miami-Dade County's request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Public Nuisance Statute of Limitations. In Florida, public-nuisance claims are subject to a four-year limitations period. Miami-Dade County's public-nuisance claim against the PBMs is therefore time-barred because Miami-Dade County sought leave to amend its complaint on July 29, 2024—six years after filing its original complaint on April 23, 2018—and the proposed amendment does not relate back to the original filing for purposes of the applicable statute of limitations. See Zakora, 44 F.4th at 480 (“This court has repeatedly held that an amendment which adds a new party creates a new cause of action and there is no relation back to the original filing for purposes of limitations.” (cleaned up)).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Miami-Dade County, a municipality in Florida, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester’s complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

498. City of Tuscaloosa, Alabama v. Cardinal Health Inc et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45553-DAP: Plaintiff Tuscaloosa City, Alabama

Tuscaloosa City’s untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Tuscaloosa City failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Tuscaloosa City also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, failure to implement a litigation hold, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Tuscaloosa City’s motion should be denied due to futility, as Tuscaloosa City does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its proposed public nuisance claim is barred by the statute of limitations, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Tuscaloosa City was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Tuscaloosa City amended its complaint on March 15, 2019, after transfer to the MDL on May 9, 2018. See City of Tuscaloosa, Alabama v. Cardinal Health Inc et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45553-DAP, ECF No. 32. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Tuscaloosa City declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaint. See Section II.A.1, above. Tuscaloosa City’s deadline to amend was in 2019. Tuscaloosa City waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Tuscaloosa City's lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order's deadline because plaintiff "had all the information [she] needed" to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a "wait-and-see approach" instead of timely moving to amend).

OptumRx's Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to Tuscaloosa City's geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson Decl. (0.01% market share for Tuscaloosa City). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Tuscaloosa City to add dispensing claims against OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Express Scripts' Mail Order Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of prescription opioid units shipped to Tuscaloosa City's geographic jurisdiction during 2009 to 2019. See DeCarlo Decl., Exhibit C (0.33% market share). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Tuscaloosa City to add dispensing claims against Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy entities. See Section III.A.2, above.

Failure to Implement a Litigation Hold. Tuscaloosa City filed its original complaint on April 20, 2018. See City of Tuscaloosa, Alabama v. Cardinal Health Inc et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45553-DAP, ECF No. 1. Despite filing its case years ago, Tuscaloosa City never implemented a litigation hold, in violation of this Court's orders (ECF Nos. 232; 5455). See ECF No. 5687-1

(Date Litigation Hold Implemented: Never). Litigating Tuscaloosa City's case would force the parties and the Court to waste time and resources ascertaining the extent of Tuscaloosa City's document destruction and the appropriate sanctions—just as the parties were forced to do in the three PBM bellwethers that failed to implement litigation holds until 2024. The PBMs are prejudiced by Tuscaloosa City's disregard for its most basic discovery obligations as a litigant, compounded by the delay in seeking leave to amend, and Tuscaloosa City therefore lacks good cause for leave to amend its complaint. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28 (denying leave to amend in part because the passage of time resulted in significant prejudice due to the loss of documents or records); see also Section III.A.4, above.

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Alabama law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Tuscaloosa City's delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs' ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Alabama law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Tuscaloosa City, a municipality in Alabama, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Tuscaloosa City's proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Tuscaloosa City filed its original complaint on April 20, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See City of Tuscaloosa, Alabama v. Cardinal Health Inc et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45553-DAP, ECF No. 1. It is therefore indisputable that Tuscaloosa City knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend. Tuscaloosa City's RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO's four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by "discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim" (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Tuscaloosa City's request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Public Nuisance Statute of Limitations. In Alabama, public-nuisance claims are subject to a two-year limitations period. Tuscaloosa City's public-nuisance claim against the PBMs is therefore time-barred because Tuscaloosa City sought leave to amend its complaint on July 29, 2024—six years after filing its original complaint on April 20, 2018—and the proposed amendment does not relate back to the original filing for purposes of the applicable statute of limitations. See Zakora, 44 F.4th at 480 ("This court has repeatedly held that an amendment which adds a new party creates a new cause of action and there is no relation back to the original filing for purposes of limitations." (cleaned up)).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Tuscaloosa City, a municipality in Alabama, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester's complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

499. Town of Brewster v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45556-DAP: Plaintiff Brewster Town, Massachusetts

Brewster Town's untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Brewster Town failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Brewster Town also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, failure to implement a litigation hold, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs.

Moreover, Brewster Town's motion should be denied due to futility, as Brewster Town does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its proposed public nuisance claim is barred by the statute of limitations, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Brewster Town was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Brewster Town amended its complaint on March 6, 2019, after transfer to the MDL on May 10, 2018. See Town of Brewster v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45556-DAP, ECF No. 9. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Brewster Town declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaint. See Section II.A.1, above. Brewster Town's deadline to amend was in 2019. Brewster Town waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Brewster Town's lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order's deadline because plaintiff "had all the information [she] needed" to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a "wait-and-see approach" instead of timely moving to amend).

Prior Notice Through Counsel. Brewster Town cannot meet the Rule 16 good cause standard because it is represented by the same counsel—Greene, Ketchum, Farrell, Bailey & Tweel, LLP; Powell & Majestro; Baron & Budd, P.C.; Levin, Papantonio, Thomas, Mitchell, Rafferty & Proctor, P.A.; and McHugh Fuller Law Group, PLLC—that filed claims against the PBMs in 2019. See MDL ECF No. 2582. Brewster Town, through its counsel, was on notice of potential claims against the PBMs and could readily have amended its complaint to add the PBMs much earlier. Brewster Town fails to explain why it was unable to assert claims against the PBMs

in 2019 when its own attorneys were already asserting those claims on behalf of other clients. See, e.g., Duggins, 195 F.3d at 834 (affirming denial of leave to amend after the close of discovery when the “plaintiff was obviously aware of the basis of the claim for many months, especially since some underlying facts were made a part of the complaint”); Thurmond, 649 F. App’x at 1006 (affirming denial of leave to amend for undue delay in part because plaintiff’s counsel had access to discovery in related cases and was previously aware of the proposed new defendants’ conduct).

Express Scripts’ PBM Has No Market Share. Express Scripts’ PBM processed zero claims for prescription opioids in Brewster Town’s geographic jurisdiction during 2009 to 2019. See DeCarlo Decl., Exhibit A. Because Express Scripts’ PBM “ha[s] no market share, they shouldn’t be in the case, period.” ECF No. 3685 at 6:9–14; see Section III.A.2, above.

Failure to Implement a Litigation Hold. Brewster Town filed its original complaint on April 5, 2018. See Town of Brewster v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45556-DAP, ECF No. 1. Despite filing its case years ago, Brewster Town never implemented a litigation hold and is instead purporting to rely on non-specific and unidentified document retention laws. See ECF No. 5687-1 (Date Litigation Hold Implemented: *(Never)). This is a plain violation of this Court’s orders. ECF Nos. 232; 5455. Litigating Brewster Town’s case would force the parties and the Court to waste time and resources ascertaining the extent of Brewster Town’s document destruction and the appropriate sanctions—just as the parties were forced to do in the three PBM bellwethers that failed to implement litigation holds until 2024. The PBMs are prejudiced by Brewster Town’s disregard for its most basic discovery obligations as a litigant, compounded by the delay in seeking leave to amend, and Brewster Town therefore lacks good cause for leave to amend its complaint. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28 (denying leave to amend in part because the passage of time resulted in significant prejudice due to the loss of documents or records); see also Section III.A.4, above.

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Massachusetts law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Brewster Town’s delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs’ ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Massachusetts law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Brewster Town, a municipality in Massachusetts, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Brewster Town’s proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Brewster Town filed its original complaint on April 5, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See Town of Brewster v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45556-DAP, ECF No. 1. It is therefore indisputable that Brewster Town knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend. Brewster Town’s RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO’s four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by “discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim” (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Brewster Town’s request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Public Nuisance Statute of Limitations. In Massachusetts, public-nuisance claims are subject to a three-year limitations period. Brewster Town’s public-nuisance claim against the PBMs is therefore time-barred because Brewster Town sought leave to amend its complaint on July 29, 2024—six years after filing its original complaint on April 5, 2018—and the proposed amendment does not relate back to the original filing for purposes of the applicable statute of limitations. See Zakora, 44 F.4th at 480 (“This court has repeatedly held that an amendment which adds a new party creates a new cause of action and there is no relation back to the original filing for purposes of limitations.” (cleaned up)).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Brewster Town, a municipality in Massachusetts, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester’s complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

500. Jefferson County Alabama et al. v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45558-DAP: Plaintiff Jefferson County, Alabama

Jefferson County’s untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Jefferson County failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Jefferson County also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Jefferson County’s motion should be denied due to futility, as Jefferson County does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its proposed public nuisance claim is barred by the statute of limitations, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Jefferson County was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Jefferson County first amended its complaint on May 24, 2018. See Jefferson County Alabama et al. v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45558-DAP, ECF No. 14. Jefferson County amended its complaint again on March 15, 2019. See Jefferson County Alabama et al. v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45558-DAP, ECF Nos. 28, 29. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Jefferson County declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaints. See Section II.A.1, above. Jefferson County’s deadline to amend was in 2019. Jefferson County waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Jefferson County’s lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order’s deadline because plaintiff “had all the information [she] needed” to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a “wait-and-see approach” instead of timely moving to amend).

Prior Notice Through Counsel. Jefferson County cannot meet the Rule 16 good cause standard because it is represented by the same counsel—Napoli Shkolnik, PLLC—that have been bringing claims against the PBMs since 2019. Jefferson County—through its counsel—was on notice of potential claims against the PBMs and could readily have amended its complaint to add the PBMs much earlier. Jefferson County fails to explain why it was unable to assert claims against the PBMs in 2019 when its own attorneys were already asserting those claims on behalf of other clients. See, e.g., Duggins, 195 F.3d at 834 (affirming denial of leave to amend after the close of discovery when the “plaintiff was obviously aware of the basis of the claim for many months, especially since some underlying facts were made a part of the complaint”); Thurmond, 649 F.

App'x at 1006 (affirming denial of leave to amend for undue delay in part because plaintiff's counsel had access to discovery in related cases and was previously aware of the proposed new defendants' conduct).

OptumRx's Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to Jefferson County's geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson Decl. (0.03% market share for Jefferson County). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Jefferson County to add dispensing claims against OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Express Scripts' Mail Order Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of prescription opioid units shipped to Jefferson County's geographic jurisdiction during 2009 to 2019. See DeCarlo Decl., Exhibit C (0.17% market share). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Jefferson County to add dispensing claims against Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy entities. See Section III.A.2, above.

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Alabama law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Jefferson County's delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs' ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Alabama law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Jefferson County, a municipality in Alabama, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Jefferson County’s proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Jefferson County filed its original complaint on March 15, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries for which it now seeks to recover under RICO against the PBMs. See Jefferson County Alabama et al. v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45558-DAP, ECF Nos. 1-2; 1-3. Even assuming arguendo that Jefferson County first learned of its injury on the day it filed its original complaint, RICO’s four-year statute of limitations expired, at the very latest, on March 15, 2022. Jefferson County’s RICO claim is therefore time-barred. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by “discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim” (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Jefferson County’s request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Public Nuisance Statute of Limitations. In Alabama, public-nuisance claims are subject to a two-year limitations period. Jefferson County’s public-nuisance claim against the PBMs is therefore time-barred because Jefferson County sought leave to amend its complaint on July 29, 2024—six years after filing its original complaint on April 19, 2018—and the proposed amendment does not relate back to the original filing for purposes of the applicable statute of limitations. See Zakora, 44 F.4th at 480 (“This court has repeatedly held that an amendment which adds a new party creates a new cause of action and there is no relation back to the original filing for purposes of limitations.” (cleaned up)).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Jefferson County lacks statutory standing to assert a public nuisance claim under Alabama law because it “is clearly not an individual, nor a city, nor the [s]tate,” and thus amendment is futile. Lee County, 2022 WL 450810, at *4 (concluding an Alabama county lacked standing to bring a Ala. Code § 6-5-121 claim); see Section III.B.3, above.

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Jefferson County, a municipality in Alabama, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester’s complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

501. Town of Billerica v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45560-DAP: Plaintiff Billerica Town, Massachusetts

Billerica Town’s untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Billerica Town failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Billerica Town also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Billerica Town’s motion should be denied due to futility, as Billerica Town does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its proposed public nuisance claim is barred by the statute of limitations, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Billerica Town was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Billerica Town amended its complaint on March 8, 2019, after transfer to the MDL on May 11, 2018. See Town of Billerica v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45560-DAP, ECF No. 9. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Billerica Town declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaint. See Section II.A.1, above. Billerica Town’s deadline to amend was in 2019. Billerica Town waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Billerica Town’s lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order’s deadline because plaintiff “had all the information [she] needed” to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a “wait-and-see approach” instead of timely moving to amend).

Prior Notice Through Counsel. Billerica Town cannot meet the Rule 16 good cause standard because it is represented by the same counsel—Greene, Ketchum, Farrell, Bailey & Tweel, LLP; Powell & Majestro; Baron & Budd, P.C.; Levin, Papantonio, Thomas, Mitchell, Rafferty & Proctor, P.A.; and McHugh Fuller Law Group, PLLC—that filed claims against the PBMs in 2019. See MDL ECF No. 2582. Billerica Town, through its counsel, was on notice of potential claims against the PBMs and could readily have amended its complaint to add the PBMs much earlier. Billerica Town fails to explain why it was unable to assert claims against the PBMs in 2019 when its own attorneys were already asserting those claims on behalf of other clients. See, e.g., Duggins, 195 F.3d at 834 (affirming denial of leave to amend after the close of discovery when the “plaintiff was obviously aware of the basis of the claim for many months, especially since some underlying facts were made a part of the complaint”); Thurmond, 649 F. App’x at 1006 (affirming denial of leave to amend for undue delay in part because plaintiff’s counsel had access to discovery in related cases and was previously aware of the proposed new defendants’ conduct).

OptumRx’s Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to Billerica Town’s geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson

Decl. (0.03% market share for Billerica Town). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Billerica Town to add dispensing claims against OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Express Scripts' Mail Order Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of prescription opioid units shipped to Billerica Town's geographic jurisdiction during 2009 to 2019. See DeCarlo Decl., Exhibit C (0.22% market share). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Billerica Town to add dispensing claims against Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy entities. See Section III.A.2, above.

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Massachusetts law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Billerica Town's delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs' ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Massachusetts law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Billerica Town, a municipality in Massachusetts, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Billerica Town's proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Billerica Town filed its original complaint on April 5, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See

Town of Billerica v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45560-DAP, ECF No. 1. It is therefore indisputable that Billerica Town knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend. Billerica Town’s RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO’s four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by “discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim” (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Billerica Town’s request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Public Nuisance Statute of Limitations. In Massachusetts, public-nuisance claims are subject to a three-year limitations period. Billerica Town’s public-nuisance claim against the PBMs is therefore time-barred because Billerica Town sought leave to amend its complaint on July 29, 2024—six years after filing its original complaint on April 5, 2018—and the proposed amendment does not relate back to the original filing for purposes of the applicable statute of limitations. See Zakora, 44 F.4th at 480 (“This court has repeatedly held that an amendment which adds a new party creates a new cause of action and there is no relation back to the original filing for purposes of limitations.” (cleaned up)).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Billerica Town, a municipality in Massachusetts, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester’s complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

502. Dale County, Alabama v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45561-DAP: Plaintiff Dale County, Alabama

Dale County’s untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Dale County failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint.

Dale County also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, failure to implement a litigation hold, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Dale County's motion should be denied due to futility, as Dale County does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its proposed public nuisance claim is barred by the statute of limitations, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Dale County was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Dale County filed its original complaint on April 24, 2018 and the case was transferred to the MDL on May 11, 2018. See Dale County, Alabama v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45561-DAP, ECF No. 22. Dale County could have amended its complaint, without leave, to add claims against the PBMs in 2019. See Section II.A.1, above. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Dale County elected not to do so. Instead, Dale County waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Dale County's lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order's deadline because plaintiff "had all the information [she] needed" to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a "wait-and-see approach" instead of timely moving to amend).

OptumRx's Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to Dale County's geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson Decl. (0.01% market share for Dale County). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Dale County to add dispensing claims against OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Express Scripts' Mail Order Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of prescription opioid units shipped to Dale County's geographic jurisdiction during 2009 to 2019. See DeCarlo Decl., Exhibit C (0.12% market share). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Dale County to add dispensing claims against Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy entities. See Section III.A.2, above.

Failure to Implement a Litigation Hold. Dale County filed its original complaint on April 24, 2018. See Dale County, Alabama v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45561-DAP, ECF No. 1. Despite filing its case years ago, Dale County never implemented a litigation hold, in violation of this Court's orders (ECF Nos. 232; 5455). See ECF No. 5687-1 (Date Litigation Hold Implemented: Never). Litigating Dale County's case would force the parties and the Court to waste time and resources ascertaining the extent of Dale County's document destruction and the appropriate sanctions—just as the parties were forced to do in the three PBM bellwethers that failed to implement litigation holds until 2024. The PBMs are prejudiced by Dale County's disregard for its most basic discovery obligations as a litigant, compounded by the delay in seeking leave to amend, and Dale County therefore lacks good cause for leave to amend its complaint. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28 (denying leave to amend in part because the passage of time resulted in significant prejudice due to the loss of documents or records); see also Section III.A.4, above.

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Alabama law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Dale County’s delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs’ ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Alabama law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Dale County, a municipality in Alabama, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Dale County’s proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Dale County filed its original complaint on April 24, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See Dale County, Alabama v. Purdue Pharma L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45561-DAP, ECF No. 1. It is therefore indisputable that Dale County knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend. Dale County’s RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO’s four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by “discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim” (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Dale County’s request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Public Nuisance Statute of Limitations. In Alabama, public-nuisance claims are subject to a two-year limitations period. Dale County’s public-nuisance claim against the PBMs is therefore time-barred because Dale County sought leave to amend its complaint on July 29, 2024—six years after filing its original complaint on April 24, 2018—and the proposed amendment does not relate back to the original filing for purposes of the applicable statute of limitations. See Zakora, 44 F.4th at 480 (“This court has repeatedly held that an amendment which adds a new party creates a new cause of action and there is no relation back to the original filing for purposes of limitations.” (cleaned up)).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Dale County lacks statutory standing to assert a public nuisance claim under Alabama law because it “is clearly not an individual, nor a city, nor the [s]tate,” and thus amendment is futile. Lee County, 2022 WL 450810, at *4 (concluding an Alabama county lacked standing to bring a Ala. Code § 6-5-121 claim); see Section III.B.3, above.

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Dale County, a municipality in Alabama, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester’s complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

503. City of Hamilton, Alabama v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45564-DAP: Plaintiff Hamilton City, Alabama

Hamilton City’s untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Hamilton City failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Hamilton City also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, failure to implement a litigation hold, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Hamilton City’s motion should be denied due to futility, as Hamilton City does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its proposed public nuisance claim is barred by the statute of limitations, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Hamilton City was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Hamilton City amended its complaint on March 15, 2019, after transfer to the MDL on May 14, 2018. See City of Hamilton, Alabama v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45564-DAP, ECF No. 19. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Hamilton City declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaint. See Section II.A.1, above. Hamilton City’s deadline to amend was in 2019. Hamilton City waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Hamilton City’s lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order’s deadline because plaintiff “had all the information [she] needed” to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a “wait-and-see approach” instead of timely moving to amend).

Prior Notice Through Counsel. Hamilton City cannot meet the Rule 16 good cause standard because it is represented by the same counsel—Levin, Papantonio, Thomas, Mitchell, Rafferty & Proctor, P.A.—that filed claims against the PBMs in 2019. See MDL ECF No. 2582. Hamilton City, through its counsel, was on notice of potential claims against the PBMs and could readily have amended its complaint to add the PBMs much earlier. Hamilton City fails to explain why it was unable to assert claims against the PBMs in 2019 when its own attorneys were already asserting those claims on behalf of other clients. See, e.g., Duggins, 195 F.3d at 834 (affirming denial of leave to amend after the close of discovery when the “plaintiff was obviously aware of the basis of the claim for many months, especially since some underlying facts were made a part of the complaint”); Thurmond, 649 F. App’x at 1006 (affirming denial of leave to amend for undue delay in part because plaintiff's counsel had access to discovery in related cases and was previously aware of the proposed new defendants' conduct).

OptumRx's Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to Hamilton City's geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson Decl. (0.09% market share for Hamilton City). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Hamilton City to add dispensing claims against OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Express Scripts' Mail Order Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of prescription opioid units shipped to Hamilton City's geographic jurisdiction during 2009 to 2019. See DeCarlo Decl., Exhibit C (0.14% market share). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Hamilton City to add dispensing claims against Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy entities. See Section III.A.2, above.

Failure to Implement a Litigation Hold. Hamilton City filed its original complaint on May 14, 2018. See City of Hamilton, Alabama v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45564-DAP, ECF No. 1. Despite filing its case years ago, Hamilton City never implemented a litigation hold and is instead purporting to rely on non-specific and unidentified document retention laws. See ECF No. 5687-1 (Date Litigation Hold Implemented: *(Never)). This is a plain violation of this Court's orders. ECF Nos. 232; 5455. Litigating Hamilton City's case would force the parties and the Court to waste time and resources ascertaining the extent of Hamilton City's document destruction and the appropriate sanctions—just as the parties were forced to do in the three PBM bellwethers that failed to implement litigation holds until 2024. The PBMs are prejudiced by Hamilton City's disregard for its most basic discovery obligations as a litigant, compounded by the delay in seeking leave to amend, and Hamilton City therefore lacks good cause for leave to amend its complaint. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28 (denying leave to amend in part because the passage of time resulted in significant prejudice due to the loss of documents or records); see also Section III.A.4, above.

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Alabama law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Hamilton City's delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs' ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Alabama law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Hamilton City, a municipality in Alabama, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Hamilton City's proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Hamilton City filed its original complaint on April 4, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See City of Hamilton, Alabama v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45564-DAP, ECF No. 1. It is therefore indisputable that Hamilton City knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend. Hamilton City's RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO's four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by “discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim” (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Hamilton City’s request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Public Nuisance Statute of Limitations. In Alabama, public-nuisance claims are subject to a two-year limitations period. Hamilton City’s public-nuisance claim against the PBMs is therefore time-barred because Hamilton City sought leave to amend its complaint on July 29, 2024—six years after filing its original complaint on April 4, 2018—and the proposed amendment does not relate back to the original filing for purposes of the applicable statute of limitations. See Zakora, 44 F.4th at 480 (“This court has repeatedly held that an amendment which adds a new party creates a new cause of action and there is no relation back to the original filing for purposes of limitations.” (cleaned up)).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Hamilton City, a municipality in Alabama, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester’s complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

504. City of Weaver, Alabama v. Actavis LLC et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45565-DAP: Plaintiff Weaver City, Alabama

Weaver City’s untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Weaver City failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Weaver City also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, failure to implement a litigation hold, failure to submit a complete plaintiff fact sheet, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Weaver City’s motion should be denied due to futility, as Weaver City does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its proposed public nuisance claim is barred by the statute of limitations, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Weaver City was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Weaver City filed its original complaint on April 17, 2018 and the case was transferred to the MDL on May 14, 2018. See City of Weaver, Alabama v. Actavis LLC et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45565-DAP, ECF No. 14. Weaver City could have amended its complaint, without leave, to add claims against the PBMs in 2019. See Section II.A.1, above. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Weaver City elected not to do so. Instead, Weaver City waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Weaver City’s lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order’s deadline because plaintiff “had all the information [she] needed” to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a “wait-and-see approach” instead of timely moving to amend).

Express Scripts’ PBM Has No Market Share. Express Scripts’ PBM processed zero claims for prescription opioids in Weaver City’s geographic jurisdiction during 2009 to 2019. See DeCarlo Decl., Exhibit A. Because Express Scripts’ PBM “ha[s] no market share, they shouldn’t be in the case, period.” ECF No. 3685 at 6:9–14; see Section III.A.2, above.

Failure to Implement a Litigation Hold. Weaver City filed its original complaint on April 17, 2018. See City of Weaver, Alabama v. Actavis LLC et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45565-DAP, ECF No. 1. Despite filing its case years ago, Weaver City never implemented a litigation hold, in violation of this Court’s orders (ECF Nos. 232; 5455). See ECF No. 5687-1 (Date Litigation Hold Implemented: Never). Litigating Weaver City’s case would force the parties and the Court to waste time and resources ascertaining the extent of Weaver City’s document destruction and the appropriate sanctions—just as the parties were forced to do in the three PBM bellwethers that failed to implement litigation holds until 2024. The PBMs are prejudiced by Weaver City’s disregard for its most basic discovery obligations as a litigant, compounded by the delay in seeking leave to amend, and Weaver City therefore lacks good cause for leave to amend its complaint. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28 (denying leave to amend in part because the passage of time resulted in significant prejudice due to the loss of documents or records); see also Section III.A.4, above.

Failure to Prosecute. In its Plaintiff Fact Sheet, Weaver City failed to provide complete answers to Questions I.B.8 and I.B.9, relating to Weaver City’s health plans, carriers, third party administrators, and pharmacy benefit managers throughout the relevant time period. The PBMs notified Weaver City of this deficiency on September 16, 2024 (see Exhibit B), but Weaver City refused to amend or supplement its Fact Sheet. Under this Court’s orders, Weaver City’s case is therefore subject to “dismiss[al] with prejudice” for failure to prosecute. ECF No. 4985 at 1 (emphasis in original); see Section III.A.5, above. Weaver City’s refusal to provide basic information related to its health care plans prejudices the PBMs’ ability to defend against Weaver City’s potential claims against them. Weaver City’s failure to diligently prosecute its case, coupled with the prejudice against the PBMs, negates any finding of good cause and leave to amend should be denied. See Final Amendment Order, ECF No. 5455 at 2 (directing counsel to dismiss, not seek leave to amend, in any case that “plaintiffs’ counsel does not intend to zealously pursue in litigation”); Range, 2017 WL 9477693, at *4 n.6 (denying motion for leave to amend as moot because claims were dismissed for failure to prosecute).

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Alabama law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Weaver City’s delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs’ ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Alabama law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Weaver City, a municipality in Alabama, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Weaver City’s proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Weaver City filed its original complaint on April 17, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See City of Weaver, Alabama v. Actavis LLC et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45565-DAP, ECF No. 1. It is therefore indisputable that Weaver City knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend. Weaver City’s RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO’s four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by “discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim” (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Weaver City’s request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Public Nuisance Statute of Limitations. In Alabama, public-nuisance claims are subject to a two-year limitations period. Weaver City’s public-nuisance claim against the PBMs is therefore time-barred because Weaver City sought leave to amend its complaint on July 29, 2024—six years after filing its original complaint on April 17, 2018—and the proposed amendment does not relate back to the original filing for purposes of the applicable statute of limitations. See Zakora, 44 F.4th at 480 (“This court has repeatedly held that an amendment which adds a new party creates a new cause of action and there is no relation back to the original filing for purposes of limitations.” (cleaned up)).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Weaver City, a municipality in Alabama, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester’s complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

505. Cleburne County, Alabama v. Purdue Pharma L P et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45566-DAP: Plaintiff Cleburne County, Alabama

Cleburne County’s untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Cleburne County failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Cleburne County also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, failure to implement a litigation hold, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Cleburne County’s motion should be denied due to futility, as Cleburne County does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its proposed public nuisance claim is barred by the statute of limitations, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Cleburne County was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Cleburne County filed its original complaint on April 17, 2018 and the case was transferred to the MDL on May 14, 2018. See Cleburne County, Alabama v. Purdue Pharma L P et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45566-DAP, ECF No. 17. Cleburne County could have amended its complaint, without leave, to add claims against the PBMs in 2019. See Section II.A.1, above. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Cleburne County elected not to do so. Instead, Cleburne County waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Cleburne County’s lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order’s deadline because plaintiff “had all the information [she] needed” to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a “wait-and-see approach” instead of timely moving to amend).

OptumRx’s Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to Cleburne County’s geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson Decl. (0.17% market share for Cleburne County). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Cleburne County to add dispensing claims against OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Failure to Implement a Litigation Hold. Cleburne County filed its original complaint on April 17, 2018. See Cleburne County, Alabama v. Purdue Pharma L P et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45566-DAP, ECF No. 1. Despite filing its case years ago, Cleburne County never implemented a litigation hold, in violation of this Court’s orders (ECF Nos. 232; 5455). See ECF No. 5687-1 (Date Litigation Hold Implemented: Never). Litigating Cleburne County’s case would force the parties and the Court to waste time and resources ascertaining the extent of Cleburne County’s document destruction and the appropriate sanctions—just as the parties were forced to do in the three PBM bellwethers that failed to implement litigation holds until 2024. The PBMs are prejudiced by Cleburne County's disregard for its most basic discovery obligations as a litigant, compounded by the delay in seeking leave to amend, and Cleburne County therefore lacks good cause for leave to amend its complaint. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28 (denying leave to amend in part because the passage of time resulted in significant prejudice due to the loss of documents or records); see also Section III.A.4, above.

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Alabama law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Cleburne County's delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs' ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Alabama law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Cleburne County, a municipality in Alabama, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Cleburne County's proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Cleburne County filed its original complaint on April 17, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See Cleburne County, Alabama v. Purdue Pharma L P et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45566-DAP, ECF No. 1. It is therefore indisputable that Cleburne County knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend. Cleburne County's RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO's four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by "discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim” (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Cleburne County’s request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Public Nuisance Statute of Limitations. In Alabama, public-nuisance claims are subject to a two-year limitations period. Cleburne County’s public-nuisance claim against the PBMs is therefore time-barred because Cleburne County sought leave to amend its complaint on July 29, 2024—six years after filing its original complaint on April 17, 2018—and the proposed amendment does not relate back to the original filing for purposes of the applicable statute of limitations. See Zakora, 44 F.4th at 480 (“This court has repeatedly held that an amendment which adds a new party creates a new cause of action and there is no relation back to the original filing for purposes of limitations.” (cleaned up)).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Cleburne County lacks statutory standing to assert a public nuisance claim under Alabama law because it “is clearly not an individual, nor a city, nor the [s]tate,” and thus amendment is futile. Lee County, 2022 WL 450810, at *4 (concluding an Alabama county lacked standing to bring a Ala. Code § 6-5-121 claim); see Section III.B.3, above.

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Cleburne County, a municipality in Alabama, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester’s complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

506. Columbus Georgia v. AmerisourceBergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45567-DAP: Plaintiff Columbus City, Georgia

Columbus City’s untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Columbus City failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Columbus City also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, failure to timely implement a litigation hold, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Columbus City's motion should be denied due to futility, as Columbus City does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Columbus City was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Columbus City amended its complaint on March 12, 2019, after transfer to the MDL on May 14, 2018. See Columbus Georgia v. AmerisourceBergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45567-DAP, ECF No. 5. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Columbus City declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaint. See Section II.A.1, above. Columbus City's deadline to amend was in 2019. Columbus City waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Columbus City's lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order's deadline because plaintiff "had all the information [she] needed" to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a "wait-and-see approach" instead of timely moving to amend).

Prior Notice Through Counsel. Columbus City cannot meet the Rule 16 good cause standard because it is represented by the same counsel—Greene, Ketchum, Farrell, Bailey & Tweel, LLP; Powell & Majestro; Baron & Budd, P.C.; Levin, Papantonio, Thomas, Mitchell, Rafferty & Proctor, P.A.; and McHugh Fuller Law Group, PLLC—that filed claims against the PBMs in 2019. See MDL ECF No. 2582. Columbus City, through its counsel, was on notice of potential claims against the PBMs and could readily have amended its complaint to add the PBMs much earlier. Columbus City fails to explain why it was unable to assert claims against the PBMs

in 2019 when its own attorneys were already asserting those claims on behalf of other clients. See, e.g., Duggins, 195 F.3d at 834 (affirming denial of leave to amend after the close of discovery when the “plaintiff was obviously aware of the basis of the claim for many months, especially since some underlying facts were made a part of the complaint”); Thurmond, 649 F. App’x at 1006 (affirming denial of leave to amend for undue delay in part because plaintiff’s counsel had access to discovery in related cases and was previously aware of the proposed new defendants’ conduct).

OptumRx’s Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to Columbus City’s geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson Decl. (0.06% market share for Columbus City). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Columbus City to add dispensing claims against OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Express Scripts’ Mail Order Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. Express Scripts’ mail order pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of prescription opioid units shipped to Columbus City’s geographic jurisdiction during 2009 to 2019. See DeCarlo Decl., Exhibit C (0.22% market share). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Columbus City to add dispensing claims against Express Scripts’ mail order pharmacy entities. See Section III.A.2, above.

Prior Notice as an Express Scripts Client. Columbus City previously entered into a contract with Express Scripts for PBM services related to utilization management and formulary development. See Achter Decl., Exhibit A. That contract notified Columbus City of the PBM services Express Scripts provides and Columbus City began receiving those services on January 1, 2011. See id. Inasmuch as Columbus City seeks to add claims against Express Scripts entities related to utilization management or formulary placement (see, e.g., Rochester Am. Compl. ¶¶ 733, 741, 786–816, 821–22, 845), Columbus City knew or should have known of the alleged wrongful conduct more than ten years before moving to amend. See Section III.A.3, above. Columbus City’s delay in seeking leave to amend negates any finding of good cause for leave to amend. Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (denying motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order’s deadline because plaintiff “had all the information [she] needed” to bring claims before the deadline).

Failure to Timely Implement a Litigation Hold. Columbus City violated its basic duty to implement a timely litigation hold. Columbus City filed its original complaint on May 14, 2018, but waited until January 8, 2020 to implement a litigation hold—one year and eight months later. See Columbus Georgia v. AmerisourceBergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45567-DAP, ECF No. 1; see also ECF No. 5687-1 (Date Litigation Hold Implemented: January 8, 2020). This is a plain violation of this Court’s orders. ECF Nos. 232; 5455. Litigating Columbus City’s case would force the parties and the Court to waste time and resources ascertaining the extent of Columbus City’s document destruction and the appropriate sanctions—just as the parties were forced to do in the three PBM bellwethers that failed to implement litigation holds until 2024. The PBMs are prejudiced by Columbus City’s disregard for its most basic discovery obligations as a litigant, compounded by the delay in seeking leave to amend, and Columbus City therefore lacks good cause for leave to amend its complaint. See Pethel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28 (denying leave to amend in part because the passage of time resulted in significant prejudice due to the loss of documents or records); see also Section III.A.4, above.

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Georgia law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Columbus City’s delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs’ ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Georgia law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Columbus City, a municipality in Georgia, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Columbus City’s proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Columbus City filed its original complaint on April 25, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See Columbus Georgia v. AmerisourceBergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45567-DAP, ECF No. 1. It is therefore indisputable that Columbus City knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend. Columbus City’s RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO’s four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by “discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim” (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Columbus City’s request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Columbus City, a municipality in Georgia, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester’s complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

507. Overton County, Tennessee v. AmerisourceBergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45568-DAP: Plaintiff Overton County, Tennessee

Overton County’s untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Overton County failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Overton County also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, failure to implement a litigation hold, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Overton County’s motion should be denied due to futility, as Overton County does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Overton County was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Overton County amended its complaint on March 11, 2019, after transfer to the MDL on May 14, 2018. See Overton County, Tennessee v. AmerisourceBergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45568-DAP, ECF No. 10. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Overton County declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaint. See Section II.A.1, above. Overton County’s deadline to amend was in 2019. Overton County waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Overton County’s lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order’s deadline because plaintiff “had all the information [she] needed” to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a “wait-and-see approach” instead of timely moving to amend).

Prior Notice Through Counsel. Overton County cannot meet the Rule 16 good cause standard because it is represented by the same counsel—Greene, Ketchum, Farrell, Bailey & Tweel, LLP; Powell & Majestro; Baron & Budd, P.C.; Levin, Papantonio, Thomas, Mitchell, Rafferty & Proctor, P.A.; and McHugh Fuller Law Group, PLLC—that filed claims against the PBMs in 2019. See MDL ECF No. 2582. Overton County, through its counsel, was on notice of potential claims against the PBMs and could readily have amended its complaint to add the PBMs much earlier. Overton County fails to explain why it was unable to assert claims against the PBMs in 2019 when its own attorneys were already asserting those claims on behalf of other clients. See, e.g., Duggins, 195 F.3d at 834 (affirming denial of leave to amend after the close of discovery when the “plaintiff was obviously aware of the basis of the claim for many months, especially since some underlying facts were made a part of the complaint”); Thurmond, 649 F. App’x at 1006 (affirming denial of leave to amend for undue delay in part because plaintiff’s counsel had access to discovery in related cases and was previously aware of the proposed new defendants’ conduct).

OptumRx’s Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to Overton County’s geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson Decl. (0.02% market share for Overton County). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Overton County to add dispensing claims against OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Express Scripts' Mail Order Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of prescription opioid units shipped to Overton County's geographic jurisdiction during 2009 to 2019. See DeCarlo Decl., Exhibit C (0.46% market share). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Overton County to add dispensing claims against Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy entities. See Section III.A.2, above.

Failure to Implement a Litigation Hold. Overton County filed its original complaint on April 17, 2018. See Overton County, Tennessee v. AmerisourceBergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45568-DAP, ECF No. 1. Despite filing its case years ago, Overton County never implemented a litigation hold and is instead purporting to rely on non-specific and unidentified document retention laws. See ECF No. 5687-1 (Date Litigation Hold Implemented: *(Never)). This is a plain violation of this Court's orders. ECF Nos. 232; 5455. Litigating Overton County's case would force the parties and the Court to waste time and resources ascertaining the extent of Overton County's document destruction and the appropriate sanctions—just as the parties were forced to do in the three PBM bellwethers that failed to implement litigation holds until 2024. The PBMs are prejudiced by Overton County's disregard for its most basic discovery obligations as a litigant, compounded by the delay in seeking leave to amend, and Overton County therefore lacks good cause for leave to amend its complaint. See Pethel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28 (denying leave to amend in part because the passage of time resulted in significant prejudice due to the loss of documents or records); see also Section III.A.4, above.

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Tennessee law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Overton County's delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs' ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Tennessee law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Overton County, a municipality in Tennessee, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Overton County’s proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Overton County filed its original complaint on April 17, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See Overton County, Tennessee v. AmerisourceBergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45568-DAP, ECF No. 1. It is therefore indisputable that Overton County knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend. Overton County’s RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO’s four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by “discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim” (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Overton County’s request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Overton County, a municipality in Tennessee, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester’s complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

508. Auglaize County Board of County Commissioners v. AmerisourceBergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45570-DAP: Plaintiff Auglaize County, Ohio

Auglaize County's untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Auglaize County failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Auglaize County also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Auglaize County's motion should be denied due to futility, as Auglaize County does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its proposed public nuisance claim is barred by state law in Ohio, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Auglaize County was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Auglaize County amended its complaint on March 11, 2019, after directly filing in the MDL. See Auglaize County Board of County Commissioners v. AmerisourceBergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45570-DAP, ECF No. 23. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Auglaize County declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaint. See Section II.A.1, above. Auglaize County's deadline to amend was in 2019. Auglaize County waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Auglaize County's lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order's deadline because plaintiff "had all the information [she] needed" to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a "wait-and-see approach" instead of timely moving to amend).

Prior Notice Through Counsel. Auglaize County cannot meet the Rule 16 good cause standard because it is represented by the same counsel—Greene, Ketchum, Farrell, Bailey & Tweel, LLP; Powell & Majestro; Baron & Budd, P.C.; Levin, Papantonio, Thomas, Mitchell, Rafferty & Proctor, P.A.; and McHugh Fuller Law Group, PLLC—that filed claims against the PBMs in 2019. See MDL ECF No. 2582. Auglaize County, through its counsel, was on notice of potential claims against the PBMs and could readily have amended its complaint to add the PBMs much earlier. Auglaize County fails to explain why it was unable to assert claims against the PBMs in 2019 when its own attorneys were already asserting those claims on behalf of other clients. See, e.g., Duggins, 195 F.3d at 834 (affirming denial of leave to amend after the close of discovery when the “plaintiff was obviously aware of the basis of the claim for many months, especially since some underlying facts were made a part of the complaint”); Thurmond, 649 F. App’x at 1006 (affirming denial of leave to amend for undue delay in part because plaintiff’s counsel had access to discovery in related cases and was previously aware of the proposed new defendants’ conduct).

OptumRx’s Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to Auglaize County’s geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson Decl. (0.24% market share for Auglaize County). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Auglaize County to add dispensing claims against OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Ohio law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Auglaize County’s delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs’ ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Ohio law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Auglaize County, a municipality in Ohio, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

Plaintiff's Public Nuisance Claim is Futile. Auglaize County is a plaintiff in Ohio. Auglaize County's request for leave to add the PBMs as defendants to a public nuisance claim should be denied as futile because "all common-law public-nuisance claims arising from the sale of a product have been abrogated by the Ohio Product Liability Act." In re Nat'l Prescription Opiate Litig., 2024 WL 5049302, at *1, 2024-OHIO-5744, ¶ 1; see Section III.B.3, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Auglaize County's proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Auglaize County filed its original complaint on May 14, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See Auglaize County Board of County Commissioners v. AmerisourceBergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45570-DAP, ECF No. 1. It is therefore indisputable that Auglaize County knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend. Auglaize County's RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO's four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by "discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim" (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Auglaize County's request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Auglaize County, a municipality in Ohio, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester’s complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

509. Van Wert County Board of County Commissioners v. AmerisourceBergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45571-DAP: Plaintiff Van Wert County, Ohio

Van Wert County’s untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Van Wert County failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Van Wert County also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, failure to submit a complete plaintiff fact sheet, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Van Wert County’s motion should be denied due to futility, as Van Wert County does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its proposed public nuisance claim is barred by state law in Ohio, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Van Wert County was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Van Wert County amended its complaint on March 16, 2019, after directly filing in the MDL. See Van Wert County Board of County Commissioners v. AmerisourceBergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45571-DAP, ECF No. 21. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Van Wert County declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaint. See Section II.A.1, above. Van Wert County’s deadline to amend was in 2019. Van Wert County waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Van Wert County’s lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order’s deadline because plaintiff “had all the information [she] needed” to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a “wait-and-see approach” instead of timely moving to amend).

OptumRx’s Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to Van Wert County’s geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson Decl. (0.05% market share for Van Wert County). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Van Wert County to add dispensing claims against OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Failure to Prosecute. In its Plaintiff Fact Sheet, Van Wert County failed to provide complete answers to Questions I.B.8 and I.B.9, relating to Van Wert County’s health plans, carriers, third party administrators, and pharmacy benefit managers throughout the relevant time period. The PBMs notified Van Wert County of this deficiency on September 16, 2024 (see Exhibit B), but Van Wert County refused to amend or supplement its Fact Sheet. Under this Court’s orders, Van Wert County’s case is therefore subject to “dismiss[al] with prejudice” for failure to prosecute. ECF No. 4985 at 1 (emphasis in original); see Section III.A.5, above. Van Wert County’s refusal to provide basic information related to its health care plans prejudices the PBMs’ ability to defend against Van Wert County’s potential claims against them. Van Wert County’s failure to diligently prosecute its case, coupled with the prejudice against the PBMs, negates any finding of good cause and leave to amend should be denied. See Final Amendment Order, ECF No. 5455 at 2 (directing counsel to dismiss, not seek leave to amend, in any case that “plaintiffs’ counsel does not intend to zealously pursue in litigation”); Range, 2017 WL 9477693, at *4 n.6

(denying motion for leave to amend as moot because claims were dismissed for failure to prosecute).

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Ohio law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Van Wert County’s delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs’ ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Ohio law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Van Wert County, a municipality in Ohio, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

Plaintiff’s Public Nuisance Claim is Futile. Van Wert County is a plaintiff in Ohio. Van Wert County’s request for leave to add the PBMs as defendants to a public nuisance claim should be denied as futile because “all common-law public-nuisance claims arising from the sale of a product have been abrogated by the Ohio Product Liability Act.” In re Nat’l Prescription Opiate Litig., 2024 WL 5049302, at *1, 2024-OHIO-5744, ¶ 1; see Section III.B.3, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Van Wert County’s proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Van Wert County filed its original complaint on May 14, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See Van Wert County Board of County Commissioners v. AmerisourceBergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45571-DAP, ECF No. 1. It is therefore indisputable that Van Wert County knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend. Van Wert County’s RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO's four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by "discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim" (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Van Wert County's request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Van Wert County, a municipality in Ohio, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester's complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

510. Hancock County Board of County Commissioners v. AmerisourceBergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45572-DAP: Plaintiff Hancock County, Ohio

Hancock County's untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Hancock County failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Hancock County also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, failure to implement a litigation hold, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Hancock County's motion should be denied due to futility, as Hancock County does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its proposed public nuisance claim is barred by state law in Ohio, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Hancock County was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Hancock County amended its complaint on March 16, 2019, after directly filing in the MDL. See Hancock County Board of County Commissioners v. AmerisourceBergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45572-DAP, ECF No. 19. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Hancock County declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaint. See Section II.A.1, above.

Hancock County’s deadline to amend was in 2019. Hancock County waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Hancock County’s lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order’s deadline because plaintiff “had all the information [she] needed” to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a “wait-and-see approach” instead of timely moving to amend).

OptumRx’s Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to Hancock County’s geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson Decl. (0.05% market share for Hancock County). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Hancock County to add dispensing claims against OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Failure to Implement a Litigation Hold. Hancock County filed its original complaint on May 14, 2018. See Hancock County Board of County Commissioners v. AmerisourceBergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45572-DAP, ECF No. 1. Despite filing its case years ago, Hancock County never implemented a litigation hold and is instead purporting to rely on non-specific and unidentified document retention laws. See ECF No. 5687-1 (Date Litigation Hold Implemented: *(Never)). This is a plain violation of this Court’s orders. ECF Nos. 232; 5455. Litigating Hancock County’s case would force the parties and the Court to waste time and resources ascertaining the extent of Hancock County’s document destruction and the appropriate sanctions—just as the parties were forced to do in the three PBM bellwethers that failed to implement litigation holds until 2024. The PBMs are prejudiced by Hancock County's disregard for its most basic discovery obligations as a litigant, compounded by the delay in seeking leave to amend, and Hancock County therefore lacks good cause for leave to amend its complaint. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28 (denying leave to amend in part because the passage of time resulted in significant prejudice due to the loss of documents or records); see also Section III.A.4, above.

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Ohio law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Hancock County's delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs' ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Ohio law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Hancock County, a municipality in Ohio, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

Plaintiff's Public Nuisance Claim is Futile. Hancock County is a plaintiff in Ohio. Hancock County's request for leave to add the PBMs as defendants to a public nuisance claim should be denied as futile because "all common-law public-nuisance claims arising from the sale of a product have been abrogated by the Ohio Product Liability Act." In re Nat'l Prescription Opiate Litig., 2024 WL 5049302, at *1, 2024-OHIO-5744, ¶ 1; see Section III.B.3, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Hancock County's proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Hancock County filed its original complaint on May 14, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants.

See Hancock County Board of County Commissioners v. AmerisourceBergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45572-DAP, ECF No. 1. It is therefore indisputable that Hancock County knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend. Hancock County's RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO's four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by "discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim" (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Hancock County's request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Hancock County, a municipality in Ohio, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester's complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

511. City of Woodbury Georgia v. Purdue Pharma, L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45575-DAP: Plaintiff Woodbury City, Georgia

Woodbury City's untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Woodbury City failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Woodbury City also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, failure to implement a litigation hold, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Woodbury City's motion should be denied due to futility, as Woodbury City does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Woodbury City was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Woodbury City amended its complaint on March 15, 2019, after directly filing in the MDL. See

City of Woodbury Georgia v. Purdue Pharma, L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45575-DAP, ECF No.

2. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Woodbury City declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaint. See Section II.A.1, above. Woodbury City’s deadline to amend was in 2019. Woodbury City waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Woodbury City’s lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order’s deadline because plaintiff “had all the information [she] needed” to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a “wait-and-see approach” instead of timely moving to amend).

OptumRx’s Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to Woodbury City’s geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson Decl. (0.01% market share for Woodbury City). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Woodbury City to add dispensing claims against OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Failure to Implement a Litigation Hold. Woodbury City filed its original complaint on May 15, 2018. See City of Woodbury Georgia v. Purdue Pharma, L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45575-DAP, ECF No. 1. Despite filing its case years ago, Woodbury City never implemented a litigation hold, in violation of this Court’s orders (ECF Nos. 232; 5455). See ECF No. 5687-1 (Date Litigation Hold Implemented: Never). Litigating Woodbury City’s case would force the parties and the Court to waste time and resources ascertaining the extent of Woodbury City’s document destruction and the appropriate sanctions—just as the parties were forced to do in the three PBM bellwethers that failed to implement litigation holds until 2024. The PBMs are prejudiced by Woodbury City's disregard for its most basic discovery obligations as a litigant, compounded by the delay in seeking leave to amend, and Woodbury City therefore lacks good cause for leave to amend its complaint. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28 (denying leave to amend in part because the passage of time resulted in significant prejudice due to the loss of documents or records); see also Section III.A.4, above.

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Georgia law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Woodbury City's delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs' ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Georgia law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Woodbury City, a municipality in Georgia, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Woodbury City's proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Woodbury City filed its original complaint on May 15, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See City of Woodbury Georgia v. Purdue Pharma, L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45575-DAP, ECF No. 1. It is therefore indisputable that Woodbury City knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend. Woodbury City's RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO's four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by "discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim” (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Woodbury City’s request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Woodbury City, a municipality in Georgia, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester’s complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

512. Macon County Georgia v. Purdue Pharma L.P., et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45577-DAP: Plaintiff Macon County, Georgia

Macon County’s untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Macon County failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Macon County also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, failure to implement a litigation hold, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Macon County’s motion should be denied due to futility, as Macon County does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Macon County was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Macon County amended its complaint on March 15, 2019, after directly filing in the MDL. See Macon County Georgia v. Purdue Pharma L.P., et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45577-DAP, ECF No. 2. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Macon County declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaint. See Section II.A.1, above. Macon County’s deadline to amend was in 2019. Macon County waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Macon County’s lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order’s deadline because plaintiff “had all the information [she] needed” to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a “wait-and-see approach” instead of timely moving to amend).

OptumRx’s Home-Delivery Pharmacy Had Zero Dispenses. OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy did not dispense a single opioid prescription to Macon County’s geographic jurisdiction over the period for which OptumRx has data (2010 to 2019). See Gustafson Decl.. Because OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy “ha[s] no market share, they shouldn’t be in the case, period.” ECF No. 3685 at 6:9–14; see Section III.A.2, above. Thus, Macon County cannot show good cause to add claims against OptumRx in its capacity as a home delivery pharmacy.

Express Scripts’ Mail Order Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. Express Scripts’ mail order pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of prescription opioid units shipped to Macon County’s geographic jurisdiction during 2009 to 2019. See DeCarlo Decl., Exhibit C (0.18% market share). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Macon County to add dispensing claims against Express Scripts’ mail order pharmacy entities. See Section III.A.2, above.

Failure to Implement a Litigation Hold. Macon County filed its original complaint on May 15, 2018. See Macon County Georgia v. Purdue Pharma L.P., et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45577-DAP, ECF No. 1. Despite filing its case years ago, Macon County never implemented a litigation hold, in violation of this Court’s orders (ECF Nos. 232; 5455). See ECF No. 5687-1 (Date Litigation Hold Implemented: Never). Litigating Macon County’s case would force the parties and the Court to waste time and resources ascertaining the extent of Macon County’s document destruction and the appropriate sanctions—just as the parties were forced to do in the three PBM bellwethers that failed to implement litigation holds until 2024. The PBMs are prejudiced by Macon County's disregard for its most basic discovery obligations as a litigant, compounded by the delay in seeking leave to amend, and Macon County therefore lacks good cause for leave to amend its complaint. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28 (denying leave to amend in part because the passage of time resulted in significant prejudice due to the loss of documents or records); see also Section III.A.4, above.

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Georgia law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Macon County's delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs' ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Georgia law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Macon County, a municipality in Georgia, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Macon County's proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Macon County filed its original complaint on May 15, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See Macon County Georgia v. Purdue Pharma L.P., et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45577-DAP, ECF No. 1. It is therefore indisputable that Macon County knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend. Macon County's RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO's four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by "discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim” (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Macon County’s request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Macon County, a municipality in Georgia, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester’s complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

513. Peach County Georgia v. Purdue Pharma, L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45579-DAP: Plaintiff Peach County, Georgia

Peach County’s untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Peach County failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Peach County also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, failure to implement a litigation hold, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Peach County’s motion should be denied due to futility, as Peach County does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Peach County was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Peach County amended its complaint on March 15, 2019, after directly filing in the MDL. See Peach County Georgia v. Purdue Pharma, L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45579-DAP, ECF No. 2. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Peach County declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaint. See Section II.A.1, above. Peach County’s deadline to amend was in 2019. Peach County waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Peach County’s lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order’s deadline because plaintiff “had all the information [she] needed” to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a “wait-and-see approach” instead of timely moving to amend).

OptumRx’s Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to Peach County’s geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson Decl. (0.07% market share for Peach County). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Peach County to add dispensing claims against OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Failure to Implement a Litigation Hold. Peach County filed its original complaint on May 15, 2018. See Peach County Georgia v. Purdue Pharma, L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45579-DAP, ECF No. 1. Despite filing its case years ago, Peach County never implemented a litigation hold, in violation of this Court’s orders (ECF Nos. 232; 5455). See ECF No. 5687-1 (Date Litigation Hold Implemented: Never). Litigating Peach County’s case would force the parties and the Court to waste time and resources ascertaining the extent of Peach County’s document destruction and the appropriate sanctions—just as the parties were forced to do in the three PBM bellwethers that failed to implement litigation holds until 2024. The PBMs are prejudiced by Peach County’s disregard for its most basic discovery obligations as a litigant, compounded by the delay in seeking leave to amend, and Peach County therefore lacks good cause for leave to amend its complaint. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28 (denying leave to amend in part because the passage of time resulted in significant prejudice due to the loss of documents or records); see also Section III.A.4, above.

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Georgia law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Peach County’s delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs’ ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Georgia law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Peach County, a municipality in Georgia, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

Impermissible Claim-splitting. Peach County seeks leave to amend to add claims against the PBMs in two cases: Peach County, Georgia v. Purdue Pharma, L.P. et al., No. 1:18-op-45579-DAP; and Deese v. Purdue Pharma L.P., et al., No. 1:19-op-45314-DAP. Peach County’s impermissible claim-splitting is a waste of judicial resources and should be rejected. See Waad, 762 F. App’x at 260–63 (finding no abuse of discretion where district court dismissed plaintiff’s claims for improper claim splitting where the plaintiff’s claims in a later-filed case were “duplicative of and improperly split” from an earlier-filed case); Stripling, 2023 WL 5120238, at *2–4 (dismissing subsequent suit based on the same facts pursuant to the Court’s inherent authority and discretion to manage its own docket). It also demonstrates a fundamental lack of diligence on the part of Plaintiff and the PEC.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Peach County’s proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Peach County filed its original complaint on May 15, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See Peach County Georgia v. Purdue Pharma, L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45579-DAP, ECF No. 1. It is therefore indisputable that Peach County knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend. Peach County's RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO's four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by "discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim" (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Peach County's request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Peach County, a municipality in Georgia, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester's complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

514. Schley County Georgia v. Purdue Pharma, L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45580-DAP: Plaintiff Schley County, Georgia

Schley County's untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Schley County failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Schley County also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, failure to implement a litigation hold, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Schley County's motion should be denied due to futility, as Schley County does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Schley County was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Schley County amended its complaint on March 15, 2019, after directly filing in the MDL. See Schley County Georgia v. Purdue Pharma, L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45580-DAP, ECF No. 2. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Schley County declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaint. See Section II.A.1, above. Schley County's deadline to amend was in 2019. Schley County waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Schley County's lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order's deadline because plaintiff "had all the information [she] needed" to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a "wait-and-see approach" instead of timely moving to amend).

OptumRx's Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to Schley County's geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson Decl. (0.23% market share for Schley County). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Schley County to add dispensing claims against OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Failure to Implement a Litigation Hold. Schley County filed its original complaint on May 15, 2018. See Schley County Georgia v. Purdue Pharma, L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45580-DAP, ECF No. 1. Despite filing its case years ago, Schley County never implemented a litigation hold, in violation of this Court's orders (ECF Nos. 232; 5455). See ECF No. 5687-1 (Date Litigation Hold Implemented: Never). Litigating Schley County's case would force the parties and the Court to waste time and resources ascertaining the extent of Schley County's document destruction and the appropriate sanctions—just as the parties were forced to do in the three PBM bellwethers that failed to implement litigation holds until 2024. The PBMs are prejudiced by Schley County’s disregard for its most basic discovery obligations as a litigant, compounded by the delay in seeking leave to amend, and Schley County therefore lacks good cause for leave to amend its complaint. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28 (denying leave to amend in part because the passage of time resulted in significant prejudice due to the loss of documents or records); see also Section III.A.4, above.

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Georgia law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Schley County’s delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs’ ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Georgia law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Schley County, a municipality in Georgia, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Schley County’s proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Schley County filed its original complaint on May 15, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See Schley County Georgia v. Purdue Pharma, L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45580-DAP, ECF No. 1. It is therefore indisputable that Schley County knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend. Schley County’s RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO’s four-year limitations period. ECF No.

2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by “discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim” (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Schley County’s request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Schley County, a municipality in Georgia, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester’s complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

515. Town of Derry, New Hampshire v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45582-DAP: Plaintiff Derry Town, New Hampshire

Derry Town’s untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Derry Town failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Derry Town also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Derry Town’s motion should be denied due to futility, as Derry Town does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Derry Town was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Derry Town first amended its complaint on April 30, 2018. See Town of Derry, New Hampshire v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45582-DAP, ECF No. 2. Derry Town amended its complaint again on March 9, 2019. See Town of Derry, New Hampshire v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45582-DAP, ECF No. 23. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Derry Town declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaints. See Section II.A.1, above. Derry Town’s deadline to amend was in 2019. Derry Town waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Derry Town’s lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order’s deadline because plaintiff “had all the information [she] needed” to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a “wait-and-see approach” instead of timely moving to amend).

Prior Notice Through Counsel. Derry Town cannot meet the Rule 16 good cause standard because it is represented by the same counsel—Levin, Papantonio, Thomas, Mitchell, Rafferty & Proctor, P.A.—that filed claims against the PBMs in 2019. See MDL ECF No. 2582. Derry Town, through its counsel, was on notice of potential claims against the PBMs and could readily have amended its complaint to add the PBMs much earlier. Derry Town fails to explain why it was unable to assert claims against the PBMs in 2019 when its own attorneys were already asserting those claims on behalf of other clients. See, e.g., Duggins, 195 F.3d at 834 (affirming denial of leave to amend after the close of discovery when the “plaintiff was obviously aware of the basis of the claim for many months, especially since some underlying facts were made a part of the complaint”); Thurmond, 649 F. App’x at 1006 (affirming denial of leave to amend for undue delay in part because plaintiff’s counsel had access to discovery in related cases and was previously aware of the proposed new defendants’ conduct).

OptumRx’s Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to Derry Town’s geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson Decl. (0.002% market share for Derry Town). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Derry Town to add dispensing claims against OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Express Scripts' Mail Order Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of prescription opioid units shipped to Derry Town's geographic jurisdiction during 2009 to 2019. See DeCarlo Decl., Exhibit C (0.10% market share). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Derry Town to add dispensing claims against Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy entities. See Section III.A.2, above.

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under New Hampshire law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Derry Town's delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs' ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under New Hampshire law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Derry Town, a municipality in New Hampshire, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Derry Town's proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Derry Town filed its original complaint on May 15, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See Town of Derry, New Hampshire v. Amerisourcebergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45582-DAP, ECF No. 1. It is therefore indisputable that Derry Town knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend. Derry Town's RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO's four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by "discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim" (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Derry Town's request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Derry Town, a municipality in New Hampshire, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester's complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

516. Greene County v. AmerisourceBergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45584-DAP: Plaintiff Greene County, North Carolina

Greene County's untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Greene County failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Greene County also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Greene County's motion should be denied due to futility, as Greene County does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Greene County was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Greene County amended its complaint on March 11, 2019, after transfer to the MDL on May 17, 2018. See Greene County v. AmerisourceBergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45584-DAP, ECF No. 7. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Greene County declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaint. See Section II.A.1, above. Greene County’s deadline to amend was in 2019. Greene County waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Greene County’s lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order’s deadline because plaintiff “had all the information [she] needed” to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a “wait-and-see approach” instead of timely moving to amend).

Prior Notice Through Counsel. Greene County cannot meet the Rule 16 good cause standard because it is represented by the same counsel—Greene, Ketchum, Farrell, Bailey & Tweel, LLP; Powell & Majestro; Baron & Budd, P.C.; Levin, Papantonio, Thomas, Mitchell, Rafferty & Proctor, P.A.; and McHugh Fuller Law Group, PLLC—that filed claims against the PBMs in 2019. See MDL ECF No. 2582. Greene County, through its counsel, was on notice of potential claims against the PBMs and could readily have amended its complaint to add the PBMs much earlier. Greene County fails to explain why it was unable to assert claims against the PBMs in 2019 when its own attorneys were already asserting those claims on behalf of other clients. See, e.g., Duggins, 195 F.3d at 834 (affirming denial of leave to amend after the close of discovery when the “plaintiff was obviously aware of the basis of the claim for many months, especially since some underlying facts were made a part of the complaint”); Thurmond, 649 F. App’x at 1006 (affirming denial of leave to amend for undue delay in part because plaintiff’s counsel had access to discovery in related cases and was previously aware of the proposed new defendants’ conduct).

OptumRx’s Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to Greene County's geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson Decl. (0.04% market share for Greene County). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Greene County to add dispensing claims against OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Express Scripts' Mail Order Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of prescription opioid units shipped to Greene County's geographic jurisdiction during 2009 to 2019. See DeCarlo Decl., Exhibit C (0.17% market share). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Greene County to add dispensing claims against Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy entities. See Section III.A.2, above.

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under North Carolina law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Greene County's delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs' ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under North Carolina law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Greene County, a municipality in North Carolina, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Greene County's proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Greene County filed its original complaint on May 17, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See Greene County v. AmerisourceBergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45584-DAP, ECF No. 1. It is therefore indisputable that Greene County knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend. Greene County's RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO's four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by "discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim" (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Greene County's request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Greene County, a municipality in North Carolina, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester's complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

517. Wayne County v. AmerisourceBergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45585-DAP: Plaintiff Wayne County, North Carolina

Wayne County's untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Wayne County failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Wayne County also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Wayne County's motion should be denied due to futility, as Wayne County does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Wayne County was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Wayne County amended its complaint on March 12, 2019, after transfer to the MDL on May 17, 2018. See Wayne County v. AmerisourceBergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45585-DAP, ECF No. 6. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Wayne County declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaint. See Section II.A.1, above. Wayne County’s deadline to amend was in 2019. Wayne County waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Wayne County’s lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order’s deadline because plaintiff “had all the information [she] needed” to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a “wait-and-see approach” instead of timely moving to amend).

Prior Notice Through Counsel. Wayne County cannot meet the Rule 16 good cause standard because it is represented by the same counsel—Greene, Ketchum, Farrell, Bailey & Tweel, LLP; Powell & Majestro; Baron & Budd, P.C.; Levin, Papantonio, Thomas, Mitchell, Rafferty & Proctor, P.A.; and McHugh Fuller Law Group, PLLC—that filed claims against the PBMs in 2019. See MDL ECF No. 2582. Wayne County, through its counsel, was on notice of potential claims against the PBMs and could readily have amended its complaint to add the PBMs much earlier. Wayne County fails to explain why it was unable to assert claims against the PBMs in 2019 when its own attorneys were already asserting those claims on behalf of other clients. See, e.g., Duggins, 195 F.3d at 834 (affirming denial of leave to amend after the close of discovery when the “plaintiff was obviously aware of the basis of the claim for many months, especially since some underlying facts were made a part of the complaint”); Thurmond, 649 F. App’x at 1006 (affirming denial of leave to amend for undue delay in part because plaintiff’s counsel had access to discovery in related cases and was previously aware of the proposed new defendants’ conduct).

OptumRx's Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to Wayne County's geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson Decl. (0.03% market share for Wayne County). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Wayne County to add dispensing claims against OptumRx's home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Express Scripts' Mail Order Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of prescription opioid units shipped to Wayne County's geographic jurisdiction during 2009 to 2019. See DeCarlo Decl., Exhibit C (0.42% market share). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Wayne County to add dispensing claims against Express Scripts' mail order pharmacy entities. See Section III.A.2, above.

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under North Carolina law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Wayne County's delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs' ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under North Carolina law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Wayne County, a municipality in North Carolina, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Wayne County's proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Wayne County filed its original complaint on May 17, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See Wayne County v. AmerisourceBergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45585-DAP, ECF No. 1. It is therefore indisputable that Wayne County knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend. Wayne County's RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO's four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by "discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim" (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Wayne County's request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Wayne County, a municipality in North Carolina, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester's complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

518. Richmond County, North Carolina v. AmerisourceBergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45586-DAP: Plaintiff Richmond County, North Carolina

Richmond County's untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Richmond County failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Richmond County also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, failure to implement a litigation hold, failure to submit a complete plaintiff fact sheet, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Richmond County's motion should be denied due to futility, as Richmond County does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Richmond County was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Richmond County amended its complaint on March 12, 2019, after transfer to the MDL on May 17, 2018. See Richmond County, North Carolina v. AmerisourceBergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45586-DAP, ECF No. 5. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Richmond County declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaint. See Section II.A.1, above. Richmond County’s deadline to amend was in 2019. Richmond County waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Richmond County’s lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order’s deadline because plaintiff “had all the information [she] needed” to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a “wait-and-see approach” instead of timely moving to amend).

Prior Notice Through Counsel. Richmond County cannot meet the Rule 16 good cause standard because it is represented by the same counsel—Greene, Ketchum, Farrell, Bailey & Tweel, LLP; Powell & Majestro; Baron & Budd, P.C.; Levin, Papantonio, Thomas, Mitchell, Rafferty & Proctor, P.A.; and McHugh Fuller Law Group, PLLC—that filed claims against the PBMs in 2019. See MDL ECF No. 2582. Richmond County, through its counsel, was on notice of potential claims against the PBMs and could readily have amended its complaint to add the PBMs much earlier. Richmond County fails to explain why it was unable to assert claims against the PBMs in 2019 when its own attorneys were already asserting those claims on behalf of other clients. See, e.g., Duggins, 195 F.3d at 834 (affirming denial of leave to amend after the close of discovery when the “plaintiff was obviously aware of the basis of the claim for many months, especially since some underlying facts were made a part of the complaint”); Thurmond, 649 F. App’x at 1006 (affirming denial of leave to amend for undue delay in part because plaintiff’s counsel had access to discovery in related cases and was previously aware of the proposed new defendants’ conduct).

OptumRx’s Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to Richmond County’s geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson Decl. (0.02% market share for Richmond County). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Richmond County to add dispensing claims against OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Express Scripts’ Mail Order Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. Express Scripts’ mail order pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of prescription opioid units shipped to Richmond County’s geographic jurisdiction during 2009 to 2019. See DeCarlo Decl., Exhibit C (0.34% market share). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Richmond County to add dispensing claims against Express Scripts’ mail order pharmacy entities. See Section III.A.2, above.

Failure to Implement a Litigation Hold. Richmond County filed its original complaint on May 17, 2018. See Richmond County, North Carolina v. AmerisourceBergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45586-DAP, ECF No. 1. Despite filing its case years ago, Richmond County never implemented a litigation hold and is instead purporting to rely on non-specific and unidentified document retention laws. See ECF No. 5687-1 (Date Litigation Hold Implemented: *(Never)). This is a plain violation of this Court’s orders. ECF Nos. 232; 5455. Litigating Richmond County’s case would force the parties and the Court to waste time and resources ascertaining the extent of Richmond County’s document destruction and the appropriate sanctions—just as the parties were forced to do in the three PBM bellwethers that failed to implement litigation holds until 2024. The PBMs are prejudiced by Richmond County’s disregard for its most basic discovery obligations as a litigant, compounded by the delay in seeking leave to amend, and Richmond County therefore lacks good cause for leave to amend its complaint. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28 (denying leave to amend in part because the passage of time resulted in significant prejudice due to the loss of documents or records); see also Section III.A.4, above.

Failure to Prosecute. In its Plaintiff Fact Sheet, Richmond County failed to provide complete answers to Questions I.B.8 and I.B.9, relating to Richmond County’s health plans, carriers, third party administrators, and pharmacy benefit managers throughout the relevant time period. The PBMs notified Richmond County of this deficiency on September 16, 2024 (see Exhibit B), but Richmond County refused to amend or supplement its Fact Sheet. Under this Court’s orders, Richmond County’s case is therefore subject to “dismiss[al] with prejudice” for failure to prosecute. ECF No. 4985 at 1 (emphasis in original); see Section III.A.5, above. Richmond County’s refusal to provide basic information related to its health care plans prejudices the PBMs’ ability to defend against Richmond County’s potential claims against them. Richmond County’s failure to diligently prosecute its case, coupled with the prejudice against the PBMs, negates any finding of good cause and leave to amend should be denied. See Final Amendment Order, ECF No. 5455 at 2 (directing counsel to dismiss, not seek leave to amend, in any case that “plaintiffs’ counsel does not intend to zealously pursue in litigation”); Range, 2017 WL 9477693, at *4 n.6 (denying motion for leave to amend as moot because claims were dismissed for failure to prosecute).

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under North Carolina law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Richmond County’s delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs’ ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under North Carolina law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Richmond County, a municipality in North Carolina, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Richmond County’s proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Richmond County filed its original complaint on May 17, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See Richmond County, North Carolina v. AmerisourceBergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45586-DAP, ECF No. 1. It is therefore indisputable that Richmond County knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend. Richmond County’s RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO’s four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by “discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim” (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Richmond County’s request for leave to amend to add a

RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Richmond County, a municipality in North Carolina, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester's complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

519. Carteret County v. AmerisourceBergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45587-DAP: Plaintiff Carteret County, North Carolina

Carteret County's untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Carteret County failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Carteret County also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Carteret County's motion should be denied due to futility, as Carteret County does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Carteret County was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Carteret County amended its complaint on March 14, 2019, after transfer to the MDL on May 17, 2018. See Carteret County v. AmerisourceBergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45587-DAP, ECF No. 5. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Carteret County declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaint. See Section II.A.1, above. Carteret County's deadline to amend was in 2019. Carteret County waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Carteret County's lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order's deadline because plaintiff "had all the information

[she] needed” to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704 F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a “wait-and-see approach” instead of timely moving to amend).

Prior Notice Through Counsel. Carteret County cannot meet the Rule 16 good cause standard because it is represented by the same counsel—Greene, Ketchum, Farrell, Bailey & Tweel, LLP; Powell & Majestro; Baron & Budd, P.C.; Levin, Papantonio, Thomas, Mitchell, Rafferty & Proctor, P.A.; and McHugh Fuller Law Group, PLLC—that filed claims against the PBMs in 2019. See MDL ECF No. 2582. Carteret County, through its counsel, was on notice of potential claims against the PBMs and could readily have amended its complaint to add the PBMs much earlier. Carteret County fails to explain why it was unable to assert claims against the PBMs in 2019 when its own attorneys were already asserting those claims on behalf of other clients. See, e.g., Duggins, 195 F.3d at 834 (affirming denial of leave to amend after the close of discovery when the “plaintiff was obviously aware of the basis of the claim for many months, especially since some underlying facts were made a part of the complaint”); Thurmond, 649 F. App’x at 1006 (affirming denial of leave to amend for undue delay in part because plaintiff’s counsel had access to discovery in related cases and was previously aware of the proposed new defendants’ conduct).

OptumRx’s Home-Delivery Pharmacy Has a Negligible Market Share. OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy shipped less than 0.5% of the total number of opioid units shipped to Carteret County’s geographic jurisdiction over the ten-year period of 2010 to 2019. See Gustafson Decl. (0.10% market share for Carteret County). That insignificant dispensing volume is much too low to support a finding of good cause for Carteret County to add dispensing claims against OptumRx’s home-delivery pharmacy years after the amendment deadline. See Section III.A.2, above.

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under North Carolina law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Carteret County's delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs' ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under North Carolina law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

Failure to State a Claim. Carteret County, a municipality in North Carolina, has not pleaded any facts showing that the PBMs caused or substantially contributed to its injuries. Instead, it relies exclusively on the amended complaint of the City of Rochester, a differently situated plaintiff from another state. See Section III.B.1, above.

RICO Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations for Carteret County's proposed RICO claim against the PBMs has expired. Carteret County filed its original complaint on May 17, 2018, alleging the same type of injuries and alleging a RICO claim against other defendants. See Carteret County v. AmerisourceBergen Drug Corporation et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45587-DAP, ECF No. 1. It is therefore indisputable that Carteret County knew of its RICO injury, at the very latest, the day it filed a complaint asserting a RICO claim, six years before seeking leave to amend. Carteret County's RICO claim is therefore time-barred by RICO's four-year limitations period. ECF No. 2568 at 13 (holding that the RICO limitations period is triggered by "discovery of the injury, not discovery of [the] other elements of a claim" (quoting Rotella, 528 U.S. at 555)); see Section III.B.4, above. Carteret County's request for leave to amend to add a RICO claim should be denied as futile. See Oakley, 2016 WL 1117596, at *5 (denying motion for leave to amend because RICO claims were time-barred).

Plaintiff Lacks Standing. Carteret County, a municipality in North Carolina, lacks standing to state a claim for relief under any of the New York laws referenced in the City of Rochester’s complaint. See Section III.B.6, above.

520. Tulalip Tribes v. Purdue Pharma, L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45589-DAP: Plaintiff Tulalip Tribes, Washington

Tulalip Tribes’ untimely motion for leave to amend should be denied for several reasons. Tulalip Tribes failed to provide notice of its proposed amendments through a proposed complaint. Tulalip Tribes also lacks good cause under Rule 15 or Rule 16 due to a lack of diligence, failure to timely implement a litigation hold, and because its untimely motion would unduly prejudice the PBMs. Moreover, Tulalip Tribes’ motion should be denied due to futility, as Tulalip Tribes does not assert any allegations tying the PBMs to its alleged harm, its proposed public nuisance claim is barred by the statute of limitations, its RICO claim is barred by the statute of limitations, and it lacks standing to assert claims under New York state law.

Lack of Diligence. Tulalip Tribes was on notice of its claims against the PBMs for years but failed to exercise due diligence by moving to amend earlier. See Section II.A, above. Moreover, Tulalip Tribes amended its complaint on March 13, 2019, after transfer to the MDL on May 17, 2018, as well as on August 8, 2019 and January 14, 2021. See Tulalip Tribes v. Purdue Pharma, L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45589-DAP, ECF Nos. 27, 31, 32. Unlike many other plaintiffs, Tulalip Tribes declined to add claims against the PBMs in its amended complaints. See Section II.A.1, above. Tulalip Tribes’ deadline to amend was in 2019. Tulalip Tribes waited five years after its deadline to amend to seek leave to assert claims against the PBMs. Tulalip Tribes’ lack of diligence in pursuing its claims negates any finding of good cause. See Garza, 972 F.3d at 879 (affirming denial of motion to amend nine months after the scheduling order’s deadline because plaintiff “had all the information [she] needed” to bring claims before the deadline); Glazer, 704

F.3d at 459 (affirming denial of motion to amend because plaintiff took a “wait-and-see approach” instead of timely moving to amend).

Failure to Timely Implement a Litigation Hold. Tulalip Tribes violated its basic duty to implement a timely litigation hold. Tulalip Tribes filed its original complaint on May 17, 2018, but waited until September 13, 2024 to implement a litigation hold—six years and four months later. See Tulalip Tribes v. Purdue Pharma, L.P. et al., Case No. 1:18-op-45589-DAP, ECF No. 1; see also ECF No. 5687-1 (Date Litigation Hold Implemented: September 13, 2024). This is a plain violation of this Court’s orders. ECF Nos. 232; 5455. Litigating Tulalip Tribes’ case would force the parties and the Court to waste time and resources ascertaining the extent of Tulalip Tribes’ document destruction and the appropriate sanctions—just as the parties were forced to do in the three PBM bellwethers that failed to implement litigation holds until 2024. The PBMs are prejudiced by Tulalip Tribes’ disregard for its most basic discovery obligations as a litigant, compounded by the delay in seeking leave to amend, and Tulalip Tribes therefore lacks good cause for leave to amend its complaint. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28 (denying leave to amend in part because the passage of time resulted in significant prejudice due to the loss of documents or records); see also Section III.A.4, above.

Prejudice Due to Loss of Evidence. Under Washington law, the PBMs have the right to seek to allocate fault to other parties. See Section III.A.6, above. But Tulalip Tribes’ delay in seeking to amend its complaint has impaired the PBMs’ ability to exercise those allocation-of-fault rights under Washington law due to the loss of relevant evidence over time. That impairment substantially prejudices the PBMs in their ability to defend themselves. See Pethtel, 2020 WL 6827791, at *28.

